CLUB INVITED TO SEND DELEGATES TO ROAD MEET

The Commercial club of this city has been extended an invitation to attend the sixteenth annual convention of the U. S. Good Roads association, composed of delegates from every state in the union, to be held at Des Moines May 28 to June 1, inclusive. The invitation was read to the club last week, but no action was taken as no one present expected to be in that city at that time.

The convention will not only discuss the question of good roads from a national and local viewpoint, but will also discuss those features that directly concern cities and towns thru which the highway traverses.

We Wish Our Shoes Were Made of Glass

Sometimes we wish our shoes really were made of glass, like Cinderella's slipper of long ago, so that you could see the little differences of workmanship that spell the difference between a good shoe, and one that merely looks good.

You can judge the style and the luster of the leather, but we can't show you such things as honest inner soles, real leather counters to prevent stiffness, full cut vamps and waxed linen stitching thread.

If we sold only a few hundred thousand pair a year, we frankly admit that we could not give you such shoes for the prices we ask. Nobody could. But our shoe orders run into millions of pairs, and of course the manufacturer effects important economies in their production. This saving we pass on to you.

Our shoes, more than anything else perhaps, represent the Penney ideal of Quality; a Quality that goes farther than mere surface prettiness and is built deep down into the merchandise itself.

ALL ASSESSORS OF COUNTY GET INSTRUCTIONS

ing shortly after ten o'clock, and at intervals there was considerable discussion of the changes put into effect this year. Mr. Bacon in the course of his talk emphasized the fact that while the Minnesota Tax commission has the authority to raise the individual assessments if a complaint is made, it does not make any pretense of keeping close tabulation on the assessments of the half million taxpayers of the state.

The taxpayers who feel that they have a grievance in regard to their assessment are urged to appear before the local board of review, and then if not satisfied with the ruling, to make application to the county commissioners. Recommendations for abatements that come to the Tax commission recommended by the county commissioners are generally given consideration, Mr. Bacon stated.

Real Estate Pays 58 Percent

In his general talk the representative of the commission stated that assessors who put into practice in their work the principle of the Golden Rule can rest assured that they will give satisfaction to the community. He stated that an assessor who uses ordinary horse sense and common honesty will find that his work will be satisfactory to him and his local community and to the state.

In Mr. Bacon's judgment the farming communities as a rule pay more proportionately in taxes than do the villages. He stated that in nearly all counties of the state they are paying 58 percent of the taxes, the personal property, about 11 per cent, and money and credits, 3 per cent. Since the money and credits do pay such a small proportion of the taxes, assessors are urged to be very careful to get reports on all of this class of property.

Assessments of Household Goods

A question that was likewise brought out in the discussion was that household goods are assessed where they are used. Furniture in summer resorts in Baltimore county, even tho the owner may live in Thief River Falls, should be assessed in Baltimore county, Mr. Bacon explained.

Fixtures in buildings or machinery and equipment that is a part of the buildings as electric light fixtures are classed as personal property, the property which is not permanently attached to the building is classed as personal property.

$100 Exemption Explained

Some time was devoted to the discussion of the exemption allowed the head of a household. According to law the Minnesota laws the head of a household is allowed an exemption of $100 on the assessed value of personal property. A person is considered the head of a household when there is more than one person living in the same home even if one of these individuals is a servant. But when a person is living alone alone no exemption of $100 is allowed, altho assessors sometimes exercise their own discretion in applying this rule even tho the law does not authorize it. In case there is an assessment against more than one member of a family or household, the $100 exemption shall be prorated according to the property owned by each individual.

Particular attention of the assessors was called to the fact that the law provides that taxes may be collected on property which is to be sold or removed from the county in which it is assessed before the date on which the taxes would become delinquent. It is the duty of the assessor, when he has knowledge of such intended sale or removal, to notify the county auditor and thereupon the county auditor shall restrain such sale or removal until arrangement has been made by the owner for paying the taxes due.

Assessment Values Defined

"True and full-value" is defined according to the Minnesota statutes as being the usual selling price of the place where the property shall be at the time of assessment. It is the price which could be obtained at a private sale and not at a forced or auction sale. Mr. Bacon in explaining this particular section stated that property should be assessed at what would be its selling price on the market.

All platted lands are assessed at 40 percent of their real and true value and unplatted, at 33 1-3 per cent.

Household goods, wearing apparel and jewelry are assessed at 25 per cent of the true value.

Livestock, poultry, agricultural products, except those in the hands of a producer and not held for sale and all agricultural tools and implements used by the owner in agricultural pursuits are assessed at 10 per cent of their true value.

Money and credits are taxed at the rate of three mills on the dollar.

Penalty for Failure to List Property

According to law if any person, firm or corporation refuses to make a return on the assessment of taxable property, the assessor may estimate the value of the property according to his best information and belief and list and assess it accordingly. He can then add 50 per cent to the valuation as a penalty for failure or refusal to list the property.

Resident of Goodridge Community for 33 Years Buried There Last Week

Funeral services were held last week at Goodridge for Herman Kiesow, a resident of the Goodridge community for many years, who died Easter Monday, April 9. Mr. Kiesow had been ailing for many years, suffering from heart trouble to a great extent. A year ago complications set in, since which time he had been steadily failing in health, and a few weeks ago, it became apparent that nothing could be done to help him.

Herman Christian Fred Kiesow was born Dec. 21, 1860, in Neu Stettin, Pomerania, Germany, his marriage to Miss Ida Krueger taking place in Germany in 1885. Shortly after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Kiesow immigrated to America, settling near Hutchinson, Minnesota. Later they moved to Polk county, remaining there eight years. In 1905 they moved to their present location near Goodridge, where they have remained ever since. Surviving Mr. Kiesow are his wife, two daughters, Rosa and Minnie, and two sons, Otto, Richard, William, Erich, Henry, and Herman.

Some icebergs contain enough ice to supply all the refrigerators in the United States for a year.

Community Service

Safeguarding the health of this community and promoting happiness are as essentially a part of our service as the task of funeral directing.

You will find our efforts transcend the mere details of handling funeral arrangements. It extends to the equally important task of bettering our community and promoting the welfare of its citizenship.

Senator Henrik Shipstead and Senator Thos. Schall have notified George M. Wilson, secretary of the Connecticut club of this city, that they will do whatever they can to expedite matters in the early disposition of the Selvig bill, which provides for reimbursement of the settlers in the Red Lake bottoms of Marshall county. Each of the senators wrote as follows:

"I am in receipt of your wire of April 5, and in reply want to say that I will sure do what I can. Best wishes. Cordially yours, Thos. D. Schall."

"I am in receipt of your letter of yesterday in which you refer to the unanimous endorsement of the Selvig Red Lake Bottom bill by your club. I have asked the chairman of the Senate committee on claims to expedite action upon this bill. I shall follow its progress closely in an effort to have its enforcement by the Secretary of War as much as possible. Thank you for your message. I am always glad to have your views. Yours very truly, Henrik Shipstead."

AUTOS GROW FASTER THAN HIGHWAY FUND IS LATEST REPORT

Average Five Lows; Many Fail to Register; Subject to Tax and Penalty Now

There were 22,266 more motor vehicles registered in Minnesota up to April 1 this year than at the same date last year. In spite of the increase, license fees paid into the trunk highway fund were only $119,094 greater than on March 31, 1927, according to a State Highway bulletin.

Reduced rates on "X" trucks took effect Jan. 1. The new law also shifted many trucks from the "X" to the "A" class. Lower F. O. B. rates on many passenger cars also affected the average fee, although the rate of 2.4 per cent was not changed. The average license fee paid in all up to registered the first three months in 1927 was $15.46 and in the same months in 1928 it was $14.75.

Registration and Receipts

The total number registered up to April 1 was 680,261 this year and 657,995 last year. The total license receipts for this period were $8,257,140 in 1928 and $8,462,033 in 1927.

The total license receipts all up to Dec. 31, 1927, was $22,263, or 71,042 more than registered up to April 1, 1928. Deducting the latter figure last year have been junked or taken out of the state, leaving receipts of $8,191,091. Indications are that the number of cars are still running around 650,000.

Many people neglected getting new licenses because they intended turning in their cars for new ones. Some have been "shopping around" without buying and some have placed orders but not received their new cars, and many of these are still driving the old car with the old plates.

Heavy Penalties Are Possible

Car owners who made application for new licenses before Feb. 15, were allowed by law to use the old tags until March 31. In no case are old tags permitted later than April 1. Those who have new plates and forget to put them on, usually get off with a warning from the police, but those who are still using the streets and highways without having paid their license, are being picked up by police in many communities and fined.

The owner of every car which was registered in 1927, and has not applied, stolen or junked before Jan. 1, is liable for the 1928 tax. If a car has actually been disposed of, but no report made, the matter can usually be cleared up with an affidavit, but if the car has not been disposed of, the owner is liable for the full tax and penalties, and these penalties cannot be cancelled. If the car is sold within the state, the transfer cannot be recorded until the tax and penalties are paid.

Canton was leading again, 11 to 12, in the third period, and sported in the final quarter to win by a 5 point margin.

THE CLOSE

O captain! my captain! our joyous trip is done!
The ship has weathered every rack, the prize we sought is won;
The port is near, the bells I hear, the people all exulting,
While follow eyes the steady keel the vessel grim and daring:

The 1927-28 Progress staff, the crew of the grim and daring vessel, the High School Progress, is to change hands.

A new crew will man the ship in the 1928-29 journey through various lands such as that of Poetry, Alumnae, Editorials, Features, and other lands too numerous to mention. They will explore and bring back literary riches which will be displayed on this page.

As a preliminary to this long journey, weekly excursions will be made by the first classes each of which will have its own crew, following which a most elaborate one will be chosen to weather the 1928-29 voyage.

The land of cartoons was first explored this week and those were the drawn seals of amusement the land of Weekly's locality crew was also thoroughly explored; while these other lands were explored more deeply than ever before and their seeds transplanted in the paper.

We of the 1927-28 staff leave these seals, symbols of our principles of newspaper work for you the new staff, in 1928-29.

Now, Adieu and Farewell! We as Voyagers depart.

Enough have we adventured o'er the wantonly-rushing, stodgy-ing the charts,

Duly again to port, and hawser's tie, returning.

But now we embrace you, our friends, and try to leave all in order for your work.

HIGH ATHLETICS

The flirty Physical Training classes will be enjoying themselves with games and sports until the last week of school. Since the tennis court has been completed on the old football field, there will be a tennis playing during class periods as well as outside of school hours. The tennis court is better this year than it has been for some time, thus there will be a large number of students going out for tennis. Miss Herber is also intending to coach her classes in track playing but does not plan this until the weather gets warmer.

WHAT HAPPENED TO JONES, SENIOR CLASS PLAY; NEXT

Thirteen Students in the Cast; Play Will Be Presented Friday, May 11

With less than a month to prepare for it, the Senior class play, "What Happened to Jones," is promised for finished presentation on May 11, at the Auditorium.

Coach Julius W. Opheim picked his cast prior to vacation, but the delay in books prevented earlier work. The characters tentatively chosen are still liable to change after tryouts Monday evening. As it stands, the thirteen characters combine to afford pleasant comedy throughout the play's three acts.

Characters in Play

The central figure in the play, Jones, is a good looking, well-built man of thirty-eight, with the quick wit and ready tongue which mark the successful commercial traveler. This difficult part will be played by Earl Bessler. Jones' affability, knowing girl of twenty-two, neither fast nor tough, but entirely modern will be played by Lorita Larson.

Florence and Mrs. Goodly (Chester Dahlen and Margaret Bjorkman) are a devoted mother and her son, years. Mr. Goodly is subdued in manner and speech, a scholarly man, while his wife has a quick and suspicious nature, although she means well. Her daughters, Marjorie and Mildred, are refined and poised, radically different in action from the impulsive Cissy. Hindine Van Pelt, as Marjorie, a girl of culture, is emotionally inclined toward Richard Heatherly, a good-natured sport who suppresses his light ideas of enjoyment when near the puritanical Goodly's. Heatherly, a friend of the daughter, Lucile Hermanson, is a modern bachelor, gilt-edged, good-looking, and self-dependent.

The Bishop, a tall Englishman of severe manner and soft speech, will be played as a middle-aged gentleman by Georges Williams, while Higbee, who greatly resembles the Bishop physically, is Leo Hagen. His face is marked after the fashion in which Indians mark theirs.

Plenty of Comedy

Comedy is furnished throughout, but especially by Theodore Ole Starlight, not the modern bookseller but the old-fashioned type of old maid with suppressed desires and romantic aims. Ethel Moline will assume the role. The part of Helma, the Swedish servant girl, who at no time shows an over-abundance of intelligence in her service to the family, will be taken by Edith Stenseth.

Puller, a rather stout fellow of forty, medium height, will be played by Harold Hagen, and Holden, a typical New York policeman with an Irish brogue will be Donald Kinghorn.

HONORING FOOTBALL MEN

The public is invited to a special assembly which will be called Friday morning to honor seven of the high school athletic boys.

Supt. Dye will present keys to signify membership in the National Athletic Honorary society to four seniors and three lower class men who have won this distinction, because of their high scholastic standing as well as athletic records. Frank Chase, Coach at Concordia College, Moorhead will address the assembly on this subject.

Those who will receive keys and certificates of membership are Ley Orn, Robert Erickson, Dexter Myrom, and Fred Wenger, Seniors; also Donald Seymour, George Aanstad, and Gordon Hiblow.

40 Boys Respond to Bee's Call for Spring Football

Aspirants for gridiron fame will be given a chance to display their ability in the pigskin trade this week. Spring football will commence Wednesday, April 18, according to Coach Ed. Bee, and will continue until about the time of the final examinations. There will be practice four times a week, during which the new recruits will be instructed in the fundamentals of football. Coach Bee has made an attempt to survey the material in the physical education classes and from what he can learn candidates will report. This will be the largest squad in the history of the school.

Although several lettermen will be lost by the graduating class, Coach Bee feels confident that out of the squad he has in sight, he will be able to mold a team equally as strong as the team that has just come through the past season. Of the twenty candidates, twenty-five boys will report for the first time. Most of these are underclassmen who show wonderful prospects of developing next by next fall.

Plans are being made for the traditional game between next fall's varsity team and a team made up of the ineligibles. If possible two of these games will be arranged for the regular candidates the benefits of real competition.

Seniors Eligible Under New Scholarship Method

A new method of awarding scholarships to high school seniors was explained to the student body by Mr. Hand, Monday. This succeeds the old plan of giving scholarships to the highest ranking pupils in each class and also gives every student standing in the upper one fourth of the class a chance. Fifty freshmen scholarships are being offered by the association of Minnesota College for 1928-29. The purpose of offering these scholarships is to stimulate interest in higher education for those who are most capable of profiting by it and rendering distinguished service to society.

It is not the main purpose to furnish financial assistance, but it is of interest to note that of the present holders of scholarships appointed without regard to their financial status more than half are working to earn part of their expenses.

The stipend of the scholarship will be equal to the tuition fee in the particular college which the student enters, and will be awarded by a committee from University faculty on the basis of the record of the student during his high school course; or on psychological tests and other tests intended to show the aptitude of the student for college work; or other information to be furnished by the principal and his high school principal. The test will not be of such a character that students can prepare for them by special study. The tests in which the Thief River Students will participate will be held at Crookston, Wednesday, May 2.

LOCAL CONTESTANTS HEAD 4 SCHOOLS IN COMMERCIAL TEST

Ethel Moline and Alvina Koglin Win First Prizes in Typing and Shorthand

The Fourteenth District Commercial contest was held in the Crookston high school, April 14. Contestants participated from the following twelve: Mahnomen, Fosston, Warren Crookston, and Thief River Falls. Lincoln high school was represented in three events: Typing I, Typing II, and Advanced Typing.

Advanced Typing

In advanced typing, Alvina Koglin proved herself a worthy and capable representative of Thief River Falls, winning first place with a rate of 61.1 words per minute for fifteen consecutive minutes. Ethel Moline, who distinguished herself in shorthand, received honors writing 52.6 words per minute. With a rate of 54.5 words per minute Delphine Bloomquist of Crookston received third place.

Advanced Shorthand

In advanced shorthand Ethel Moline did remarkably well, winning first place with an accuracy record of 96.72%. For this achievement she was the recipient of a $25 scholarship from the Calhoun Commercial College of Minneapolis, Minn. Ethel's paper was the only one that qualified, the requirement being not more than 5% errors; however, considering ranking, Lydia Ebner of Nashua received second, Viola Woodstrom of Crookston third, and Hanald Will of Thief River Falls, fourth.

Typing I Contest

Alta Dewar of Crookston took first place in Typing I, writing 50 words per minute for fifteen consecutive minutes. Ruby Ihle of Thief River Falls did very well, obtaining a rate of 44.6 words per minute. Agnes Peterson of Thief River Falls took fourth place with 40.7 words per minute.

Miss Ehlber Luttrell of Crookston was the capable manager of the dinner party for the contestants which were entertained by the Crookston Home Economic department at a delightful one o'clock luncheon at 2:30 P. M. the results of the contest were announced after each paper had been checked by three instructors.

Thief River Falls has a very successful record—winning two firsts and two seconds.

Miss Minnie Krueger, local commercial teacher, stated, "I am well satisfied with the results. It was a good contest last year and fully as good, if not better this year. I am very glad that two more schools were entered, making competition keener." Miss Krueger is to be highly commended for her successful instruction and it is with a feeling of pleasure that The Progress announces Miss Krueger's return next year.

POSITIONS BEFORE GRADUATION

Untrained workers hunt jobs in vain. Students at Dakota Business College, Fargo, have positions "handed to them" upon graduation or before. K. L. Waldo was placed with Fargo Battery and Tractor Co., Lillian Manns, with Reliance Motor Co., Thief River Falls, before finishing their courses.

D. B. C. ACTUAL BUSINESS training (unrichened—unobtainable elsewhere), enables students to begin work with experience.

Let's Get Better Acquainted Thru Faculty Questionaire

A graceful blend of silly preoccupations compossibly ate at her book covered desk. The interview began. "What is your full name?

"Blanche Orvella Grentland."

With her rusty coal brazing back on her fair hands, she answered the next question. Why did you go to the "U" of North Dakota?

"My friends persuaded me to go there and I was glad I went I did."

Why did you come to Thief River Falls?

"Because I liked the position that was offered me."

Can you explain why you take such a delight in teaching geometry?

"Oh I always did like to draw pictures." And at the point the youthful teacher proceeded to draw one of her masterpieces.

How did you happen to acquire such a frigid name?

"Oh, dear—well I don't know—I just have it." (In that "you dumbell" tone).

Do you think your continual wearing of "specks" makes you appear more scholarly?

"Yes, that's my only reason for wearing them." (And the lady immediately removed the (brief) article).

Who is your favorite actress?

"Greta Garbo."

Why?

"Her acting is so sincere."

What is your hobby?

"Sports!" (enthusiastically)

Don't you think it ridiculous that people should be so against spring fever? Isn't it one of the marvelous desire to seek natural beauty?

"Why I'm afraid I'm on the palm of her hand, "it depends upon the time and place one meets spring fever."

How would you react if you were to have honorable mention for so kindly giving up your room for Miss Ihle's fish tank study?

The sketch was now assuming the shape of an aerial life. Miss Grentland you must be a marvelous geometry teacher!

What is your highest ambition?

"I'll answer that when I come," said she. "To be a credit to my profession I have chosen."

The interview editor here expresses the wish that the quizzical articles which have appeared in the past have served the dual purpose of entertaining the people who have learned more individual characteristics of their friends, the teachers, and the high school patrons as well as to what kind of teachers instruct the children of their community.

EXAMINATIONS

The schedule for the final exams has not as yet been announced. However, they will be given, starting Monday last Friday in May, and continuing through the next week. There will be no more six weeks' exams for the remainder of this school year.

HIGH SCHOOL TUITION FOR STUDENTS PAID BY STATE

High school tuition for 18,000 Minnesota school children, or 21 percent of the total high scool enrollment last year, was paid by the state, C. M. McConnell, state commissioner of education, has announced.

The total paid for tuition of children in high schools who reside outside of the high school districts, under terms of a law passed in 1921. There is only one other state, Nevada, with similar arrangements, Mr. McConnell said.

BANQUET PROSPECTS

An annual event is round the corner; It's a crowning one, that you can say.
And if you're a senior or junior these days,
You lucky as you can be.
Invitations are sent, and all is made ready.
—The senior class waits in good faith
For the time to arrive when they'll all promenade
To Evelyn, on next twenty-eighth.
When Peables and Sophs head a want now and then
They look on with an envious eye,
But the time will come when they'll be the ones to cheese
—Upper-classmen must then say goodby!

Is the latest that's heard in the hall;
And the scroplane talk has monopoly sure
—It's the theme of the forthcoming ball.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

The various committees for the Junior-Senior banquet which will be given at the Twelvth hotel on April 28 were chosen the week preceding Easter recess. This week rapid work is being made by the committees in program and other entertainments. With the aid of Miss Stenerson, the junior class advisor, various plans have been worked out so as to appear very original and quite different from any of the past years.

HOLT CREAMERY PATRON'S RECORD QUITE REMARKABLE

Arno Steinhauer Tops List of Butterfat Producers for 3 Consecutive Years

The Holt Creamery continues to gain in monthly butter output, and the patrons continue likewise to strive for their name appearing at the top of the list each month and each year. Especially is this true of Arno Steinhauer, who for three years has held first place as to total butterfat, in 1927 his total being 4152 pounds.

Mr. Steinhauer recently received considerable praiseworthy notice of his accomplishments, the same appearing in the Holt Weekly News, a part of which is reproduced herewith.

11 Years of Hard Work

"With Arno Steinhauer topping the list year after year, it is only right that something be said about him. Every farmer deserves some credit and praise for his part in making the creamery a success, and no one will deny that the big producers deserve more than the smaller.

"Arno is a pioneer in the Holt community. So is his wife. They built and moved onto their present farm in April 1917, eleven years ago. Considering the period since the war, and especially the last three years of wet weather, he has established a remarkable record when they moved onto their farm one could hardly find the home or improvements for the trees or timber. Today they have the farm in an entirely different condition. Most of the brush is gone, they have an up-to-date barn, milking machine, and in fact all of them have the good grades. They cull out the poor ones.

Dairying Pays Him

"Many people claim there is no money in dairying, but Mr. Steinhauer's record discredits this idea. His cream check for 1927 was $2,253.18, in addition to which he sold some of the cows not worth keeping for $149.60 and some calves for $123.41—a total of $2,526.20.

"If one asks Arno today what his best investment is, as well as what seems him a lot of work, he would tell you it is his modern barn, equipped with drinking cups and milking machines, and that silo and separator room's also a feature of the barn."

Change in Specifications May Save County Ten Per Cent in Cost of 3 Roads

Bids on the construction this year of the three proposed pieces of state aid road in Pennington county were opened by the county commissioners at their regular session, according to Ole County Auditor T. F. Anderson, who states that several inquiries by contractors have been received, and who were furnished specifications.

Slight changes in the standard specifications from those used last year have been made since that time, he adds, according to Highway Engineer Steinlund should mean a saving of about 10 per cent over the figures submitted a year ago, which were practically $25,000.

At the present term of district court for Clearwater county held at Bagley last week, Judge Graham Torrance of Bemidji is presiding, he being his first appearance on the bench in this county since the appointment as successor to the late Judge C. W. Stanton.

Indications are that the terms will be of short duration, the calendar being one of the lightest in several years, containing only fourteen cases. The cases are of both civil and criminal character.

Boys' and Girls' Club Organized Friday Night at Erie by County Agent

A very successful boys' and girls' club meeting was held last Friday evening at Erie, at which time a 4-H club was organized with the following officers: president, Adolph Hoffman; vice president, Mable Ilme; secretary, Marie Pjefi; treasurer, Gladys Johnson.

The school house in district No. 50, in charge of James Homme, the teacher, was well filled, and those present indicated their appreciation of the remarks of the speaker, County Agent Robert M. Douglas spoke chiefly along the lines of club work among boys and girls, telling of the various phases of this kind of work. Public Welfare W. E. Morris, state specialist in the raising of sheep, spoke of the many advances made in recent years in the care and raising of that variety of livestock.

The next meeting of the Erie club will be held at two o'clock on May 12, at which time an announced later.

The main reason this club has been completed their organization in two months is because they have been so much praise for his part in making the club a success, and no one will deny that the big producers deserve more than the smaller.

Two Thief River Men Go Into Ditch While Returning from Trip

Lars Puran, proprietor of the Gjerdmark hotel, and Rudolph Segerstrom, had a narrow escape from serious injury last Wednesday while returning home from international Falls by way of Baudette and Warroad, when the car of the former climbed a cut filled with snow on the frontier, two thirds of the way between International Falls and Baudette, the car landing on its side in the ditch, breaking the windows on the one side.

Both front wheels were broken off, the windshield and top smashed, and other damages done to the car, which will necessitate its return to the repair garage. The occupants escaped with only a few bruises.

Leaving International Falls about noon, they encountered a severe storm, a blinding snow storm that had been raging for several hours and it was difficult to see the road ahead, and following the highway or not, according to Mr. Puran, who stated that the snow this side of Warroad was negligible, compared to that east of there.

In conversation with a representative of the Times, Mr. Puran stated that it was the first time he had ever had an accident during the ten years he had driven a car, going over 30,000 miles during that period. However, the day after reaching home he was turned into the alley from First Street going to the south, and the steering mechanism refused to work and he was unable to control the car, and, in doing him out of the car, and chasing it up quite badly. He says that it is quite possible that the same trouble may have been the cause of the accident near Baudette, or the accident there may have resulted in some manner from the steering apparatus, causing the accident here.

The next meeting of the Erie club will be held at two o'clock on May 12, at which time an announced later.

"This makes two times that I have completed their organization in two months," said Miss Ilme, "and I certainly appreciate the co-operation given me by the boys and girls who have signed up as 4-H club members.

CERTIFIED IRISH COBBLER POTATO SEED OBTAINED

County Agent Will Distribute 100 Bushels Among Ten Farm Bureau Members

One hundred bushels of certified Irish Cobbler seed potatoes have been secured in this locality by County Agent Robert M. Douglas, and will be equally divided among ten members of the Pennington County Farm Bureau members on their arrival here from Fosston. This will permit of close to ten acres of certified seed plots of that variety of spuds in the county this summer.

Mr. Douglas is still endeavoring to obtain additional certified seed of the same or other varieties, inasmuch as there is still time to plant them, for it is generally conceded that spuds are best planted in this vicinity as late as May 10.

Potato raisers this year, according to Mr. Douglas and H. C. Rose, potato specialist with the state university extension service, who was here four weeks ago, will be confronted with a probable 25 per cent increase in potato acreage in the Tristed Marsh district which will possibly mean a decreased price per bushel this fall. They both advocate certification of seed, and greater care in the raising thereof. Those raising certified seed will receive a premium of from 10 to 15 cents per bushel.

Sweet Potato a New Factor

Another probable factor in the prices that will prevail this fall will be the competition of the sweet potato. According to recent reports, growers and dealers in the south have made strenuous efforts to improve the quality of sweet potatoes during the past several years. A large number of sweet potato storage houses have been built throughout the south during this period. These storage houses have made it possible to hold the sweet potato crop longer and in better condition than formerly. As a result, a larger and larger quantity of sweet potatoes have come on the market in late years. In 1920, almost 76,000 carloads, or about 15,200,000 bushels were shipped in carload lots alone.

ALDERMEN WILL STUDY PLAN OF PROPOSED ROAD

Cemetery Commission Wishes to Have State Aid Road Located Permanently at Early Date

STATE AID IS POSSIBLE, CO. HIGHWAY ENGINEER

Receiving Vault May Be Built Coming Summer by Cemetery Commission

The aldermen, all of whom were present Tuesday night except H. A. Brumund, listened, to remarks by Robert M. Douglas, county engineer, regarding plans for a receiving vault at Greenwood cemetery, which is proposed to build this summer, but the location of which will depend on the location of the proposed road. This road was referred last year to the Lake County line as far north as 200 feet south of the township corner, which is located between the old and new sections of the cemetery.

Highway Engineer Bert Umland was present and explained the proposed entrance of the Greenwood Park Cemetery, whereby it is planned to make a double turn, first to the west and then to the north, emerging from the high land near the city incinerator, crossing the old river bed and following in a general line Horace avenue South until the old mill yards. The council visited the cemetery yesterday afternoon, and the aldermen were favorably impressed with the plans.

To Cost About $3,000

While a fill of practically 250 feet will be necessary, all the dirt required therefor would come from the Nick land, thru which a 66 foot roadway would be cut in making a two percent grade to what is known as the "horse" shoe" section below the millyard. Ordinances for condemning the land, two small parcels of land for the proposed road might be necessary, the expense of securing the property not to exceed $3,000, it is believed.

The estimated cost of the road from the present terminus to where it will join Bridge street, is $3,000, and when the bridge over the Red Lake river and Riley's mill is built, which is Mr. Umland, it is, quite probable, that state aid money will be available, and in which case the city would have to apply to the county for this assistance, as the county has a certain allocation of this money each year each week. The state aid would be 70 per cent of the total, or possibly about $2500 to be borne by the city.

Miscellaneous Business

Ole Finberg, living east of the Soraas Point bridge, appeared before the council objecting to the flooding of his land at the point by the water up from the city's dam, he claiming that he has difficulty in caring for his cow in the barn, which is located on low land bordering the river. The alderman promised to investigate the matter. The request filed two weeks ago by citizens living in the vicinity of Sixth and State for drainage of some swamp land just outside the city limits was laid on the table.

The Sons of Norway were granted dance permits for two dances to be given on building on April 24, May 11, 18 and June 1. E. M. Lee was also granted a building permit for a garage at an estimated cost of $200. A plumber's license was ordered issued to Ed. Lee, a theatre license to H. A. Brumund, and a pool hall license to Carl Hyman, following which the meeting was adjourned and the council adjourned.

Seventh Heaven

In the cosmogonies of many ancient peoples there was a plurality of heavens, the highest among the earlier Hebrews, the idea extending among the Babylonians and Mohammedans.

The number of these heavens, like Jupiter Jixon of Greek mythology, varied from three to seven. The seventh heaven was often called the heaven of heavens, the highest heaven, the abode of God and the most exalted spirits. We think of it also as a place or state of supreme bliss.

Elimination Contests Thruout State Start Saturday; Finals May 17-19

The district music contest scheduled for Thief River Falls on account of the large number of contestants, is the first step in the plan of holding that the city auditorium here was practically better adapted for holding musical contests than the auditorium in the Agricultural college at Crookston.

Musicians in all state high schools that took second or first division ratings at the district contests last year, and who are members of the Minnesota Public School Music League are preparing for the annual state music contest for preparatory schools at the University May 17 and 18.

District centers will be organized by elimination contests Saturday, and the winners will be given the opportunity of competing at the finals at the University.

Local physicians state that there is nothing alarming about the situation, but they advise that care be exercised by those who have colds and stomach trouble, as the world stomach trouble and intestinal flu which are dangerous.

The "Times" force was invaded by the "flu" this week, Mrs. Alvin Hallsteadt, society and local reporter, being confined to her home, the result being a smaller number of society and local items than usual.

Large Demand for Baby Chicks, 5,000 Already Hatched by Local Concern

Five thousand baby chicks have been hatched up to this time, according to the proprietors of the Thief River Hatchery, and 7,000 more will now in the two large incubators, both of which are running to full capacity, insuring about 4,000 baby chicks each week, ready for delivery for the next several weeks.

Nearly all of the eggs hatched so far have been for local parties, but several shipments have been made to Fosston, Bemidji, Roseau and Minnesota poultry raisers.

A specially built brooder house has been placed just outside of the building used by the hatchery on Labree avenue between Third and Fourth streets, and here the baby chicks are cared for till they are shipped.

Nearly half of the custom hatching is turkey eggs, these being an ever increasing demand for baby turkeys during the spring. The owners attribute the raising of turkeys last year to the filling of semi-confinement plan, whereby having given an impetus this spring to the hatching of turkeys by the incubator method.

Influenza Epidemic In City on Wane Reports This Morning Indicate

An epidemic of influenza in a mild form, generally is prevalent in Thief River Falls the present week, but, it is thought practically every portion of the flu.

In the public schools the crux of the epidemic has apparently been reached on Tuesday when 421 pupils were out of school, while only 400 were absent on Wednesday. Today there are 402 students who are reported as being unable to attend school. On Monday 322 were reported absent. According to Supt. Morris, Rye there are sufficient of them out of school to warrant the closing of the schools, substitutes having been secured in the grades where the teachers are ill, and four of the seven high school teachers were forced to remain at home.

The St. Bernard's school was closed Monday when over half of the pupils were absent, and all of the high school teachers were confined to their home with the flu.

The entertainment of the St. Bernard's school, scheduled for Friday evening tomorrow night in the auditorium has been postponed, as has also the Senior-Junior banquet, and the school church affairs.

Local physicians state that there is nothing alarming about the situation, but they advise that care be exercised by those who have colds and stomach trouble, as the world stomach flu and intestinal flu which are dangerous.

3 PENNINGTON SHEEP OWNERS ENTER FLOCKS

Only 25 in Entire State Were in Contest Last Week According to W. E. Morris

WOOLSON, BEEBE AND ENGELSTAD ENTRANTS

Kitton County Man Enters Flock of 240; Over 10,000 Sheep In County Now

Three sheep owners of Pennington county have entered flocks in the new lamb production contest organized by the agricultural extension service of the state university, out of a total of 25 entrants in the entire state, up to April 14, according to W. E. Morris, livestock specialist, who is in charge of the project.

Thirteen have enrolled in the class for 25 ewes or less, one being Harry Woolson of Silverton is entered; eight in the class for 51 to 100 ewes, one being R. E. Beebe of Hillsrive and four in the class for 101 or more, the latter being Peter Engelstad of this city. Entries will be received for a month more.

The counties of Roseau, Pennington, Lake of the Woods, Polk and Beltrami have the largest number of entrymen. J. H. Ilsbacke of Orvieto, Kittson county, has entered a flock of 240 ewes, and Richard T. Gale of Mound, Hennepin county, has enrolled a flock of 200. The contest is open to any farmer who has 25 or more two-year-old ewes lambing between March 1 and May 31. Entrymen who produce the largest average number of pounds of lamb to the ewe at the end of 123 days will win.

Since the Pennington County Sheep Breeders' association was recently organized here there has been an apparently increasing interest in sheep raising locally, according to Mr. Douglas. The directors will meet in the agricultural office on Saturday of this week at two o'clock, in the effort to listen to views of Mr. Morris and Harold J. Beatty of Crookston, district representative of the Minnesota Wool Growers' association.

In this connection, Mr. Douglas has known the fact that more than seven-million Australian sheep had perished through lack of feed during the severe four-years' drouth that prevailed there recently. As a result of this prolonged drouth, Australia is producing 1,000,000 bales less wool than usual, a large falling off this year. Other factors in addition to this Australian situation, are the wool crop, young crows and ewes left to count the same.

Hunters beware, however, that to hunt crows one must first procure a small game license, costing one dollar, and that farmers who shoot at hawks on his own land, in which case no license is required.

Miscellaneous Business

The committee on pleasant ways reported that 200 rugs had been ordered and that they would arrive about May 15. A committee consisting of C. G. Matson, Andy Anderson and Jos. Jurcsa was appointed by the president, C. Hall Jung, to secure a date and make an effort to organize a "sheet" contest for the near future.

Lunch was served after the meeting closed, this consisting of "hot dogs", "flap jacks" and coffee. The lunch committee were kept on the jump for everyone present is said to have eaten just as they had been hunting all day in the fresh air, for their position were the last ever seen by Messrs. Hedstrom, Jung, Carlson and Anton Lanzetter.

June 20 was set as the date for the next meeting of the local chapter, this being after the close of the crow hunt, and at which time results of the hunt will be announced. William Munch of Crookston, Martin E. Nelson and Milton Forster of this city were present at the meeting.

Commercial Club Backs Jefferson Highway Body

The Commercial club last Thursday voted to financially assist the Jefferson Highway association this coming year if the organization was continued, this action being taken at the regular meeting of the club. The association could not afford to be put in the position of standing in the discontinuance of this national highway body, which was started and is largely thought of in the southern states. No delegate was named, but it was the sense of the meeting that the club's sentiments from Red Lake Falls also be represented at the meeting.

At the annual meeting of the Jefferson Highway association held in St. Paul Friday it was decided to carry on activities, particularly along publicity lines, eliminating the promotional phase of its work.

George E. McIntosh of St. Joseph, Mo., was re-elected president while Glen Lee of St. Cloud was made vice president. Former Mayor Ralph Webb of Winnipeg was placed on the advisory committee.

County Commissioners Awarded Road Contracts to H. P. Lund & Son

The county commissioners at the meeting of the board last Friday opened bids for the construction of the three state aid highways and awarded the contract to H. P. Lund & Son in the aggregate for $17,229.75, which further figures on the grading on the culvert contract on his bid of $733.50, making a total cost of $17,963.25 for the three projects, which a year ago were laid over till this year. According to Highway Engineer Bert Umland the bids this year are about $7,000 under those of last year, and there is two miles less construction, this being due to the cleaning out of the ditch a short distance east of the city and alongside of that portion of the original bills.

The Lund bid for the Wylie piece of road was the high one, and was in the sum of $5,701.00. Their bid on the Tristed-Goodridge and Silverton townships was the lowest, being $5,502.50, five bids for this piece of work having been submitted, the highest being for $5,106.50 by Lorentzen & Hallstrom of Crookston, and the Marin road was also low, being $7,733.85, while Lorentzen & Hallstrom were again the high bidders, their bid being $8,279.72. The Lund bid was the lowest bids combined being $17,229.75, which is $733.33 lower than the highest bid, and $1,049.75 lower than it was for $1843.80.

Isaak Walton League Crew Hunt Starts on Sunday; 4 Prizes Up

Crew hunters in Pennington and Marshall counties will be started promptly in the big crew hunt being staged by the Isaak Walton league, it was decided at the meeting of the city council last night, the hunt to start at five minutes to five Sunday afternoon, April 29, for that is the official start of the hunt.

Close to one hundred persons were present at the meeting, which was the local chapter's membership meeting, and the largest ever held, the crowd coming from Viking, Middle River, Fertile and other points for the occasion, many subscriptions to the crew hunt being secured during the meeting, showing success along the national lines of the league. Mrs. Ed. Lee of Red Lake Falls came to Rock Island, Illinois, to attend the meeting, and she addressed the meeting.

Each hunter will go into the contest on his own initiative to secure as many subscriptions as he can, or by no team work this year. Four prizes will be held up as trophies, the first a double barrel shot gun; second, a Coleman gas lantern; third, a one gallon thermos jug; and fourth, a crew roll. However, those who enter the contest for the gun must pay an entrance fee of 50 cents, and those thus entering may contest also for the other three prizes, the entrance fee is payable at the Isaak Walton Motor company's office where all those entering may go there to register and to report results of the hunt.

All crews or crews rags turned in by 10 o'clock Sunday night, April 29, will count two points, and all turned in between that hour and that till the close of the hunt, June 15, will count one point. Crews turned in on Monday, April 30, must be whole crews, not merely the feet. Adult crews, young crews and lone hunters all count the same.

Hunters are warned, however, that to hunt crows one must first procure a small game license, costing one dollar, and that farmers who shoot at hawks on his own land, in which case no license is required.

Overtake the "72"?

IF CHRYSLER "72" were merely more beautiful—if it were just an average good value—it would deserve no special consideration from the buyer.

But it clamors for his consideration and demands his attention by reason of a gauge and proof of greater value which cannot be escaped.

All cars today seek to approximate Chrysler "72" performance by patterning after Chrysler engineering. But after three years of striving, how close are they to the "72" today? No closer than they were three years ago.

As they have struggled to approach, Chrysler "72" has pulled away and gallops around and past them with more than the ease of the old original Chrysler sensation-car of 1924.

There may be pocket-book reasons for choosing cars of lesser price than the "72." There simply cannot be a valid reason for paying as much or more for any car other than the "72."

CHRYSLER "72"

Illustrious New Chrysler "72" Prices—Two-passenger Coupe (with rumble seat), $1545; Royal Sedan, $1595; Sport Roadster (with rumble seat), $1595; Four-passenger Coupe, $1595; Town Sedan, $1695; Convertible Coupe (with rumble seat), $1745; Imperial Sedan, $1795. All prices f. o. b. Detroit, subject to current Government excise tax. Chrysler dealers are in a position to extend the convenience of partial payments.

New Chrysler "Red-Head" Engine—destined to take full advantage of high-compression gas, standard equipment on all body models of the 112A, is expected "Oct. 2" or earlier at all dealers and available at slight extra cost for other body types, of the "62" and "72."

Affairs at Washington by Congressman Selvig

Washington: The McNary-Haugen bill passed the Senate by a vote of 53 to 45. There were twelve senators paired—six for and six against—and Hiram Johnson sent word that had he been present he would have voted for the bill. It seems probable there are enough votes in the Senate to pass the bill over a veto.

The fight is now transferred to the House, and while it is admitted that there is a strong majority for the bill, there probably is not the two-thirds majority required to over-ride a veto. It appears to be taken for granted that the President will veto the bill, though he has not said so.

Tariff Bonus to Help Minnesota

Senator Shipstead has offered the Selvig agricultural tariff bill as an amendment to the tax reduction bill in the Senate. This was a matter discussed and is likely to bring it to the front be a live issue, and may result in action. While the administration leaders have expressed themselves as friendly to this proposal they have blocked consideration of it on the plea that we should not open tariff bill sections until such time as when a general revision is to be undertaken. It will be difficult for Senator Shipstead, to strip the issue now that it has been brought to the front.

As an indication of what this bill means to agriculture it can be mentioned that on one item alone—butter—it would bring the farmers of Minnesota $8,000,000 a year more money, of which $1,200,000 would be in the form of dairy cow replacement.

Inoculation for Alfalfa

It may interest those who intend to seed alfalfa this year—and every farmer in the valley should seed a few acres—that they can get the liquid inoculation for the seed, with the root, from the Department of Agriculture. Where your ground has never been in clover or alfalfa before, you can get much better results by inoculating the seed. This is a scientific fact over which there is no dispute.

I shall be happy to transmit any request that you may have for inoculation fluid to the Department of Agriculture. In your letter you must state how many pounds you expect to seed. Five distribution is limited to enough to treat one bushel, but don't ask for more than you need. Be specific in your letter as to amount. My address is 440 House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Deep Waterways Progress

Important developments have occurred within the last few days on the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Deep Waterway matter. Our government and that of Canada has been exchanging notes on the subject for some time past, and the negotiations have now reached a point where both are ready to line up in a treaty affair of partnership, which may be ratified within the present year. It is understood that the administration hopes to have the work under way before Mr. Coolidge leaves the White House. That means it would be completed in 1933.

The two countries are to pay the cost and own the canal on a fifty-fifty basis, but Canada is to be allowed credit for the work already done on the Welland canal and in deepening the St. Lawrence up as far as Montreal. This credit comes within five million dollars of being half the cost of the entire project, so the new construction will be paid for almost entirely by the United States.

Means Much to This Section

This waterway, when completed, will mean low rates applied to every bushel of wheat and rye raised in the northwest. It will cost that much less to ship to the Liverpool market, which determines the world price, and the total gain per year on an average crop in the territory consisting of the Dakotas, Montana and Minnesota will be $25,000,000. In the Minnesota Red River Valley, which now raises about 14,000,000 bushels of wheat and rye yearly, it will add $1,400,000 annually to the income of the farmers as these two grains alone.

While the direct benefit from this work may seem somewhat distant, the letting of the contract will mean a strengthening of land values, the coming of more people and a general forward movement in the valley. We have been pushed further and further away from the great markets of the world, in terms of transportation costs, the last few years. This will again bring us nearer up.

Freight Rate Comparison

Freight rates on wheat on the Canadian railroads have been reduced below the prewar-level, while in this country they have greatly increased. In 1917 a farmer shipped wheat paid 7.5 pounds out of each 100 pounds for freight. In 1922 he paid 9.3 pounds out of each 100 pounds for freight. That and the Canadian wheat pool are the reasons why the price of wheat is at present higher in the Canadian west than in our country.

TWO OPINIONS WHICH DO NOT CONFLICT

C. T. Jaffrey, president of the Soo Line, spent a few hours in Thief River Falls last week and we enjoyed a short visit with him during which we asked him many questions. One of the things we asked him was whether or not, in his opinion, this would be a good time to start a campaign on a large scale to bring new settlers into Northern Minnesota. He expressed the belief that the time is not yet ripe for such an effort. It was his opinion that little could be accomplished along this line until farming, once again, becomes a desirable occupation. He pointed out that agriculture, throughout the central west, is in the dumps mentally and is advertising to the world that farming is a money losing proposition. Under these circumstances any effort on a large scale to interest people in farming as a means of improving their condition would be futile, he said.

It is Mr. Jaffrey's opinion that the proper place to start a campaign to interest people in this country is right here at home. In other words he suggested that we proceed to sell ourselves on the advantages of our own community as a necessary preliminary step, on the theory that our optimism and enthusiasm will attract settlers as our pessimism now repels them.

On Monday of this week we had occasion to spend a few minutes with Ole Christofferson of Kratka, and the conversation drifted to this same subject. It is Mr. Christofferson's opinion that, while conditions for the farmer are not ideal, they could be a whole lot worse, and he believes that there are greater possibilities for young people in farming in this community now than there were twenty or thirty years ago. He made some comparisons that are significant. Land can be bought today practically as cheap as it could have been bought twenty years ago. This is naturally a discouraging situation for the man who has owned his farm for twenty years hoping for an increase in value, but it should be an encouraging condition for the young fellow who plans to become the owner of a farm. Twenty years ago ten per cent was an ordinary rate of interest on loans. Today eight per cent is the limit that can be charged and it is possible to get money on land for less than six per cent, while several agencies offer very favorable terms on loans for the purchase of live stock. Considering everything, the cost of land, interest rates, marketing facilities and the value of farm products, Mr. Christofferson believes farming offers greater inducements today than it did a generation ago.

These opinions are interesting not only because they express the opinion of a railroad president and a successful farmer of this community, but rather because in this instance the advice of the railroad official and the farmer points practically in the same direction. The opinions certainly do not conflict. One says we should interest our own people in our own country. The other says our country offers sufficient inducements to deserve our confidence. Both men are sufficiently well acquainted with the facts to know whereof they speak.

While the idea probably involves a certain amount of that blash and blooey which became distasteful a few years ago because we had too much of it, nevertheless it wouldn't be a bad idea for this community to stage a real celebration some time this summer at which farmers, railroad men and business men, all those in fact who are interested in the development of this country, could get together and lure old man Gloom—Isaiah him forever from the province of Northwestern Minnesota. It isn't necessary to forget the things that are wrong. There are certain specific things that are wrong and our efforts should be redoubled to correct them. It is important, however, that we give recognition occasionally to some of the many things that are right.

MINNESOTA'S FOREST PROBLEMS

This week, April 22 to April 28, has been designated as American Forest Week. The week has particular significance to the state of Minnesota, emphasizing two great needs, namely, the prevention of forest fires and the need of a reforestation program to replant the large areas devasted by both fire and axe. So large a portion of this state is suited for forest only that the best interests of the state as a whole require the immediate adoption of a far-sighted and constructive program of forest protection and reforestation.

Any efforts along this line will require large public expenditures and these public expenditures will be justified only insofar as they benefit the people of the state as a whole. The state will not be justified in spending public money to rebuild forests for private interests, and rather than make concessions to private interests by eliminating taxes on forest lands and applying them on the crop at the time of cutting, the state might just as well assume full ownership of both land and trees when taxes are not paid, and derive the full benefits of the crop. Action along this line will not work a hardship on any individual or group of individuals and the public as a whole will be benefited.

One way in which a reforestation program could be financed painlessly would be by a tax on cigarettes such as is levied in North Dakota and many other states. Land, suitable only for forests, could be replanted as it became acquired by the state through tax delinquency and as the revenue from a cigarette tax made such replanting possible. This property would become the permanent property of the people of the state of Minnesota and revenue from it could very properly be placed in the permanent school funds of the state. There would probably be no revenue to speak of during the first seventy-five years, but from that time on, nature forests, properly cared for, should yield a healthy income.

HARRY SINCLAIR ACQUITTED

Harry Sinclair, notorious for his complicity in the Teapot Dome oil scandals, and accused of conspiring to defraud the government, has been found not guilty of this offense. This, at any rate, is the verdict of the jury which heard the evidence in the case, and the matter is now ended as far as the courts are concerned. When we consider that Fall and Doheny were also found not guilty in the criminal actions brought against them, we wonder just a little bit if the jury system of justice isn't about ready to take its place on the shelf with the old trial by ordeal and trial by combat systems of the middle ages.

In these cases leading out of the Teapot Dome scandals the judges have been as severe as the juries have been lenient, and it seems that the higher the tribunals of justice the more severe have been the judges. Thanks to the Supreme Court, which reversed a decision of a lower court, the property which was stolen from the government is returned to the government. Thanks to Justice Siddons, Harry Sinclair will spend a few months in jail, not because of his attempted steal from the government, for on this charge the jury said he was not guilty, but for his attempt to tamper with a jury.

Fall, Doheny and Sinclair have now received judgment. Whether the judgment of the courts has been sufficiently severe or too severe cannot be said. When it is considered how these men have been lashed by public opinion, and in what universal contempt they are held, it cannot be denied that their punishment has been great. The following sketch from an article by "The Gentleman at the Keyhole," which appeared in last week's Colliers, presents an interesting view of the Sinclair trial.

Fall, an old and broken man. Nobody greatly cares whether he accompanies Sinclair to jail or not. He was a weak man who was tempted by a relatively petty bribe. His conviction would be no such evidence of the power of society to protect itself from marauders as would that of Sinclair.

Public attention is lax and time wasty of a technical process like the administration of justice.

It must concentrate upon some one person who—perhaps by a process of elimination, perhaps for psychological reasons ranging from the personality of the accused—is elected as the most abominated of the delinquents. Sinclair is that elected.

Two things have contributed to this election. One is the sense that he affords the last chance for the government to vindicate itself as effective instrument. Another is the peculiarly defiant attitude of Sinclair himself.

His personifies the challenge to society as no other participants in the oil frauds did. That is his misfortune: if some other defendant had been picked upon as peculiarly contemptuous of law, then he and not Sinclair would have become the symbol of the struggle between Wealth and Society.

But the election of Sinclair was always inevitable. In the first place, he is the one relatively young man among the defendants, in the full vigor of his manhood. Doheny and Fall are old men, men, in any event, to whatever their final reward may be. Their capacity for further damage on this earth is slight. Moreover, there is a certain sympathetic quality about the personality of Doheny which is lacking in the case of Sinclair. He is either a consummate actor or a kindly old Irish grandfather who did wrong without half knowing it. At any rate he won his acquittal on the one charge on which he has been tried as a witness in his own defense.

There is nothing sympathetic about Sinclair. His hard face signifies force to the eye of everyone who goes him in the courtroom, the ability to batter down the self-protective system of society. And force, the power of wealth, is the synonym of the indictment against him. His egotism projects him into the center of the courtroom picture. He constantly dominates it.

His revenge of the jury which first tried him was characteristic. Doheny appealed to the hearts of his renters. Sinclair makes no appeal. He knows a trick worth a dozen of that. Take it even at his own explanation, that he merely wanted to keep an eye on the jury, and his proceeding was the boldest and most contemptuous defiance of the decencies of a public trial that ever shocked the country. He was a man too big to be content with such safe gaols as the law throws around ordinary defendants. He must have his own army of hirelings, his own counterpolice defending him. That tightened the will of the country against him.

In 1888 Torjus Hemmestvelt, now a resident of Kratka township, won the King's medal for the long distance ski jump and a first prize of 100 crowns in a thirty-six mile cross-country run on skils, in a national meet at Telemarken, Norway. In March of this year Mr. Hemmestvelt, and his brother who still lives in Norway, were awarded the highest honor of the Norwegian Ski Society for what they have done to promote interest in skiing, and a gold medal, representing this honor, was received by Mr. Hemmestvelt this week. We hope to have more details of this story for next week's issue. When they send gold medals from Norway to residents of Pennington county we want to know the full particulars.

COUNTY AUDITOR IN ASKED ABOUT TAX JUDGEMENT SALE

County Auditor T. F. Anderson has already had several inquiries regarding the Tax Judgement Sale scheduled for the second Monday in May, the changes in the law by the last legislature presumably causing some consternation on the part of property owners who have been careless regarding their taxes.

At the close on May 14 Mr. Anderson believes that several pieces of property will be bid in by prospective land owners, or those who believe that some of the property so bid will be redeemed by the owners, who will be obliged qto pay one percent per month interest on the sum so invested by those who bid in the property.

Late Non Fiction Works in Demand Thruout Land Found in Local Library

The following is taken from a talk given by the librarian of Pekin public library and printed in a recent issue of The Library Journal:

"We are waking up to the fact that popular non fiction will streamline itself without much pushing and that the reading public may voluntarily adore fiction 'tis the Lord's truth. We are in a state of fluctuating thoughts, ideas, views, desires and habits. The old order changeth. Doubting Thomases may well hesitate the annual sing transitions after war during recent months in our book stores.

Most emphatically, fiction has taken a back seat. The big sales have swung to books of biography and history and religion. Two years ago, in our leading book stores in Indianapolis, three popular authors for new titles of Zane Grey and Peter B. Kyne were about two to three hundred more, and a book of travel that drew only a fifty orders was considered extraordinary. Today they and Kyne draw only some fifty each, while Hamilton Mabie and Ludwig's "Napoleon" draw three or four hundred, followed by frequent repeat orders in large quantities. The same is true of Durant's "Story of Philosophy", "Trader Horn", Mayo's "Mother India", Lawrence's "Seven Pillars of Wisdom", the two books by Hallburton, both "The Man Nobody Knows" and "What Can a Man Believe", Brand's "Rise of American Civilization" and a score of others.

The Carnegie Public Library of this city has all of the above titles. For more than a year they have been among the most called for books that the waiting lists prove that their popularity is not diminishing. People in Thief River Falls seem also to be turning more and more to non fiction.

MINNESOTA IS ONE OF LEADING CORN PRODUCING STATES

Economically Is Most Important of All Crops on American Continent

Minnesota during the past two decades has taken a place among the leading corn producing states of the nation.

Much of this development is due to the northward march of corn as a staple product. It is only a comparatively short time that it was thought possible to grow corn in any quantity within the boundaries of this state. In 1870 there were but 428,727 acres under cultivation. In 1885 2,001,600 acres. It was only after 1899 that the real increase began. In that year 1,441,580 acres were planted and for the ten year periods ending in 1909 and 1919 the acreage was 2,004,000 and 2,980,858 respectively.

Corn Acreage Increases

Corn acreage has shown a steady increase in Minnesota from 1870 to the present date, while other states in the so-called Corn Belt show a decrease. Among the states in which production is decreasing are such leaders as Iowa and Illinois.

Through the development of early maturing, frost resisting varieties of corn it is now possible to grow corn in Minnesota from the Iowa line to the Canadian border. Credit is due the Agricultural college and the experiment stations in the state for the vast amount of research work conducted along this line.

Economically Most Important

As a modern crop, corn is one of the most valuable food plants in the world and is eaten by more people than any other grain with the exception of rice. The use of corn as a food is almost universal. Economically it is more important than any other New York state.

Minnesota ranks sixth in the United States in the production of corn. The average annual acreage of corn within the state is about four and one-half millions. The product of this land approximates $100,000,000 in cash value annually.

Yield Per Acre Steady

While production per acre for corn in Minnesota is not quite as high as some of the "corn belt" states, production is extremely constant. For a period of 1909-13 production was 25.3 bushels per acre; 1914-20, 24.1 bushels per acre, and 1921-25, 24.8 bushels per acre.

GRAND FORKS SCENE OF TWO FIRES MONDAY

Fire totally destroyed the old Russell Miller Milling company elevator at Grand Forks on Monday night causing a total loss of nearly $10,000 and endangering buildings for blocks around.

The fire was one of the worst in the history of the city of Grand Forks and only the combined efforts of the Grand Forks and East Grand Forks fire fighters saved the entire business section near the elevator from destruction by fire.

The elevator was built 45 years ago and has not been used except for storage place for machinery for the last few years.

The sober fire occurred on Monday afternoon when a blaze, possibly started by incendiary sparks, caused a damage of $1,200 to the N. P. depot at East Grand Forks.

Plummer P. T. A. To Meet Next Wednesday Evening

The Parent Teachers Association of Plummer will meet in the high school auditorium of that village next Wednesday evening, May 2, and an interesting program, arranged by the officers of the association. F. Melby. A talk by Dr. O. F. Melby, president of the Thief River Falls branch of the Association, and a vocal solo by Edward McCullough. There will also be selections by the Verbic piano orchestra, and at the close of the program will be a social hour.

LEGISLATIVE CONFERENCE IS CALLED FOR RED LAKE FALLS

The Farmer-Labor legislative conference of the 59th district will be called to order by Chairman Walter H. Quist at Red Lake Falls the meeting will be open not only to the regularly appointed delegates, but also to all voters and the general public.

The meeting is called to endorse legislative candidates and to devise ways and means to carry on the forthcoming campaign.

FARMER LABOR CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR HAS FILED

Ernest Lundeen, Minneapolis, former congressman, filed Saturday as the Farmer-Labor nomination for governor of Minnesota.

He is the first candidate to enter the race of that party, with some dozen still expected over the week-end. Primary election day is June 4.

In a statement, Mr. Lundeen declared that the Farmer-Labor party must not hesitate at this time but must maintain a definite organization committed to the principles upon which the party first was built. He indicates a definite opposition to Hoylism with the Democratic party of the state.

Judges to Work in May, June Without Pay But Have a Raise Coming

May and June will be months for Minnesota district judges as their pay envelopes will be empty.

This announcement was made Friday by Ray P. Chase, state auditor, in relating to a situation which has arisen because the last legislature granted the judges a salary increase but failed to appropriate funds to make payments.

As a result, the first for judges' salaries has been exhausted already with two months of the fiscal year yet to go. No checks can be issued for these two months, but on July 1, when the next fiscal year's appropriations become available checks may be made out for the two paydays which will be missed. The legislature will meet before the next fiscal year closes, and it is expected that an emergency appropriation will be made at that time to cover the deficiency.

The salary increase was from $4,800 to $6,000 a year. The raise had been vetoed by the governor, and consequently the appropriation did not cover the extra amount, but later the veto was declared by the courts to have been void.

ARRANGE VARIED PROGRAM FOR "U" APPRECIATION DAY

Many thousands of people from every section of the state are expected to gather on the University of Minnesota campus to help celebrate and to observe University Appreciation Day, May 5, as set by Governor Christianson in a recent proclamation.

A varied program of musical talent, athletics, boating, track contests, stunts, exhibitions, a huge bonfire, and an Engineers' fly parade have been arranged by the student citizens' committee under the direction of Harry W. Palmer, general chairman, and a student committee of 500 students, which has offered its services to Mr. Palmer and his group.

POSSIBLE 87½ MILE SAVING SHOWN BY HIGHWAY SURVEY

Six and one half miles will be cut off on trunk highway No. 8 between Crookston and the junction of highways Nos. 8 and 32 a short distance south of Red Lake Falls, according to Engineer H. W. Perkins.

The crew of surveyors has just completed the survey which was made by the men after they left this city, where they have been consumed in the re-routing of the highway, Mr. Perkins was unable to leave Red Lake Falls with the others as the party when they left for Detroit on last week, being confined to his room in the hotel at Red Lake Falls.

LOCAL APPLICANTS FOR CITIZENS MILITARY CAMP

F. J. Stebbins today stated that he had received several inquiries regarding the Citizens Military camps to be conducted again this coming summer by the government, especially regarding the camp at Fort Snelling.

Eight applications have already been sent in and several expect to file their requests within the next ten days.

PUBLIC ASKED TO REFRESH MEMORY ON FOREST FIRES

All people of the United States are called upon to refresh their memories during American Forest Week, April 29-28, as to the importance of forest fire prevention.

The Forest Service places the average annual number of forest fires in the United States during the past 10 years at approximately 54,000. The average area swept by fires each year stands at about 15,000,000 acres; and the annual damage runs up to $20,000,000, not taking into account the damage to young growth, watersheds, grazing lands, and recreational facilities which can hardly be estimated.

NOT MANY MUSKRAT HIDES WERE MARKETED LOCALLY

The muskrat harvest has meant much to many people of the state this past few weeks, altho locally not many skins were brought into this city for sale. This local situation was due in part, to the fact that many were sold during the late winter, being driven from their homes by rising water, the houses having been built when the water was high last fall.

41 COUNTY ASSESSORS START WORK ON TUESDAY

Bright and early next Tuesday the 34 assessors of Pennington county will start on their rounds to secure the required data desired by the State Tax Commission. They have all been busy the past two weeks getting their cards ready, these being required for use instead of the old books used for so many years. This means that many of the old records of those who have been assessing year after year will have to be recorded anew.

COMPANY "E" ORGANIZED 39 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

Company "E" of the Third Minnesota infantry was mustered in Thief River Falls 39 years ago this week, it being the fifth attempt to organize a company in this city by members of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Two years later the county was organized and the city then built the auditorium as a barracks for the guards, turning over the old city hall to the county for a court house.

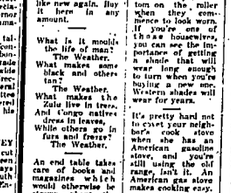
TELEGRAPH CREW MOVES

The Great Northern crew that is rebuilding the telegraph line between Red Lake Falls junction and Thief River Falls, left last week in their special cars on the local freight for Larimore, N. Dak., where they were called to do some emergency repair work on the line, the work completed they will return to Red Lake Falls. The new line has been constructed to a point three miles north of Red Lake Falls.

TRIO OF LIVE MUSKRATS WORTH UP TO 8 DOLLARS

Trappers were being offered as high as eight dollars for one male and two female muskrats if caught alive, fur breeders being particularly anxious this spring, to secure a large number for their farms located in many of the northern states at present. Special traps for taking the rats alive were being offered free by the largest fur farms, it is stated.

Altho there is an abundance of rats this spring due to a closed season for four years, the reports of largely catches leads the State Game and Fish department to speculate as to how much seed stock is left to produce another crop, and whether another closed season is essential.



Accurate Spacing Means More Potatoes to the Acre

From Bulletin No. 1188, United States Department of Agriculture.—"It is significant that the yield of potatoes is less, and the cost of production greater on farms where planting is done by hand than on those planting by machine."

The light seeded yields are corrected from planting sufficient seed and spacing it uniformly. That is why increased yields follow the use of McCormick-Deering potato planters—they space accurately. The open seed chamber enables the operator to see the pickers and know that the seed is reaching the soil on time.

McCormick-Deering potato planters can be supplied either with or without fertilizer attachment. We want to show you one of those up-to-date planters.

We can't think of anything that stands as much abuse as a piece of Armstrong's Linoleum. Give it a cut off and it looks like new again. Buy it here in any amount.

What is it molds the life of man?
The Weather.
What makes some black and others tan?
The Weather.
What makes the Zulu live in trees, and Congo natives dress in leaves, while Eskimos go in furs and freeze?
The Weather.

An end table takes care of books and magazines which would otherwise be thrown about the room. Our mahogany tables have hand rubbed finishes.

A wise man never makes a face at a red-headed girl, nor bites a mule on the ankle.

A number of thrifty housewives here in Thief River Falls tell us they turn the window shades from the bottom to the top instead of from the top down. Try it on the roller shades you have in your sunroom.

So many times you need an extra rocker or an extra "straight" chair. Ours is comfortable, at that. One lady told us she had company every other day and three of the callers sat all on the stairs. We can supply you with kitchen chairs if you want. They are comfortable and serviceable.

Here is another thing about the Armstrong Linoleum, it doesn't wear out the clothes. It washes by water action. The distinct fabrics are not harmed in the least.

Rhubarb is recommended as a spring tonic. Also sassafras tea. Personally, we prefer it in meat and potatoes.

Have you seen the ones we have here at our store.

When your hat blows off, you can't chase it. Just wait for the next one.

So many times you need an extra rocker or an extra "straight" chair. Ours is comfortable, at that. One lady told us she had company every other day and three of the callers sat all on the stairs. We can supply you with kitchen chairs if you want. They are comfortable and serviceable.

Here is another thing about the Armstrong Linoleum, it doesn't wear out the clothes. It washes by water action. The distinct fabrics are not harmed in the least.

Rhubarb is recommended as a spring tonic. Also sassafras tea. Personally, we prefer it in meat and potatoes.

CHEVROLET

Dependability, Satisfaction and Honest Value!

Never before in our history have we delivered as many new Chevrolets as during the first three months of this year. Naturally a large part of this increased business required the trade-in of the new Chevrolet owner's previous car. Such cars are put into good conditioned with the result that many of them can hardly be distinguished from new cars.

Furthermore, these cars carry the official red tag "with an OK that counts" which shows that true condition under which the car is offered for sale.

Come in and inspect these used cars, and when you buy from us you may do so, confident that we won't cheat you with the same as we now enjoy with Chevrolet owners in this community.

Increase Your Potato Yield 15 to 25 Bushels per Acre with This Instantaneous Dip

Treat your seed potatoes as fast as you can scoop them up. Just dip them in DIPDUST solution and out again—all ready to plant.

DIPDUST protects the seed and insures a heavy, profitable yield. It is much more effective than the old-fashioned "two-hour soak" treatment—and there is not the slightest danger of injuring the sprouts or even cut seed.

After one trial of DIPDUST, you will never again waste two hours treating seed potatoes or spend two weeks worrying about your stand. Compare this New Treatment with the old:

THE NEW WAY — Dipdust Organic Mercury Disinfectant	THE OLD WAY — Formaldehyde or Corrosive Sublimate
1. Requires less than 1 minute. One man can easily treat from 200 to 400 bushels of potatoes per day.	1. Requires from 1½ to 2 hours. One man can treat only from 50 to 75 bushels per day.
2. Can be used on cut or sprouted seed without the slightest injury.	2. Can not be used on cut or sprouted seed without injury.
3. After cutting, protects the cut surfaces from seed-rotting organisms in the soil. This insures a better stand of stronger plants.	3. Before cutting, gives no protection to the cut surfaces. The seed frequently cannot be cut started before the young plants get rotted.
4. Controls surface-borne diseases, such as Rhizoctonia, scab and black-leg.	4. Although effective against Rhizoctonia and scab, do not control black-leg.
5. Improves the stand and growth of the plants, and thus increases the yield 10 to 30%.	5. Frequently decrease the stand, and therefore the yield, to a serious extent.

One pound treats 15 to 20 bushels of seed potatoes.

GUARANTEE

Plant a few acres of DIPDUST treated seed to alternate rows with untreated seed. If not entirely satisfactory, you are not out a cent. Simply send empty DIPDUST can to factory and your money will be refunded promptly.

Treat your Corn and Vegetable Seeds too

You can now also disinfect your seed corn and vegetable seeds with DIPDUST and increase your yield by preventing many of the diseases which cause poor germination, weak, spindly plants, and poor quality crops. Simply use as a wet treatment. It is easily and quickly applied and costs but a few cents per acre. The pound of DIPDUST will treat six bushels of seed corn, or from six to eight bushels of vegetable seed.

Out-of-town Cases

When arrangements are to be made in distant communities, our nation-wide connections are of great value. We have contacts with other funeral directors in cities all over the country, and can secure absolutely dependable service anywhere. It is much better for arrangements with out-of-town morticians to be made through us than for the layman, with his limited knowledge of such affairs, to try to make them himself.

Local officials of the Soo Lines have heard nothing as yet, according to W. A similar request of the Canadian Northern railway to discontinue the station at Pitt, near Baldwin, was also heard, but Judge Torrence of Bemidji denied the petition of the road.

HIGH RATINGS ARE SCORED BY THREE POSTAL EMPLOYEES

Smith, Knudsen and Stebbins Recently Pass Examinations With High Percentages

Three employees of the local post-office were recently commended for the excellent showing they made in impromptu examination given here by Examiner Walter H. Jennings of Fargo, assistant chief clerk, when he dropped into the Thief River Falls post office on a tour of inspection.

The test was for accuracy and efficiency in dispatching the mails. Two of the tests had 564 questions in the form of postal addresses, and passing the examination with a high grade required that the clerks distribute the cards to the proper boxes so that they could arrive at their destinations in the least possible time. The third test had 564 cards, according to Assistant Postmaster Hay Jones.

Minnesota is divided into nine parts for postal distribution, the northern and southern Dakotas, North Dakota is similarly divided, in the northern half of Minnesota, while inside which the clerks must know for the distribution of the mails; in northern North Dakota are 454 places.

Walter F. Smith and Clarence C. Knudsen were given the test for northern North Dakota, while Edwin F. Stebbins took that for Minnesota. Walter Smith threw the entire 454 cards for the northern half of North Dakota without a single error, making the distribution at the rate of 58 cards to the minute, while 18 is considered a good average. His percentage therefore was 100—a remarkable showing, according to the inspector.

Clarence Knudsen made his distribution at the rate of 22 to the minute, with only a few mistakes, his percentage being announced as 98.5. Edwin Stebbins, with over a hundred more cards, finished with a 99.14 percent marking, having thrown his cards at an average speed of 26 to the minute.

There are only the three above named clerks handling outgoing mail at the local office.

"Ask the driver in the hospital what he thinks of safety."

Judge Tilts to Sleep But Will Perform Ceremony at Midnight for "Five Spot"

Judge N. W. Tarrant last Saturday night had retired at eleven o'clock and was resting, comfortably when the phone in his residence started ringing.

Now this is not an uncommon thing in the Tarrant household, for on several occasions the Judge has been routed from sleep by a "friend" of some one in the "jug." Accordingly, he made up his mind to let the "party" remain in jail over night.

Turning over his pillow was soon asleep—but Mrs. Tarrant was sitting up reading. There was a knock at the door, and the judge told his wife to see who it was, and if it was any one in jail to tell the visitor that he would not get up.

To his surprise, Mrs. Tarrant came back with word was Clerk of Court Adolf Ekland with two Canadians, who wish to be married. With hardly a sigh the judge arose, dressed and performed the ceremony, receiving a "five spot" for his services.—Ever since then he has been wearing a smile that won't come off. Hereafter, he says that he is going to stay in bed after the hour for normal indulgence has come who become inmates of the jail and sentence that if any prospective bride and groom call he will gladly accommodate them.

ILLUSTRATED POSTAL SHOWS WONDERFUL WATER-POWER

W. W. Prichard, Jr., Monday received a postal card from E. O. Mogensen, who had taken a picture of the St. Francis valley just below the dam, showing the devastation caused in California by the undermining of the massive dam, which laid back the water-supplying Los Angeles with the water supply.

The picture is very clear and shows the section of the concrete dam still standing, while people, more specks on the card, can be seen inspecting the scene of the disaster.

23 ST HILAIRE BOYS AND GIRLS JOIN CLUB WORK

University Extension Department Representative Explains 4-H Activities Fully

Twenty three members were signed up for boys' and girls' club work in Pennington county at the 4-H club meeting held in the St. Hilaire school house on Thursday evening. According to County Agent Robert M. Boughton, who states that there are now 144 enrolled in the county. No organization was completed at that time, but this will be done very shortly, according to Supt. A. Heiersdorf, who has been very active in the enlistment of the boys and girls of Pennington county in this work.

Miss Edna Brown, who accompanied Mr. Douglas and Mr. W. W. Davenport, special agricultural agent of the G. N. there, was very well satisfied with the showing made, the young people having given her close attention while she explained the plan of the meeting, organization, etc, that the state university extension department is sponsoring throuout Minnesota. Miss Brown dwelt mainly on the work laid out for young girls, while Mr. Davenport gave some valuable advice to the boys. The meeting closed with a lunch that had been prepared by the junior class of the St. Hilaire school.

Made Two Other Talks

The meeting at Goodridge on Wednesday was also addressed by Miss Brown and Mr. Douglas, the latter speaking particularly on bread making and similar activities for the boys, several of whom have already joined the class in the school there.

The bread making class at the Lincoln high school in this city was also visited by Miss Brown while here, and she complimented the ten girls in the class on their progress, encouraging them in their work and giving them directions as to future work under their teacher, Miss Stenseth.

Hear Interesting Talk On India By Rev. Schalberg

Rev. H. C. Schalberg spoke to Commercial club members last Thursday noon, telling of many incidents in India that he had observed, together with a report of economic conditions as he found them there.

To a person in this country it is hard to realize the condition there as he found them, for India, he said, has a population of 300,000,000, while adjoining is China with 400,000,000.

The United States has only a little more than 100,000,000 with about twice the territory of India. India and China have half the population of the world. Ninety percent of the population of India is illiterate, Mr. Schalberg estimated, while 99 percent of the women are so considered. There are however, some very learned men in that country.

The speaker dwelt for some time on the agricultural products and the mining of India, showing the enormity of the possibilities of that country.

TOWNSHIPS VOTE NEARLY $20,000 FOR 3 PURPOSES

Roads and Bridges Gets Most, General Revenue and Poor Funds Are Next

Reports of the various townships filed with the county auditor recently reveal that 19 of the 21 townships voted $19,400 for roads and bridges this coming year, Cleveland and Norden being the only two not appropriating any money for this purpose, according to T. F. Anderson. The townships of Norden and Nereson were the only two not voting funds for general revenue, the total for this purpose being $4,600.

Only six townships voted money for the poor, while eight voted money for thing for fires, that being Sanders, which set aside $100. Black River decided that $100 should be used for trapping, while Reiner thought that $125 was necessary for that purpose. Star was the only township voting anything for weed cutting, $25 being set aside therefor, while that township also voted $200 for special purpose, which were not stated, the only township so doing.

The money voted for general revenue and roads and bridges by the various townships is as follows:

DISTRICT COURT AT WARREN WILL CONVENE ON MAY 21

The spring term of district court will convene at Warren on Monday, May 21, with Judge A. Grindeland presiding. No grand jury will be called, according to Co. Attorney W. O. Bragstad, unless attention of an indicting body should arise before the time of the court sessions.

The grand jury's services have been required at but one session of Marshall county district court during the past six terms, that being in the spring of 1927, when the grand jurors completed their labors in a single day.

The list of thirty-six names drawn for petit jury service by Clerk of Court A. C. Swandby includes the names of nine women.

CO-OPERATORS SIGNING UP FUR POULTRY WORK

Pipestone and Lyon counties have furnished the first co-operators in the poultry sanitation project, recently organized by the agricultural extension service of the university. Nine project leaders in Pipestone county have agreed to put the different steps of the plan into practice the per-cent accepts, and six have signed up in Lyon county. A large number of co-operators will be enrolled in the next few weeks. Sanitation will help control tuberculosis and reduce losses from worms and coccidiosis.

Judge Grindeland of Warren Was Sustained by State Supreme Court

Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren was sustained last Friday in a decision of the state supreme court reversing a case appealed from the Roseau county district court in an action instituted by Gus A. Felepe, a farmer, against the town of Amnion and Cedar Bend, in which the towns were enjoined from conveying water from judicial ditch No. 9 to the town of Noyes.

Townships have no authority to change or interfere with the operation of judicial drainage ditch systems in the performance of their highway maintenance or improvement duties the state supreme court has held.

It also affirmed the award of $100 damages to Felepe for crop losses he alleged were incurred when water was transferred from one ditch to the other, resulting in the flooding of part of his farm.

Kenneth Krats First Pupil Reported With Perfect Attendance

Kenneth Krats is the first scholar in the Pennington county public schools to be reported this year as having had a perfect attendance record during the seven months of the school year, according to his teacher, Miss Mabel Anderson, who is in charge of district No. 2, the Krats neighborhood.

Vernon Finstad was also in school every day during the year, but he has had a few cases of tardiness chalked up against him.

Possibly the best attendance record in any school in this section of the state is that of district No. 124, Marshall county, where school has also closed after seven months. The teacher, Henry Waale, reports every pupil on the six pupil roll present every one of the 140 days of school.

In Marshall county school No. 8, Miss Lottie Hixson reports an average attendance for the year of 12.5, days, out of a possible 140 days.

QUARTERLY REPORT OF SALVATION ARMY ISSUED BY CAPTAIN

Cash Collections Are Larger in Territory Outside of City Than Here, He Says

Capt. H. E. Kelfe has completed his quarterly report for the Salvation Army, which in it was revealed that the territory served by the local officers outside of Thief River Falls is furnishing the greater portion of the income of the army at the present time, a total of $630.87 having been raised during the first three months of the current year, of which only $384.54 came from the city, while $246.33 was received from out of the city.

With weather permitting of greater success to urban territory Capt. Kelfe states that last week the receipts were only $16.94 from Thief River Falls, as compared to $32.18 from outside points, which includes the territory as far north as Warroad and Ortonville, and as far south as Crookston. Capt. Kelfe last year in his work in the district.

Relief Is Needy

Twenty-one families were cared for by the local Army during the past winter, compared to seventeen a year ago. During the first quarter of this year 296 garments and 20 pairs of shoes were furnished to needy people, whom there were due, Capt. Kelfe reports. The sum of $91 was also paid out to needy families, while $40.67 was used out of town, making a total for the three months of $131.67, he said.

Local and outside hospitals in the district are also utilized during the three months' period, the regular collection of the army being distributed at that time, while 99 other calls were made by the local and other public places in the territory.

An instance of the manner in which the organization Army has dealings with outside organizations, especially those who aid welfare bodies, is cited a family in Kittson county that applied to a ladies aid in Warroad for relief. Capt. Kelfe was there on the letter of appeal and investigated, finding that the husband of the woman making the appeal was steadily employed and receiving a sufficient wage to properly care for his family, and the relief asked for was then denied.

Eight Teams in Northern Minny League Is Report

The Northern Minny league will be composed of eight teams instead of six as first announced, according to latest reports, Clearbrook having applied for membership, which was duly granted by the six teams.

An invitation has been extended to the Red Lake Indians to join the league, their team having been a favorite among baseball fans the past few seasons. If the Indians fail to join then some other team in a nearby town will be invited.

The board of directors adopted a fourteen game schedule, both teams to play seven home games and seven road games. Then every town will have the opportunity of seeing all the teams pitted against the home team. The schedule will open May 13 as formerly announced.

A Gift for Mother—And It's Paid for

There seems to be some sort of popular belief that Father is the only one who worries about the bills, and Mother only tries to spend as much money as possible. This isn't so at all, and it is high time that the thrifty Mothers of the World rose up and protested against such injustice.

As a matter of fact it is our women customers who are most enthusiastic over our Pay-As-You-Go plan and who have made its success possible. Mothers know from sad experience that spending Tomorrow's Dollar Today is a serious mistake. Unemployment or sickness may come unexpectedly, and you may not get the expected dollar after all.

That is why Mother is always especially pleased when she receives a gift from our store. She knows that it is of excellent quality, that you thought about it long enough ahead to save the money for it, and, best of all, she knows it's paid for.

WE BELIEVE

The secret of happiness is not in doing what one likes, but in liking to do one does.

The students of Lincoln High School extend sympathy to Ella, her home and family.

WE HINT

Our aim is to keep up the standard which has been set by our worthy editors here as well as other issues of the High School Progress the past year. We endeavor to live up to the name of our high school, Lincoln, and make the Progress as successful this time as we have done of it as it has been during the past. We may be only freshmen, but we realize that we have a share in, and must cooperate with, our upper classmen in everything which concerns the welfare of our school. We thank you for giving us this chance to prove ourselves, and to wipe off such nicknames as "Greenies" and "Plumbella." We also wish to say, since this is our last and only issue, to the freshmen who will soon leave, I wish to make a short confession in this great work. Many of the articles which you have just leaved here, be your personality in your writings through a paragon.

"The fearful instinct to work for money."

But the enthusiast with a shrank replies:

"That maybe I couldn't but working at once

They wouldn't give up 'till they'd tried
So they buckled right in
With a trace of a grin on their faces.
If worried they hid it;
All started to work with a will
That couldn't be done; and they did it.

By the freshmen of the high school are experiencing no end great of breaking their school work. Some of us are in the habit of leaving our school studies are merely annoying things to be got rid of as soon as possible, so as to spend more time in the right and acquire a unfavorable habit of study. Reaching the high mark can be done and we shall endeavor to do it. Then some day, we, too, shall be dignified, honorable, seniors.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Rev. H. A. Vernon of Minneapolis is to give the commencement address this year. The rest of the preparations not yet definitely announced but with control of the valedictory and salutatory and selections from the Class Choir.

Leslie Sondahl, Lucille Larson, Hero and Heroine of "What Happened to Jones"

"What Happened to Jones", a comedy in three acts will be presented by the high school dramatic department many classes prior to Easter vacation but due to the classes caught by the measles, the production has been made in the east.

Leslie Sondahl is now taking the part of Jones, the central figure in the play. Lucille Larson is playing the leading feminine role as Mrs. Hazelhurst. Lucille Hall is playing opposite Leslie in the role of Miss Wetherbee, Mr. and Mrs. Simpson (Dudley, are played by Chester Dahlen and Margaret Hanson).

The Misses Dorothy Mahoney and Minerva Berdine Van Pelt, play the part of Marjorie who is romantically inclined toward Richard Heathcliffe, played by Clayton Snyder. Lucille Hermanson plays the part of Minerva.

Let's Get Better Acquainted Thru Faculty Questionaire

A composed gentlemen, apparently ready for work, in a neat shirt with rolled up sleeves, responds to these questions:

What is your full name?
August Bartland is my name. He likes to be called Bartland.

Do you specialize on anything, for example in school subjects, thereby giving their pedagogy for their own personal pleasure?
When the air is one inspecting a (censored) secret—I keep three cats under my bed.

Why is it that the furnace is kept in the building opposite from the one which it heats? Doesn't it matter, feel that it does?
Ask the engineer.

"Ahhh—" Do you see any further fun in building?
Yes, I do. Miss Krueger's chemical change her system of giving tests after school when you call Prof. Bartland to come to the typing room!

Do you ever sneeze and jump over the kids that sit in front of you?
At this time August was taken and sappy in his answers, refusing to take time to all down.

What is your hobby?
"Oh, I like gardening. I like that planting and flowers and taking care of the school grounds. I like all the teachers and boys and girls. I like everybody awful well. All the teachers and kids are awful nice and awful good."

What characteristics of the Lincoln high students do you admire most?
Ask them.

The kids are all good.

Do they ever get into trouble?
Why, I dunno. Well, I dunno. Sometimes, perennial occasionally.

Have you ever been punished? Don't you think he ought to have been?
Ask them. I'm not necessary for every question you ask, (promptly).

Of all the teachers that have taught here in the past years, which has captured your heart?
"My heart?" And Mr. Bartland put his hand over his heart and looked at me in "my-goodness" fashion.

Then you mean everyone? No I don't mean that.

From what you notice when you are trying to sneak for the first time in the day, do you think that high school students are boisterous or lazy?
Well, I guess they are both at times. There's just a little paper, and we find a few cigarette butts, but we don't do the rye waltz.

He laughed loud and long then. "We have never rye waltzed this year."

Boys' Chorus of Augsburg Give Short Entertainment

The Augsburg Glee Club of Minneapolis under the leadership of director Carl J. Sheperd, presented the student body at an assembly Monday morning, April 16, at 10:30 o'clock.

The program was short but was a splendid one. The boys sang several negro spiritual songs, "Oak Tree Man," which was enjoyed especially by the North students, but also by those who did not understand the language. Also a group of Chinamen in school, every one was pleased when the young men sang a Chinese March. The closing number was that favorite nursery rhyme of our younger days, "The Cat and the Fiddle."

The various departments, students and grade members from the Washington school were invited to the assembly, which would have been a treat, but had the College students not had to hurry to catch the morning train.

CENTRAL NOTES

The pupils in the eighth grade English classes are keenly interested in the study of Franklin Bresler Practice Cards in English," which are used in connection with the daily work. The following listed in the order of their standing have finished all of the practice cards: Valeria Zahn, Ruth Bradbury, Vera Parrott, Lucille Bowers, Ruth Cronkhite, Zilpha Bertness, Rose Bertsch, Helen Peterson, Evelyn Grindeland, Stella Hingstrand, Harold Johnson, Phyllis Zeliner, Bertrum Medrith, Dorothy O'Hara, Harriet Engebretson, Alice Engebretson, Lawrence Knudson, Lowell Lambert, Hannah Liden, Clifford Lambert, and Hamlet Berge.

"She is a tax collector?"
he really managed his badly broken leg.

Music Supervisor Attends Nat. Convention at Chicago

The annual National Music Supervisor's convention was held at the Stephens Hotel at Chicago, April 16, continuing through five days of the attractive session activities.

Miss Maude Johnson, director of glee clubs and orchestras, left early Tuesday morning in order to arrive in the morning and twelve at eight o'clock. Miss Lancaster also reports delightful talks and lectures. Superintendents of music from all over the United States were present at the many demonstrations and addresses given during the week's work.

The most outstanding feature of the meet was the appearance of the National High School chorus and orchestra composed of high school people from all states.

Those beginning to end it was one of the most wonderful musical events ever held."

Miss Johnson left Saturday, April 21, 2,000 people being in attendance.

STATE'S MILLS MAKE FIFTH OF NATION'S FLOUR

Minnesota, With 20,000,000 Barrels Produced in 1927, Still "Bread Basket"

With 76 mills, chiefly in Minneapolis, producing more than 20,000,000 barrels of flour in 1927—nearly a fifth of the entire nation's output—Minnesota held the lead of the nation's flour production states according to a summary made public by F. M. Zwikel, Minneapolis district director of the United States bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

The Minnesota mills, Mr. Zwikel reported, topped the list in every classification, producing 5,500,000 barrels of flour from the 113 Kansas mills, her nearest competitors, and nearly doubling the output of the mills centering at Buffalo, N. Y., the third in the list.

Mr. Zwikel's summary for the United States showed that out of a total of 500,852,000 bushels of wheat ground, 1,055 mills produced a total of 105,178,000 barrels of flour during the year. Minnesota mills handled 96,600,000 bushels of wheat, which they ground into 20,833,952 barrels of flour, and 1,608,000,000 pounds of by-products.

—Nation's Breadbasket—

Minnesota demonstrates her right to the title of the nation's breadbasket by these figures, which were gathered from the census bureau, Mr. Zwikel said. "They also prove that Minneapolis is still the world's flour center, in spite of the growth of the flour milling industry in Buffalo and Kansas City.

"I am confident that these figures will be bettered this year, since the wheat crop of last year was better than before and the mills have been operating full blast," he added.

Missouri, with 77 mills, was placed fourth in the list, producing 5,500,000 barrels of flour; Washington, 28 mills, fifth, with 4,700,000 barrels; Texas, 53 mills, sixth, 4,500,000 barrels, and Illinois, 50 mills, seventh, 3,700,000 barrels.

Montana, among the other northwest states, was placed fifteenth, with 1,586,000 barrels; North Dakota, nineteenth, with 1,454,000 barrels, and South Dakota, twenty-eighth, with 290,000 barrels.

Nearly 4,000 People and Over 1,000 Autos Parked at Hershey Auction Sale

It is estimated that over one thousand automobiles were parked along the roads adjacent to the farm of the late Mile B. Hershey's, five miles southwest of the Shoreham manufactury, at the auction sale last week of his estate. Fully four thousand persons attended the sale, it is said, many coming from distances as great as 200 miles. NOYES TO GET $78,000 GOVERNMENT BUILDING

"Appropriation of $78,000.00 for inspection station building at Noyes, Minn., is recommended by Budget Bureau for the fiscal year of 1929, including $3,500.00 for architect's fee, site and commencement of construction," Assistant Secretary Schaller among confirmed the above information; they having secured authorization in the first public building budget submitted during this session of congress."

The above message was received last week by The Messenger from Rep. Cong. C. G. Selvig. That paper will be bettered by many people, since the opinion that there was too much red tape running around in complying with the customs and immigration regulations when people were entering and returning from the Canadian province of Manitoba.

HARD COAL PRICES HERE ARE REDUCED ABOUT $1 PER TON

U. S. Supreme Court Orders Reduction on Southern Mine Coal for Northwest

Hard coal prices in this city last week dropped about one dollar a ton, according to W. W. Prichard, Jr., of the Prichard Co., a drop at this time of the year having been recorded for several years past. However, the prices for next fall and winter will be about a dollar lower than this past year, he added, hard coal operators seeking to regain former favor among consumers.

The new figures which came to this city from Duluth are said to have been promulgated in the eastern offices of the coal companies, and apply only to what is considered Duluth and Superior, in which Thief River Falls is located. While quotations went into effect here last week, there are several parts of the northwest that have not been favored.

Lower Water Rates Reason

Eastern cities, such as Montreal, Washington and coast points, all pay a higher price for coal than does the Twin Ports. The cheap water transportation is considered one of the main factors in the lower price scale, effective in the northwest.

Whether there will be a reduction in the price of soft coal here recently is unknown, altho Justice Willis Van Devanter Taft of the United States Supreme court at Washington last week handed down a decision which will result immediately a reduction in rates on lake cargo coat to the Twin Ports from southern coal fields. This, it is claimed by the officers of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, is the result of the initiative of the organization in the fight for lower freight rates, the officers claiming that it will mean an annual saving of $2,000,000 to consumers of from five to six million dollars per year.

Farm Bureau Wins Victory

The Interstate Commerce Commission last August suspended a voluntary reduction in rates on coal to lake ports, effective in July, by southern railroads, President J. F. Reed of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, immediately took the initiative and voiced emphatic objection to the action of the commission. Since then the federation has been active at all times.

Under the stimulus of the campaign of education being waged by a half dozen Northwestern states, coal operators in Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia and Virginia decided to take the case into the courts for a decision.

At Richmond Virginia, in the Federal District court, April 14, an injunction was issued restraining enforcement of the order of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Reduction Holds for Season

Appeal was made to the United States Supreme Court at Washington, April 16. Justice Taft held with the court at Richmond.

The result of this action is to place the lower rates of twenty cents per ton in effect for the 1928 shipping season. The rates will be in effect until October 1, at which time the United States Supreme court will hear arguments on the case on its merits.

$180,000 Retaining Wall Along River Bank Will Be Built at Warroad Shortly

Nearly two miles of revement or retaining walls will be built along the river bank in this village during the summer at an estimated cost of approximately $180,000, according to A. E. McDonald, editor of the Warroad Pioneer, who was in the city Saturday on business matters.

A meeting of those who will be affected by building the retaining wall was held last week in order to get some misunderstandings cleared up and in the minds of some of the property owners. The work was started some time ago sent blanks to each property owner asking them to sign a petition asking them to sign a petition for the river bank. Some had the idea that it would interfere with the dampers should they sign and others figured that they should be paid by the department. It is understood that everybody is willing to sign up and have the wall built.

Sand and dirt will be pumped from the river bed and used to form a solid back of the wall, which may form a fill for streets, Mr. McDonald stated, and for the most of the time have been under water."

PETER MYHRUM CHARGED WITH GRAND LARCENY

Misappropriation of Funds of Hanson & Barzen Milling Company Is Claimed

COMPLAINT SPECIFIES A SHORTAGE OF $775

Hearing Will Be Held May 14 Before Judge Tarmut—Is Released Under Bond

Peter Myhrum, secretary-treasurer of the Hanson & Barzen Milling Company of this city, was arrested Monday afternoon by Sheriff Ole Iltis on a Grand Larceny charge, the warrant for his arrest being issued following the filing of a complaint by Bernard Farzen, a stockholder of the company. The complaint charges that Myhrum had misappropriated funds of the company to the extent of $775, and Myhrum was brought before Municipal Judge A. T. Tarmut, the matter being continued until yesterday morning when another continuance was granted until Monday, May 14. The accused is under bonds of $1,000, and confined in his own home in Sheriff Iltis until Monday evening when he was released under bond of $2,500.

This action was the result of an audit of the books of the company which is now being made. The specific item of $775 which is alleged in the complaint is said to include several checks issued in payment of personal accounts of Mr. Myhrum, which he has failed to charge to himself in the books of the company. The total amount of the alleged shortage, originally estimated from seven to five thousand dollars, has not been revealed, officers of the company refusing to make any statements in this regard until the complete findings of the auditor have been received. The audit is being made by H. J. Forster of Minneapolis, who was here a little part of last week that the criminal complaint be filed against Mr. Myhrum.

While Mr. Myhrum has as yet entered no plea to the charges made against him, the Times reporter was informed by Attorney Ole Dahle, who will represent the accused, that a full explanation of the charges would be made at the proper time. It was also stated that Mr. Myhrum would be glad to have the matter cleared up as soon as it can be, and that he is willing to do anything in his power to help bring about such a result. Just what this will be, however, is not known at this time, it being stated that the matter will be left entirely to the attorneys.

Mr. Myhrum has been employed by the Hanson & Barzen Milling Company for many years, serving as bookkeeper up to the time of the death of W. H. Fuller, succeeding Mr. Fuller as secretary and treasurer of the company. Previous to his employment at the mill he was engaged as instructor at the Thief River Falls Business college. Those who signed the bond were Hans Aglen, W. J. Jellerey, Leonard Dirkson, Herbert Fuller, Anton Langseth and Paul Holdrigh.

Suitable Observance of Child Health Day Postponed Till 1929

A suitable observance of May Day as Child Health Day was to have been held in this city this year, but the large number of cases of bad colds and attacks of influenza led the physicians and school authorities to delay the same till next year.

May 1 as a national Child Health Day is now five years old, and as such institution is firmly established in every section of the country. The child of today is the citizen of tomorrow. What the nation of the future shall be must be determined by the type of citizen that is produced. That in brief is the keynote of the efforts of the various organizations sponsoring the movement known as Child Health Day.

Co-operating in the observance of the occasion are the following organizations: Minnesota State Department of Education, Minnesota League of Woman Voters, University of Minnesota Extension Division, State Federation of Women's Clubs, the American Legion and Legion Auxiliary, State Parent Teachers' association, State Board of Control and the State Auxiliary.

Endorsed By Governor

Governor Christianson on being advised of the setting aside of May 1 by the American Child Health association as Child Health Day and the movement has his hearty endorsement.

Herbert Hoover in commenting on the matter says: "The ideal in which we should drive is that there should be no child in America that has not been born under proper conditions, that does not receive hygienic surrounding, that ever suffers from malnutrition, that does not have prompt and efficient medical attention and inspection, that does not receive instruction in the fundamentals of hygiene and good health."

MAYOR ISSUES CLEAN-UP WEEK PROCLAMATION

Local and State Health Boards Also Urge Citizens to Comply With Law

BOY SCOUTS DISTRIBUTE NOTICES NEXT SATURDAY

Street Department Will Collect Piles of Rubbish If Property Owners Wish It

Next week, May 6-12, has been officially designated as "Clean-up week in Thief River Falls," Mayor W. W. Prichard having issued a proclamation, asking residents to clean their premises of any unsightly accumulations. The proclamation follows in full, and all citizens are also urged in their request that everything be done at this time that may exist. Further co-operation is being offered by the street department, which will collect all property owners to place the rubbish, including leaves, etc., along the curb, where employees will pick it up and take it to the city dump.

Placards announcing Clean-up will be distributed Friday and Saturday by members of the local Boy Scout troops, a notice which will be found each home of the city, and these both of the movement are hopeful of hearty co-operation in the work. Any other assistance that may be given, especially that by the public schools, will be gladly received by the committees in charge.

Complete Co-operation

Complete co-operation throughout the city is assured, according to the Boy Scouts, local organizations having pledged their support. Commercial clubs, fraternal orders, boards of trade, city officials and others have signified their willingness to help in every way possible, the same as the Boy Scouts.

Since towns and cities began to appear, back in the days of the pioneers, the annual spring cleaning and clean-up campaign has been a necessity. Each year, with the coming of spring, the people have come out from their homes and places of business and strewn with broom and shovel the accumulations of the winter months. Each year the streets and alleys have been cleaned, and each year the people have been healthier and happier for the work.

Today, with the coming of automobiles, the necessity for the annual clean-up campaign is greater than ever before. Dust and dirt, which in the days of the horse and buggy were not so noticeable, are now carried by the wind and whirling motor cars into every nook and cranny of the city. Dust and dirt are unsightly, unsanitary and unhealthful. Dust and dirt are the breeding places of disease germs. Dust and dirt are the enemies of health.

Therefore, it is the duty of every citizen to help in the annual clean-up campaign. Let us all do our part to make Thief River Falls a clean, sanitary and healthful city in which to live.

Proclamation

By authority vested in me as Mayor of the City of Thief River Falls, I hereby proclaim and set aside the week beginning on and ending on

Saturday, May 5

as

CLEAN-UP AND PAINT-UP WEEK

and I respectfully urge every resident of the city to co-operate and enter into the full spirit of the campaign to the end that Thief River Falls will continue to be one of the clean and really beautiful cities of Minnesota.

During this week every resident is asked to have all rubbish, ashes, garbage and manure hauled from their yards and alleys, to have their yards raked up and the dead leaves and grass burned, and other such things done as are possible that will add to the cleanliness and attractiveness of the home and surroundings.

Respectfully soliciting the co-operation of all residents, I am,

W. W. PRICHARD, Jr.,
Mayor.

Film Success, Norway, at Princess, on May 14

The new film success, Norway, the Land of the Midnight Sun, will be seen at the Princess theatre Monday, May 14, in three showings, a matinee at three o'clock, and evening shows at 7:30 and 9 o'clock.

According to the announcement received here the film, produced by Lyman Dwight, and assisted by the best tenor and most popular singer in Norway, Erling Krough, is intensely interesting from start to finish, and will be enjoyed by everyone attending.

At one showing of the picture before an audience composed entirely of Americans there was never a dull moment during the performance. The scenes were thrilling by the wonderful nature scenes, as well as by the well-planned sports of summer and winter.

POWER PLANT ESTABLISHES GOOD RECORD

Not One Gallon of Oil Used at Up-Town Plant During Past Twelve Weeks

EXCELLENT STAGE OF WATER IS PREVALENT

Improvements Being Made to Old Plant; Small Park Will Improve Appearance

A new record was established by the city water, and light department when last Saturday it had operated the hydro-electric plant at the dam continuously for twelve weeks. That is the first time that not a gallon of crude oil was burned by the city in the operation of the plant, it is according to Clas. J. Krause, chief engineer at the light plant.

Before and after the plant went out on the Red Lake river here this spring, a splendid stage of water was prevailed, enabling the city to operate the plant with the efficiency especially to furnish all the electricity that is needed, both alternating and direct current.

Since the present time two ten inch pumps have been placed in the spillway, adding somewhat to the head of water, and it is estimated could readily furnish sufficient power to operate the plant. Dust recently built by the city. There is about three feet of water going over the spillway at present, and this is not seen seeping thru either the old concrete dam or the new dam.

Outside of small pieces of ice, together with patches of trees and grass from up river, the river flows given no trouble, a heavy pontoon boat having been placed in the center of surface debris. Such accumulations of ice and grass have also given no trouble, and the plant will be operated continuously for twelve weeks. Improvements Being Made

The plans at the head of which are the two large gates, had been somewhat weakened by the pressure of water, and as a result of recent rains, the gates were raised a few inches, thus relieving the pressure. Improvements are being made on the old plant, and a small park will be made of the grounds, it is stated.

PINK TALENT DISPLAYED AT MUSIC RECITAL LAST NIGHT

The recital by a few of Mrs. Thelma Helen Erickson's pupils of the E Sharp Music Club last night at the High School auditorium was attended by an appreciative audience.

The pupils displayed their clustomary poise, and showed the talent in many instances. A surprise to the audience was the very delightful Indian pow-wow, written by Mrs. Theodora Troyer, and played exceedingly well by Gerald Herz, the lad with only four fingers on his right hand. On being questioned as to how she happened to write it she stated she had gathered impression for it while at the Indian pow-wows at Red Lake, and wrote it for her very famous teacher in composition, Lee Sowerby of Chicago.

The fine recital was closed by the brilliant two piano number, March Triumphale by Gaua, in which Mrs. Erickson played superbly and Nell Gallagher gave her excellent support at the second piano.

POULTRY RECORD FARMS SLOWE GOOD AVERAGE

The standard production of eggs per hen for February is 11. Minnesota's poultry record farm flocks, owners of which report every month to the poultry extension service of the university, surpassed the average production by about half a point. Some 16,110 birds in 62 of these flocks laid 12,542 eggs. Production ranged from 20.5 eggs per hen in the high flock to 4.4 in the low flock. Seven of the ten highest flocks were fed a mash, and five of the seven had the help of artificial lights either in the morning or evening. One flock was served an evening lunch at 9:30 P. M. All were given cod liver oil and produced more uniformly shaped eggs. Paying better shells as a result.

CLEAN-UP AND PAINT-UP

Next week has been designated official Clean-Up and Paint-Up week in Thief River Falls. The idea is a good one, and while the "clean-up" end of this combination is always important, we believe the greatest emphasis should be placed on the "paint-up" part of it. A coat of paint is an investment that pays big dividends not only in dollars and cents but also in personal satisfaction.- Painting isn't expensive either. It costs more than gasoline of course, but there are many more smiles in a gallon of paint than in a whole tank of gas; and less danger of a smash-up. So clean-up, yes, and paint-up too. Next week is the week.

THOSE SEED GRAIN NOTES

A Highlanding township farmer asked us about the status of the notes given the state for seed grain loans which were made by the state a few years ago as relief to flood sufferers in the valley. In a test case hat year the Supreme Court decided that the money that had been advanced by the state was a gift and therefore could not be collected by the state. In this particular case the Highlanding township farmer had paid his note and he felt that the money he had paid should be returned to him.

Whether or not any of this money which was collected will be returned will depend on action taken by the legislature. It would seem that the state should return this money in fairness to all, and legislators of this district should give the matter their attention. The following item clipped from Charles H. Cheney's column in the Minneapolis Journal, at the time of the Supreme Court's decision, presents a good summary of the situation:

Red river valley farmers who have paid back seed grain loans extended by the state board of relief several years ago, may be asking the next legislature for refunds, in view of the recent decision of the state Supreme Court holding that the loans in effect were gifts. It seems that about $2,000 of the total loan of $3,000,000 has been repaid, but more than $2,000,000 is outstanding, and the state has been making an effort to collect. A few of the farmers now, whose obligations totaled about $7,000, went in together and hired the state attorney, and won it.

The board of relief, administering the $500,000 appropriation of 1919 for relieving calamity sufferers' emergencies, granted some funds outright to sufferers from overflow in the valley, for purchase of stock and building, and then distributed other funds in the form of loans to buy seed. The Supreme Court now holds that the board had no legal right to make loans; only to extend charity.

The decision does not affect the right of the legislature to provide for seed grain loans, as it has done on some previous occasions. The court just decided had to do with loans made out of the relief funds, without any specific authority.

"If the state wants to be fair to all," says the St. Cloud Journal Press, "it will refund the money and legislate accordingly. It would seem that, when the state advanced money to help the farmers buy seed it gave them a chance to save the harvest, it was a moral obligation that should be paid. Refusal to pay will tend to close the open gateway to the state's funds hereafter, which at times might be a real hardship to farmers in need of temporary help. If the legislature acts not on the theory that it was charity, there might be no hope a dime would for the coin that it would put the treasury."

The 1919 appropriation for the state board of relief has been almost exhausted, and the executive council, which replaced the board of relief, has very little money to draw upon in case of calamity, but does have the power to borrow for an emergency. As for a forest fire disasters are concerned, there is an appropriation of $20,000 for this year and $20,000 for next year, to be used by the conservation department in case of an emergency, with the approval of the executive council. It has not been touched and will not be unless there is a disaster.

The $7,000 which some of the borrowers repaid out of the seed grain loans can be refunded only by act of the legislature.

A translation of the material sent from Norway with the gold medal that was awarded Torjus Heummestvelt of Kratkn township, is being made by Rev. Tingwaltn. This translation is practically completed and we plan to tell the story next week.

"Unfortunately, those who have the power to make us the happiest can also make us the most miserable."

THE BIG THREE "LOSES" AGAIN

(St. Paul Daily News)

"Big Three loses another debt in ruling by court." So announced a headliner over a story which tells of the third setback suffered by the society-directing commission. In this instance the court has sided with the state highway department as against the Big Three in the matter of jurisdiction over a road contract.

Offhand one would get the impression from these court decisions that the reorganization plan under which the state government is operating is arbitrary and illegal and that its end is in sight.

Actually the decisions are on closely points in the law under which the commission of administration and finance operates. Essentially this reorganization plan is not attacked but at time your ex there arise questions of jurisdiction, highly important to the officials concerned, which must be passed upon by the courts. Out of these disputes there will come some definite demarkation of powers and undoubtedly some corrective bills to be considered by the next legislature.

But no matter how much satisfaction some of the politicians may get out of them, the fact remains that the reorganization of the government remains because it is sound.

And the general public has given its approval of the plan at the polls.

"If we live long enough we discover that other people are very much like ourselves."

GREATEST OF PRIVILEGES

(Grand Rapids Herald-Review)

Speaking of the sanctity of the home, we could also talk of the sanctity of the polling booth. It took hundreds and hundreds of years of agitation to secure the right to vote for all men. Most countries do not extend such privileges to their peoples today. When the right to vote, universal suffrage, was well established in the United States, there came the Australian ballot system, under which a voter wrote his choice in secret, without fear of intimidation. The government of the nation is based upon a citizen's right to vote as he pleases, without hindrance or any other person.

A man may not be independent in his home. If he is, he cannot be lived with. His wife may control him or the children may rule him. A man is not independent in his own business. He must accede to the demands of associates, employes and customers. But in a voting place, with the curtain to the booth properly drawn, with the pencil thoughtfully poised, a citizen possesses more power, more influence for good and evil, than he does under any other circumstance in his life. And yet there are those who do not care enough for the privilege of voting to walk a block to utilize the greatest power yet bestowed upon nation and a generation.

WEIGHING THE EARTH

(London Daily Mail)

Nevil Maskelyne, an Englishman, who died in 1811, discovered how to weigh the earth, which he achieved by watching through a telescope a plumbline hung down the side of a precipitous Scottish mountain.

And the weight he found to be a pound or two, 6,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 tons.

It was an astonishing feat set on foot the Neutral Almanack, one of the greatest aids to mariners since the Chinese emperor Hoang-ti, in 2674 B. C., invented the compass.

"It's just as well to withhold mean thoughts until tomorrow, but kind thoughts had better be expressed today."

TRUTH, ITS UNFAILING STRENGTH

The press of America is no infallible as to fact or invulnerable as to bias; but it is overwhelmingly honest in its intent and movement. There was a Judas among the Master's Twelve; there was an Arnold in the Revolutionary Army; there were Pere in Imperial Rome; there have been traitors masquerades as editors, just as there have been fraudulent bankers and shopkeepers and railroaders in all the walks of life. But the generally speaking, what one reads is usually more trying than what one hears.

The press is inherently truthful; that is its unfailing strength.

"Business exists to serve customers, and unless it does that it fails."

ARE YOU A RECKLESS DRIVER?

(Verndale Sun)

Are you a reckless driver, asks Brownie of the Milwaukee Journal? Do you think that to be classified as a reckless driver it is necessary that one be intoxicated or drive at an unsafe speed? Here are some other things that make one at law a reckless driver. Are you wholly guiltless?

Cutting in and weaving in traffic.
Cutting corners.
Taking right-of way at intersections in the face of the car on the right of way.
Changing course of vehicle without giving the proper signal and warning.
Failure to stop at pedestrian cross-walk zones when occupied.
Passing standing street cars discharging or taking on passengers.
Driving at fast rate of speed across built-up intersections and congested areas.
Driving with inadequate brakes.
Driving without headlights lighted at night.
Driving on left side of highway, particularly on curves.
Failure to observe boulevard stops and other traffic regulations.
Passing to right of vehicles at a fast rate of speed.

Affairs at Washington
by Congressman Selvig

Washington, A six-hour day and five-day week was advocated by many labor leaders at a meeting in which representatives were existing in many industrial centers.

The number unemployed is from 1,000,000 to 4,000,000, according to who tells it; it matters are that it is a million or so in excess of the usual number at this season of the year.

It is an inevitable result of the depression in agriculture that there is concrete, brick and limestone concrete. They include both completed pavements and projects under contract. The figures follow:

Illinois, 5,561; Pennsylvania, 4,346; New York, 4,343; Ohio, 3,135; North Carolina, 3,051; Wisconsin, 2,302; Michigan, 1,991; California, 1,780; Indiana, 1,561; Iowa, 1,431; Minnesota, 1,329; Maryland, 1,114; Minnesota, 1,054.

DEAN OF ADMINISTRATION POST CREATED AT HAMLINE

The creation of a new post of dean of administration at Hamline university and the appointment of Dr. Charles W. Ransell, 1832 Iglehart avenue, president of the board of trustees, of a committee of seven to study policies of Hamline, for 1928 and 1929 were announced by President Alfred F. Hughes recently.

The committee met at a special meeting of the board of trustees. Dr. H. Nelle, professor of education, will be the first dean of administration, President Hughes stated.

NEIGHBORS HAVE BIG LEAD ON MINNESOTA

All the central states east and south of Minnesota have a lead on the latter in paved highways, a table published in American Highways shows. Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio lead in the East, North Carolina in the South and California in the West are among the other states that have more permanent highways than Minnesota.

The states having more than 1,000 miles of pavements are given below. The figures cover only the highways in the state system. They include concrete, brick and bituminous concrete. They include both completed pavements and projects under contract. The figures follow:

"Come In"

FROM THE CELLAR WINDOW

Nessie Erickson says that the song to the effect that "Those days are long to Sunday, Else, Tonight You Belong to Me", which is so popular right now, reminds him of the time he rented a soup and fish outfit for one evening's entertainment.

Carl Christofferson is relatsing his East Side store, having purchased the building which joins his. This will be joined to his present building and the two rooms connected by a large arch. The addition will practically double his floor space. Inside and outside will be remodeled and decorated, but the thing that will not be changed will be the name of the establishment, and Carl Christofferson himself, who says the Golden Rule store is a good name and he has found it so, and don't think he ever will. The bill for the repairs and the remodeling will total about a thousand dollars.

Two new business made their appearance in town this week. One of them is at O. G. Wingen's store, either at Grand or Main. Now that Jungs have a nice awning and a nice brick building on the west end of their lot, all they need is a nice new addition to connect up the two.

Two stores are staging their formal opening's in new locations Saturday, namely Martin Hatson and his Flower Shop and A. A. Wangensteen & Son with their new Jewelry store. In both years a wonderful improvement has been made in the new quarters. Martin came here about twenty-five years ago and has moved ahead a little bit right along. If he doesn't get rich it won't be because he's afraid of the job. Good grief, but he does serve a lot of ground in the course of one day. I've watched him going down the street a couple times and waited to see who was chasing him. But at any rate he's run himself into a mighty nice flower shop, which is a credit to the community and he wants you to come in and see it Saturday.

A. A. Wangensteen also came to this part of the state about twenty-five years ago and in the course of that time has worked continuously on a line of watches, first has taken most of the heavy work in recent years but A. A. hasn't retired yet and still puts in regular hours at the shop. In spite of seventy-one years he doesn't wear glasses—but this isn't what we started out to say. The important thing is that Saturday, the day of the formal opening of the new store. Look in if you have a chance.

Paul Sundgren is so used to stopping when passing through doorways that he does it instinctively even when it isn't necessary. On several occasions when he started that way with his head when he had at least a foot of clearance.

We did a little visiting around at Highlanding last week and received a very favorable impression of that community. The creamery is operated by Gunnar Gunstenson and manufactures 200,000 lbs. of butter fat year. In 1920 the volume was 160,000 lbs. and in 1921 the volume was 125,000 lbs. That represents a healthy increase.

Carl Kjos settled in Highlanding township in 1915, coming from Goodhue county. He had been milking a lot of cows down in Goodhue and decided to go to grain farm, figuring that he could make more money easier that way. He grain farmed two years and then started buying live stock. Now he is milking a lot of cows again and stretched the area that's coming in with a nice lamb crop and he says a few turkeys is going with other poultry. If he hadn't wanted the two years trying to grain farm he would be in good shape today, he said, but at it is he is making satisfactory progress and he doesn't see any reason why he should want to go back to Goodhue county.

The rows do first as well here as they do down there he said, and called attention to a patch of art and one-half acres of alfalfa that yielded 25 tons of hay last year, or about thirty tons. We can raise feed a whole lot cheaper up here than they can in Goodhue county, according to his experience. Land is cheaper and taxes are lower too.

Carrot Hjelle-Gunther, Highlanding township farmer, says he is running out of row thistle. There are two reasons for the serious shortage of this lovely flower on his farm he says, the reason is woven wire fencing. The other reason is sheep. His entire 170 acre farm is not only fenced with woven wire but is also cross fenced several times, the total being already up into four plats. Every year he moves his pasture from one part of the farm to the other. A few years ago the row thistle was beginning to bother him and cut down the yields of his crops a good deal. Weeds don't bother him any more, however, and, he figures the best paying investment he has made on his farm is the $1,200 he put into woven wire fence. He has thirty acres of alfalfa. One four acre piece, which he believes particularly because it is small, yield about eight tons to the cutting. It is wonderful feed, he says. Sweetened ninety days and will be disappointed if his family crop does not harvest one hundred. He brags the twins in separator for a few weeks, and figures this extra work is profitable. There is only one month in the year that he has to brag cream, he said, and during that month I am reminded about it twenty-four hours every day.

About every so often the wife and I don't speak together at our house. This state lasted for several days sometimes. It is always a sure sign that she is ready to resume friendly relations again however when she starts setting out a few extra dishes at our meals. Until this happens it is useless to try to be forgiving.

The long awaited picturization of the widely read prize novel by Martha Ostenso "Wild Geese" filmed by First Division Productions has at last arrived on the screen and will be seen for the first time at the Lyceum theatre today and tomorrow. Outstanding from a cast of superior players is the remarkable work as very lovable forgotten portrayal of Amelia Gare by Belle Bennett. FOR YOUR APPROVAL:

Our Lincoln has come out of class. That is what this paper stands for. True, it is still primarily a news record of and has all the activities "covering" crowded events, but the actions heading the page, and a few other articles will make this sheet one which most of us will want to save for retrospection.

Why go over our accomplishments in a long class history? As fogbound moves we haven't really contributed anything outstanding to the school, but we have not been idle nevertheless. By functioning financially—that is raking in our money for the coming two years of expense and worry; by cheering our colors wherever possible, we have prepared ourselves as best we can for a year of Senior success.

Each would be egotism in the mouth of an individual. As a class, we can say them with assurance, reflecting only our hopes for future school service.

FOOTBALL AGAIN

The athletic calendar has once again drawn that the call for spring football practice is issued; and this call has been answered by new gridsquirts as well as the squad returning from last year. The success of the spring workout is to acquaint the new recruits with the fundamentals of football, and to drill the old in the machine they will best fit into.

There are many regulars missing from the line and backfield who will never again step into their suits to meet one of Lincoln's rivals. Some of these gridders will go on to higher schools where they will again take the game over, and some of them won't. But whatever they do, we in Lincoln High know that they will carry on with the same spirit that they have displayed on the gridiron.

MODERN HEROES

All America is mourning the death of Floyd Bennet, aviator hero of the clouds, who has given his life, not only for the cause of aviation but to aid and good will towards his fellow men. He was a man above mere eagerness to aid and succor, laying his duty as he saw it and taking the results without a murmur. America needs more of this type of man.

The youth of today need heroes who have flown alone, whose character has stood unchanged while the world attempted to change it. Who look for your hero to be found in the sea of history when they stand before you? We need heroes who live in our age and meet the same problems of life that we do and whose triumph can stand as a symbol, a spur as well as to greater deeds in character and citizenship.

STEADY SCORES ARE LISTED IN RECORD OF '28 B. B. SEASON

Oen, Ericson, Dahlgren and Severnos All Have High Percentage at Basket Shots

Although the echoes of the bounding ball have scarcely faded from the rafters of the auditorium, reporters Coach Ed. Doe is wall on his way with preparations for the next football and basketball season. In the first place, he is definitely coming back to take up his work for another year in this city.

The season is made out a schedule of the individual scores during the '27 and '28 basketball season, "last" Oen who was a consistent and really scorer leads his teammates with 29 field baskets and 12 fouls for a total of 72 points. Captain Hounsley Ericson is next with 23 field goals and 16 free throws for a total of 62 points. The elder Dahlgren cannot come next on the scoring list with 21 field goals and 12 free throws for 54 points. R. Dahlow, the Sophomore star scored 18 goals from the field and 15 from the free throw line for a total of 51 points. "Snuz" Severson, who devoted most of his time to the defense in such games, scored 7 goals from the field and 7 free throws for a total of 21 points. Of the able substitutes, John Arnold leads with 10 field goals and 2 free throws for a total of 22 points. Emil Ilustal scored 8 field goals, and 1 free throw, 3 points, and Fred Wengeler, 1 free throw for 1 point.

Free Throw Tabulations

The free throw percentage was an unusually fine one, each player making 50 per cent of his free throws and 12 making 100 per cent. Averages of the teams being 60 per cent.

The free throws:

	chances	made
H. Ericson	27	16
H. Dahlgren	22	12
R. Oen	22	12
R. Dahlow	22	15
S. Severson	14	7
J. Arnold	7	2
E. Ilustal	3	1
F. Wengeler	1	1

Records for Individual Stars

This year's basketball team had several individual stars to their credit in baskets, each player scoring an even amount of points in about every game. The highest number of points made during one game by an individual was that scored by Oen, who scored during the Argyle game with "Hounsey" Dahlgren close behind.

The Whippets scored 302 points to their opponents 218. One of the three North Dakota aggregations scoring the highest amount of scores was that of Hillsboro, which played in the national tournament. Grand Forks, 6, at Hillsboro.

Miss Williams met thirty of the girls who reported for basketball in reference to the play. The second act of "The Poor Nut" calls for a group of students for remy race, a fraternity party, and cheering.

Miss Coleen will assemble the girls for practice at the auditorium on Tuesday evening, May 8, while Clifford Wikel, Lincoln's cheer leader, will teach the boys a new yell, "Ohio" and cheering for the remainder of the season." This touch of local interest may add zest to the play, while it helps the company to reduce its ensemble of efforts.

HONOR ROLL STUDENTS

I wonder how that student feels
Who's run the race, beat every foe,
And reached the honor roll?
Perhaps like him who's having fun
Because he now at twenty-one
Can cast a vote at the polls;
Or as the man who rich becomes,
When previously for many sums
He's naught but shoveled coal;
Or author who a prize just gets
Because his writings have made hits
For being quaint and droll;
The champion runner from the west
Was, put up to the hardest test,
Has reached the treasured goal;
The fireman, who by hard strife
Has saved a building and a life—
And still has come out whole;
The farmer who has cut the wheat,
And reveled in naught but profits reap
Is one he's paid the toll;
The criminal who plots, is foiled—
Then kinder thoughts come plant their seed
And save his very soul;
It's a mighty sad thing to explain
If you have still got to complain,
You must be getting of;
The best way—put pride on the shelf
And try your level best yourself
To reach the honor roll!

THE REMINISCENT SOPHOMORE

One day when I was passing down a
Big crowded New York street
Who, but some former schoolmate
I thought I recognized the man, to greet him didn't dare
Till he stofed his stylish hat, and I saw his curly hair.

We chatted over happy days when we went to Lincoln High;
And of all the happy memories of the days of yore
By far the happiest were when we were just "Sophomores."

The student body was addressed in a regular assembly Thursday afternoon by Miss Jane Williams who represented the Better Plays Extension of New York City.

ACTION, COMEDY, DRAMA, ABOUND IN SENIOR PLAY

"What Happened To Jones" Is Selected For Early Presentation by Splendid Cast

"What Happened to Jones," a charming comedy in three acts, will be presented by the Senior class Friday, May 11. The name itself suggests some of the adventurous spirit and humor which the play offers.

The story relates the adventures of a good-looking happy-go-lucky chap, Bill Jones, who, while in New York, he gets mixed up in an affair with the police and escapes into the home of Ebenezer Goodly and his matrimonially-inclined wife Matilda, who are expecting as their guest Mr. Jones's brother, the Bishop. Before Ebenezer is aware of the pretext, Jones passes himself off to Mrs. Goodly as the Bishop. Thus it happened that Jones is introduced as the bishop and the members of the Goodly household, which includes Charlotte and Minerva, Ebenezer's daughters, Clarence, Clarice's betrothed Richard Heatherly, a young friend of the family; Alvira, the maid-of-all-work and Matilda, the former actress as the Bishop; Helma, the Swedish servant-girl who helps to lend humor to the play; and Augustus Goodly, played by whose charms and beauty Jones's fate is sealed.

When the true Bishop finally arrives, he finds that the impersonator Jones, who is anxious to keep the ruse from being revealed. Higbee, an inspector of the amusements next door, physically resembles the Bishop, which resemblance causes him considerable trouble. Ebenezer doesn't recognize his brother until the play is well advanced, nor is Jones' identity revealed till the very end; however, this doesn't make the least bit of difference to Clara who thinks that "name doesn't important, any way when one's in love."

Being a rollicking good story, full of action, atmosphere, comedy, and drama, it promises you a most entertaining evening. All the characters are unusually well fitted for their respective parts.

DELIGHTFUL PARTY SINGED LAST SATURDAY EVENING

The Teachers' Training department enjoyed a party held at the Elks' hall on Saturday evening. The entertainment consisted of games, music, and stunts. One special feature was a debate, "Stealing Chickens Was Wrong," between the progressives of Afrien and those of Hooker T. Washington's university. The negroes of Afrien upheld the affirmative were Blanch Beaucom, Judith Lokren, Lars Barstad. The educated negroes on the negative were Lillian Stephens, Kaverdine Lee, and Melvin Sa-gen. The affirmative won by an overwhelming majority. Each received a bar of candy as a prize while the losers were consoled with lollipops. Later in the evening the losers sang about how they appreciated the lollipops. At twelve o'clock lunch was served. This included ice cream, cake, cookies, and coffee. During the lunch several were called upon to give impromptu speeches which caused much amusement on the part of everyone. The party ended with a "Home Sweet Home" dance.

MOTHER

She traveled the journey before you,
She has known all the cost of the way,
She paid out the price to its fullness,
That guile should only can pay.——

She loved when the world was against you,
She hoped—when our hope sank and died,
She clung to your hand when the clinging
Left scars in her heart, deep and wide.

She labored and loved and was happy,
For down deep in her kind heart she knew
Your kindness and love would repay her
For all that I did—just for you.

Past stall after stall went the rich merchant, followed by a smart footman in livery, for the animal he was in full swing.

"Ah, Mr. tishington," gushed a pretty girl at one of the stalls, "what are you going to buy? Auntie and I are in charge of this stall. We have cushions, pea-pipers and all sorts of—"

"There's one thing I should like to buy," said the merchant, visitor. "Do you sell kisses at your stall?"

"Oh, certainly," came the prompt reply. "Everyone does!"

"Right!" said the merchant. "I'll take two, please."

"Auntie," cried the wily damsel, "reward, quick. Two kisses for this gentleman."

For a moment the wealthy one was nonplussed, but only for a moment. He turned to his footman.

"James," he said coolly, "just take this purchase, please."

Two Commercial Students Entered In State Contest

The results of the State Commercial contest held at the University Farm, April 28, are as follows:

Advanced typewriting: First, Virginia, 74 words per minute; Second, Mackenzie, 71 words per minute; Third, St. James, 67 words per minute.

Advanced shorthand: First, Park Rapids, 97.6 per cent accuracy; Second, Hutchinson, 95.6 per cent; Third, Hibbing, 92.4 per cent accuracy.

Beginning typewriting: First, Owatonna, 60 words per minute; Second, Chatfield, 58 words per minute; Third, Eveleth, 57 words per minute.

A complete report of their contest will not be available for a day or two so we can not at this time state how our contestants ranked. However out of fifty-four contestants in advanced typewriting in district 1 Miss Alvina Koglin ranked twelfth. Most schools offer a course in advanced typewriting consisting of two periods a day of training. Thief River Falls is one of the few schools to offer advanced typing, but all advanced shorthand students have the privilege of entering contests to the extra work being done this line. Alvina's record is especially creditable as she is the only shorthand representative.

Ethel Molden, who also rated 95; she, too, has devoted extra time to increasing her speed to one hundred words per minute.

Wesley Roth, who won a gold pin for typing 60 words per minute, and men of shorthand, won honorable mention. Miss Grace Greer, Girls' Athlete club this year also for typing.

Those receiving pins for perfect attendance during the month of April are: Alvina Koglin, Ethel Molden, Alva Anderson won the first prize, a pin, with the best paper.

8 Lettermen, 21 New Men, Out For Spring Football

In answer to Coach Doe's call for spring football candidates about thirty hopeful grid aspirants reported, although the full squad was not present last week's practice, due to the flu epidemic and the shortage of football shoes. For the last week Coach Doe has been putting the boys workouts in order to get them into shape for the ten days of blocking and tackling which will start this week. The boys drill in offense will follow the blocking and tackling.

In addition to the green material, eight lettermen of one or more years' experience turned out. Although the team will be green in part in the next year's team, the reserves and lettermen will furnish material about which to build a team that will be sticking and passing team.

The list of candidates is as follows: R. Dahlow, G. Dahlow, Dostal, Gilbertson, Ilustal, Arnold, Anstad, Hansen, M. Lindberg, Snyder, K. Lindberg, Severson, Lundell, Bergstrom, Strohoim, Froehlich, Novak, Mickelson, Frisel, Golseth, Rustad, Hanson, Anstad, Larson, Furan, Hilfstad, L. Lindberg, Howe, and Hooven.

JUNIOR THEME BOOK IS ASSUMING SHAPE

That the Junior Theme Book will be better even than its Quinquecentenary seems to be the thought of the Junior class as it is being constructed. Miss Leavitt, as the pages are turned in, is giving helpful criticisms, work with the instructor slightly readjusting and changing the themes. Robert Biederman, the editor, has devoted much time in illustrating the class prophecy and chapter on Junior writers. The book will contain many other original class features which will be made known until the book is published.

TO MR. MATHESON

Tune: "Together—We Two".

"Latin-French, Latin-French, all the day long,
Everything's language from morn 'til the sing of the song;
Always now Caesar, and Frenchmen and—

And I keep wondering when this classical life will be over."

Chorus

"I and my Frenchlee k,
We take the last look—together;
One of my favorite books,
We were comrades—together;
I'll go to sing and play, and talk never too,
But first of all is when
I have a book about Caesar's daggy,
Yet we look sadly—together;
When I was young
I had a friend great, I soon
By his affection I bided,
Brains and genius provided,
But 'twas Horace (?!) and I decided
Every brother, we'd stick together
We two——

Our Little Corner

No. 19 — MAY 3, 1928 — Vol. 2

We believe the farmers' wives around Thief River Falls deserve all the conveniences they can have, which is the reason we're mighty glad to see so many Monarch ranges in the farm homes in this community. Come and see us about prices.

We asked a man yesterday why he walked lame. "Been makin' gear," he explained.

Sometimes we just look at the "colors" which are combined in these designs in our rugs, and wonder why they blend at all. But they do, and the effect is so unusual. Well like to show them to you.

Do you realize that this year is one-third gone?

Do you have an extra bed for company? You know we sell Dufold davenports!

Who can remember when the watering trough here in Thief River Falls was the filling station, and people stopped to start out on the road? Such a time and hurry for fear they'd meet an auto!

Don't you sometimes wonder how mother ever got anything done in the old kitchen at home? We believe that Sellers Kitchen cabinets are one big reason why modern women are able to take part in so many outside activities. A Sellers certainly saves time.

Do you know that May 1st is a national holiday in Czechoslovakia? It does not make a bit of difference to us, but we thought we'd put it in here to fill space.

A Levin's overstuff set suits in your home simplifies the decoration problem and increases comfort. Come in and try 'em before you buy 'em.

We've just heard of a man in this vicinity who taught his wife to drive the family car without resorting to profanity. Don't believe a word of it!

Say, how would you like to have us do your washing for you next Monday? We'd like to bring a Maytag out to your place and show you—what it can do, absolutely no obligation on your part, understand? Just ask us.

Highway Along Border Is Receiving Attention Of Highway Department

The state highway department the past two years has done considerable road work on trunk highway No. 11 between International Falls and Baudette, while a large construction crew is at present at work with a stretch of road near Clementson.

According to the Baudette Region the next project of the highway department will be the construction of the road between Williams and Roosevelt, paralleling the Canadian Northern railway. It is distantly a matter of two miles of the state between the two places. The contract will presumably be let late this fall, and the work done in the spring and summer of 1929.

When the road between Williams and Roosevelt is completed, the highway department completes cutting out the jogs between Baudette and Williams, running the road alongside of the railroad tracks all of the distance between those two towns, cutting off another three miles.

Construction Resumed on Trunks No. 30 and 31; No Word Yet About No. 32

Highway construction in Mahnomen county on state trunks No. 30 and 31 was resumed this week, and Highway Engineer G. A. Meskel in charge states that every effort will be made to complete the work begun last summer at as early a date as possible.

With No. 30 form up from Bejou North to the county line, near Wingacre, this route to the Twin Cities by way of Detroit will be impassable for some time to come, necessitating a detour as was required last car. No. 31 runs west from Mahnomen to Ada, where it joins No. 8, but only the eastern half of the road is under construction.

No definite information regarding No. 32 north of this city has been learned, but A. L. Flygare of Detroit Lakes, divisional engineer of the state highway department, stated to various interests here the other day that he understood the department was awaiting the survey recently sent to headquarters by Engineer H. W. Perkins, and that it would be some time yet before bids would be called for. There has not been any announcement as to the probable starting with tarvia of No. 32 south from Thief River Falls to its junction with No. 8, which last fall was stated might be done early this year.

BRANDING OF TURKEYS MAY STOP STEALING OF BIRDS

Turkey thieves may not find it quite so easy to dispose of their loot in the future, for nearly 1,000 turkey breeders of the northwest are branding their young turkeys this year, the stencil used bearing a registered number.

Every sheriff and poultry dealer in the state will be sent three lists and if the person selling the turkey to the dealer is not the same party as the registration list shows, the seller will be called upon to explain how he came by the turkeys.

GAME WARDEN ARRESTS MARSHALL CO. RESIDENT

Walter Knutson, of Thief Lake township, Marshall county, was arrested last week by Game Warden Wm. Munch on a charge of using poison to kill snipes, without a permit from the fish and game department. Knutson pleaded guilty before Judge Fosberg of Warren and was fined and costs amounting to $42.

According to Warden Munch, the poison set out by Knutson also caused the death of three valuable wolf hounds in the vicinity, the dogs being valued at not less than $50 each. The owners of these dogs according to Mr. Munch, had caught 48 wolves this past winter, previous to the time the dogs were poisoned.

Five percent of Mr. Gabrielson, as next to the highest salesman, who has since left the employ of the company, but is the seventeenth year that Mr. Gabrielson has been with the organization, and in point of years he has served longer than any other employee.

Three other cars were given away this year, one each to salesmen in Iowa, Oklahoma and Missouri.

6 Local Organizations Seek Free Coffee Urns

Four churches and two lodges have accepted the offer of the Nash Coffee company to furnish a $75 coffee urn free to the organization having the largest number of the various coupons.

The Elks and the Maccos both wish to secure one of these urns, while the Methodist - Presbyterian, Trinity Lutheran, Augustana Lutheran and St. Bernard's churches are also desirous of having large coffee percolators.

The first of its kind in the United States, with principal purpose the making of loans to veterans of the world war on adjusted service certificates. Incorporators and first officers of the Aftershants' National Bank of St. Paul, whose loan business of $10,500,000 on adjusted service certificates the new institution will take over.

Several loans of this nature were made a few years back by local ex-service men, according to Verner Nelson, adjutant of the Elmer Eklund post of the American Legion, being handled thru the First National Bank of this city.

He waived examination, stating that he would go before Judge Andrew Grindeland at Warren that afternoon and plead guilty, but after the commitment papers were made out, he changed his mind and said he would wait till the next term of court. Judge Tarrant then set his bail at $500, same being furnished by Christ Porter and H. B. Newell.

HEMMINGSON AGENCY HAS MONTHLY MEETING HERE

Members of the J. V. Hemmingson agency of the Equitable Life Insurance Co., of Chicago, held their monthly meeting at the home of Evelyn Istad. The local agency, under supervision of J. V. Hemmingson, school house in Hay township, where nearly one hundred were gathered.

However, the vocation pointed out, there is at present too large a loss to farmers in raising pigs, fully one third of the small pigs dying before they are weaned, while another third succumb later on, or are so poorly stunted as to be unprofitable for the farmer. The other third are the ones that bring in a profit to the state today.

Combatting Hog Disease

The leading cause of early death is ascribed to be due in a large part on the part of the average farmer, 90 percent of the hog losses being due to worms. It is the baby pig that is susceptible to these worms, which for the most part are to be found in hog pastures and houses that have been used continuously for years without any attempt having been made to clean them up. Mr. Zavoral stated that it is of utmost importance that hog pastures be changed every one or two years, and that the lowest ground be given a thore cleaning just before the sows farrow, also that the brood sows be given a good bath and scrubbed by hand. Those who follow this practice are now finding it very profitable, he declared.

Raise Sheep on Every Farm

Sheep should be on every farm to a more or less extent, according to Mr. Zavoral, for not only are they a profitable wool crop. Sheep, however, do not require the care that cows do, the speaker related in the course of his remarks. He also stated that there is room for expansion in raising both sheep and hogs in Minnesota at this time, as well as in the beef industry.

Beef High in Price Now

In the Red River valley there is a particular opportunity to raise sheep and swine as well as beef. There are fewer beef cattle in the United States today than for years, and the demand for them to be grass fed to have related the price of beef out of proportion to hogs and sheep. Sheep, despite a 17,000,000 shortage in other parts of the world, are not on the down trend as to price, but that they should soon start to increase in value again, Mr. Zavoral believed.

Some fat lambs sold last week in South St. Paul for $17.50 per hundred, the highest price for several years, the top for swine going $12.50, while sheep brought from two to three dollars the same day. Hogs have "perked up a little mark" for the first time since last October, Mr. Zavoral stated, the top having been made the day before he came to Thief River Falls.

Land O' Lakes Creameries Again Awarded Contract by U. S. Navy Department

A contract for 150,000 pounds of Land O' Lake sweet cream butter has been let by the U. S. Navy department to the Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc., the butter to be made during the June and July months, according to the navy's specifications.

The butter will be put up in one pound prints and shipped to the San Pedro and Mare Island navy yards, being in 94 or 96 points. The navy department is very particular about its butter and demands nothing but the finest and highest quality butter made in Minnesota or Wisconsin, according to A. J. McGuire, general manager.

The contract calls for butter made not later than the 20th of the month, as it is considered important that hog pastures be changed every one or two years, and that the lowest ground be given a thore cleaning just before the sows farrow, also that the brood sows be given a good bath and scrubbed by hand. It Is Really Stylish to Be Thrifty

Cons are the days when women boasted to each other about how much they paid for their clothes and hats. It is just as old-fashioned now to be wastefully extravagant, as to wear ankle length skirts, pompadours and willow plumes.

The really smart woman of today prides herself on being a shrewd judge of values and it is getting to be common knowledge among them that our policy of buying for 954 stores has brought down the cost of really good merchandise. Women tell each other over bridge tables that it isn't really necessary to pay an exorbitant price any longer for "nice things." "Quality—always at a saving" can be found in the nearest Penney Store.

Clothes, manners and standards of living—all are rapidly being simplified by the application of large doses of old fashioned common sense. Not "how much did I spend" but "how little" is the modern trend. It is getting stylish to be thrifty.

Farmers of Red River Valley Have Wonderful Opportunity to Raise Livestock

IMPROVED METHODS CAN SAVE MUCH LIVESTOCK

University Specialist Gives 3 Talks in Pennington County Thursday and Friday

Hog raising is possibly one of the most profitable lines of endeavor that the average farmer may choose, according to H. G. Zavoral, livestock specialist of the experimental farm at the state university, who spoke before members of the Commercial club at the weekly noonday luncheon last Thursday. Talks were also made by Mr. Zavoral that evening at the annual meeting of the Good Idee Community club, attended by close to 150, and the following afternoon at the school house in Hay township, where nearly one hundred were gathered.

However, the speaker pointed out, there is at present too large a loss to farmers in raising pigs, fully one third of the small pigs dying before they are weaned, while another third succumb later on, or are so poorly stunted as to be unprofitable for the farmer, the other third being the ones that bring in a profit to the state today.

Which Seed Will Produce the Most Potatoes?

Compare the results of the new Instantaneous Dip—DIPDUST—with the old-fashioned "two-hour soak" treatment. Above is a photograph taken on the farm of A. Schlechtweg, Freehold, N. J.

While vines were still green, 25 consecutive DIPDUST hills of comparative substance treated hills were set. Dipdust hills had 23 sound and only 2 decayed seed pieces. Corrosive sublimate hills had only 4 sound and 21 decayed seed pieces.

DIPDUST is much more effective than the old-fashioned ways of treating seed potatoes. Besides, you can treat your seed potatoes as fast as you can scoop them up. Just dip them in Dipdust solution and out again and your seed is all ready to plant. One man can easily treat from 200 to 400 bushels of potatoes per day.

There is not the slightest danger of injuring the sprouts or even cut seed. DIPDUST controls surface-borne diseases, such as Rhizoctonia, scab and black-leg, and protects cut surfaces from seed - rotting organisms in the soil. It insures sturdy profitable plants that will increase your yield from 15 to 25 bushels per acre.

After one trial of DIPDUST you will never again waste time with a "two-hour soak" treatment or spend two weeks worrying about your stand.

Read These Results of Actual Field Tests:

FRED BRUNNER, JR., Cranbury, N. J.—"The DIPDUST potatoes came up very even and few misses, whereas the undipped potatoes came up very uneven and with many a miss."—As many as 33 diseased plants (black leg) were found in a single row, whereas the DIPDUST seed showed only 15 plants in a whole 16-acre patch of Prince Edward Island seed potatoes. The difference was apparent at all times that dealers and growers visited the farm frequently.

HARRY O. DICKEY, Elk River, Minn.—"It was easy to see the difference between the treated and untreated parts of the field during the growing season (Early Ohio seed potatoes). The DIPDUST treated plants came up better and appeared healthier and sturdier than the untreated plants. At digging time, it continued the yields and found that the DIPDUST treated rows ran 165 bushels while the untreated rows gave me only 140 bushels per acre."

One pound treats 15 to 20 bushels of seed potatoes.

Treat your Corn and Vegetable Seeds too

You can now also disinfect your seed corn and vegetable seeds with DIPDUST and increase your yield by preventing many of the diseases that cause poor germination, weak, spindly plants, and poor quality crops. Simply use as a dust treatment. It is easily and quickly applied and costs but a few cents per acre. One pound of DIPDUST will treat six bushels of seed corn, or from six to eight bushels of vegetable seed.

GUARANTEE
Plant a few acres of DIPDUST treated seed to discover the difference. If untreated seeds DIPDUST, then you can return the unused portion to us and get your money back without question.

Sheer Prints Summer's Favorites

The way of smart frocks for late spring and summer is printed, according to Mr. H. E. Nelson, manager of the local J. C. Penney Company, who has just returned from the spring buying convention of his Company held at St. Paul.

The women are turning from the slim boyishness of past seasons, remarked Mr. Nelson and our New York buyers at the convention stressed the feminine.

Delicate pastel prints will grow in favor as the season advances and indications now are that the outstanding fashion for afternoon and informal evening affairs will be the sheer prints of georgette and chiffon.

3 FIRE ALARMS ANSWERED BY DEPARTMENT IN 4 DAYS

The firemen have been called out three times during the past week by fires in the same part of the city, two of which were serious.

Saturday noon the department responded to an alarm that sent toom into the northwest portion of the city on a supposed chimney fire. Sunday morning the firemen were called to the east side where a small barn filled with hay was on fire. Tuesday afternoon a grass fire damaged the porch left by W. H. Patterson on the Electric Line's right of way when he moved in from Mavis the large residence now located on Main avenue between Sixth and Seventh streets.

The loss in each of the last two instances will not reach $50, it is believed by Chief Middaugh.

WOOL POOL FAVORED BY SOME GROWERS AFTER TALK HERE

State Association Has Shown Remarkable Growth During Past Four Years

Nearly 25 sheep breeders of Pennington county and adjacent territory gathered Saturday afternoon of last week in the county agent's office to listen to remarks of Chas. J. Heatley, district representative of the Minnesota Co-operative Wool Growers's association, with headquarters at Wabasha, which organization has grown from 18 members in 1924 to over 1,850 the first of this year, which it was claimed by the speaker is a fair indication of the satisfactory services given by the association.

Each year has shown a membership increase over the previous year, according to an announcement from the state headquarters, which claims that each year also the wool growers belonging to the organization, have received a few cents more per pound than the local prices. Local prices, according to the speaker are always greatly stimulated where ever the association is active.

Several Here To Pool Wool

After listening to the remarks of Mr. Heatley interested parties here are agreed to pool their wool this year. Those present were given to understand that the wool growers of other wool growers in this part of the state that will pool their wool will report from the head office of the association soon.

"The growth of the association necessitates additional wool graders. The association is glad to report that F. B. Gulbe who for several years has been the wool grader for the New York State Sheep Growers Co-operative association at Cortland is engaged by the Minnesota Co-operative Wool Growers association as the chief grader, and will report for service on May 20.

"In the U. S. the lamb production is reported as unusually good and the sheep ranches were overstocked during the winter. The wool price outlook appears to be very rosy to the wool grower for 1928.

"The recent snow storms are delaying shearing, but sheep will be ready for fall sowing as soon as conditions will permit.

"It is singular that the wool grower does not perceive the money and educational advantages by marketing his wool graded as to quality and condition as he can obtain when it is sold in pools, as the buyer specializes in purchases such as livestock, hides, poultry, eggs, etc. Practically all commercial men in the farmer-raises are found by the buyer to yield their most money when graded and prepared to meet the wants of the buyer instead of accepting the wool which he produces.

Only Five Percent of Total Enrollment in Rural Schools Finish

Only about five percent of the local enrollment in the rural schools of Minnesota during one year finish the eighth grade, J. M. McConnell, state commissioner of education, reported last week. This was shown, he claims, by a study of the records of the department of education over the past two years.

In the grades elementary schools the proportion is much higher and approximately eight per cent of the total enrollment finish the eighth grade.

"It thus appears," says Mr. McConnell, "that a much larger percentage of children who attend the graded schools secure the benefit of a completed eighth grade education than those who attend the ungraded or rural schools.

"Doubtless this proportion, as it appears, is modified somewhat by the increasing number of rural children, who, in one way or another, usually at their parents' expense, find their way to the town schools for the later portion of their elementary work."

The five states in the Union with the largest number of telephones are New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, California and Ohio, in the order given.

Discontinuance of Local South of Gleawood Being Sought by Soo Officials

The Soo Lines have filed an application with the state railroad and warehouse commission asking permission to discontinue the local trains operated from Thief River Falls to the Twin Cities daily except Sunday, and running them merely between this city and Glenwood, where connections would be made with the thru coast train each way.

If granted, the company would probably delay the departure of the morning train from here till about 7 o'clock each morning, and on the north trip the train would arrive here after nine each evening instead of as at present. Railroad officials contend that the passenger traffic between the Twin Cities and Glenwood is not sufficient to warrant the operation of the trains, as there are other trains that may be used.

Shorter time between Thief River Falls and the Twin Cities is also believed will be possible if the request of the railway company is granted.

FARM BUREAU MEETING

Hoeline matters were discussed at the executive committee meeting of the Pennington County Extension Service at the office of County Agent Robert H. Douglas last Saturday.

ROSEWOOD

Former Resident Dies

Word was received here last week that Ed. Westby, eldest daughter to Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Westby of this place, died at her home in Los Angeles, Calif., on April 16, death coming after a lengthy illness of cancer.

Ida Karene Westby was born at Westby, Tyrrell, Norway on April 9, 1885. She accompanied her mother to America in 1901, going to Fargo, N. Dak., where they spent a year before joining Mr. Westby, who had filed a homestead claim at this place.

In 1926 she was confirmed at the Rindal church here under leadership of Rev. Asp, Bredeson of Thief River Falls. She left in 1918 for the west coast where she has since resided. For many years she has been making her permanent home at Los Angeles, where she conducted a real estate office. To mourn besides her parents are two brothers, Marion and Ed, residents of Goodridge, and the following sisters: Mrs. James Maloney of St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Ed. Dunsinger of Milwaukee, Wis.; Mrs. Hilde Southard of Phoenix, Ariz.; Mrs. Henry Hagert of Vancouver, Wash., and Myrtle J. Groat of Chicago, Ill. Funeral services were conducted at Los Angeles, the body being cremated.

Rosebank School Notes

Monday afternoon closed our seven months' school term here when parents and friends met at the school to listen to a brief program arranged by the junior room, and indulge in some amusements, following which refreshments were served. Owing to the prevalence of influenza a few of the pupils were obliged to remain at home.

At the play day at Viking on Friday we were fortunate in taking away many ribbons, both of the red, blue and white variety. Highest honors were won by Evelyn Johnson and Paul Schenke and these pupils will participate in the county contest at Warren later this spring.

At the state examinations held last week several of the pupils scored good home counts and the papers were sent in to the state office for approval. It is of course not yet known for certain which pupils will pass. Both the teachers will remain here for a few days to arrange the library and check up on the school work during the past year.

Moved To Asylum

Mrs. Martha Ueland, a pioneer resident of the western part of this township, was adjudged insane in the Probate court at Warren this Wednesday and taken to Fergus Falls that same evening by deputy sheriff Marshall Keys, accompanied by a neighbor woman, Mrs. E. A. Silverness. Mrs. Ueland has been ill practically all winter but remained at home under the care of a nurse pending the outcome, but as she became gradually worse she was taken to the Warren hospital where the doctors ordered her to the state asylum.

Mrs. Julia Axelson and son, Victor, motored to Argyle on Friday making a call at the Lindberg farm.

Rev. F. E. Lindheim of Warren was here on Thursday evening and delivered a sermon at the Rosewood Mission church. He will be here again to speak at the same place next Thursday evening, May 24.

Miss Minnie Axelson was an east bound passenger to Thief River Falls on Saturday evening to see Lindbergh Kiewel concerning future employment.

Thor Sevaldson took an auto full of youngsters to Viking for the play on Friday. A few pupils rode down in a car with Mrs. Jackson and the remainder took the train, together with the teacher, Helen Jacobson. A number of parents and friends were also at Viking during the afternoon to boost for the school.

The attacks of influenza are getting bad around Rosewood, where a number of people are in bed, and others are feeling very miserable.

H. M. Westby is building a new wood shed.

Olof Nordhagen arrived here with his breaking outfit on Monday, and will do work for Hallseath Bros., Gust Nakken and Joel Sheberg. He commenced at the Hallseath farm.

Ingrid Nordhagen, a pleasing woman of this place, died here on Tuesday afternoon, following a stroke of apoplexy on Monday. She hurt her hip in a fall at Thanksgiving and spent five months in the hospital here before returning home. Mrs. Nordhagen was 77 years of age at the time of her death.

"Star Route" Service on 2 Minnesota Lakes New Departure of P. O.

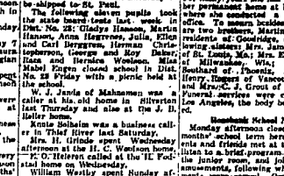
Something new in rural mail service is being tried this year by the post office department, according to Assistant Postmaster Ray Popp of this city, who states that two Lake Routes have been authorized for the coming season in the lake resort section of eastern Minnesota.

One route will traverse the shore line of Gull Lake, leaving Nisswa early every morning, and the other going for their trip around White Fish lake, served from Pequot, also a daily service. Both lakes are a short distance north of Brainerd and numerous summer cottages are located on these two lakes.

The service marked the summer residents of the lake country in similar to that existing for several years on rural routes, commonly known as "star" routes, wherein first and second class mail, parcel post and registered and special delivery letters are handled.

LOOK-OUT TOWER IS RAISED AT WARROAD

An eight-story steel look-out steel tower is being raised at Warroad, this week, for use by the forestry department. The new structure will give the rangers and patrolmen in the east end of the county good observation facilities in locating fires in case of forest fires.



Before the snow fall last week, the rangers and patrolmen had in their limited-fire fires, reported Dick Williams, ranger in charge at Warroad. The damage done by these fires is estimated in the neighborhood of $2,000.

ROSEAU POST RECEIVES NINTH DISTRICT PRIZE

The American Legion post at Roseau has been awarded the trophy offered by the state department of the American Legion for organizing and maintaining the four-page membership average by a certain date. Participants were offered, one for each district, Roseau winning in the ninth district.

The plaque is in the form of a shield on which is a bronze reproduction of the Little Brown Jug—the much coveted prize for which Minnesota and Michigan universities have royal battles and for which the Legion departments of the two states each year conduct a membership campaign. The Plaque also carries a scroll at the top on which is inscribed "Little Brown Jug," and at the bottom is an engraved plate with the lettering "Roseau 1923."

RECEIVING VAULT IN NEAR FUTURE IS CONTEMPLATED

Cemetery Commission Gathering Information as to Cost and Construction of Same

County Highway Engineer Bert Umland has been busy the past few days preparing an estimate for the construction of the proposed approach thereto of state aid highway No. 21 if necessary to have one built, for into Thief River Falls, passing thru Greenwood cemetery and skirting the city incinerator on the south, and crossing the old mill yard, as announced in The Times last week.

When this is completed and given the approval of the cemetery commission, the city council and county board, the commissioners will then go ahead with their plans for the erection of a receiving vault at the cemetery, the location of which will depend to a great extent on the location of the road thru the cemetery.

Other Vaults Inspected

Members of the commission have visited Crookston and Grand Forks recently on an investigation tour, securing data as to size of the type love vaults in those cities, the method of construction, and the cost thereof.

Cost Not Excessive

Tentative plans of the commission would be a two story structure, but not a costly building. It is believed that the cost of such a structure could be paid for out of savings in the salary of the sexton, it not being necessary to have one on duty for grave digging during the winter months, at which time the cost of the graves runs to a considerable figure.

Several more trips to other cities will be made at the convenience of the commission when they are on other business so as not to incur any cost, and after the information to be gleaned is thoroughly studied plans will be prepared.

In making the changes in the entrance of the highway to the city two dangerous railroad crossings will be eliminated in addition to a "blind" and hazardous right angle turn. The proposed turns of the highway thru the cemetery will be what is known as a "S" turn, both affording a clear sight of the road ahead. The route in leaving the high table land on the south of the cemetery will cross the old river bed, and only a two percent grade is planned—not greater than on some of the present paved streets of the city, it is claimed.

Lake of the Woods Flood Claim May Reach Total of One Million Dollars

Claims for water damages in the Baudette-Warroad district are expected to reach a million dollars by May 18, the last day set for filing claims for damages caused by high water in the Lake of the Woods basin, according to reports from that vicinity.

A short time ago the claims reached $666,211.98, says the Baudette Region, and it is expected that the additional claims to be filed in the next two weeks will bring the total up around the million dollar mark. The new claims will come mostly from residents along the Rainy and Warroad rivers, as most of the claims from the Lake of the Woods have already been filed.

After May 18 the machinery will be set in motion for the settlement of the claims. Where the government and the claimants cannot agree, appraisers will be appointed to settle on the amount of damages. Either side will have the right to appeal from the decision of the appraisers, in which event the cases would go to the federal courts.

Special Delivery Stamp Is Recommended for Mother's Day Letters and Packages

May Pope, assistant post master, is issuing an appeal to patrons of the post office regarding the sending of mail on Mother's Day, which is intended for Mother's Day, May 13, wherein he stresses the danger of delay in the dispatch of such mail.

Inasmuch as there is no delivery of mail on that day, he advises the public generally to use a special delivery stamp on both letters and parcels, in addition to the regular postage, especially those of a perishable nature. A ten cent stamp is to be used on either a letter or a package weighing up to two pounds; a 15 cent stamp on parcels from two to 20 pounds; and a 20 cent stamp on anything over 20 pounds.

The sentiment and value attached to anything pertaining to Mother's Day is greatly treasured, he cautions, if the same is not delivered either the day previous or on that date, Sunday, May 13.

More Than Arms and Legs

H. Gordon Selfridge, one of the world's foremost merchants, says in his book, "The Romance of Commerce":

"There is as much more to the employe than two arms and two legs. There is the spirit of enthusiasm and earnestness, and I will attach more value to the employer than ten sales of arms and legs. And loyalty is a quality to be bought by the employer from the employe and only earned by fair, friendly, generous treatment."

These are the views of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)—views which it has repeatedly expressed, by all the means known to enlightened modern business. The company has endeavored to earn and hold the loyalty of its employes.

The Industrial Relations Plan, the Death Benefit, the Annuity Plan and the Employes' Stock Purchasing Plans are concrete expressions of its desire to give employes "fair, friendly, generous treatment."

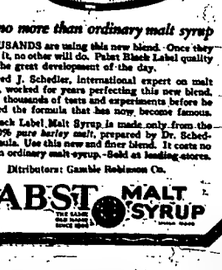
The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a human organization—made up of 27,000 human beings. These men and women are not employed merely as working units—so many arms and so many minds and muscles. Each is an individual who makes a contribution to the success of the business. It is the effort incessantly to carry on the work of the Company.

All men are equal in the opportunities they enjoy in this Company. There is no place in its organization out of reach of the man with the ambition and the ability to fill it.

This democratic policy has developed a smooth-running, efficient organization in which every man's ability is utilized to the best advantage, in which every job is done by the man best qualified to do it.

In addition, this policy promotes a feeling of friendly cooperation among employes. Men in responsible positions have consideration for the actual experience for those lower in the ranks.

Men in the lower ranks have respect for those higher up because they have risen from lower earned the right to their responsibilities.



As a result, a friendly helpful spirit prevails among employes. They are bound together by mutual appreciation and by a profound loyalty to their Company.

The spirit within the organization is reflected without and it is this spirit that is fundamental to the success of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The Red Crown dises perpetrate the Nikkis West have won their friendly welcome by consistent service by their share or color, but because of the spirit behind them, the spirit of thousands of men and women who work with enthusiasm, satisfied only when they have done their best.

PARENT TEACHER CREED IS THEME OF 4 SPEAKERS

Closing Meeting of Year Is Held Monday Night in High School Assembly

FIRST AND SECOND GRADE MUSICIANS ON PROGRAM

Resolutions Adopted Urging More Strict Enforcement Of Present Laws

The annual meeting of the Parent Teacher association, and the concluding number during the school year, was held Monday night in the assembly room of the Lincoln high school, at which time in addition to the election of officers and substitution of the constitution as adopted last year was summed up and plans laid for the coming year.

The officers chosen Monday night were as follows: president, Dr. A. E. Jacobson; first vice president, C. W. Piper; second vice president, Mrs. Ole Nupert; secretary, Mrs. O. F. Melby; and treasurer, John Hanson.

Kiddies on Program

A feature of the evening's entertainment was the presentation of several musical numbers by the combined orchestras of the first and second grade children of the Northrop, Washington and Lincoln schools, directed by Nell Mullens and supervised and accompanied by Miss Ruth Bissell at the piano. It was the first public appearance of the musical organizations and those present were thrilled in their praise of the work accomplished by Miss Johnson, who stated that by the methods used, pupils received an insight into and a desire for higher musical training. The little tots were attired in neat uniforms made out of crepe paper by the respective pupils, Caroline Melby and Hattie Goldsmith of the Washington, Hilda Kasta, Ruth Mickelson and Nelle Johnston of the Lincoln, and Pearl Ljestad and Mabel Siverson of the Northrop.

Following is a list of the pupils taking part in the musical numbers as presented:

Youthful Musicians

Northrop school: Neil Mullen, Susanne Hinds, Clarine Nelson, Dorothy Robarge, Mary Alice Biederman, Alfolee Nagling, Hjalmer Anseby, Wanda Hanson, Frederick Schellberg, James Lalicge, Jean Dahlquist and Wesley Burns.

Washington school: Perry Pederson, Earl Nicholson, Arnold Crown, Marian Phillips, Mary Walker, Estelle Sand, Jerome Bitzenge, Gladys Severson, Faye Belcher, Doris Wentworth, Albert Anderson and Dorothy Nye.

Knox school: Nona Nelson, Joyce Benner, Ruby Hanson, Betty Burrell, Robert Smith, Lowell Nesse, Harold Nesse, Helga Reinertsen, Donald Olson, Lynn Bowen, Margaret Jacobson, Glenn Carlson, William Carlisle and Leonel Bergstrom.

Creed of Association

Possibly the most interesting number on the entire program might be summed up in the Creed of the Parent Teacher association, for the four speakers had carefully considered the subject, and had given much time in reviewing past work and making suggestions for the coming year. The Creed of the association is as follows:

That a Parent Teacher association should be concerned with all problems of the child, which will affect the welfare of the child in home, school and community.

That its great object should be to interest all people in all efforts to secure to the child the best possible home, the best and most efficient schools, and such other influences in the life of the child, to work for his highest good.

That it should learn first hand all school conditions and all town conditions affecting the child.

That it should encourage all influences and conditions which make for the growth and safety of the child.

Arouse Public Sentiment

That it should work actively for the school and community needs by creating a public sentiment which shall favor and provide good teachers, good school equipment and adequate recreation for leisure time.

That it should give service to the home by training for parenthood and homemaking; and to the school by adding parent power to school power.

That it should not be a means of entertainment, or charity, or politics, or of school authority, but a co-operative, non-political, non-sectarian, non-commercial effort to produce American citizens physically strong in body, alert in mind and sterling in character, capable of perpetuating the best which has been handed down to our national life.

That the principles which guide the Parent Teacher association are the enhancement of child service, civic virtue and patriotism.

Strong Risley and Dancers

Mrs. H. W. Friedrich in opening her remarks stated first the objects of the association, whether it be local, state or national, these being to promote child welfare in the home, school, church and community; to raise the standards of home life; to secure adequate laws for the care and protection of women and children. It also seeks to bring into closer relation the home and the school, that parents may co-operate intelligently in the training of the child; and to develop such home education as will present public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, moral and spiritual development.

A standing rule in each school grounds in the city here is for each of the winter months, and experienced dancing to the school buildings, were two outstanding spectacular trade by Mrs. Friedrich during the course of her remarks. She stated that the teachers would gladly co-operate with

Wednesday Warmest Day Since Sept. 14, 1927

Wednesday was the warmest day in Thief River Falls since Sept. 14 last fall, the official reading of the thermometer kept by Observer C. M. Rayson being 85 above zero for that day, as against 86 on September 14. The lowest mercury showed on Wednesday was 50 above, also was the highest since May 5, when the minimum reading was 52 above.

The contrast with the warmth noted above a comparison of the total snowfall for the past six months of the 1926-27 winter may be of interest. Mr. Rayson reports there was a total snowfall from Nov. 1, 1927 to May 1, 1926, of 51.3 inches, while from Dec. 1, 1926 to May 1, 1927, the total was 73.3 inches. Reduced to precipitation, however, the snowfall this past winter amounts to only five inches.

The mean temperature for April, as announced yesterday by Mr. Rayson, was 48.1 above zero, while the mean minimum was 23.10 above. The warmest day was on April 24 when the thermometer registered 74 above, the coldest record being here 2½ above on April 28, day at night 11 right o'clock.

Zez Confrey.

Zez Confrey Mixes Salads and Songs

Zez Confrey, famous composer of the musical classic, "The Kitten on the Keys," is credited by his friends as the most versatile of America's popular song composers. Those who know him say he can mix a salad or a song oddity with equal success, which is amazing considering his pictorial delight in pranks a certain young fellow is credited with. Some of the stories has been recognized as the model of American syncopation. But Mr. Confrey has other "lives" in his repertoire, his acquaintances declare. Country bred, he is a judge of horse flesh, and also knows a good cigar.

The simple life is Mr. Confrey's idea of happiness. Every so often Manhattan gets too crowded for him and he boards a train for the country and the companionship of a certain murmuring brook. Inevitably he comes back with one of the merry tunes for which he is noted.

A bachelor, Zez keeps open house for his friends. If he invites a few of the boys over for a midnight supper, he does the cooking himself. Invitations to his lively little dinners are sought after. There are two dishes to which Mr. Confrey is partial. So are his friends. His recipes for the two follow:

Royal Eggs With Mushroom Sauce.

12 eggs
Pepper
Salt
1 pound mushrooms
Butter
Slice pimento
Tablespoon butter
12 slices toast
Flour
Parsley

Wash the mushrooms in two thin waters. Chop fine. Put in saucepan with butter and cook slowly for five minutes. Add flour, sprinkle well and cook about three minutes. Add the cream, mushrooms and chopped pimento. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Poach the eggs in a little water and place on slices of toast. Allow two eggs on each piece of toast. Allow two tablespoons sauce for each serving. Pour over all the mushroom sauce and garnish with parsley.

Pineapple-Cheese Salad.

10 slices pineapple
Cream cheese
Lettuce
Mayonnaise
Pimento
Ten pineapple slices
Ten sugar cubes
Ten whole cloves
Ten shaved almonds
Ten maraschino cherries
Cream cheese
Lettuce
Mayonnaise

Combine the cheese with enough pineapple juice to make a smooth mass. Cut pineapple slices in halves. Arrange on lettuce on a slice of pineapple and press a sugar cube in the center. Stick a clove in each of the four sides and cover with a thick layer of cheese mixture. Garnish with a maraschino cherry and shaved almonds and press into the edge of the cheese. Serve with mayonnaise dressing. Lay two of the prepared pieces on lettuce leaves for each serving. Serve with extra mayonnaise dressing. Garnish with parsley.

Funeral Services Monday for Mrs. George Nelson, Interred at Two Harbors

The Methodist-Presbyterian church was well filled Monday afternoon when the funeral services were held for Mrs. George M. Nelson, who died Friday, May 4, at the age of 29 years, Rev. Chas. E. Gerlinger of Fergus Falls conducting the funeral services. Rev. H. C. Schelberg officered the prayer and made brief remarks regarding the life. Interments were escorted from the Larson undertaking parlors to the church and back again by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Laura Mills Nelson was born at Two Harbors, Feb. 3, 1899, where she attended the public school and was graduated on May 21, 1918. Thereafter she attended the St. Cloud teachers college, graduating from there July 22, 1921, being united in marriage the following year on June 2 to George M. Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson moved to Thief River Falls about five years ago, and during this time the deceased made many friends thru her activities in the Presbyterian church and the American Legion Auxiliary, she having been a member in each organization.

The remains were taken to Two Harbors on Tuesday, where interment was made on Wednesday, a few members of the Legion auxiliary accompanying Mr. Nelson to her former home.

THREE IN COURT TODAY FOLLOWING POLICE RAID

Mike Zippa waived examination in municipal court this morning on a charge of having in his possession intoxicating liquor for sale, being bound over to the next term of district court by Judge N. W. Tarrant with bail fixed at $500, which bail was secured up to the time of going to press.

Catherine Sale and Ron Gray, two other defendants, were found by Chief of Police A. W. Crown when he raided the Zippa soft drink parlors, being fined $100 and costs, or 90 days in jail, by the judge on a charge of disorderly conduct. They were discovered in a rear room of the establishment.

The place was raided by the chief of police, the night patrolman and the sheriff early Wednesday morning.

Safeguard the Health of Your Children WITH Pasteurized Milk

"The Health Drink for Every Baby"

DR. MAYO ON TUBERCULOSIS SPREAD THROUGH RAW MILK.

We realize the danger of typhoid fever germs in milk largely because they bring about striking epidemics. Infections with tuberculosis proceed quietly and the results are usually not evident for some years. On this account it is more difficult to demonstrate the connection of cause and effect and we tend to underestimate the number of cases of tuberculosis due to germs spread through raw milk.

Dr. C. H. Mayo, probably the world's most famous medical authority, also health officer and farmer of Rochester, Minnesota, says:

"Tuberculosis in cattle spreads to humans mostly by means of milk in which the germs have not been killed by proper pasteurization. How frequently this occurs is a question, but a conservative estimate is that 25 percent of tuberculosis among children and 5 percent of all tuberculosis is from bovine sources.

Clinical observation and examination of cattle does not always indicate the tubercular animal.

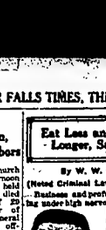
Everything should be done—clinical observation and examination of the cattle, tuberculin testing and slaughter of reactors and proper pasteurization of milk. Expense should not be the determining consideration. In fact money spent for such things is not expense, it is investment which will return dividends.

I submit this statement not only as a Doctor of Medicine but also as a health officer and as a farmer where I have had extensive experience with bovine tuberculosis among cattle in my own herds."

Dr. Mayo appreciates that there is at present little or no possibility of providing pasteurized milk for approximately half of the population living on farms and in small villages. Moreover, a considerable proportion of the people living in cities are still so poorly informed regarding the dangers of raw milk that they are using it in their families even when the pasteurized article is available.

Dr. F. E. Harrington, Health Commissioner of Minneapolis, says:

"One very important factor in the health of the child is safe milk as a diet. Nothing has contributed more to the reduction of infant mortality rate from intestinal disturbances than has improvement in the community's milk supply.



"The best substitute for mothers' milk is a safe cow's milk. Milk to be safe as a food for children must be free from disease producing bacteria. The proper safeguard of milk supply is pasteurization. Properly performed pasteurization in no way changes the character of milk. It destroys bacterial life dangerous to the human body."

Eat Less and Live Longer, Says Lawyer

By W. W. O'BRIEN
(Noted Criminal Lawyer of Chicago.)

Business and professional men seeking undue high nervous pressure do not live as long as men whose pursuits keep them out of doors and active. Examine the records of longevity and you will find that on the average the longest-lived men are soldiers, sailors and farmers, and next to them comes the man which tend to keep a man at his physical best.

W. W. O'Brien.

Man, in general, rolls down the hill of life fastest when his figure is reined. "Leanness and hungriness" is a good ration for business men to remember. If office workers would eat a little less, they would add years to their lives.

Overfeeding is as dangerous to adults as underfeeding is to children. Foods difficult to digest, or which overstimulate, should be avoided by persons whose work does not require any particular amount of physical exercise. Yet thousands of business men eat as much as or more than men who do manual labor. And inevitably, nature rebels and sickness results.

Many of the country's foremost executives eat but two meals a day, breakfast and dinner in the evening. This system of starves the organs of the body from becoming clogged. Thousands of other business men confine themselves at noontime to custards, puddings, soups and other sustaining dishes made with milk, or evaporated milk, which is milk in its most sterile form, from which 60 per cent of the water has been removed by evaporation. Such a diet is light and readily assimilated.

There is no more necessary lesson to be learned by the brain worker than how to keep well and healthy by proper attention to food habits.

Drive carefully! You may meet a fool.

CLEAN UP AND PAINT UP

This is Clean-up and Paint-up week in our city and there are still two days left in which to get the premises in shape and remove all remainders of the winter which is passed. Nature is co-operating generously with local officials, giving lawns, shrubbery and trees their first coat of green for this season. The general effect is very pleasing.

In discussing the Clean-up campaign in Marshall, the News-messenger of that city states:

There are many reasons why every one should help in a clean up campaign. In the first place it is sanitary. This should be reason sufficient to insure the support of every individual in the city. In addition to being sanitary, cleaning up and painting up adds much to the appearance of a city. Civic pride should be strong enough to make every one enjoy cleaning up and painting up when needed.

Spring time is the season of the year when one thinks of sanitation. The housewife begins to talk of house-cleaning. The accumulations of the winter time are disposed of. Nooks and corners are cleaned out thoroughly. The man of the house should get the lawnmower and get busy out in the yard. Old tin cans should be hauled away as should the ash pile. The yard needs raking and the dead grass burned. Perhaps the garage should be painted or tore of paint. There are many things that can be done around the yard to add to the general appearance. Incidentally, clean premises are not as much a fire hazard as the premises that are loaded with junk piles.

THE SENATORIAL CONTEST

Minnesota's 1928 political battle is well under way. Things are gradually shaping themselves and it is possible now to get a fairly accurate view of how the lines will be drawn for the final fighting. It is probable that party lines will mean less to the voters of the state in this coming election than three-have meant in quite a few years, especially in the senatorial and gubernatorial fights. Governor Christianson will be re-elected to that office practically without opposition and by the votes of the rank and file of three parties. While Senator Shipstead will have plenty of opposition in the finals next November, the present dope indicates that he has more than an even chance of being re-elected and will receive many votes from the rank and file of both Republican and Democratic parties.

The Senatorial contest is the big feature attraction of Minnesota's coming political show, and will be a hard fought battle. Shipstead's filing as a Farmer-Laborite has brought to a close speculation as to the party under which he will seek re-election. His choice didn't make him any new enemies and didn't lose him any old friends. While it is perhaps true that the party of his choice is practically dead as a political organization, his strength does not lie in the strength of the organization but rather in his own popularity.

The Republican candidates for nomination are Arthur Nelson of St. Paul, A. J. Rockne of Zumbrota and J. A. A. Burnquist of Minneapolis. The real contest seems to be between Nelson and Rockne, which may develop into a close race. Through his many years of service in the state senate and as a prominent party man of the state, Rockne has many friends, especially among the older men. Nelson, formerly mayor of St. Paul, a younger man and generally considered a strong campaigner, has a host of friends thruout the state who will take off their coats and go to work for him. He is an experienced campaigner, an able speaker and has an engaging personality. It would seem that he should be able to pile up a plurality in the primaries next month that would pit him against Shipstead in the finals. Certainly he is the only candidate who has any kind of a chance against the present Senator.

That Senator Shipstead's strength is not underestimated is indicated by the following editorial of the Northfield News, a Republican newspaper published in a community that has been, even in late years, a Republican stronghold. The News says:

As a Farmer-Labor candidate for the Senate ahead of one of the nominations of the Republican party, Hon. Henry Shipstead will face all opponents in November can be predicted some months after the Republican voters have determined who his opponent will be. The candidate chosen on the nominee-Lot pin-point in the G. O. P. ballot will also have some hot ore on the senatorial contest in Minnesota this year.

One thing is certain, if Shipstead is as strong in Minnesota as he is in Washington, D. C., if he is as popular in his state as he is in the national capital, there is a chance for the Republican party to get the jump on the fact that Henrik Shipstead has won a wellnigh universal approval at Washington. His colleagues in the senate, officials in government departments, newspaper correspondents—all speak highly of his work and his personality. A prominent Republican and a former resident of Minnesota now living in Washington, a representative of The Month last week that he could scratch the Republican ballot for the first time in his life this year to vote for Shipstead. If that sentiment prevails generally the nominee in the Republican primary in June will have a battle royal on his hands in November.

FIGHT AGAINST CRIME
(Chicago Tribune)

The Chicago crime commission, in a statement issued through its president, Frank J. Loesch, demands the resignation of three judges now sitting in the criminal court.

The commission has found these judges conspicuously engaged in some of the worst and most corrupt offenses against the effective enforcement of the law, the practice of waiving serious charges for which the defendant was indicted in order to secure pleas of guilty to minor offenses.

Since January 1,—three months in which hold-ups, murders, bombings, and other forms of crime have been both prevalent and notorious—there has been, says the commission, "only one trial and capital conviction for murder and that not of a gunman but of a doctor who had performed an abortion."

Juroro were on hand, says the commission, "but it was easier to waive gun counts and secure pleas of guilty to minor offense of which the criminals were not guilty and so—" and here is the politest significance—"and so make a cheap record of convictions for the state's attorney and the judges."

Judges and prosecutors seeking re-election pull out statistics to show their percentage of convictions, but the statistics never show how many cases were pleas of guilty to a minor charge. On the face of their statistics they are builders against crime; on the face of their true record they are compromisers.

Mother

By Edgar A. Guest

Never a sign for years that she bore for me,
Never a thought for days that flew by;
Her one regret that she couldn't do more for me,
Thoughtless and selfish, her Master was I.

Oh, the long nights that she came at my call to me,
Oh, the soft touch of her hands on my brow,
Oh, the long years that she gave up her all to me,
Oh, how I yearn for her gentleness now.

Slave to her baby, yes, that was the way of her,
Counting her greatest of services small;
Words cannot tell what this old heart would say of her,
Mother—the sweetest and fairest of all.

Billy Noonan of the Baudette Region reports that a man from Chicago recently visited that village. At any rate the stranger had a bullet hole in his hat, he says.

"To believe your own thought, to believe that what is true for you in your private heart is true for all men—that is genius. The highest merit we ascribe to Moses, Plato and Milton is that they set at naught books and traditions, and spoke, not what men, but what they thought."—Emerson.

THE HIGH COST OF BOOKS

Arthur Brisbane, the world's highest paid editorial writer, has added his voice to the many that are resenting publicly the high cost of books. "The price of novels is not so important," he says, "but the high cost of books containing positive knowledge, that would enable uneducated millions (including many college graduates) to educate themselves, is disastrous."

While we agree with Mr. Brisbane that lower prices on good books would be desirable, we cannot become sufficiently aroused over the present condition to concur in his use of the word disastrous. The prices of good books are not so great now but that they can be obtained by any who really desire good reading, and those who have not developed the desire would not be interested in good books if they were available at no charge whatsoever. There are hundreds of good books in our local library that are never used. Never, in any age, has the public had at its easy disposal such a wealth of reading material as it has today, but the number who avail themselves of the opportunities offered is comparatively small.

A TENDENCY IN MERCHANDISING

In discussing the present tendency of merchants to sell wares of various kinds outside of their particular lines, the Akeley Herald-Tribune makes the following observation:

On various occasions it has been suggested that the stores of this village adjust their stocks so as to carry exclusive lines—groceries, clothing, hardware, dry goods, etc. It appears that the day of exclusive stores is gone. The Herald-Tribune notes a leading Minneapolis hardware store advertising chocolate candy for sale, with a special sale on carnations. Millinery stores may very properly sell gasoline engines and the implement dealer use pewter pails as a trader. Business is business. If a man or company can buy the goods and pay for them and sell for less he will probably get the business if he understands present day advertising methods. There appears to be no just grounds for one merchant complaining about another merchant "butting in" on his lines, probably depends largely on the point of view. From the point of view of the merchant such an encroachment is a very just cause of complaint, and the complaint is made, but it doesn't do any good. The encroachment continues, and results in counter-encroachment, and that is the net result of such warfare to the public is difficult to say. There are some advantages perhaps, but undoubtedly there are some disadvantages. Probably out of the constant struggle among merchants to win public favor will gradually be evolved trade practices that will be beneficial to both merchants and consumers.

THE BENEFIT OF THE DOUBT

Bruce Barton tells in the Redbook magazine of how he has been embarrassed several times during the past year by the actions of some person who has impersonated him in various parts of the country, forging checks, running up bills, and in general other ways bringing his name into disrepute. He expresses the fear that many people perhaps think ill of him unjustly, and also wonders how many people he has wronged in past years, judging by appearances and not knowing all the facts. He says:

The experience has set me to wondering. How much of the population has my unknown double influenced? How many people are all wrong about me who are sure they are all right? How many, how often have I been unjust to somebody else when I went by appearances or had only part of the facts?

Thus I passed severe sentence in my own mind against a man I thought a loafer. He played golf every afternoon, while his wife waited in the office. When he died, and I learned the full truth, I was glad I had kept my ideas to myself—the papers revealed that he was a war hero who had been gassed and so could not work in any office more than a few hours at a time.

Another day I formed a decided dislike for a man who seemed unnecessarily peevish, only to discover that he has to pinch every penny because his wife has been a lifelong invalid and his mother is insane.

The discovery of how difficult it is to get all the facts has inclined me to be cautious. It seems also that the habit of caution is growing in others; that as we Americans mature in collateral experience, each of us will attend to his own life a little more and to the lives of others less.

And why not?

It is reliably announced that there is to be a great day of Judgment, when all the facts will be available, all injustices will be corrected; many last shall be first, and many first shall be last. Feeling confident in the justice of this court of last resort, I am willing and even inclined to side-step my duties as a critic and give the other fellow the benefit of the doubt.

I hope that others will do the same for me—especially when my double visits any community and makes a careless marriage or passes a worthless check.

FROM THE CELLAR WINDOW

Mr. and Mrs. H. Gregg of Gladbrook, Iowa, who operate a farm on the Elwell road near Goodridge, are making their customary spring visit to this county and report that they are glad to get back again. They have never seen things looking better, they say, and are more optimistic than they were on the occasion of the Gregg's annual Northern Minnesota excursion, and when they haven't anything else to do they buy land. They boost Pennington County. Last winter Mr. Gregg sent a circular letter out to a large number of Iowa farmers telling of the advantages of this county. The result is that several of these Iowa families are coming up this summer to look our way. That certainly is one of the things we need and the necessary is doubled to the Greggs. May their alfalfa never grow thinner.

Not all farmers broke. Last week we visited at the home of John Ellingson, out in Moylan township of Marshall county. He and Mrs. Ellingson homesteaded there in 1896. Twenty years ago the Ellingsons were burdened down with a $120 mortgage but that $120 was paid off long ago. Mr. Ellingson likes corn and claims they make money for him. He is now milking thirteen cows, he has a bunch of dandy heifers coming along and another year he expects to milk twenty cows. He likes to feed Guernsey bull. Since then they have treated bulls twice without any additional outlay of cash and their herds have stepped up in fine shape. It doesn't take long to breed up a herd and it doesn't cost much money, he said, but it takes a little time. He has had good luck with alfalfa and is increasing his acreage a good little each year. Three years ago he built a large addition to the house and now they have a dandy dwelling. When you enter the Ellingson yard you get a feeling that you have struck a place that hard times passed by.

Japan seems to have found an excuse to invade China. Probably while a lot of blood spilled before the mess is settled. Which doesn't worry us any either. It does mean that our marines can come home, which is certainly to be desired.

A few strawhats have made their appearance on the streets during the past week. Some of those that were bought in the closing out sales at the tail end of last season look pretty good too.

GOPHER LEGION VETS SAVE AS TIME FLIES

In his report to the recent Minnesota Legion conference in St. Paul, Gerald W. Stone of Redwood Falls, department Finance Chairman, stated: "The Gopher Legion 'Gang is living within its budget and expects to end 1927 or more nearly since 1924, getting into its sinking fund during 1927 more than $5,000, its total membership at this time being approximately $18,000.

"Perhaps no Legion department in the nation is in better financial condition than Minnesota, Chairman Barnard stated, and while even this fair savings may seem unsolicited for now, the time is fast approaching when the earning power of Legion men and women will decrease and so will the annual income of the department of Legion. When that time comes, said Mr. Barnard, Minnesota Legionnaires want to be in a position to finance their annual expenditures from their sinking fund.

TIME TO BE THINKING OF THE SPRAY PROGRAM

Apple growers have given their first spray when the first flower buds show. The second spray, as soon as the petals drop from the blossoms and before the calyx closes, and the first week of July, the spray material should be made up in the proper proportions. A half pound each of arsenate of lead (powdered), five pounds of commercial lime-sulphur (liquid) or four pounds of dry and 50 gallons of water. If the apple maggot, the troublesome, other worm, should be given about July 20 and August 5.

The same spray should be used for plums, with applications just before the blossoms open, or as the petals fall, when the plums are the size of a pea, and again in the first starts to color. If lice appear on the leaves, spray or as early spring, as the buds are beginning to open, spray with nicotine sulphate, 40 percent, one-half pint; soap or soft, two to three pounds, and 50 gallons water.

The currant worm can be fought successfully with arsenate of lead, one and a half pounds to 50 gallons of water, as soon as the caterpillars appear. If a second brood comes in the same when the fruit is nearly mature, hellebore may be dusted on the leaves in early morning.

A film library of 10,000 slides, one of the most extensive in the country for general circulation, has been established by the visual education division of the New York State Department of Education.

CORN AND PEAS GARDEN STAPLES; WHAT TO GROW

High-quality sweet corn can be grown in most any garden the season through, say horticulturists of the University of Minnesota. Starting with early varieties, which should be days ahead of Golden Bantam, or with Pickaboy, a rather low growing, bushy type, with ears near the ground, the gardener can follow with successive plantings of the standard Bantam and have highly flavored tenderness ears for his table until early fall.

Peas, a good second for corn in the garden, should be planted as soon as the frost goes out and the ground can be worked. Alaska and Thomas Laxton are good early varieties. Those recommended for later use are Little Marvel, a dwarf which is fairly early; Gradus and Telephone, both of which are late, and Alderman, a tall, late-podded plant which also produces rather late in the season.

New England spinach and chard will furnish materials, and should be in the plot for the farm of greens. All through the season, and one as the other, or both if there is room in the garden, should be grown.

While the marriage rate in England is rising, that country had the lowest birth rate on record in the last quarter of 1927.

One day's total of traffic violations in New York City was 2,000. It requires seven magistrates to handle these cases.

the parents in such dances, rather than to countenance the present public dance.

Teachers Operate a Farm

Mrs. Blanche Korstad stated that the teachers were only too glad to co-operate in developing the youth of today into the citizen of tomorrow along lines of usefulness and integrity. Better moral codes, Mrs. Korstad said, were greatly needed in the homes if results are to be had in the schools.

Pep and will power are two essentials that the teachers, pupils and parents have to be mindful of. The average child has the pep, while the parent should have the will power to direct him in the right way.

In conclusion Mrs. Korstad stated that the proper entertainment of the pupils is one of the aims of the teachers, for they are at all times vitally interested in the welfare of the child outside of the school as well as when under their direc supervision.

Children Need Guidance

Hey. H. C. Schelberg declared that the time for action on the part of the parent-teacher association and its members can no longer sit back and take it easy... The work of the home, the school and the church are closely related, he said; the parents, the scholars and the teachers all have a common ground with the church.

Rev. Schelberg expressed the apparent lack of interest of some parents in what their children are doing, especially at night time, stating that he had recently come to his knowledge that a number of watches should be displayed on news stands; the movies should have a higher standard; pool halls should be better regulated, and especially was there need for a surfew enforcement in Thief River Falls.

School Board Seeks Ideas

E. M. Bennes, president of the school board, summed up the relationship of the board as that of the teachers, pupils, and the public, stating that the board are the servants of the taxpayers to the best of their ability, maintaining—the—local—schools on the high standard of western run. He felt that the board had received great help from the Parent-Teacher association, and believed that a Question Box at the meetings next year would be very beneficial.

Following the adoption of resolutions introduced by Mrs. Schelberg the school board and the janitors of the various school districts were bringing the year's program to a close. The resolutions adopted follow:

Resolutions Adopted

"First, we recommend that a strong central committee of five be appointed to study the conditions in Thief River Falls during the summer to learn what can be done to make plans for the work of the coming year.

We also recommend that the following committees be appointed:

A committee on literature to co-operate with proprietors of news stands with a view of putting before the public the best literature, books, and discouraging the distribution of these unfit for the public.

A committee on recreation to seek to supervise the recreation of children during the summer as well as during the school year.

A committee on movies to co-operate with the manager of movie houses and other places of entertainment and amusement with a view of bringing to our city the best possible films and shows. This committee shall also stress the importance of school children attending the first show in the evening rather than the second.

Stricter Law Enforcement Sought

A committee to co-operate with the night patrolman in ringing the curfew bell, and enforcing the curfew regulations, and further to seek the enforcement of the cigarette law.

Resolved further, that we respectfully call upon the city council to more adequately police the public dances of the city to see that boys and girls under age are not admitted; also that other nuisances be abated. Second, to enforce the rules and regulations governing young boys entering and loungingabout the pool halls. Third, to provide for the arrest of motorists who seek to lure girls into their cars on the pretence or another.

We suggest that these committees be appointed by the executive committee of the association, and that this same executive committee present the matters in question to the persons concerned."

Little is known so far of electric soil treatment though it is claimed for it that it kills out quack grass and other noxious weeds which long have been a pest to farmers and there are also those who contend that electrical treatment stimulates the soil itself.

NEARLY $35,000 FOR SETTLERS IN MUD LAKE

therewith an amount greater than ten percentum of the amounts allowed under this bill to the person for whom he has acted as agent or attorney:

"Provided further, that no purchaser or assignee of the claims of any of the said claimants shall receive from them a greater amount than was paid to the claimant for his assignment."

Statement of the Facts

The drained Mud Lake bottom lands were formerly in the Red Lake Indian reservation, ceded under act of Jan. 14, 1889. The lands surveyed during the lake were surveyed and disposed of under the public land laws. After the disposition of the abutting lands the lake was drained by artificial passages, and a controversy arose between the alleged riparian owners and the government as to the title of the lake bottom.

The question was referred to the attorney general, who on June 19, 1912, and Feb. 15, 1915, held that the area was public land of the United States and subject to survey and disposition as such. The matter was accordingly opened to homestead entry under act of Feb. 15, 1916.

Decision of U. S. Court

Suit was instituted by the government, in 1920, in the United States courts for the purpose of quieting title. As a result of that suit the Supreme court held, Feb. 1, 1926, in the case of the United States of America, appellant, vs. Holt State bank et al, that the title was a naviagble lake, navigable waters, and the state on its admission into the union became the owner of the bed thereof, and rendered judgment for the defendants.

The effect of the decision of the supreme court in this case was to nullify any entry which had been issued by the government on such lands. The Act of congress of approved March 3, 1927, directed the secretary of the interior to prepare and approve a list of entrymen who were allowed to make homestead entries on the lands in question, and to prepare a description of the lands embraced in their entries and a statement of the value of their improvements as they existed on the date of entry, prior to Feb. 1, 1926, on the land settled upon and entered.

Value of Improvements

The bill will reimburse the entryman and patentee for the value of the improvements made by them on the lands. Such improvements are to be made in good faith and in reliance on the opinion of the attorney general of Feb. 15, 1915.

These improvements were made mainly during the years 1916 to 1919. At that time the entrymen were clearing their land, breaking and breaking, raising good crops and cutting hay. The entire country then was more populous than it is now. There were several schools in the district, now closed; two post offices, Flakne and Golden Valley, both since abandoned; and the indications were that the Mud Lake district would make a prosperous community.

Disastrous floods, coupled with adverse decisions of the courts against the settlers, brought disaster to them. After the final decision of the supreme court, Feb. 1, 1926, all of them were compelled to abandon their homes.

Redress Finally Sought

After that decision the settlers sought redress and recompense for their improvements, which led up to the present status.

The inspector's reports during the investigation were that he found most of the claimants were fair and reasonable in their estimates of the value of the improvements. The amounts to be paid the entrymen are considered to be fair and reasonable. Without a doubt all the settlers suffered losses that cannot be reimbursed thru losing their homes, for which they had expended much labor during a period of years.

GREENBUSH MOTOR CO., Greenbush, Minn. FARMERS HDWE. CO., Lancaster, Minn.

No. 1—The J. C. Penney Co. Executive and Buying Headquarters, New York City. No. 2—Mr. J. C. Penney, founder of the J. C. Penney Company. No. 3—The original sweater in Mr. Penney's first store in Kemmerer, Wyoming. No. 4—Address No. 1,000, at Beloit, Kansas, the home town of the President of the Company. No. 5—Mr. E. C. Sams, President of the Company. No. 6—The new $2,500,000 warehouse now under construction by the Company in St. Louis.

April of this year marks the opening of J. C. Penney Co. store number one thousand at Beloit, Kansas and the same month marks the completion of 28 years in which the name J. C. Penney has been associated with retail department store merchandising, starting in Kemmerer, Wyo., where Mr. Penney opened the Golden Rule department store in 1902.

In this period the volume of business done by the nation wide organization of which Mr. Penney was the founder has grown from $28,996 in the first year to $151,367,865 in 1927 with a total set for this year which will continue the remarkable growth which has been achieved in the past.

In 1927 there were 145 new J. C. Penney Co. stores added to the group and during these were the 21 stores of the Jones Co., in the Northwest, an organization founded by men who were closely identified with Mr. Penney in his early career as a retail merchant and the 26 stores of the Golden Rule Mercantile Co., with headquarters in Ogden, Utah. Johnson and Stevens, the founders of the Golden Rule Mercantile Co., were fellow workmen with Mr. Penney in retail selling in Wyoming before the Kemmerer store was opened.

The opening of store number one thousand in the so called spring group of new J. C. Penney Co. stores came during gradual and substantially beyond this number of retail stores bearing the Penney name, before the end of the year.

In the original Kemmerer store Mr. Penney served as a clerk behind a rough board counter. The present J. C. Penney Co., stores are models of efficiency with specially designed show cases, counters, and general equipment, all designed by merchandising engineers to facilitate the ease and comfort with which the millions of patrons of the company may be served.

The original store was a rough unpainted building. The present stores form a uniform verses of model front buildings characterized by the attractive facilities afforded for window displays.

With the development of the company, Mr. Penney has surrounded himself with a thousand partners, all of whom have grown and profited with the growth and increasing earnings of the organization. Earl C. Sams, president of the J. C. Penney Co., was identified with Mr. Penney as a clerk in his first ranks from clerkships to store managers to executive authority.

Other activities, as distinctive in their field, as the J. C. Penney Co. has been in the field of retail merchandising have since been founded by Mr. Penney. Among these are Penney Farms in Florida, where, in an incorporated city, Mr. Penney is conducting an enterprise in practical farming which is attracting agricultural authorities from all parts of the world and Emmadine Farms in New York State where the J. C. Penney herd of Foremost Guernseys is recognized as one of the outstanding herds of pure-bred Guernsey cattle in the entire dairy industry.

Recent developments in the activities of the J. C. Penney Co., include the completion of plans for a $2,500,000 warehouse in St. Louis, Mo., on which work has already been started and through which merchandise will be handled for the Southwest and the opening of five district representative offices in prominent trade centers throughout the United States for the supervision of J. C. Penney Co., stores in the widespread list of stores.

The new warehouse in St. Louis will augment the activities of the huge warehouse in New York City. At the present time there are J. C. Penney Co., stores in every state in the union with the exception of Florida and Delaware. Plans are well under way at the present time which will result in widespread representation in Florida before the end of the year.

Protect Your Investment in Your Model T Ford

THE Ford Motor Company is making a new car; but it is still proud of the Model T. It wants every owner of one of these cars to run it as long as possible at a minimum of expense.

Because of this policy and because of the investment that millions of motorists have in Model T cars, the Ford Motor Company will continue to make parts until, as Henry Ford himself says, "the last Model T is off the road."

More than eight million Model T Fords are still in active service, and many of them can be driven for two, three and five years and even longer.

So that you may get the greatest use over the longest period of time at the lowest cost, we suggest that you take your Model T Ford to the nearest Ford dealer and have him give you an estimate on the cost of any replacement parts that may be necessary.

You will find this the economical thing to do because a small expenditure may enable you to maintain or increase the value of the car and give you thousands of miles of additional service.

No matter where you live you can get these Ford parts at the same low prices as formerly and know they are made in the same way and of the same materials as those from which your car was originally assembled.

Labor cost is reasonable and a standard rate is charged for each operation so that you may know in advance exactly how much the complete job will cost.

Waterfowl Refuge Produces Results

BY MARTIN K. NELSON
Warden, Thief River Falls

Reproduced Thru Courtesy of Press, Fishers and Fur

Establishment of a waterfowl refuge in the vicinity of Fertile, Minn., has proved to be very successful and interesting in many respects.

There are many lakes and wild rice beds where ducks remain in the early spring migration to nest and breed, and as the season progresses, hundreds of mallards, blue-winged teal and other species may be observed on these waters. There are prospects of good shooting; but what happens? The same old story of most wild fowl ducks leaving the country after the first day's shooting, followed by several weeks when the sight of a duck is almost a curiosity. Duck food may be there in abundance and will appear, but the ducks are not. Why? Because there is no place in the territory where the birds may rest undisturbed after the season opens.

For that reason the Wallen league chapter at Fertile, decided to sponsor the establishment of a waterfowl refuge in its community. A survey of all the lakes was made with the result that Lake Arthur was set aside because it was situated on all sides of waterfowl. It is an open country like where the birds are usually observed without being disturbed, and it is well sheltered in many places by high banks and fairly large woods. Its shallow muddy bays are ideal for the river and pond ducks and the deeper water with its luxuriant growth of submerged water plants makes the lake attractive to the scaup and bay ducks.

The regulations governing a waterfowl refuge were thoroughly explained to the interested parties before they were asked to sign the petition, and on August 24, 1927, the land was set aside by the state Fish commission alone as a state refuge for water fowl.

What were the results. The zero hour arrived as usual at 9:22 a. m. September 16. Of course, someone had to accidently fire his gun about 15 or 16 minutes too early to start the barrage. During the next 15 minutes there was a steady roar of guns all over the country and the air was literally filled with spitting, scurrying ducks. Soon the ducks came in lesser numbers and the shooting gradually ceased, only an occasional shot was heard, and not a duck to be seen.

Same old story.—Ducks "burned out" of the country—unless, do you suppose they had found the refuge? Many of the Waltonians drove over there in the afternoon to take a peek. Sure enough, there they were; probably not the majority of the ducks but nevertheless there were hundreds of them.

A few days later there were several thousand ducks in the refuge, while hardly a duck could be found in any of the surrounding lakes during the day time. The refuge is not very large. Would the birds leave when the food became scarce in that lake? No, they did not. Every evening about sundown, they would leave the refuge and strike out for the wild rice beds and shallow lakes where food was abundant. Just before sunrise in the morning they came streaking back to the refuge as though running on schedule. There are always a few straggling flocks that do not arrive until after the legal shooting hour, and many of these find themselves baking in somebody's oven instead of basking in the refuge.

By the latter part of September a decrease in the number of ducks was noticed on the refuge because the blue-winged teal had practically all left and the pintail and widgeon were gradually continuing their fall migration. However, this decrease did not last very many days because new arrivals started coming by the first of October. First came the ringnecks and a few red-heads. Then we had some snow and rough weather about October 8, which brought several hundred read-heads and lesser numbers of scaups and canvasbacks. During this temporary flight of northerners, fairly large numbers were observed on other lakes besides the refuge, but warm weather stopped the flight and most of those that had arrived were soon shot out and again the refuge saved us from a second "burning out" of ducks.

The northern ducks took advantage of the refuge the same as the local ducks did, by going out to the surrounding lakes to feed in the evening and returning at daylight.

There are many things a game warden would rather do than be forever watching those who are trying to break 10 or 15 minutes' shooting of the sunrise and sunset schedule. But when the warden knows that the success of the refuge depends on the observance of the game laws he is inclined to carry on the heels of some hunters in order to conserve the refuge and to justify the sportsmen who observe the laws and who have a thought of the future.

The little refuge has demonstrated to the local sportsmen the necessity of refuges throughout the country. A system of refuges will keep the migratory waterfowl more evenly distributed throughout its range, giving them a chance to take advantage of the abundant food supply in many localities where under present conditions they are compelled to pass by. No matter how much food there may be for the ducks in some localities, they can not remain if they have no place of safety in the day time.

PASTURES OF ALFALFA ADVOCATED FOR PIGS

"High cost of feeds and relatively low market prices for hogs indicate the advisability of providing good pasture for pigs the coming summer," says Mark A. McCray of the animal husbandry division of the University of Minnesota. "Good pastures always make a considerable saving in the amount of grain necessary to produce gains and reduce the protein supplement bill one-half, thus cutting costs and stimulating more rapid gains.

"If hog raisers have not already planned pastures of alfalfa or clover for their pigs this year, they will do well to set aside an acreage of these crops, if available, that will be large enough to care for their spring pigs this summer. An acre of alfalfa will provide forage for 15 to 20 spring pigs weighing from 50 to 200 pounds. Clover pastures will care for a smaller number."

ROSEWOOD

ROSEWOOD RESIDENT DIES LEAVING NO RELATIVES

Funeral services for Mrs. Ingrid Nordhagen were conducted at the Rindal Norwegian church on Saturday afternoon with Rev. E. T. Tungseth of Thief River Falls officiating, and the Larson Undertaking company having charge of the arrangements. Rev. Tungseth delivered a stirring funeral sermon after which A. T. Thoreson and Olif Bakken, old time neighbors of the deceased, gave brief tributes.

Mrs. Nordhagen was born in Tryssel, Norway, on March 4, 1846, and consequently was slightly over 80 years old. She emigrated to America together with her husband in 1881, coming then to Fargo, N. Dak., where they remained for a time, when the allure of free homesteads brought them to this place. Mr. Nordhagen died in 1914 and after which Mrs. Nordhagen had resided chiefly in Rosewood village. At Thanksgiving last she had the misfortune of slipping on the frozen ground while carrying wood to her home and had been confined to a Thief River Falls hospital the greater part of the winter. The few weeks she spent at the home of a neighbor, Thom Holten, and at which place she suffered a stroke of apoplexy last Monday and died on Tuesday afternoon without regaining consciousness. There are no children or close relatives and her husband preceded in death.

Pall bearers at the funeral were Ingvald Foshaim, A. Thoreson, H. Hagmoen, C. Helmjuhl, I. M. Westby and T. Mollem. About one hundred persons attended.

Rosebank School Notes

Pupils having perfect attendance for the entire school term were Byron Borden and Bartritt Negmoen and Harvey Haugen. The average per cent pupil attendance for the school term was 117.4 days. There were 45 pupils enrolled, and the average daily attendance was 37.61. The total school days of all the pupils were 1,576. Both teachers left on Monday, Miss Jacobson leaving for her home at Thief River Falls and Mrs. Jackson for Newfolden where she will spend some time at her farm in Marsh Grove township. Mrs. Jackson will return to give the second state examinations on May 24-26. One of the teachers will accompany the two pupils who will take part in the play day at Warren some time in June.

Mrs. Thomas Murphy of Dubwego, arrived here on Thursday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Ingrid Nordhagen. She will also spend a few days visiting old time friends, neighbors, school partners as well as with her father at Thief River Falls. Mrs. Murphy, nee Clara Wilson, spent her girlhood here staying with the Nordhagens after her mother's death, and received her school education, at this place.

Ludwig Wenander of Medicine Hat, Sask., spent a few days here visiting with the Carl Hirschman family en route home from Thief River Falls, where he had attended the funeral of his mother.

Two children were baptized by Rev. Tungseth at the Ladies aid meeting at the home of Mrs. Nels Johnson on Tuesday. They were Farrl LaRoy Ranson and Eileen Audrey Johnson. The next ladies aid will be entertained by Mrs. John Ranum at her home on Tuesday, May 22.

Harry Fetterson of Viking is here with a number of cows and horses to fill in the ditch excavation at the Mattson ridge on county highway 72 north of town.

A heavy grass and brush fire raged Monday afternoon on and around the farm buildings were threatened. Fire has been started under suspicious circumstances at the same place on several occasions, and one year ago destroyed a barn.—Pennington Co. Record.

GOODRIDGE

Goodridge Church on Fire

The members of St. Ann's Mission church of Goodridge are grateful for the assistance rendered on Sunday last, May 6, by the village of Goodridge in general and it's volunteer fire brigade in particular, in checking a fire that threatened the complete destruction of their church building. The tall dry grass about the grounds had accidently caught fire. Fanned by a high wind the fire rapidly closed in about the church putting it in several places. Had it not been for the prompt and untiring assistance rendered by the men of the community, St. Ann's church without a doubt would have been burned to the ground.

The members of the mission take this occasion to sincerely thank the village of Goodridge for this splendid evidence of unselfish co-operation.

"Ollie I Straithull" Sailor orchestra coming to Thief River Falls, Saturday, May 19.—

America Likes Band Music Best

SPENDING a million and a quarter every year for the musical education of the imagers in three hundred and twenty-four cities in the United States, which is a handsome sum in any man's language, the parking receiver appropriations to enter their cities for every one enjoy the pleasures and advantages of free music, says the Coca Music Center. How this substantial sum is divided up gives a good idea of the sorts of music Americs likes best, as the appropriations are made by a committee of the people who decide how it shall be spent.

Seventy-nine per cent of this money is specifically earmarked for the dollars goes to support bands; municipal, parts, and local bands. This would appear to be the most popular form of music and is particularly well-suited to outdoor concerts, Fourth of July and Memorial Day services and other celebrations. Besides concerts the band is supported partly by local merchants, it is found to be decided stimulus to trade. Bands are usually free or entirely supported by municipal funds, the money for which is raised by the "tax payders" in many towns.

Another five per cent goes to support orchestras. Whether it is a small community orchestra or a large symphonic orchestra capable of playing standard symphonies classics, the cultural value to the community is high and adds to its prestige outside. This form of music always is among the first part of the most appreciative element in the city.

The remaining sixteen per cent of these cities' musical appropriations is variously spent. There are reasonably sizable, Christmas carouling, Hallowe'en, organ recitals and miscellaneous expenses in connection with organ celebrations. Besides concerts

Aptitude of Torjus Hemmestveit, of Kratka, Recognized in Norway

Society for Furthering Interest in Skiing, the National Outdoor Sport of Norway, Sends Gold Medal, Accompanied by Interesting Review of Work Done by Pennington County Resident and His Brother in Past Half Century—Brothers Forty Years Ago Recognized as Best Skiers in Old Country.

Herewith will be found the letter of acknowledgement from the Ski-sport Forfaerne society of Oslo, Norway, to Torjus Hemmestveit, living in Kratka township, assuring him that he is believed fit and worthy, on account of his long and faithful attention to the sport of skiing, in recognition of which he was presented with a solid gold medal by the Morgedals Athletic association of Oslo. It will be recalled that early this year Mr. Hemmestveit went to the annual national ski tournament at Red Wing, as he has done in other years, and in one of which tournaments he established the record for this country, as he had previously done in the old country before coming to America. The Times is grateful to Hr. E. Thorseth for the painstaking translation of both the letter and the following speech.

Rosenkrantz Ave. 7
Oslo, Norway
April 2, 1928

Mr. Torjus Hemmestveit,
Kratka, Pennington Co., Minnesota.
Dear Mr. Hemmestveit:

As an acknowledgment of your important contribution to the ski-sport, our society hereby confers its highest honor, the Holmenkol Medal. This medal was conferred by Morgedals Athletic association at its 60th Jubilee banquet at Hvitsky, during the National Ski tournament Sunday, March 25, this year.

The medal and diploma are enclosed. We also enclose a copy of the speech delivered for the occasion by our president, Mr. Owale.

Respectfully,
H. Bloch Clausen,
Secretary.
Skisport Furtherance society.

Major Owale's Speech

The following speech was given at the Brekke banquet, March 25, 1928:

"As we at the present time of well developed ski sport, when the same has been extended almost to all parts of the world where there is snowfall, go back in history to seek the origin, then all paths, though in places somewhat intricate and irregular, finally assembled and lead towards this little mountain garden of Telemark, where the skisport as now pursued, came into being and was promoted.

"After the dissolution of our local ski clubs we experienced a sad decline of our old national sport, and many years following 1860 when the central organization sought to revive interest in skiing by conducting ski tournaments at Oslo. Thus the modern world's ski sport is not very old and it is not many years since skiing was entirely unknown outside of the north European countries.

Skiing Only 60 Years Old

"Even in our own city, Oslo, where today tens of thousands are devoted to skiing, the development had been brought about within the last half century. In 1870 the 'Aftenbladet' has this to say regarding one of the Oslo (formerly Christiania) tourneys. 'They seemed to coincide that Christiania is not the proper place for a central ski-festival and neither have the Christiania populace any particular opportunity to train themselves in this comely and fine sport.'

"The meritorious activity of the Central association for ski-running got underway first when skiers from Telemark, where proficiency was preserved, appeared for the first time and astonished us with their skill. First of all it was the Telemarking Sondre Nordheim, and later with him Olav Reinhall and Aslak Boneliai, who during the years of about 1870 attracted attention in Oslo and made their home community and the Telemarkings known. Later, in 1879, an organization group of nine men entered the Husaby Tourney, having traveled by skin the 110 miles, (about 76 American miles) mostly over wild mountain trails and ½ days, and brought home with them all the first premiums. This expedition in 1879 of these sixth Telemark farmers became the primary reason of victory for the ski sport in the mountain district of Telemark and at the same time it has also marked the history of skiing. The brothers Torjus and Mikkel Hemmestveit were this in Oslo for the first time and their annual appearance from then on was a powerful factor for the furtherance of the Skisport.

Hemmestveit Brothers Ski Leaders

"They were the silent skiers of their time and as they also conducted their ski-instruction which he gave at Oslo nearly 50 years ago. Most likely were thanks to my former teacher, Torjus Hemmestveit, who is at present, the society will forward the medal.

"After 1886 the Telemarkings were absent from the society's tourneys until 1897 when Sonju Sollid won the King's premium in the first Holmenkol tourney and again received the glory of his parish.

"I regret on this occasion will also remember its host for his accomplishment and on behalf of the society I have the pleasure to present him with this cup as a souvenir.

Thanks for Knowledge Gained

"In closing permit me, as principal of the Sentry academy's winter course, where we seek to make use of the knowledge we have gained during our hearty thanks to the Telemark parish for what we have learned and adopted from them.

"This year our school had to seek help in a field that was new to us, that of sleighing with dog teams, fortunately this help was not difficult to find. The expert skier, Mr. Olav Bjaland who reached the South Pole with the help of his 4 dogs, is also a professional in this vocation. He repeated willingly and came at once to Oslo for a conference and later to Hvalsmoen for practice, was clothed in his regiment uniform and in his old age revivified both his youthful experiences as soldier and memories from his South Pole expedition. I have pleasure to him from this institution this souvenir in gratitude for the knowledge he has imparted to us.

"And now I move that we have a drink in honor of Telemark and its gallant ski-sportsmen."

"The veteran, our friend Mikkel Hemmestveit, who honors us with his presence today, and his fellow participators have every reason now in their declining years to feel proud that by his sport he has made a valuable contribution to his country and also to the world at large. The happy consequences that he has brought his followers an immeasurable gain in form of health and energy—the most essential factors for a happy life should be sufficient to outweigh every bitter feeling. All the participants of the ski sport throughout the world owe gratitude to these country people from Morke, Telemark and particularly the Hemmestveits for what they have taught us."

Hemmestveit Brothers Rewarded

"The Riisport Furtherance society, the organization of which was due to the influence of the Telemarkings, has not and never will forget its indebtedness to its founders and as a modest token of this recognition I now have the pleasure on behalf of the society to present Mikkel and Torjus Hemmestveit its highest distinction, the Holmenkol medal. Permit me personally to ask that it affords a special joy to present this medal to Mikkel Hemmestveit as it was one of his first pupils at a course of ski-instruction which he gave at Oslo nearly 50 years ago. Most sincere thanks to my former teacher. To you Mr. Torjus Hemmestveit, who is not present, the society will forward the medal.

"After 1886 the Telemarkings were absent from the society's tourneys until 1897 when Sonju Sollid won the King's premium in the first Holmenkol tourney and again received the glory of his parish.

"I regret on this occasion will also remember its host for his accomplishment and on behalf of the society I have the pleasure to present him with this cup as a souvenir.

Thanks for Knowledge Gained

"In closing permit me, as principal of the Sentry academy's winter course, where we seek to make use of the knowledge we have gained during our hearty thanks to the Telemark parish for what we have learned and adopted from them.

"This year our school had to seek help in a field that was new to us, that of sleighing with dog teams, fortunately this help was not difficult to find. The expert skier, Mr. Olav Bjaland who reached the South Pole with the help of his 4 dogs, is also a professional in this vocation. He repeated willingly and came at once to Oslo for a conference and later to Hvalsmoen for practice, was clothed in his regiment uniform and in his old age revivified both his youthful experiences as soldier and memories from his South Pole expedition. 4-H Club May Be Formed at Hazel by Boys and Girls of That Vicinity

The boys' and girls' club recently formed at Erlec will hold another meeting on Friday afternoon of this week, May 11, in the school house of district No. 50, near Erlec. Miss Hjelle has been secured as teacher for the club' work according to County Agent Robert M. Douglas who will be present at the meeting to organize plans for club work this spring and summer.

At 7:30 the same evening a meeting will be held in the school building at Hazel by the members of the 4-H club work recently joining in that locality, at which time it is expected that an organization will be completed, according to Mr. Douglas. Mrs. Denhart and Miss Hilde Ahlness have been secured as leaders for these meetings.

There are a few other localities where members have been secured for boys' and girls' club work, but no organizations as yet. Mr. Douglas states that he is in Espes that he may be brought about soon. Those desiring to enter club work are required to join before June 1, according to the requirements of the university extension division.

In the evening at Goodridge D. LaVol, livestock instructor at the state school farm, will meet with the boys and girls relative to club work. He will be accompanied by Mr. Douglas who also take part in the program of the evening.

HIGHWAY GUARD RAIL SNOW FENCE HIRS LESS THIS YEAR

Snow fence will be fewer and guard rail are being obtained by the highway engineers department, due to the policy of buying the material in large quantities. Bids on a half million feet of snow fence were let last winter and on more than fifty miles of guard rail, to be erected during the summer, were opened May 1 by the highway department.

The F. W. Kibley Engineering Co., Minneapolis, had the low bid on snow fence, quoting on 254,000 feet. This price includes furnishing the wooden posts and wire and also putting it up. The guard rail will be erected on recently completed highways in various parts of the state.

"In snow fence the department got prices about a cent a foot lower than last year. The Wm.-H. Ziegler Co., of Minneapolis had the low bid on $35,976 on 330,000 feet of wire bound, wooden picket fence. Manufacture and delivery of the fence will commence this month. The American Steel and Wire Co. of Chicago had the low bid on 54,650 steel posts, their figure being $16,205.

The past year 1,490,000 tourists visited our state and spent approximately $80,000,000.

Local Young Men Crawl Thru Windows of Auto in Water-Filled Ditch

Lawrence Langevin, an employee at Jigre bakery, and Stanley Bryant, assisting E. M. Aslin in his painting work, narrowly escaped being drowned Sunday while driving near Mentor. Their auto suddenly left the road, landing in a deep ditch filled with water.

Fortunately the car windows were open on the side that was uppermost when the auto settled to the bottom of the ditch, permitting the occupants to make their escape.

It became necessary to abandon the car temporarily, but yesterday a wrecker was sent to the scene and the auto pulled from the ditch and taken to a garage for repairs.

CARNIVALS SIGN MEN MUST HAVE MINNESOTA LICENSES

People who drive trucks into Minnesota from adjoining states and operate carnivals in this state will have to get Minnesota motor vehicle license, according to an opinion by J. E. Markhardt, deputy attorney general. They cannot avail themselves of the reciprocity act passed by the last legislature.

The law "permits owners of cars in adjoining states to come into Minnesota as often as they please if they get a non-resident license which costs $1.00. This law does not apply to trucks and trailers in connection transportation over regular routes," Markhardt writes, "all the same to Minnesota for the purpose of doing later state hauling.

Anybody coming here to do sign painting and trucks carrying carnival amusement exhibits, both licensed in adjoining states but not carrying Minnesota licenses, were questioned the State Highway department. Commissioner Babcock put the case up to the attorney general, and it was ruled that in neither case were they exempt, unless sufficient, but the trucks must carry Minnesota licenses.

Thunderstorms throughout the world last year averaged 44,000 a day.

"We Can Now Get The Things We Want and Have Money Left."

We were planning to open one of our stores in a far Western town, and the usual announcement had been made in the newspapers of the city. Shortly after that one of our good customers in an adjoining state received the following letter from her niece:

"We are so glad that we are to have a Penney Store here. We can now get the things we want and have money left."

Well expressed, isn't it! We couldn't have done better if we had written the letter to order. For after all that is exactly the aim of every Penney Store—to give you the things you want and then let you depart with some money left over.

Of course we try to serve you courteously and efficiently. A Penney Store is a "homey" place, too, but the solid rock on which we founded our business is giving the people what they want at a price they can afford. You can't beat it.

ADVANTAGES IN MEMBERSHIP IN 3 AUTO BODIES

Field Representative of State Association Gives Interesting Talk at Club

SERVICE GARAGE ONE OF MANY ADVANTAGES

Road Signs, School Patrols, Lowering Headlight Dangers, Are Others

The advantages of belonging to the Pennington County Automobile association which carries the provisions of the state and national automobile associations, was pointed out to Commercial club members at their weekly meeting last Thursday noon by Lee Lattie, field representative of the Minnesota State Automobile association, with headquarters in Minneapolis.

A particularly striking advantage of such membership is that in case of tire trouble, car trouble, or even running out of gas while on a trip and is separated from his car, the member may cancel remedy the trouble, or may by using the phone call the nearest A. A. A. service station. That station will bring out the proper parts or necessary repairs, or even tow the car to that garage or any other garage desired, and such service is being practically nominal.

Service Garage Feature

The charge for towing for five miles from the service station will be only one dollar, and this service is given day or night, plus a small charge for parts and labor furnished. Such service station will be announced for Thief River Falls in the near future, Mr. Lattie stated. He also stated how the Sunday before he had found himself in a predicament between Warroad and Baudette, a telephone call bringing one of the service garage's cars to his aid, and to his assistance in just a few minutes. These stations are being rapidly established in all parts of this and adjoining states.

Road Signs

Another feature of the work being carried on by the local and state association is the marking of cross roads and right angle turns through the state, informing tourists especially as well as motorists of the direction to take and the distance to various towns in the vicinity.

Boy patrols are being established in the cities and towns where high-ways pass schools, the authorities exerting power in one or more boys in the school to act as traffic cops at such time as scholars are going to or coming from the school, while at the same time the danger to pupils is greatly lessened, Mr. Lattie declared.

Fight Glaring Headlights

Still another feature is the assistance being given the authorities in the enforcement of the provisions regarding glaring headlights. The state association is seeking to have lighting stations established in every town or city of any size; then the co-operation of the authorities is forthcoming to have all cars light tested.

In this connection it was stated in The Times last month that Erick Erickson at the Nelson-Yngve Motor Sales garage had been licensed by the state highway department. He has just received and installed the special curtain to be used in making the tests, and Thief River motorists are licensed, according to Mr. Lattie, there for no charge. Any autos for owners of autos not being able to comply with the state regulations, however, will be charged for testing autolit. Frequently make complaint to the effect that in some cities that local car owners do not live up to the regulations, tell the tests are penalized for in the states from which they come.

Favorable Report on Auto

The national association is backing proposed legislation which will result in a saving to car owners which amounts to over $50,000,000 annually, it was stated, as well as many other benefits. The claim of the national organization is that today 90 per cent of the cars in the United States are used for pleasure purposes, whereas when the war was declared only 10 per cent were used.

During the past year ten more clubs were added to the roster of the state association, making the present time, with a total membership of nearly 16,000. Larger clubs have been organized a year ago by Mr. Lattie in Warroad and Baudette, which are reported as satisfied with his trip into this section.

There were 2,254 deaths from accidents at all road mines in the United States in 1927, according to figures compiled by the United States Bureau of Mines, Department of Commerce.

EXPERIMENTS IN FEEDING GROUND BARLEY TOLD OF

Cattle Feeders at University Farm Learn Results of Tests Recently Held

Barley may never take the place of corn in the fattening ration for steers, but that it has a place in the Minnesota cattle feeding program was shown when feeding experiments recently conducted here at the farm for farmers attending the annual Cattle Feeders' day at University Farm, were H. Ivtars, chief of the animal husbandry division, presented the conclusions drawn from a series of experiments covering 175 days, and which was given in talks before the Commercial club and at two meetings in the county by W. E. Morris.

Grinding is Necessary

Full feed of ground barley to one lot of 10 steers proved very satisfactory, Mr. Ivtars stated, although the grain did not quite equal the gains made by another lot of 10 which was given a full feed of shelled corn. While barley, on the other hand, fed alone is found very unsatisfactory, demonstrating that it must be ground to be fed profitably. Each lot received in addition to the feeds a basic ration of alfalfa hay and corn silage, and a daily and full feeds of alfalfa hay and corn silage.

The trials were important, the University man said, as many cash crops are being raised in sections of Minnesota where corn is not regularly grown, and where barley could well be used in these localities for fattening steers for market, as well as more materially to their incomes. Professor Ivtars pointed out that there are advantages in growing barley for cattle even where corn is a successful crop, however, as barley can be used more economically, he said, these advantages were likely to be more appreciated and more appreciated.

Another experiment showed that there was no appreciable advantage in grinding and mixing shelled corn and dry roughage for fattening yearling steers. Steers fed the whole feeds for comparison were more profitable than those fed the ground mixed feeds by $4.48 per head.

Local Wool Growers May Get Cash Advance After May 21 by Pooling Crop

Arrangements have been completed whereby wool growers of Pennington county and adjacent territory belonging to the Pennington County Sheep Breeders' association may bring in their wool clip to the Don Mercantile warehouse on Atlantic avenue, near Fourth street, receive a warehouse receipt, and get a cash advance at the First National bank of 25 cents per pound.

According to County Agent Robert M. Douglas this pooling arrangement will start a week from next Monday, May 21. Or the wool may be shipped to Minneapolis, where the Minneapolis Wool Growers association has its headquarters, and a 40 cent advance will be forwarded the shipper. Twine and sacks will be furnished and may be procured at the Don warehouse in this city.

Not much wool has been clipped up to this time, but it is expected that with continued warm weather that the sheep-men will get busy and that there will be a large amount shipped out of this city from the community this spring.

IMPROVEMENTS ARE PLANNED BY NELSON YNGVE COMPANY

The Nelson-Yngve Motor Sales have let the contract for the remodeling of their garage on Main avenue south, the work to start about May 20, according to Anton Yngve. A concrete floor will be put into the building, replacing the wood floor installed by Mr. Zeh when the building was used as a dance hall and skating rink. The new floor will be on the level of the side-walk in front of the structure, permitting easier access thereto. A concrete foundation will also be placed under the walls of the building.

Affairs at Washington by Congressman Selvig

Washington, May 7.—Pierville H. LaGuardia, the brilliant little Italian who represents a New York congressional district, is a people-ish lungry have wheat bread, but say being fed pneumatic bread in which the flour content has no cost about the same as the paper wrapper. To illustrate this he brought out a couple of loaves, bought in the local markets, compressed them with his hands to a length of a couple inches, and when he let go they snapped back into full size. He then began to expound the Hamgen bill as to compel an honest loaf, such as mother makes.

386 loaves of honest bread—not pneumatic—can be made from a barrel of flour, he said. It takes four bushels and ten pounds of wheat to produce a barrel of flour. At present prices the bread loaves that sell for nine cents contain wheat to the value of 1.15 cents each—a little over one-eighth. The Hamgen bill would hardly be affected by a variation of forty or fifty cents a bushel in the price of wheat.

(Department of Agriculture says that 4 to 5 bushels of wheat makes a barrel of flour—196 pounds of flour—depending on quality of wheat)

Agriculture Resisting Power

Violent denunciation of the Farm Bureau lobby in Congress has been heard during the debate on the McNary-Haugen bill. With the hundreds of lobbyists, on every subject, that have been here, not a single thing out of the farmers' lobby as being particularly pernicious taken as a rather humorous hue, coming from the representatives of industries the farmers ask to have enacted.

It also means that the lobby is effective. Agriculture previously has been very powerful in Congress for many years, with Lasher as its chief contender. Right now it is up with the center of many farm organizations of the country can be found. Whether the time will come far in the future when agriculture will again be so powerful is the conclusion of our nation as it was during the early years of our history.

Cost of Raising Wheat

Mr. Swank, of Oklahoma, speaking for the Hamgen bill, gave some statistics on the production cost of wheat they interest our farmers. For the U. S. as a whole it was $1.22 per bushel to raise wheat in 1924; $1.32 in 1925 and $1.18 in 1926. In the northwest section, the cost was $7 and $1.08 in 1926; $1.23 in 1925 and $1.16 in 1926.

The variation is, of course, due to the yield per acre in the different years. The statistical studies in northern Minnesota have indicated a cost of around $14 per acre for small grain crops, allowing $4 per acre for ground rent. So you can figure these things out to suit yourself, but these figures are believed to be worthy of consideration.

How Wheat Tariff Varies

The tariff on wheat has been effective, to some extent, on the spring wheat crop of the north-west, whenever the production of spring wheat has been below domestic consumption, the inefficiency of this is found in the statistics submitted by Mr. Hamgen in his opening speech for his simple new bill. His comparison between Minneapolis and Winnipeg gives the following yearly average prices:

	Minneapolis	Winnipeg
1925 crop	$ 1.26	$ 1.06
1924 crop	1.38	1.53
1923 crop	1.25	1.51
1922 crop	1.31	1.46

The Winnipeg market is based on delivery at Port Arthur, and the freight to Liverpool is the same as from Duluth. Therefore when based on the world market the price should be the same. When the Minneapolis market is higher it is due to operations in the tariff. On the bumper crop of 1924, when we produced an oversupply of spring wheat, the tariff became ineffective and the price dropped to the Canadian level, and a little below probably due to our producers glutting the market and depressing the price during the fall months.

Farmers' Income Small

The National Industrial Conference Report, quoted by Rep. Swank in his speech on the Hamgen bill, gives an interesting comparison on the yearly earnings in several occupations. Here are the figures:

Factory workers	$ 1,418.00
Railroad workers	2,141.00
Miners	1,678.00
Farmers	736.00
Ministers	1,228.00
Teachers	1,650.00

This was in 1924, and there has probably been some improvement in the earnings of the farmers since then, which may possibly be represented by an additional $100. It is believed there has been a slight reduction in the average for lawyers and clerks. Otherwise the figures are about the same now as in 1924. Farmers are credited, in the report, with an average of $430 per year for food, fuel and housing supplied on the farm, so these items are included in the $736.

House Vote on Farm Relief

The McNary-Haugen bill passed the House by a vote of 214 to 181. Owing to a large number absent, there is fifty more than the one against) making the strength for the bill 264, out of 435. Several of those absent and paired would have voted for the bill, so the total for will was more than two-thirds and 295, which is 23 short of a two-thirds vote.

The partnership of Wheat, Corn and Cotton is making a new political alignment in politics, which is a process of the cotton states and the Republican states of the Wheat states are finding themselves in much closer accord than are the Republicans of the east and those of the west. The growing friendship of the mid-west and the south, while based on agricultural problems, is a necessity to extend into all lines of legislation.

C. G. Selvig.

ORAL EXAMINATION FOR PROHIBITION DEPARTMENT

An oral examination for positions in the prohibition department in this district will be held here May 17, according to Mrs. Barbara Bell, the local post office writes this week. The examination will be under the supervision of J. C. Hawkins, district director of civil service, with headquarters in St. Paul.

H. Ray Pope, assistant post master, has stated that anyone over 21 years of age may become a candidate who took the written test for the position on June 4 last year, also reconsiderable by Mr. Lackey.

Of this number only six were successful out of the ten who wrote the examination at that time, advices indicated.

Now the Instantaneous Potato Dip
Disinfect your seed this new way

Treat your seed potatoes as fast as you can scoop them up. Just dip them in DIPDUST solution and out again—all ready to plant.

This new seed potato disinfectant is much more effective than the old-fashioned "two-hour soak" treatment—besides there is not the slightest danger of injuring the sprouts or even cut seed. This season late blight attack in many seed producing areas makes treatment with DIPDUST necessary to prevent seed decay.

After one trial of DIPDUST, you will never again waste two hours treating seed potatoes or spend two weeks worrying about your stand. DIPDUST PROTECTS THE SEED AND INSURES STURDY, PROFITABLE PLANTS.

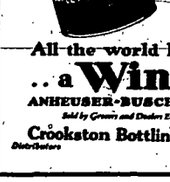
Compare this New Treatment point by point with the older ones:

THE NEW WAY (Dipdust Organic Mercury Disinfectant)	THE OLD WAY (Formaldehyde or Corrosive Sublimate)
1. Requires less than 1 minute. One man can easily treat from 200 to 400 bushels of potatoes per day.	1. Require from 1½ to 2 hours. One man can treat only from 50 to 75 bushels per day.
2. Can be used on cut or sprouted seed without the slightest injury.	2. Can not be used on cut or sprouted seed without injury.
3. After cutting, protects the cut surfaces from seed-rotting organisms in the soil. This insures a better stand of stronger plants.	3. Before cutting, give no protection to the cut surfaces. The seed frequently decays in the ground before the young plants get started.
4. Controls surface-borne diseases, such as Rhizoctonia, scab and black-leg.	4. Although effective against Rhizoctonia, and scab, do not control black-leg.
5. Improves the stand and growth of the plants, and thus increases the yield 10 to 20%.	5. Frequently decrease the stand, and therefore the yield, to a serious extent.

GUARANTEE: Dipdust is a dust powder of mercury-bearing coated seed to attain germination-power with untreated seed. It, or any other dust, does not control seed-piece decay. DIPDUST is guaranteed to control 20 to 30% more stand than untreated seed.

One pound treats 15 to 20 bushels of seed potatoes.

Treat your Corn and Vegetable Seeds too



You can now also disinfect your seed corn and vegetable seeds with DIPDUST and increase your yield by preventing many of the diseases which cause poor germination, weak, spindly plants, and poor quality crops. Simply use as a dust treatment. It is easily and quickly applied and costs but a few cents per acre. One pound of DIPDUST will treat six bushels of seed corn, or from six to eight bushels of vegetable seed.

SECOND SOPHOMORE ISSUE

The last issue of the Progress was the work of the Sophomore class although our names were omitted. On these hot days it is more of the work ing side than the joy of seeing one's material in print that is uppermost, but the opportunity presented itself for a second literary venture, it has been done as effectively as our limited experience could make it.

HEADSTRONG YOUTH

Youth will not take advice. This fact is bemoaned time and again by our more learned elders when they realize that we will not be guided through our first steps in life by their cold facts and sane reasoning. What a dull old world this would be if we should adhere absolutely to the promptings of those who are most likely as free from advice during their youth as we are now.

Think of the wise old fogeys who predicted that Lindbergh would never reach the coast of England in his famous flight across the Atlantic. What if Lindy had listened to their advice? And when he did accomplish his daring journey they insisted stely attempted to spoil and change this young man because they couldn't understand how youth could have such high ideals and steadfast character.

Before the automobile was invented and proved its electric light practical a group of eminent scientists in Europe stated publicly that little could never be developed in this line. A young man had heeded the words of his elders?

Spring, the beginning of new life, does not heed the fact that a shirt waists before all was dead and dormant. Neither does youth, which is the spring of life, heed the facts of middle and old age.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB OF LINCOLN HIGH DECLARED WINNER

Other Contestants Win Honors at District Music Contest Last Saturday

Through hard practice and the good instruction of Miss Maude C. Johnson, our Boys' Glee club won first place in the district music contest held here Saturday, May 5. They sang "Dunn" by McGill, handling the piece splendidly throughout. Their competitors were Crookston and Baudette, Crookston winning second place and Baudette third. Because our Boys' Glee club received first place, they are now entitled to compete in the state contest which is to be held in Minneapolis on May 17 and 18.

Mr. Holland, music director, who came to us from the University of North Dakota, acted as judge of the contest. Being very capable in judging music contests—since he has judged many similar contests before coming to Minnesota—he has satisfactorily received by everyone.

Thief River Falls won second in the Girls' Glee club, with Crookston first, and Warren third, singing "A Happy Song" by H. H. Pike.

Among the soprano soloists, Katherine Bakke, pianist for Thief River Falls, won third place. Her solo was very well rendered. Enid Hetland received first place in this group and Warren second.

Gordon Overland, our violin soloist, won first place. He certainly represented our school very well in tone and rhythm in his playing. Robert Biederman's solo also helped to rate the saxophone soloists also quite highly.

Of the six piano soloists, Leonore Lafayette received second honors for Thief River Falls, with Warren first and Melvindale third.

The Girls' Glee club of the Junior high school sang in the afternoon session. Their song was sung very lightly and airy, with good tact and expression.

Mr. Holland declared the mixed chorus number to be almost equally well sung by both glee clubs. Thief River Falls, however, was second in this. Warren being first, since their glee club showed a better quality of voice.

Although Agnes Angell, our alto soloist, did not receive honorable mention, her solo being not rendered, was enjoyed by all.

The evening session ended with two ensemble numbers by the mixed chorus, followed by "America" by all.

ENTRANCE EXAMS TO UNIVERSITIES GIVEN SATURDAY

Ten Lincoln Students Took Tests At Crookston On Last Wednesday

Prospective freshmen of the University of Minnesota and other colleges from Thief River Falls, Crookston, Fertile, Erskine, and other towns in this district took the regular college entrance at Crookston last Wednesday. Practically all were seniors from the towns named.

The first of the examinations was held at 10 o'clock, with adjournment at noon for lunch. The tests were continued at 2 p. m. until 4. Dean Johnson of the university being in charge and assisted by one of the instructors sent out by the state.

Ten Took Tests

The tests were conducted under the university's new plan of "carrying the examination to the student." Five rooms, two instructors each, left Minneapolis for a week's work during which special examinations were given to prospective freshmen in fifteen Minnesota communities. Advanced notices to all Minnesota high schools urged that every senior who planned to enter the universities in the fall should go to one of the designated centers to take the examination. The tests were the same for those planning to enter and for those competing for one of the fifty freshmen scholarships. But to be eligible for a scholarship a student must have been recommended by his high school principal and have registered his name in advance. Those who registered from Thief River Falls for the test were: Chester Dahlen, Fred Fredrickson, Alfred Gravdal, Harold Will, Chester Hyrom, Manville Gunderson, Gladys Jacobsen, Esther Johnson, Edwin Lofteman, and Harriette Fuller.

Students who achieved a rating that entitles them to a scholarship may designate any one of the colleges belonging to the Association of Minnesota Colleges, which includes the following: Augsburg, Carleton, St. Thomas, St. Catherine, St. Theresa, Concordia, Gustavus Adolphus, Hamline, Macalester, St. Benedict, St. John's, St. Olaf, and the University of Minnesota. This scholarship grants free tuition during the freshmen year.

The examinations given were in English, reading ability, and the regular psychological test. The scholarships will be based on these, together with the student's high school record and the principal's estimate of his abilities.

Letters for All Activities Establishes Convenient Plan

To make a simpler, more convenient and more attractive school letter is the plan being carried out as the reward for improvement, scholastically. The letter used during the previous years has been of blue and gold, but of an intricate design. Furthermore, this has served only for athletics, while non-athletic sports have been compensated with medals and pins.

The new scheme will band all talents and recognitions in the form of a letter. Thus "T" as a symbol of Thief Rivers, upon a background of blue chenille, to be given at the close of the year. Debate, Oratory and Declamation, and other achievements in which are differentiated from the outdoor sports by a smaller form of the letter. In this way, the uniformity of the emblem will go for convenience and cure confusion to students.

Mr. Dye, Mr. Hurd, Mr. Bue and Mr. Olson, Miss Steffee and Miss Stenseng met Monday evening for a short meeting concerning high school awards in both athletics and non-sport activities. Final announcements will be given next week, as a further measure of the plan, that of making gold and gold standard colors for all classes, will have been voted upon.

WINNERS OF CERTIFICATES IN TYPEWRITING CLASSES

The certificate winners for April in Miss Iverson's typewriting classes are as follows: Merreta Dudley, Wilma Olen, Bernice Swenson, Lillian Hickock, Viola Johnson, Evangeline Jacobson, Marguerite Barnes, Viola Henderson, Carlee Dunn, Clara Grande, Inga Hjelle, Glenn Hoppa, Emily Jacobson, Barbara Johnson, Edwin Soderberg.

Those winning bronze pins as a reward for attaining a 40-50 word speed were Elaine Evenson, Thrina Dahl, winning one, and the following two: Ellen Gerude, Florence Ostrem, and Lillette Quist.

Margaret Barnes won a silver pin, and Alvina Anglin with a net rate of 61 words made the gold pin award.

During the past 25 years forest fires in Minnesota have taken 862 human lives and caused approximately $100,000,000 in damage.

Dentistry Defined by Dr. Jacobson in Business Talk

The first of a series of vocational talks was given at a high school assembly last week by Dr. A. E. Jacobson, who spoke on dentistry as a profession. He gave its general principle of dentistry, its history, cost of and dental education. He also mentioned the fact that the field of dentistry is over-crowded, but that really good dentists are always in demand.

Dr. Jacobson defined dentistry as a medical science rather than an art as it seems in this district. Many days when it required several men to extract a tooth which was then replaced by a carved, wooden tooth or, perhaps, a tooth extracted from some other mouth.

A prediction has been made that eventually men will be a toothless people. "It is an important," said Dr. Jacobson, "to take care of the mouth as any other part of the body."

A very instructive account of the time and money required for a course in dentistry was given. Since the dental and medical field are identical, both have science as a foundation; therefore science subjects taken in high school are helpful. The course covering the D. D. S. degree requires four years of college and one of dentistry. If the education is to be enlarged upon, a seven-year course, securing the D. M. degree, is taken. Three years of special work in dentistry at a university merits the Bachelor of Arts Degree.

Dr. Jacobson closed his talk with an impressive statement of the present day profession just what it is to put into it. Delve into its depths, see what it holds, and you too will receive."

Mothers Welcomed in Home Economics Demonstration

Last Friday the Home Economics classes gave an interesting entertainment for mothers and friends. Miss Iverson and Miss Ferber, instructors, were pleased to show what their girls had accomplished after completing a year's course in cooking and sewing. Sheets were pinned up on the walls of the sewing room, upon which were hung the dresses and different articles made by the sewing classes. At this entertainment the following program was submitted, after which a delicious luncheon, prepared by the Sophomore cooking classes, was served by the Freshmen.

Welcome talk, Gladys Weeks.
Violin solo, Shirla Ingelli.
Saxophone solo, Robert Biederman.
Style revue, girls from Freshman sewing classes.
Piano duet, Lois Oden and Virginia Quale.

PHYSICAL TRAINING CLASSES ENJOY OUTDOOR EXERCISES

The girls' physical training classes are now spending almost all their class periods out-of-doors, playing track and tennis baseball. Each week they have one track practice and one tennis baseball practice during class hours. Each class is exciting a keen rain for each sport. The classes will be entered in competition in all the sports, including track, tennis baseball, tennis, and tennis.

PLEASE NOTE

We'll begin with boys; the plural is boys.

But the plural of ox should be oxen, not oxes.

One foot is a goose, but two are called geese.

The plural of mouse should never be mice.

You may find a lone mouse, or a whole nest of mice.

But the plural of house is houses, not hice.

If the plural of man is always called men, why isn't the plural of pan be called pen?

The rose is the plural may be called roses, or kine.

But a hen, if repeated, is never called hens.

If the plural of cow is cows, never cow.

If I speak of a foot and you show me two feet

And I give you a boot, would a pair be called beet?

If one is a tooth and a whole set are teeth,

Why shouldn't the plural of booth be called beeth?

If the singular's this, and the plural is these,

Should the plural of kiss be written keese?

You may be that, and the two would be those.

Yet hat in the plural would never be hose.

And the plural of cat is cats, and not cose.

We speak of a brother, and also of brethren, though

But though we say mother, we never say methren.

Then the masculine pronouns are he, his and him.

But imagine the feminine, she, shis and shim!

So the English, I think you all will agree,

Is the funniest language you ever did see.

McCullough Uses Vacation of Banking for an Address

Coming to the faculty and students of Lincoln High under the auspices of the Rotary club, E. F. McCullough of the First National Bank of this city gave some first class information on the occupation of banking.

In accordance with Mr. Arnold talk on this subject he stated that banking is a very embarrassing profession. The closing of banks does not always mean as a result of dishonest bankers but usually as a result of lack of knowledge of the proper position. He said that the great World War, as well as many other wars, was the primary cause for the closing of the banks in the past few years.

He also stated that as "banks are the specialists of finance in any community" banking will always be of great necessity to our nation.

In reply to Mr. Hand's question as to his opinion of banking he said that it was an honorable occupation and that it was not literally a white-collared job as often considered. The four qualifications which he thought necessary in entering the banking business were: honesty in handling money, personality in receiving your depositors and borrowers, accuracy in handling money, and good judgment in loaning money to dependable people.

BIOLOGY STUDENTS NOW DELVING INTO SECRETS

Teacher: Will you please put that apple away and grow up?

Student: Yes, ma'am, but we have to have them in Biology.

Dissection of apples and oranges was the main part of laboratory last week. After delving into the hidden mysteries of these fruits, the students found out that oranges are bothered with leathy fares also caused by tiny, oil glands found just under the surface. Both are always in demand.

Few other things happened during the week, although butterflies, bees and the like are beginning to arrive. The gold fish are steaming their home in preparation of a visit of their cousins, the pike and pickerel.

PRAIRIE FIRES IN THREE NEIGHBORING COUNTIES REPORTED

Warren Fire Department Was Summoned to Farm South of Town; Losses Large

Over 3,000 acres of farm land comprising more than ten farms in Clearwater county near Gonvick were swept by fire, last Friday and Saturday of last week. A large number of stacks of hay were burned, together with a granary and chicken house on one of the farms. Much of the hay was timothy and the loss there is considerable.

When the fire was seen to be gaining headway, a call for help was issued and nearly 100 men from the surrounding farms responded and assisted in checking the spread of the flames.

Marshall County Fires

In Marshall county several other fires were reported as doing considerable damage. A granary and machine shed on the T. M. Butler farm south of Warren was burned to the ground, a million-dollar fire fighting fund the control of the neighbors for a while. The Warren fire department responded to a call for help, but expressed little assisting in saving the other buildings.

Other fires in Marshall county near the Thief River Falls area are reported as having burned numerous hay and straw stacks, as well as fences and telephone poles. West of Thief River Falls the Pembina trail in Polk county several miles was burned over, and old sheds destroyed with several stacks of hay that had not been protected by fire breaks.

The losses sustained by the various owners is hard to estimate but it is believed will run into several thousand dollars.

Committee of 100 to Consider Revision of Lutheran Pension Plan

One hundred business and professional men of the northwest, constituting the committee of laymen on retirement annuities for ministers, teachers and other servants of the Norwegian Lutheran church of America, will meet in Minneapolis May 21 to consider re-organization of the pension fund of the church

On this committee from this immediate section of the state are the following: C. M. Berg, Melrose; Rev. Ole Juve, Crookston; J. L. Kneller, Oklee; also Henrick Shipstead, Washington, D. C., and J. A. J. Preus, Chicago.

The general convention of the church in 1926 instructed the board of pensions to draw up a reserve pension plan to be presented to the general biennial assembly of the church which convenes in Minneapolis May 31 to June 7. The convention will take action on the pension plan.

The new plan proposes to revise the present pension system or the church as follows:

To make certain that present and future pensioners shall receive not less than the $720 a year now being paid.

To provide for a certain pension on total permanent disability.

To provide an immediate payment to the widow or the death of her husband if in active service.

To provide that payments in the future will be made to widows.

To make certain that payments in the future will be made to children under 16 years old.

To make certain that payments will be made during old age to those in service.

To permit those who retire wholly from active service in the church to keep up their own payments and interest in cash on giving up all rights to future payments.

It proposes to accomplish this:

By regular payments by the minister, teacher or other member.

By regular payments by the church body or by congregations as may be decided on.

By crediting all payments by the minister to his individual account with interest.

By crediting the remainder of the church or congregation contributions, after providing for other benefits, to the individual account of the minister with interest.

By crediting individual ministers with as much additional as they choose to pay including any part of the $300 which they already have paid in.

By raising through a campaign among the laymen, as has been done by other denominations, to put the whole plan on a permanently sound and adequate basis.

Ice in Red Lakes Gone; Water Still High; New Road Being Constructed

Secretary George Wilson of the Lake Sumner Resort association is in the fore part of the week at Warroad, finding the road in good condition at that time. He took with him a portion of the staple supplies for the store that is maintained by the association, the latter to be shipped in another truck load, especially for the week end trade warm.

He found it going in good condition following the winter abandonment, stating that the ice was practically all gone from the Red Lakes at that time. The water, if anything, may be a little higher than it was a year ago, which was about three feet higher than at present.

Construction of the new road across the reservation from the eastern extremity of the Elwell road is progressing satisfactorily, according to an interview with Hy Nelson, of the firm of Potter and Nelson. They now have two full crews of men at work, working from each end of the eleven mile stretch being constructed by Beltrami county. The contractors expect to have the road completed this fall, which will then leave only the Elwell road unimproved of the entire road from Thief River Falls to Warroad, practically all of which is high ground and easily graded.

WOOL GROWERS MAY GET CASH ADVANCE NOW; MARKET FIRM

Pennington County Sheep Breeders' Committee Issues Statement to Wool Men

The wool pooling committee of the Pennington County Sheep Breeders' association this week issued a letter to every known sheep raiser in Pennington county, and in adjacent territory in Marshall and Red Lake counties, which is within the Red River valley trading center, advised them of the fact that the pooling of wool will be at Thief River Falls.

The committee has made final arrangements with Rasmus Oen to receive the wool at his warehouse. This is for use by those who wish to get their wool pooled at the same time as the Minnesota Wool Pool at Wahpeton.

For those who wish to ship to Wahpeton the wool will be weighed at the warehouse, then tagged and a receipt issued on which the grower can draw up to 40 cents per pound at the present time. No further cash will be paid until the wool is sold. When all the wool is in the committee will get bidder on on this wool and it will be sold here, and the balance paid to the producer.

One half cent per pound will be charged for handling the wool in either case. Twine and sacks may be purchased at the Oen warehouse.

Best Price is Sought

The committee with it plainly understood that they are not favoring the Wahpeton pool, but merely are desiring to secure the best price obtainable in order to assist the new industry in the Red River valley.

The letter to growers states that it is expected that the wool will be in at a fair price this spring as buyers are already offering up to 40 cents per pound.

By joining either the Thief River pool or the Wahpeton pool it is hoped to secure a better price than this.

Members of the local committee handling the wool are Anton Jensen of Thief River Falls, A. A. Nelson and Eber, Andrew Nelson, all of whom may be consulted by the sheep men. Chairman of the committee is Ole Hagen, and all communications may be addressed to him at the office of County Agent Hellquist, Douglas in the city auditorium for further information.

Mighty Church Union Is Indorsed by Methodists

Announcement was made last Sunday by Rev. H. C. Schelberg, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church that the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church last week indorsed organic church union. The vote stood 852 to 5, and authorized a single commission of 27 members to act for the church in all unification discussions. A commission, to be appointed by the board of bishops by May 21, was authorized to initiate overtures and receive overtures from "Methodist churches looking toward closer co-operation and union."

The action was regarded as the most significant in Methodist church history toward union with the Presbyterian, Congregational and Episcopal churches.

The Methodist commission will be composed of seven bishops, fifteen ministers and fifteen laymen.

Preliminary conferences by delegates were that negotiations with the three churches mentioned would affect 20,000 churches in the United States, 35,000 pastors and educators, and the spiritual interests of about 35,000,000 people and property valued at approximately $1,200,000,000.

RED RIVER VALLEY SWEDISH LUTHERAN CONFERENCE HELD

Institutional Reports Given Including North Star College and Warren Hospital

Rev. Aner O. Bloom, pastor of the Augustana Lutheran church of this city, and Miss Thresa Kvlberg, delegate from the Missionary society of the church, returned Sunday from Grand Forks where they attended the annual Red River Valley conference of the Augustana Synod of the Swedish Lutheran church. H. F. Nelson of Aneta, J. C. Nunney of Hatton, were also a delegate from the church but was unable to attend. They state that the conference this year at Grand Forks was possibly one of the best ever held by the organization, the sessions starting the middle of last week and concluding with the afternoon meeting on Sunday.

Rev. Bloom was one of the speakers at the conference, speaking on the Urgency of Home Missions. "We have conditions of heathenism right here in Northern Minnesota," he said, "people who have not been in Sunday School or church for years, and others who have never heard of the Savior." In the course of his remarks he stated that "the church is not gaining nearly enough members for lack of pastoral workers, too many of whom have to divide their time between two charges. Little struggling churches need the whole attention of a capable young experienced pastor. Home mission pastors need the Children's Home at Alexandria, and the Warren hospital at Warren, Minnesota. Reports on two schools, Northwestern college at Fergus Falls, and North Star college at Warren, which are maintained by churches in the conference, but not owned by the conference itself, were also read. The report of Northwestern college was encouraging, but that of North Star was characterized by some discouragement because of lack of funds.

North Star

The report for North Star College of Warren, Minn., read by its President Rev. Alfin Larson, formerly pastor of the Augustana church here, was characterized by sadness and discouragement. The school year has been an exceedingly hard one, being handicapped seriously by the lack of funds as a result of economic conditions in that vicinity. Much unfavorable critism had made the burning banner to bear, so he pleaded for hearty cooperation from the Conference that the work may not fail. By means of sacrifice on the part of teachers and heroic efforts of friends of the school the work is being carried on. Plans are made on continuing this important work of the church. The enrollment this year numbered 50 students.

Warren Hospital at Warren, Minn., has been giving a valuable service to that vicinity, since the conference took it over in 1921. The receipts of this institution for last year were $13,261, and the disbursements were $14,701. The valuation of the hospital property was reported as $101,110, with liabilities of only $4,000. Medical care, estimated as costing $13,000 has been furnished free to patients who were unable to pay.

Election Send A Spokesman

Rev. Oscar Gustafson of Elbow Lake was re-elected president of the Red River Synod conference, which will make seven terms he has held the office. Officers who will serve with Mr. Gustafson are: Rev. Waldrel Erickson of Halma, Minn., vice-president; Rev. J. Elmer Larson of Parkers Prairie, Minn., secretary, and Rev. Theodore Swanstrom of Warren, treasurer. All were re-elected.

Sixty-nine delegates and 20 pastors were registered at the meetings, in addition to more than 100 women delegates to the Missionary conference. Alfred Rosberg of this city was named by the president as an alternate to the annual meeting of the Augustana Synod which meets at Des Moines, Iowa, June 6-13.

AN INTRODUCTION TO AMERICA

Ole Edvart Rolvaag, professor of Norse literature at St. Olaf college, and author of several novels, tells an interesting story of one of his early impressions of America in an interview published in a recent issue of the American Magazine. "I found myself on a street car in Brooklyn," he said, "and the car was being held up by a big van. The horses drawing the mountainous wagon had balked and it seemed nothing could move it. Traffic and the busy people on the car were completely tied up. Finally the motorman, after clanging his bell in vain, turned on his power and the horses had to move. He shoved the van and team for nearly two blocks, after which the horses changed their minds and went ahead of their own accord.

"That served as my inspiration," he continued. "It came over me in a wave that America was like that. Clang, clang, over the top. If you can't do it one way try another. Such a thing could never have happened in Europe. I have seen many wonderful things here since, but that incident was the keyote of all I have found in this country."

Whether or not the incident is typical of a condition that is peculiar to America we do not know, but it certainly is typical of the average American attitude. "Clang, clang, over the top. If you can't do it one way try another." Fall today, succeed tomorrow. Succeed today, fall tomorrow. Hush, hurry, hustle. If those ahead do not clear the track brush them aside or run over them. If those coming in from behind overtake them they will subject us to a similar fate. Born yesterday, died today, and tomorrow forgotten.

He who stands still goes backward. The line moves on. This is America.

WHAT A MESS IT IS

The presidential campaign is barely started but we are already weary of it. What a mess it is developing into. It seems that Al Smith and Herbie Hoover are likely to be chosen by the two leading parties, which means that one of these must be elevated to the highest office in the land. "Is there no balm in Gilead?"

If the coming conventions make it necessary to choose between the Tammany Tiger and Andy Mellon, then bring on Roosevelt's third party. A third party can't win but it might throw the election into Congress. If the worst comes to the worst there is nothing to be lost and something might be gained.

Gunnar Bjornson, in his Minneota Mascot, indicates a lack of confidence in the press account of the election tendencies and expresses his contempt for both the figures and the figurers in the following comment:

> There is so much guessing and shifting of figures and votes as appear in this big business of nominating a president that it is difficult to say which one we are to believe.
> One day the Minneapolis Journal nominates Hoover and quotes figures to show it. The next day the Tribune-Press shows Lowden's growing strength with the same figures.
> What is a voter to believe?
> We would not be surprised to find one of these overzealous political statisticians being able to juggle the number of the 1st of centnumdrums, either up or down to suit his fancy.

THE CENTENARY OF A GREAT EVENT

Many people whom, by present standards, we call educated, resent the idea that they are indebted to society for their education. They consider that their education, acquired by them, is theirs by right of acquisition and is to used by them as they see fit. They acknowledge no obligation to the world for their knowledge.

While it isn't our purpose here to argue this proposition, it is well for all of us to pause occasionally and consider the tremendous amount of work previous generations have contributed toward our civilization and science. This year, for instance, is the centenary of Noah Webster's Dictionary. In commenting on the size and importance of Webster's achievement, a newspaper trade journal states:

> In the first edition, comprising two volumes of more than a thousand pages each, were included twelve thousand words and nearly forty thousand definitions that had never appeared in any dictionary of the English tongue.
> It is through Noah Webster's innovation that we now write "honor" instead of "honour"—headline writers will please uncover here—that we write "traveler" instead of "traveller", and so on, but the international aspects of his work far outweigh the national. His dictionary was almost a cyclopedia. He set the standard for accuracy and completeness of definition governing lexicography today.
> And, if there is a reporter too lazy to take the half dozen steps necessary to reach the dictionary, let him picture the Connecticut scholar spending twenty-five years poring about before his huge semi-circular table laden with dictionaries of all languages from Arabic to Icelandic, so that he might give his gleen to the world.
> Every dictionary in every newspaper office in the land is a memorial to Noah Webster, no matter what the name upon its cover may be. It is a useful memorial and one which none can look upon too often.

"BIG THREE" NOT AN ISSUE

(Morris Tribune)

> There is every indication that the state re-organization act is not going to become a political issue—which is as it should be. The state department of administration and finance, known as the "Big Three," the University board of regents and the state highway department have come into conflict in court as to the extent of the authority of each, but already Highway Commissioner Babcock and the Big Three have found a working basis so that road work will not be halted, and the regents have asked the Big Three to sit in on the consideration of the University budget, and the Big Three have accepted. This kind of co-operation will permit the state's business to proceed, and the reorganization act to stand with such limitations as the court may find.
> "If we don't discipline ourselves the world will do it for us."
> "Every emotion has its price and if we want to enjoy it we must pay for it."

EXPERIMENTAL LAMBS RETURN BIG PROFITS

A price of $14.25 per hundred weight, a new top for the season for shorn lambs, says an announcement from the West Central School of Agriculture, was made by the experimental lambs sold at South St. Paul May 3. The two hundred and sixty lambs returned a profit of approximately $1,200 over all cost other than labor. Outside of a few head the lambs had lobes on a good finish and were eagerly sought after by the packers. The load was finally split between two companies, Swift and Armours.

The lambs were purchased at the South St. Paul yards about the middle of February at an average cost of $11.06 per hundred weight, adding freight, shrinkage and feed, brought an average cost up to $12.27 on February 21, the date the experiment started. The lambs were largely of native breeding and were not top feeder lambs but rather of an inferior grade. However, they had lots of vitality and took to feed rapidly and made splendid gains. On the last of March and the first of April the lambs were shorn, yielding an average of 5.6 pounds of wool per head. This was sold for 27 cents a pound. The lambs returned a good profit per head ranging from $4.29 to $5, including the wool, or an average of $4.68

a car to be proud of wherever you go

Wherever the Bigger and Better Chevrolet is driven, it is singled out for attention and comment—for never before has a low-priced car embodied such superb styling, such exterior richness and such distinguished beauty.

Its low-swung bodies are built by Fisher, with all the mastery in design and craftsmanship for which the Fisher name is everywhere renowned. Beautifully beaded and panelled ... stream-lined on a wheelbase of 107 inches ... and finished in gorgeous colors of genuine, long lasting Duco—they rival the costliest custom creations ... not only in brilliance of execution, but in richness and completeness of appointments as well.

But equally impressive is the obvious ability of the Bigger and Better Chevrolet to meet every driving demand. Its improved valve-in-head motor is smooth, powerful and swift in acceleration. Its big, non-locking 4-wheel brakes are always dependable ... always velvety in operation. And its ball bearing worm and gear steering mechanism provides delightful handling ease under every condition of highway and traffic.

Truly, the Bigger and Better Chevrolet is a car to be proud of wherever you go—beautiful, smart and distinguished ... and so easy and safe to drive that every mile at the wheel is a pleasure.

Notice to the Public

We, the undersigned, take this method of informing the public regarding our stand on the milk situation. We are not selling our milk to the pasteurization plant, which is financed and started by a few of the business men of Thief River Falls, but will give our customers the same service as we have in the past. We have gone to quite an expense to equip ourselves to handle a number 1A grade of sanitary milk and feel that is what the people of Thief River Falls want. Our herds are all tested for tuberculosis and checked by Mr. Cotton of St. Paul and our dairies and milk and cream are also checked once a month for quality and bacteria germs by a state man and the city has Dr. Twete checking us every thirty days and we have heard no complaints from any of these three men. In large cities where they are compelled to get their supply of milk from a wide territory under all kinds of conditions pasteurization is necessary, yet certified raw milk and Grade A milk which reach the state requirements is selling from 5 to 10 cents per quart above pasteurized milk.

A short time ago a statement appeared in the Thief River Falls Times from a representative from the State Board of Health stating that Thief River Falls was one of two cities in the state which scored the best for the state requirements as to quality and sanitation.

Milk is one product which reaches the consumer direct from the producer without the middleman's profit and we feel that we are entitled to it.

Affairs at Washington by Congressman Selvig

Washington—Present tariff protection on agricultural products averages about 25 per cent on the import values, and it probably effective to the extent of 16 per cent. Present tariff protection on manufactured goods averages about 46 per cent on the import value and is probably effective 35 per cent.

Which means that American industry is selling its products on the home market at a price level 35 per cent above the world market prices; while American agriculture is selling its products on the home market at a price level 16 per cent above the world market.

This causes an inequality of 17 per cent in the interest of industry against agriculture. Correct that inequality and we have accomplished the major part of the much discussed "farm relief."

We must raise the effective tariff on farm products up to about 35 per cent on the import value. We must also raise the ineffective schedule up to around the same figure, and make them effective by some plan of surplus control.

How the Tariff Operates

The best view on the operation of the tariff can be had by following its effect on the daily wage earner.

The import duty on cattle and beef is about 28 per cent, meaning that it is protected to the extent of 28 per cent above the world market price level.

In 1923, soon after the passage of the present tariff act, there were 156,000 cattle on the farms and ranches of the United States and we were exporting a surplus of beef. The tariff was entirely ineffective. It did not raise the price a cent.

By 1928 our supply of cattle on the farms and ranches had dwindled to 59,148,000; our exports had practically vanished and the tariff began to become effective. On Jan. 1, 1928, there were 55,100,000 cattle on the farms and ranches of the country and the tariff has become operative in full. We are now 28 per cent above the world market, plus the freight from other countries.

In support of this statement it can be said that the average price for good steers on the Chicago market during March of this year averaged $14.08; on the Winnipeg market $9.20; on the Buenos Aires market $6.21. These figures are from the Department of Agriculture and cover the same grade of cattle at the different points mentioned.

Farmers Apparently Unorganized

Your congressman has just completed reading the testimony given at the committee hearings on the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill, which is the present tariff act.

The outstanding fact indicated by this record is that while the industries showed up in great force of numbers at these hearings only a handful of farmers asked to be heard. These were granted everything they asked for. Had our present effective farm lobby been on the job at that time the agricultural schedules would have been much more satisfactory. It was a case of organized effort with the industries and lack of organized effort with the farmers.

California fruit growers fully understood the importance of the occasion, appeared in some force and were granted a 90 per cent duty on lemons, a 42 per cent duty on oranges and protective protection for other fruits. They are the only branch of the farming industry who have adequate protection.

N. Y. Dairymen Win Out

Our dairymen are some of their prosperity to a few farmers from New York State who took the trouble to come here and insist on the present rates. They didn't ask enough but got what they asked and secured an increase over what was proposed. Likewise a few ranchers from Colorado and other mountain states secured more protection for the sheep and cattle industries than would have been granted.

I am forced to the conclusion that the inequality of agriculture and industry in the tariff schedules of the present law was not due from any opposition to the farmers from any source, but to the failure of the farmers to assert themselves.

Free traders tell us that we can achieve perfect equality between industry and agriculture by repealing all tariff schedules. That is perfectly true, but the equality attained would have to be shared with the rest of the world, where standards of living are far below ours.

Comparative World Wages

The average daily wage in the United States is $4.60 per day, and considerable unemployment at this time does not seem to have affected it for those who are working. In England the daily wage averages $2.60 per day; in Germany $1.55 per day; in Belgium $1.29 per day; in Italy 90 cents per day; in Japan 50 cents per day and in China 22 cents per day.

Imagine the condition of our farmers if the ninety per cent of their production consumed in this country had to be sold to wage earners receiving the foreign wage in any of these foreign countries. For the farmers to prosper the wage earners must have buying power, and for the wage earners to maintain prosperity and employment the farmers must have buying power. That is absolutely so.

So I do not favor free trade. If our industry and our agriculture are both be stabilized on a scale 35 per cent above the world market prices we can all maintain and share in the prosperity of this, the most productive country in the world.

AN INTRODUCTION TO AMERICA

Ole Edvart Rolvaag, professor of Norse literature at St. Olaf college, and author of several novels, tells an interesting story of one of his early impressions of America in an interview published in a recent issue of the American Magazine. "I found myself on a street car in Brooklyn," he said, "and the car was being held up by a big van. The horses drawing the mountainous wagon had balked and it seemed nothing could move it. Traffic and the busy people on the car were completely tied up. Finally the motorman, after clanging his bell in vain, turned on his power and the horses had to move. He shoved the van and team for nearly two blocks, after which the horses changed their minds and went ahead of their own accord.

"That served as my inspiration," he continued. "It came over me in a wave that America was like that. Clang, clang, over the top. If you can't do it one way try another. Such a thing could never have happened in Europe. I have seen many wonderful things here since, but that incident was the keyote of all I have found in this country."

Whether or not the incident is typical of a condition that is peculiar to America we do not know, but it certainly is typical of the present American attitude. "Clang, clang, over the top. If you can't do it one way try another." Fail today, succeed tomorrow. Succeed today, fail tomorrow. Rush, hurry, hustle. If those ahead do not clear the track brush them aside or run over them. If those coming in from behind overtake us they will subject us to a similar fate. Born yesterday, died today, and tomorrow forgotten.

He who stands still goes backward. The line moves on. This is America.

WHAT A MESS IT IS

The presidential campaign is barely started but we are already weary of it. What a mess it is developing into. It seems that Al Smith and Herbie Hoover are likely to be chosen by the two leading parties, which means that one of these must be elevated to the highest office in the land. "Is there no balm in Gilead?"

If the coming conventions make it necessary to choose between the Tammany Tiger and Andy Mellon, then bring on Roosevelt's third party. A third party can't win but it might throw the election into Congress. If the worst comes to the worst there is nothing to be lost and something might be gained.

Gunnar Bjornson, in his Minneota Mascot, indicates a lack of confidence in the press account of the election tendencies and expresses his contempt for both the figures and the figurers in the following comment:

> There is so much guessing and shifting of figures and votes on paper in this big business of nominating a president that it is difficult to say which side you are to favor.
> One day the Minneapolis Journal nominates Hoover and quotes figures to show it. The next day the Journal shows Lowden's growing strength with the same figures.
> What is a voter to believe?
> We would not be surprised to find one of these professional political statisticians being able to juggle the number of the ten commandments, either up or down to suit his fancy.

THE CENTENARY OF A GREAT EVENT

Many people whom, by present standards, we call educated, resent the idea that they are indebted to society for their education. They consider that their education, acquired by them, is theirs by right of acquisition and to be used by them as they see fit. They acknowledge no obligation to the world for their knowledge.

While it isn't our purpose here to argue this proposition, it is well for all of us to pause occasionally and consider the tremendous amount of work previous generations have contributed toward our civilization and science. This year, for instance, is the centenary of Noah Webster's Dictionary. In commenting on the size and importance of Webster's achievement, a newspaper trade journal states:

> In the first edition, comprising two volumes of more than a thousand pages each, were included twelve thousand words not nearly forty thousand definitions that had never appeared in any dictionary of the English tongue.
> It is through Noah Webster's innovation that we now write "honor" instead of "honour"—that millions writers will please uncover here—that we write "traveler" instead of "traveller," and so on, but the international importance of his work far outweigh the national. His dictionary was almost a syllogism. He set the standard for accuracy and completeness of definition governing lexicography today.
> And, if there is a reporter too lazy to take the half dozen steps necessary to reach the dictionary, let him picture the Oriental scholar spending twenty-five years pacing about before his huge semi-circular table laden with dictionaries of all languages from Arabic to Icelandic, so that he might get to his search to the world.
> Every dictionary in every newspaper office in the land is a memorial to Noah Webster, no matter what the name upon its cover may be. It is a useful memorial and one which none can look upon too often.

"BIG THREE" NOT AN ISSUE

(Morris Tribune)

There is every indication that the state re-organization act is not going to become a political issue—which is as it should be. The state department of administration and finance, known as the "Big Three," the University board of regents and the state highway department have come into conflict in court as to the extent of the authority of each, but already Highway Commissioner Babcock and the Big Three have found a working basis so that road work will not be halted, and the regents have asked the Big Three to sit in on the consideration of the University budget, and the Big Three have accepted. This kind of co-operation will permit the statute, bulgeous in process, and the reorganization act to stand with such limitations as the court may find.

> "If we don't discipline ourselves the world will do it for us."
> "Every emotion has its price and if we want to enjoy it we must pay for it."

EXPERIMENTAL LAMBS RETURN BIG PROFITS

A price of $16.25 per hundred weight, a new top for the season for shorn lambs, says an announcement from the West Central School of Agriculture, was made by the experimental lambs sold at South St. Paul May 1. The two hundred and sixty lambs returned a profit of approximately $1,200 over all cost other than labor. Outside of a few heads the lambs had taken on a good finish and were eagerly sought after by the packers. The feed was finally split between the two companies, Swift and Armour.

The lambs were purchased at the South St. Paul yards about the middle of February at an average cost of $11.05 per hundred weight, adding freight, shrinkage and feed, it brought an average cost up to $12.27 on February 21, the date the experiment started. The lambs were largely of native breeding and were not top feeders, lambs but rather of an inferior grade. However, they had lots of vitality and took to feed rapidly and made splendid gains. On the last of March and the first of April the lambs were shorn, yielding an average of 5.6 pounds of wool per lamb, which was sold for 27 cents a pound. The lambs returned a good profit per head ranging from $4.39 to $5, including the wool, or an average of $4.68

Washington—Present tariff protection on agricultural products averages about 25 per cent on the import value, and is probably effective to the extent of 16 per cent. Present tariff protection on manufactured goods averages about 48 per cent on the import value and is probably effective 33 per cent.

Which means that American industry is selling its products on the home market at a price level 33 per cent above the world market prices; while American agriculture is selling its products on the home market at a price level 16 per cent above the world market.

This causes an inequality of 12 per cent in favor of industry and against agriculture. Correct that inequality and we have accomplished the major part of the much discussed "farm relief."

We must raise the effective tariff on farm products up to about 25 per cent on the import value. We must also raise the ineffective schedule up to around the same figure, and make them effective by some plan of surplus control.

How the Tariff Operates

The best view on the operation of the tariff can be had by following its effect on cattle and beef prices.

The import duty on cattle and beef is 27½ per cent, meaning that it is protected to the extent of 28 per cent above the world market price level.

In 1923, soon after the passage of the present tariff act, there were 66,156,000 cattle on the farms and ranches of the United States, and we were exporting a surplus of beef. The tariff was entirely ineffective. It did not raise the price a cent.

By 1926 our supply of cattle on the farms and ranches had increased to 60,148,000; our exports had practically ceased and the tariff began to become effective. On Jan. 1, 1928, there were 53,700,000 cattle on the farms and ranches of our country, and the tariff has become operative in full. We are now 28 per cent above the world market, plus the freight from foreign countries.

In support of this statement it can be said that the average price for good steers on the Chicago market during March of this year averaged $14.95; on the Buenos Aires market $9.20; on the Buenos Aires market $8.20; on the London market $8.20. These figures are from the Department of Agriculture and cover the same grade of cattle at the different points mentioned.

Farmers Apparently Unorganized

The congressman has just completed reading the testimony given at the committee hearings on the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill, which is the present tariff act.

The outstanding fact indicated by this record is that while the industries showed up in great force of members at these hearings only a handful of farmers asked to be heard. These were granted everything they asked for. Had our present effective farm lobby been on the job at that time the agricultural schedules would have been much more satisfactory. It was a case of organized effort with the industries and lack of organized effort with the farmers.

California fruit growers fully understood the importance of the occasion, appeared in some force and were granted a 90 per cent duty on lemons, a 42 per cent duty on oranges and proportionate protection for other fruits. They are the only branch of the farming industry who have adequate protection.

N. Y. Dairymen Win Out

Our dairymen own some of their prosperity to a few farmers from New York State who took the trouble to come here and insist on the present rates. They didn't ask enough but got what they asked and secured an increase over what was proposed. Likewise a few ranchers from Colorado and other mountain states secured more protection for the sheep and cattle industries than would have been granted.

I am forced to the conclusion that the inequality of agriculture and industry in the tariff schedules of the present law was not due from any opposition to the farmers from any source, but to the failure of the farmers to assert themselves.

Free traders tell us that we can achieve perfect equality between industry and agriculture by repealing all tariff schedules. That is perfectly true, but the equality attained would have to be shared with the rest of the world, where standards of living are far below ours.

Comparative World Wages

The average daily wage in the United States is $5.60 per day, and considerable unemployment at this time does not seem to have affected it for those who are working. In Switzerland the daily wage averages $2.60 per day; in Germany $1.55 per day; in Belgium $1.29 per day; in Italy 90 cents per day and in China 22 cents per day.

Imagine the condition of our farmers if the ninety per cent of their production consumed in this country had to be sold to wage earners receiving the average wage in any of these foreign countries. For the farmers to prosper the wage earners must have buying power, and for the wage earners to maintain prosperity and steady employment the farmers must have buying power. That is absolutely true.

So I do not favor free trade. If our industry and our agriculture can both be stabilized on a scale 25 per cent above the world market prices we can all maintain and share in the prosperity of this, the most productive country in the world.

NEW performance values came into existence when the first Chrysler was created four years ago. . . . The industry since has gone over en masse to the effort to pattern after them. But the remarkable thing is that Chrysler "72" is just as much alone today as when it was the one and only exponent of its type. Alone in a theoretical sense only? Alone in performance which singles it out and sets it apart in competition of the street and road and hill as much as its brilliant beauty sets it apart in the eye of the onlooker. Chrysler "72" has not only not yielded a fraction of an inch of its leadership of four years ago—it has widened the gap and lengthened the distance.

Today, Prosperity Follows the Tractor

NECESSITY and the changing times have brought about great improvements on the farms. The young farmer and the older farmer who keeps his mind young are working on the new and profitable scale. They are making money by handling the most productive work in the least time with the lowest labor costs. They are increasing per acre yields—plowing more furrows per trip—planting every hill full—cultivating more rows—cutting wider swaths. They are beating down the high price of labor by making that labor do two and three days' work in one, and that method leads to farm profit.

The tremendous call for the standard farm tractors—the McCormick-Deering 10-20 and 15-30, and now the new FARM-ALL, is evidence of the new era in farming. When you re-power your operations, stick to McCormick-Deering and the many McCormick-Deering machines built to go hand in hand with these tractors. An easy way to get first-hand information on these tractors and machines is to ask us for a demonstration. No obligation, you understand. Stop in or phone us.

Tarrant in municipal courts here and been bound over to the district court on liquor charges within the past three weeks, the former having been released under bail, while the latter was still in the county jail.

Bank Robbers May Have Been in City Last Week

Four strangers were observed on the streets of Red Lake Falls one day last week, arousing the suspicions of Sheriff Chas. Fellman of that place. Investigation revealed the fact, however, that they might be the men who robbed a bank two days previously in Stewartville of $12,000, the license number on their auto corresponding with that observed in the southern Minnesota town at the time of the robbery. The strangers are reported to have come north from Thief River Falls, but were not seen there, according to Sheriff Ole Ille of Chief of Police A. W. Crown.

RURAL PATRONS MUST PROVIDE SUITABLE BOXES

Post Office Department Regulations Explained by Assistant Postmaster

NAMES, NOT NUMBERS, SHOULD BE ON BOXES

Roads Traversed by Carriers Must Be Properly Maintained to Insure Service

Assistant Postmaster H. Ray Pope has been calling the attention of the new rural route patrons to some of the requirements of the postal department regarding the placing of receptacles for the mail to be delivered to patrons, which is also applicable to patrons residing on the former routes, some of whom have recently moved thereon.

The following suggestions are made in the hope that they will be willingly complied with. Boxes should be on posts or horses, situated on the right hand side of the road according to the route the carrier travels, and should be set with the bottom of the box 45 inches from the ground. Boxes must bear stamp of approval by the postal department.

Names, Not Numbers, on Boxes

Any number of families may use one box. It is planned to erect boxes with numbers instead of names. Whereupon possible boxes should be grouped so they can be served by one side of the carrier. Where there are three or four boxes they should be placed on a mounted side by side on a plank. Each box must have the name of the owner plainly painted or printed on it, visible to the approaching carrier. A neatly kept, small mail box or receptacle credit upon the owner. Be sure to have the law number of the route lettered. These two matters are very important. Mr. Pope states. He also said that a No. 2 box is preferable to a No. 1 box as it will hold parcel post packages, and not necessitate the carrier leaving a slip of notification asking the patron to meet him the following day when he brings the package the second time. This is the procedure when the small box is used.

Roads Must Be Maintained

"It is necessary that dwellers along rural routes insist on proper maintainance of roads. It is up to the people to see that the town officials have the roads passable and in such condition that they can be delivered to them so. Each patron should take interest and cooperate in this matter by keeping the roads dragged in summer and open in winter. The carrier will make the route every day in winter if the roads are kept open but he cannot be expected to break the road for the people living along it. If there are places in the road needful of repairs now, get after the town board road boss and insist that repairs be made. Patrons can be discontinued if roads are not kept up.

"If there are any matters or questions in connection with this extension of service which are causing confusion or are not fully understood the postmaster and his clerks or carriers will be glad to clear them up. Don't hesitate to drop into the postoffice and ask."

Wilmar Is Preparing for Annual Elks Meet

Grand Lodge officials, exalted rulers of the 1,600 lodges of the state of four Elks lodges within a radius of 50 miles, have been booked, delegates will attend the business sessions of the convention, while more than one thousand members of the lady folks are expected to visit the city during the meeting on June 21 and 22 to participate in the entertainment features which are planned.

But the least important of the convention activities according to the Wilmar Tribune will be the basketball contest between Stillwater representing the modern Minnesota institution and a team yet to be named from one of the Northern lodges.

A valuable trophy for this event will be awarded and the convention committee has also decided to give the winners an added prize of a cow, the same to be auctioned.

It is also stated that the famous Elks quartette of Minneapolis lodge will be presented during the convention. That band won the national championship at the grand lodge meeting held in Thief River Falls last summer, and Wabasha, Bemidji, Mankato and possibly other bands will compete in the tournament.

A gun which, according to legend, caused the last Indian casualty when the Minnesota territory was in addition of 1857, has been acquired by the Minnesota Historical society.

Seed treated with DIPDUST 11 Stood—2 Decayed

Same seed treated with corrosive sublimate 4 Stood—21 Decayed

Which Seed Will Produce the Most Potatoes?

Compare the results of the new Instantaneous Dip—DIPDUST—with the old-fashioned "two-hour soak" treatment. Above is a photograph taken on the farm of A. Schlechtweg, Freehold, N. J.

While vines were still green, 25 consecutive DIPDUST and corrosive sublimate treated hills were dug. Dipdust hills had 91 sound and only 2 decayed seed pieces. Corrosive sublimate hills had only 4 sound and 34 decayed seed pieces.

DIPDUST is much more effective than the old-fashioned ways of treating seed potatoes. Besides, you can treat your seed potatoes as fast as you can scoop them up. Just dip them in Dipdust solution and out again and your seed is all ready to plant. One man can easily treat from 300 to 400 bushels of potatoes per day.

There is not the slightest danger of injuring the sprouts or even cut seed. DIPDUST controls surface-borne diseases, such as Rhizoctonia, scab and black-leg, and protects cut surfaces from seed rotting organisms in the soil. It ingures sturdy profitable plants that will increase your yield from 15 to 25 bushels per acre.

After one trial of DIPDUST you will never again waste time with a "two-hour soak" treatment or spend two weeks worrying about your stand.

Read These Results of Actual Field Tests:

FRED BRUNNER, JR., Cranbury, N. J. "The DIPDUST potatoes came up very even with very few misses, whereas the undipped potatoes came up very uneven, and with many misses . . . At many spots 3 or 4 diseased plants (black-leg) were found to a single row, whereas in the DIPDUST seed sheared only 15 plants to a whole 14-acre patch of Prince Edward Island seed potatoes. The difference was so apparent at all times that dealers and growers visited the farm very frequently."

HARRY O. DICKEY, Elk River, Minn. "It was easy to see the difference between the treated and untreated parts of the field during the growing season (Early Ohio seed potatoes). The DIPDUST treated plants came up better and appeared healthier and sturdier than the untreated plants. At digging time, I compared the yields and found that the DIPDUST treated rows ran 165 bushels while the untreated rows gave me only 140 bushels per acre."

One pound treats 15 to 20 bushels of seed potatoes.

Treat your Corn and Vegetable Seeds too

You can now also disinfect your seed corn and vegetable seeds with DIPDUST and increase your yield by preventing many of the diseases which cause poor germination, weak, spindly plants, and poor quality crop. Simply use as a dust treatment. It is easily and quickly applied and costs less than 2 cents per acre. One pound of DIPDUST will treat 15 to 20 bushels of seed corn, or from six to eight bushels of vegetable seed.

GUARANTEE

Plant a few acres of DIPDUST treated seed No. 2 potatoes with your regular seed. If not satisfied in every way on digging time, return the unused portion of DIPDUST and we will refund your money in full. Send for booklet telling how to use seed treatments. Address Dept.

Loan on Ditch Bonds by State Is Unauthorized

The state executive council is without authority to make a relief loan to aid Beltrami and Lake of the Woods counties which face a default of ditch bond in June under emergency power given the council by the law, attorney general G. A. Youngquist ruled last week.

His ruling was made in reply to a query from Lieutenant Governor W. I. Nolan, chairman of the Minnesota reforestation commission, which then proposed that it would be a matter to recommend any relief measure at this time. The ruling and the commission's decision, coming after a plan made by county officials to the forestry group for emergency aid spelled final defeat of the plan of the two counties.

A total of $200,000 is due on ditch bonds, June 1 which are joint obligations of the two counties incurred when this was one county before 1922. Settlement of taxes delinquent and cut over lands have cut county revenue so low that they face repudiation of their entire ditch debt of more than $2,000,000.

IN DEFERENCE TO SENIORS

We Juniors, who in this past year have begun to feel the responsibilities of being upper classmen, realize probably more than the other students the success of the Seniors in carrying out the annual event of Senior day. Their class is no doubt more talented than the ordinary and their clever ideas showed a great deal of thought and effort. It gives us a kind of indescribable gone feeling to think that we will not be able to enjoy more of those events but the time comes for every class when they feel more or less sad to see the Seniors leaving the rear rows of seats of our auditorium. Of course everything is always met with a few criticisms by some pessimists, but we wish to say to you Seniors We appreciate the high standard that you have set for us which will remain in the halls of Lincoln a few years more."

New System of Awards Introduced This Year

Several changes have been made this year in the awarding of honors to students meriting them in outside activities. The school colors have been changed to old gold and blue and instead of medals as in previous years the non-athletic letters will be given to debate, declamation and interclass basketball.

The athletic letter is a full block "L" and will be given in football to members of the squad who have played at least six quarters plus the recommendation of the coach. In basketball the requirements are that the athlete has at least participated in one and one half games, and has the recommendation of the coach.

The Carl Beaver basketball teams will receive block numerals as recommended by the coach.

The girl letter on a point system must earn a thousand points, then receiving a full block "L". This letter is fair and smaller than the one the boys receive. For playing in one and one half games of basketball and passing all requirements of the coach, 150 points are earned for which a numeral is given.

The non-athletic letter is a modified old English "L." The requirement for this letter is debate in which the candidate must participate in three debate. Participating in a sub-district contest is the requirement for a letter in declamation. These must also have the recommendation of the coach.

The Citizenship medals will be given again this year to two seniors, one boy and one girl, and to one Junior by the Josten Manufacturing Company of Owatonna and the Olaf Neset company.

LUDICROUS PLAY FEATURES NEW SENIOR STUNT

Six Students Present "Who's Crazy Now," Besides Other Stunts

The student body and faculty were entertained Monday forenoon by the Senior class, the occasion being Senior Day.

The main feature of the exercise was a one act play specially combed for Senior day by Miss Tandberg entitled "Who's Crazy Now" in which Cleutier as Charlie Smooth acted his part as a dignified person very well. The love scenes between him and Miss Abigail Selfton, Harriet Fuller, were very thrilling. Miss Selfton as the old fuss rich maid made a very remarkable hit. Her maid Bonnie Lenore Leiserman, caused much merriment with her real refrains and dancing. Professor Twitters, alias Harold Will, took the part of the fussy old man very cleverly. The tangle between him and the other people was very comical. Ney Gee as the officer of the law and Fral Fredericksen as the stenographer also did well. The costumes which were original caused much laughter, especially the professor's bald head and prisoner's garb. Harriet Fuller, as the old maid wore a becoming blonde wig.

Plot of the Play

The plot of the play is very clever. Professor Twitters, answers an advertisement for a secretary by Abigail Selfton. He finds himself in the Selfton's home. Through Charlie Smooth's plot it is thought that he is given over to having fits. The entire cast try to stop him from getting violent by giving through the most severe, funny ridiculous stunts. No Miss Tandberg and the cast deserve much credit for their skill.

The students were next entertained by Earl Beaver as Hiram, an old fashioned farmer and Glendon Larson as a big silly dude. Their clever remarks caused much a good hearty laugh.

The class prophecy and will followed. John Boren dressed in polo, rimmed glasses and night cap acted as leading student who read and gave their remembrances to the lower classmen.

All of the Seniors were garbed in old fashioned clothes which were very funny. Art Johnson and Hoover Ericson were dressed in girl's clothes. They looked very youthful in their feminine. Lorelle Larson, Katherine Melby and Peggy Shaw as old Maids were indeed a "high class" trio.

After the program the Senior class motored to Lake Pelissier where a delightful picnic was enjoyed.

A little less than 2,800,000 tons of sand is used every year in the manufacture of glass in the United States.

NOVEL AEROPLANE BANQUET GIVEN IN HONOR TO SENIORS

Juniors Are Hosts at Evelyn Hotel Dinner, Elks' Hall Dance

Last Saturday, May 12, the annual Junior-Senior banquet was held at the Evelyn hotel, followed by a dance at the Elk's hall. At 7:15 the doors of the dining hall of the Evelyn hotel swung open and a group of approximately 125 Juniors and Seniors, teachers and school board members surged in, all eager to be the first to find their places at the six long tables set in the two rooms. The tables were decorated effectively and daintily with red roses, white candles, red nut baskets, and, red programs.

Menu, Talks, Interspersed

After the usual few minutes of confusion when all the people were trying to find their respective places and getting acquainted with their temporary neighbors, the first course consisting of cocktail A la Lindberg was enjoyed, following which address by Elaine Evenson, president of the Junior class, and Chester Bredeson, president of the Senior class and a Saxaphone solo by Robert Biedermann were given. Seven courses consisting of creamed chicken in patty shells, mashed potatoes, string beans, combination salad, parker house rolls, olives and pickles were served by the ladies following which Elenore on "We," and Mrs. Kovtal on "Above the Clouds," also a piano solo by Violet Rhodegard.

After the dinner the group adjourned to the Elks hall where dancing was enjoyed, music being furnished by the orchestra from Warren, which had been playing during the dinner at the hotel. In the hall as well as the hotel, and probably even more so, the beautiful decorations showed much time and skill had been expended on. There were beautiful blue and white silk streamers stationed in rolling waves from the walls to meet in the center where, as at other places around the room balloons were dangling around a miniature airplane propeller, out of which rained upon its sides. Throughout the room at intervals were airplanes suspended in the downing clouds, represented by the streamers were shown. Up above the clouds one could see a beautiful half-moon shining forth. It was a very impressive scene to see the couples attired in beautiful dresses and sporty suits, gliding rhythmically across the floor, underneath the downing heavens through which the airplanes were sailing and upon which the moon was benevolently shining. At one o'clock the dancing stopped; each went home after expressing his feelings for the good time he had had.

Distribution on Friday of Senior Announcements

After some delay in shipping, the Senior graduation announcements have finally arrived at The Times office and will be ready for distribution by the end of the week, according to the latest information received on Tuesday.

The announcements are of the stately, folder type, which has come into wide use throughout the United States in all of the larger, more up-to-date, high schools. The announcement of the graduation exercises appears on the front page of the folder, engraved in old English type, and is a wonderfully neat and attractive appearance.

One of the latest innovations in graduation announcements is the engraving of the class ring at the top of the front page above the statement concerning the commencement exercises. This announcement which the Seniors have selected includes this remarkable feature engraved in black and white, gold; this makes a very striking appearance against its white background.

The printing of the class roll will be done by the local printers. It was planned that this be placed on the inside of the last page of the folder, but, as this method is somewhat impractical, an extra sheet bearing the names of the graduates may be inserted inside the folder.

These announcements come complete with an inside and outside envelope, and are thus absolutely correct and proper according to present day standards.

Spring Football Activities Show Favorable Prospects

In preceding issues spring football has been described more in detail as to blocking, tackling, and punting. These three essentials are well under way now and a great improvement is shown especially in the green material.

In addition to these, offense and signal practice have been introduced. Various plays and signals have been used in grilling the squad in preparation for scrimmage Thursday and for the Senior game which may be played next week.

According to Coach Roe the team is well supplied with kickers. Hoomer and Rip are beginning to show form and Merle Lindberg is discovered to be a second Art Pharmer. Prospects are favorable for a good season next year. "Rip Dahlow" is full-back; heavy but his awkwardness will make him a very valuable man.

Several of the candidates did not report for practice due to attacks of influenza or injuries received. Lester Lindberg having a sprained ankle and Don Snyder having recently broken his arm may not return again this spring.

Schedule for Final Exams Is Announced

The following state examinations will be given in the central school in the seventh and eighth grades:

May 25: 10:00 A. M., Grammar Examination.

May 28: 10:00 A. M., El. American History; 2:00 P. M., El. Citizenship.

May 31: 10:00 A. M., Arithmetic; 2:00 P. M., Spelling (one hour).

Commissioner of Education, J. M. McConnell, states that "The use of the floral passing grade of 75 has been discontinued. The passing grade in each subject will be 60 per cent, after a sufficient number of papers have been examined by the state examiner fairly to represent the papers from the state as a whole.

"The papers will as before be graded locally, but instead of forwarding only such papers as secure 75 or above, papers securing 60 or above should be forwarded. This allows a safer margin safely to include all papers that should be passed as it is not probable that the passing grade in any subject will be placed at low as 50.

"In subjects in which objective tests are given, all papers should be forwarded."

WHAT HAPPENED TO JONES SLATED FOR TOMORROW NIGHT

Humorous Senior Class Play Presented After Month's Rehearsal

The Senior class play, "What Happened to Jones", which will be given by the Senior class of 1928 in the Auditorium Friday, May 18, has been undergoing daily rehearsals to make it the best production of its kind.

The play is one of a good-looking happy-go-lucky chap named Jones who travels about the country selling hyde books. While in New York he gets mixed up in an affair with the police and society people. He is deceived by Ebenezer Goodly and his good wife Matilida, who are expecting as their guest Mr. Goodly's brother, the Bishop.

Before Ebenezer has a chance to protest, Jones passes himself off to Mrs. Goodly as the Bishop. Thus it happens that Jones is introduced to all the members of the Goodly household, which includes Marjorie and Mister, Ebenezer's daughters, of whom Marjorie is engaged to Hiram Heatherly, a young friend of the family; Alvina Starlight, a romantic old maid who is Mrs. Goodly's sister and the object of Jones' affections; and the Swedish servant-girl who helps to lend humor to the play, and Ebenezer's ward, by whom charms and beauty Jones is captivated. When the real Bishop arrives (only by letter at first kept hidden by Jones, who is playing the role) from being station-revealed. Bigbee, an inmate of the penitentiary and Jones' cellmate, escapes from prison, physically resembles the Bishop, which causes considerable trouble.

Ebenezer doesn't recognize his brother until the play is well advanced, nor is Jones' identity revealed till the very end; however, this doesn't make the least bit of difference to Clary, who thinks that "names aren't important anyway when one's in love." The part of Bernes, president of the school board, will present the leather diplomas, which have blue covers and a lining of gold, to the graduating class.

The Cast

The cast has been practicing for several weeks and will carry an American flavor to it, especially in the settings. The stage has been done by Junior typists the past few weeks.

Robert Biedermann, art editor, has been doing much on the title pages of the programs. These are very clever chapter headings. An entire chapter will be given over to the class prophecy. All the pictures will be in the style of cartoons, every member of the class being represented.

The invitations of the students has made the making of the book very interesting and profitable work.

With special sport equipment, no smarter car than this

Smart as a racing craft. Long and low . . . with rakish, youthful lines. But with special sport equipment . . . it's even smarter. The peer of any car in its class.

Six wire wheels . . . their colors contrasting with body shades. Spares carried forward in special fender wells. A trunk rack behind . . . suggesting week-end journeys. All that you see and admire on America's finest custom-built cars.

There's real style, if you ever saw it. Swank . . . snap . . . personality. Reflecting the speed and drive of a sprinter . . . in its every contour. The peer of any car and its wonderful handling ease!

Add to all this the charm of bodies by Fisher. . The deep-cushioned comfort and luxury that Fisher bodies provide. Then you'll find the All-American Six leagues ahead of any rival. And you'll be marvelled again at its truly remarkable price.

Dr. Swedenburg Talks on Doctoring and Nursing

Dr. A. W. Swedenburg, the third vocational speaker coming to Lincoln High under the auspices of the History club, gave some interesting and worthwhile facts concerning the occupations of doctoring and nursing before the assembly last Tuesday.

He explained fully the requirements for both, stating that a high school education is almost an essential in nursing as in doctoring; without it one may not reach the degree of Registered Nurse. The minimum requirements for the vocation of medical doctor following preferably a scientific course in high school, or two years of pre-medical and four years medical instruction.

He stated that it was very strenuous work and the greatest requirement is physical strength.

Concerning Mr. Hanks question of cost and personal experience, he said that expenses were much higher now than before, he being in debt about $600, having earned all expenses by working before and after entering his advanced course.

Dr. Swedenburg's talk showed effort and careful preparation and is one which the Junior assembly and employers will no doubt prefer the nonbreakable program.

We hope that this may prove successful and that its purpose will not be defeated.

Advanced Shorthand Pupils Are Successful in Contest

The advanced shorthand students took part in the 1928 annual O. G. A. (Order of Gregg Artists) contest held at the high school last week. Those were the students who did not qualify for the sixty word test and they will be given an opportunity to do so this week.

ATHLETICS FROM THE WINDOW

Every night many fans are seen looking anxiously at the to-be football heroes. Among the many things noticed are the very attractive athletes as they go out and as they completes as they come back. One sees much falling down which is accompanied by the falling of the fans who try to point out the wonderful player of their favorite team. Perhaps by the eighth graders appear at the window with the hope that they will be being able to yell and support these athletes next fall.

With a population 400 per cent greater, Greater Britain has only 40 percent more students than Canada.

FIVE YEAR OLD ROSEAU BOY LOSES THUMB AND 2 FINGERS

Using a knife to investigate the interior of a percussion cap cost five year old Paul Lindquist of Roseau his thumb and two fingers of his right hand. The boy found the cap near where sawdust was being blasted and started to open it with a knife he borrowed from a workman, when the explosion occurred.

Which Will You Save?

YOU can save pennies or save chicks. Poultry yard facts show that ordinary untested rations and mixtures such as hard boiled eggs and oatmeal save pennies but not chicks. Usually 50% of them die. Poultrymen who are making money invest one penny more per chick and save 90 to 100% of their chicks. They feed Purina Chick Startena, the buttermilk starting ration containing Cod Liver Oil. We'll be glad to tell you of a feeding plan that's as simple as A B C. It saves chicks, and brings them through to early maturity.

ESSAY CONTEST IS BEING STAGED BY STATE FEDERATION

$200 in Prizes Being Offered for Best Essays on "Minnesota, the Beautiful"

Two hundred dollars in prizes has been offered for the best original essay not more than 1,000 words, dealing with the department of conservation of the Minnesota Federation of Womens' clubs, according to Mrs. H. A. Brunsdal, president of the Thief River Falls club. The object is to arouse in the young people of our state a fuller appreciation of its outstanding natural beauties; the importance of preserving our natural scenery and resources from despoilment and exploitation; to cultivate a love for the great outdoors and to stimulate the production of literature depicting the beauty of some matchless section of nature within our borders. Graphic portrayal of the scene and its impressions upon the writer will be given precedence over other qualities.

Soo Net Income Showed $1,526,844 Gain In 1927

The net income of the Soo Line system for 1927 totaled $1,841,003, an increase of $1,526,844 over the $15,-652 reported in 1926, according to the annual financial report of the railway, issued by C. T. Jaffray, president.

Gross earnings of the system for 1927 was $40,157,008, an increase of $2,300,269 or 4.91 per cent over the $37,856,739 total of the previous year.

Operating expenses of the system for 1927 were $30,157,008, an increase of $1,-000,000 or 3.43 per cent over the figure for the previous year. Freight revenue showed an increase of 4.07 per cent, amounted to $20,716,-733, or nearly $3,000,000 above the total.

There were heavy increases in the amount of everything from carrying agricultural and milling products. Increases also were noted in forest products, less than carlots and miscellaneous manufactured articles. The products of agriculture formed a larger proportion of the road's tonnage last year principally because of the better crops over the northwest, Mr. Jaffray said. A total of 19,448,-220 bushels was handled during the last five months of 1926, compared with 28,342,247 bushels in the corresponding period of 1927.

HISTORICAL MEETING TO BE HELD JUNE 12-16

Oral traditions of the Sandy Lake Chippewa are to be told to Mr. Irving H. Hart will be presented as one feature of the program of the seventh state historical convention under the auspices of the Minnesota Historical society, which will be held in Brainerd on June 13 and 14 upon invitation of the Crow Wing County Historical society and members and friends of the extension division of the town State Teachers College at Cedar Falls. Interviewed last summer the aged daughter of Aishquah, a great Chippewa hunter and trapper who in late 1850 led a war party of Chippewa south to participate in the battle of Kapoza or Big Eye Lake, of that year, Dorcas within the present city limits of St. Paul.

Plans are being made for the annual summer "historic tour" preceding the convention at Brainerd. The start will be made from St. Paul on the morning of Wednesday, June 13, and an afternoon program will probably be held at the site of old Fort Ripley, frontier Minnesota military post. Official Paper of the City of Thief River Falls and Pennington County.

The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work that they have thus far so nobly carried on. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to the cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that the dead shall not have died in vain; that the nation shall, under God, have a new birth of freedom, and that the government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish From the earth.—Abraham Lincoln.

MILITARY TRAINING

According to a dispatch from Kansas City this week, the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church went on record against compulsory military training in the schools of the United States. Opposition was also voiced in the resolution to the advertising of military training camps by government postmasters on mail matter, "the distribution of which in this and foreign countries tends to create a wrong impression regarding the attitude of the United States toward the spirit of universal peace."

There is nothing revolutionary about these views of the conference. Perhaps a majority of the citizens of the country concur with the brothers in their opinion. We doubt very much, however, that very many of those who hold this opinion have considered the question of military training for youth in its true relation to the entire problem of our military defense. And this week, as the nation pauses in memory of those who have made the supreme sacrifice in its defense, it will not be out of order to give some thought to the question of national defense.

None of us are in favor of war and all of us hope that the time is near at hand when it can be outlawed. There is little reason to believe, however, that this hope is justified. War is not a national problem. It is international; just as crime is not an individual problem but social. It is the duty of this nation to be righteous in its relations with other nations, but a righteous nation may be the victim of war just as a righteous citizen may be the victim of crime. It is evident, therefore, that some sort of a system of national defense is as essential to the nation as a police force to a city municipality. So much should be conceded by everyone. The only question should be in regard to the nature, the size and the administration of the defense organization. In other words, how large an army and a navy should we have. Here is where the matter becomes a question of opinion.

It is our opinion that the proper system of national defense for this country would call for only a small standing army and navy. We can see no need for a large and expensive military machine being maintained year in and year out. There is no danger, such as exists possibly in some European countries, that this nation could be overwhelmed rapidly by an invading force. If any power insists on fighting us, we can fix our own time and place to a large extent. Our real defense does not lie in the fierceness of our standing army or navy but in the preparedness of the peace loving citizens of the country to bear arms when necessary.

We must realize that we are all soldiers in the army of this country and subject to a call to arms if those whom we elect to conduct our government consider such a call necessary. It is one of our duties of citizenship whether we like it or not. And to impress upon the youth of the country the fact that they will be called upon to serve if the need arises, and to give them some idea of what such service will mean, if they are called, by a few hours of training in school or camp, is not only justice to the individual but a necessary institution of a democracy.

There is no question but that there has been too much glorification of war in the past, and this is an evil. War should not be glorified. There was a time when war served as a diversion somewhat as football and baseball do today, and there may have been some justification under those conditions for the glorification. But wars, as they are fought today, are not glorious.

If there was any reason to believe that concealing from youth the horrors of battle would reduce the possibilities of war then there might be some justification in doing away with all military training. It would appear to us, however, that the brothers of the cloth could render mankind a better service towards the elimination of war if they would devote more of their efforts to preaching the gospel of brotherly love and the Golden Rule, and make a serious effort to break down a few of the international prejudices and hatreds which will serve as the foundation of future conflicts.

WHAT A BEAUTIFUL NIGHT

We listened in on an argument the other day in which the question of unemployment was discussed. One of those who argued was of the opinion that the present shortage of employment in the large cities was the first step toward a complete breakdown of our economic structure. He quoted various authorities and observers to prove his discouraging contentions, and it was with a heavy tread and a feeling of futility that we left him. In a half an hour a person can soak up enough gloom from some of these alarmists to cast a shadow over the activities of several days.

William Feather tells of an experience he had with a bookful of alarms which he had been urged to read. The author of this book is worried about the yellow race, he said, and fears that the colored peoples may submerge the whites. He is worried about the morons, fearing that they are increasing faster than the intelligent. He is worried about Democracy, fearing that it will bankrupt every state. He is worried about woman suffrage, averring that the arena is not for women. He is worried about the exhaustion of natural resources, fearing that forests, base metals, coal, and oil will all soon be gone. He is worried about earthquakes, glacial movements, over-population, deciduous glands, the theory of relativity, prohibition, spiritualism and eugenics.

"When I had finished the book," says Feather, "I walked out on the porch, took a deep breath of night air, admired a row of maple trees, and said to myself, 'What a beautiful night. And poor man, with all his gravthinking; didn't have a thing to do with it."

Buy a poppy Saturday. The nickle or the dime that you spend in this way will be used to make the world a little more cheerful for that vast army of boys for whom the war has not yet ended—the fine lads whom you cheered as they marched away in khaki and who came back, many of them to die lingering deaths in hospitals. There isn't much that can be done for them. The knowledge, however, that we the war-weary peoples they have made will give them some assurance that they are not entirely forgotten, and the money will provide a few comforts. Buy a poppy Saturday.

THE HIGH COST OF OVERDRAFTS

On the always pressing problem of holding down public expenditures we heard one irate tax payer express the opinion the other day that it should be made unlawful for public officials to spend money that they did not have. He felt that one of the worst evils which exists in the administration of local units of government is the practice of issuing warrants in payment of bills, in the knowledge that these warrants could not be paid, and would serve as an interest bearing debt against that unit of government.

There is some reason to believe that the affairs of this county would have been in better condition had the county officials kept on a cash basis. For instance in our road and bridge fund there has been a steady increase of indebtedness, which, while it undoubtedly speeded up construction a few years ago, is now a great retarding force as far as new construction is concerned. During the past eight or nine years this fund has been overdrawn approximately two hundred thousand dollars. Two different funding bonds have been issued during this period so that the actual overdraft at the present time is in the neighborhood of thirty thousand dollars. This indebtedness, however, is taking twenty thousand dollars out of the current taxes each year, five thousand for the retirement of the first bonds, six thousand for the retirement of the second bonds, and about nine thousand dollars in interest.

It does seem that the interests of the public would have been better served during this period if, either the expenditures had been held down to the amount of cash available, or sufficient cash had been made available by an increase in the tax levy for the bills that were contracted. As it is we have been kidding ourselves. The pay-as-you-go plan isn't always pleasant in the first part of the journey but it eliminates a lot of grief from the later stages.

There is no particular reason for crying about the water that has already gone over the dam. The past experience, however, should prove a valuable guide for the future, and in the future taxpayers should insist that officials confine their expenditures to the cash on hand. If more money is needed let it be levied. Then the taxpayer will know exactly how much public improvements are costing him, and this knowledge will have a tendency to make requests for improvements a little less frequent. Such a policy will make it a little easier for the public officials to turn the beggars away from the door.

FARM TENANCY
(Long Prairie Leader)

The Department of Agriculture has recently issued a statement on tenant farming in the United States which contains some interesting information especially in view of the oft repeated assertion of some of the so-called farm leaders that farm tenancy is increasing so rapidly as to give ground for the fear that farming is approaching the state of peasantry. For the six years period ending 1925 the number of tenant farmers in the entire United States increased 7.724 which brought the total percentage of tenant farmers in the United States at the end of 1925 up to 38.6 per cent. The 7.724 increase is trifling but the 38.6 per cent looks formidable until it is analyzed. It is found that considerably more than half of the "landlords" are parents who had retired from active farming and the "tenants" are either their sons, their sons-in-law, their nephews or other relatives. It was also found that approximately fifty per cent of all the tenants were men who had started their active farm life as "hired men." In becoming tenants, they were merely moving up a step in their progress toward ultimate ownership. Thus the analysis of tenancy really shows a healthy and encouraging situation. What is more to be desired in agriculture than to have the sons or the sons-in-law take hold of the farm as the old folks leave and what can show better the opportunities there are for the poor man in America than these government figures of tenancy with their evidence that a man can start out as a hired man and progress onward to farm ownership?

FIVE FAULTS OF THE PRESS

Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, in addressing the American Society of Newspaper Editors recently, outlined five objections to the American newspaper of today. We reprint them, not because the objections are necessarily an accurate summary of what is wrong, but rather because they are interesting in that they are the views of a prominent public official and consider the subject only from the standpoint of the newspaper in its relation to politics. The objections are as follows:

First, the press is too cynical and too casual towards men in public life, and is obstructively and not helpfully critical of them and of their efforts and calling;

Second, it judges public men too much by what it considers to be news rather than by what is performance or sincere effort to perform;

Third, it hurts public life by inspiring too much fear or timidity in public men, due largely to the fact that it is interested too much in the personalities and too little in the realities of politics;

Fourth, it fails to put the proper emphasis on public questions or to put it in the right place; that its political leadership is not an unbiased or nonpartisan or affirmative as it ought to be, and that in consequence it frequently does not command public confidence;

Fifth, it suffers too much from a superiority or an infallibility complex.

Junior Livestock Show Dated This Year Will Be November 12 to 15

The eleventh annual Junior Livestock Show will be held at the Union Stockyards sales pavilion at South St. Paul, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 12, 13 and 14, with the annual sale of exhibits taking place Thursday, November 15.

H. G. Zavoral, livestock specialist from University Farm, will act as general manager of the big junior show this year.

These important decisions were reached at a special meeting of the executive board of the Junior Livestock Show held at the St. Francis Hotel, St. Paul, last week.

The committee at this meeting provided for increasing the number of lamb pens that will be sold and also provided for an increase in poultry pens.

It is expected that the 1927 mark of $35,000 realized by boys and girls from the sale of exhibits will be considerably increased this year.

MOST OF SUGAR BEET CROP IS NOW PLANTED

The 1928 sugar beet crop in the Red River Valley now is about 60 percent planted, and some of the plantings have already begun to show above ground, it was stated Saturday by J. H. Bliesner, resident manager of the Sugar Beet Land Co.

Nearly 250 Mexicans have already arrived in the vicinity of St. Thomas, N. D. which has the largest sugar beet acreage in the valley, and which again this year has contracted for more acreage than any other locality.

OIL DRILLING STARTS NEAR RAINY RIVER, ONT.

Rainy River is considerably excited over the discovery of oil indications north of that place. A company has been formed and last week it was decided to buy a standard diamond drill and to begin drilling operations at once.

Indications of oil had been found at several places north of the Canadian Northern railway, and the prospects were so good that no difficulty was found in securing enough money for the drilling operations.

The Erickson string band of Wylie spent favored Rosewood with a visit last Saturday evening, furnishing music at the Swedish Young Peoples society meeting. Grand Forks Fishermen Minus Required License Apprehended at Gentilly

Fred Brastad and Carl Wiltkins of Grand Forks were arrested Sunday by Game Warden Wm. Munch while fishing from the ice in Gentilly without a non-resident license.

They both pleaded guilty to the charges preferred against them, asking that they be allowed to return home as they had no money with them at the time. Inasmuch as the latter had been caught last year on the same charge he was permitted to go home but the former was held in custody pending receipt of the fine of $14.50 each.

When the money was not forthcoming Brastad was placed in jail and a bench warrant has been issued for Wiltkins.

Another County Pioneer Died Here Last Monday

Mrs. A. Myron passed away May 21 at her home, acute heartsy cause by her death. Magnhild Myrum was born Mar. 29, 1862, at Hedemarken, Norway, being sixty-six years old at the time of her death. In 1879 she was united in marriage to Amund Myron and in the same year came to Canada and America with her husband. Soon after coming to this country the family took up a homestead a few miles west of this city, on which they resided until 1920 when Mr. Myron passed away in June of last year.

Representatives of Highway Department Visit City Thursday

C. A. Forbes, highway engineer in the state highway department, accompanied by C. H. Zealand, license inspector of the department, R. W. Sewell of Crookston, maintenance superintendent, and A. L. Hyrare, of Fergus Falls, division engineer of northwestern Minnesota, were the guests of the Commercial club last Thursday, at which time Mr. Forbes spoke briefly on the department's affairs.

According to the speaker the department is doing as much work as possible throut the state with the funds available, and at all times has this section just as much in mind as any other; only to some it might appear that not as much work is being done here as elsewhere.

If the department is to be handicapped by the passage of Amendment No. 1 at the election next fall, the department is hopeful that the people in turn will instruct their representatives in both branches of the legislature to raise the gasoline tax to four or possibly five cents per gallon.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Forbes stated how he was pleased he had assisted in the survey of the county north of here when it was practically a swamp from here north to Warroad. He told of wading waist deep in many places in the cold weather, little dreaming that some day the entire country would be as well drained as it is at present.

Library Books Past Due Should Be Returned Now During House Cleaning

The librarian and assistant librarian are busy each day at present taking the annual inventory of books in the Carnegie library, preparatory to the close of the fiscal year. In this connection Miss Helgrim, the librarian, calls attention to the fact that house cleaning time in the homes presents an excellent opportunity to return to the library any books that may inadvertently have been kept at home by mistake. Patrons of the institution are requested to return the same at the earliest convenience.

Good use can also be made of the better grade of magazines, and if anyone has any they wish to discard it will be appreciated if the librarian is notified and the items or a postcard mailed to her.

A few more books have been placed on the shelves since the last report, including the following:

O'Henry Memorial Award Stories of 1920; Werner's Reading and Recitations; The Best Books of our Times, by Dickenson; Nevada, by Zane Grey; Beauty and the Beast by Norris; and Trub's Diary by Foote.

Several Astol Tagged Here by State Official Making Inspection Trip

Quite a number of autos in the city on Thursday of last week were tagged by C. F. Zealand, state head of highway department, who with others from the department are making an inspection tour thru this part of the state. Some of those tagged were for failure to have their license tags as required by law; others for having a 1927 tag when a 1928 tag was due, tagged for having trailers attached and not bearing the extra tags therefor.

In discussing the license tag matter Mr. Zealand stated that many few people who have trailers realize that a license tag for the trailer is required, while some of those who do know about the matter try to represent that the tags are only required on the heavily loaded trailers, or truck-trailers as they are sometimes called.

Mr. Zealand stated to representatives of the Times-News Herald, the city that the violations of the auto statutes in respect to tags were exceptionally few in a city of this size.

Starting at sundown this evening Jews in this country and elsewhere will begin their annual observance of Shabuoth, or the Feast of Weeks. The holiday is also known as the Feast of the First Fruits and the Feast of Pentecost.

200,000 Buyers Can't Be Wrong

When the Pontiac Six was first introduced less than two and a half years ago, immediate buying enthusiasm was aroused. The public accepted the statement of General Motors and Oakland that here was a new car offering six-cylinder value never before enjoyed at such low price. 75,000 Pontiac Sixes sold in 1926 established a world's record for a new make of car. Sales for 1927 carried the total of satisfied Pontiac owners beyond the 200,000 mark. And now, even if its unrivaled value could not be proved by comparison with the car cost in its field—even if its superiority could not be demonstrated by scores of advanced features combined in no other low-priced six—even if all its claims to leadership were based on generalities — you could still buy the Pontiac Six with complete confidence . . . for 200,000 buyers can't be wrong!

2-Door Sedan, $745; Coupe, $745; Sport Roadster, $745; Phaeton, $775. Cabriolet, $795; 4-Door Sedan, $825; Sport Landau Sedan, $875; Oakland All-American Six, $1045 to $1265. All prices at factory. Buyers Can't Be Wrong

• a Successful Six now on the Road from Greatest Success

When the Pontiac Six was first introduced less than two and a half years ago, immediate buying enthusiasm was aroused. The public accepted the statement of General Motors and Oakland that here was a new car offering six-cylinder value never before enjoyed at such low price. 75,000 Pontiac Sixes sold in 1926 established a world's record for a new make of car. Sales for 1927 carried the total of satisfied Pontiac owners beyond the 200,000 mark. And now, even if its unrivaled value could not be proved by comparison with the car cost in its field—even if its superiority could not be demonstrated by scores of advanced features combined in no other low-priced six—even if all its claims to leadership were based on generalities — you could still buy the Pontiac Six with complete confidence . . . for 200,000 buyers can't be wrong!

2-Door Sedan, $745; Coupe, $745; Sport Roadster, $745; Phaeton, $775. Cabriolet, $795; 4-Door Sedan, $825; Sport Landau Sedan, $875; Oakland All-American Six, $1045 to $1265. All prices at factory. MAY CONSTRUCT THREE BRIDGES NORTH OF CITY

State Highway Department Is Asking for Bids to Be Opened Next Month

FIRST EVIDENCE OF EARLY WORK ON NO. 32

No Mention Made of Grading in Bulletin from Office of Highway Engineer

The first actual evidence that the state highway department will start work on the portion of trunk highway No. 32 north of the city to the Janetlien with trunk No. 11, was contained in the announcement received Monday by The Times that bids have been called for to be opened on Tuesday, June 12, including a 30 foot bridge at Middle River, another of similar length at Greenbush, where a third may also be constructed 40 feet in length.

No mention is made of the proposed grading of the new road in the announcement received, but as the statement says that this is the first long list of trunk highway projects to be advertised for letting since the first of the year by the Minnesota Highway department. Commissioner C. M. Babcock will open bids on these jobs Tuesday, June 12.

The grveling is on stretches of highway where new grading was completed last fall or this spring. The work of graveling will be pushed as rapidly as possible after the contracts are let, so that travelers will have the use of the new routes during the summer and fall. The list follows:

Gravel Surfacing

T. H. No. 2—Between Fraser and Perham, 11.4 miles, 8,221 cu. yds. From Ironton southeast, 5.1 miles, 2,900 cu. yds. Between Bluffton and Frazee, 18.7 miles, 14,971 cu. yds. Between Detroit Lakes and Frazee, 5.2 miles, 840 cu. yds.

T. H. No. 4—Between Sauk Centre and Long Prairie, 17.9 miles, 14,720 cu. yds. gravel and 2,175 cu. yds. clay surfacing.

T. H. No. 8—Between Le Sueur and St. Peter, 11.5 miles, 9,200 cu. yds.

T. H. No. 11—Between International Falls and Pelland, 11.5 miles, 18,400 cu. yds. Between International Falls and east county line, 23.5 miles, 25,500 cu. yds.

T. H. No. 28—East of Sauk Centre, 13 miles, 1,047 cu. yds.

T. H. No. 36—Between Bejou and north county line, 2.9 miles, 5,784 cu. yds.

T. H. No. 81—West of Mahnomen, 7.1 miles, 10,943 cu. yds.

Grading

T. H. No. 52—Between Tower and Soudan, 2.1 miles, 52,900 cu. yds. excavation.

Bridges

T. H. No. 4—South of Olivia, bridge No. 4360, 4808, 4807 and 4809, each 20 feet.

T. H. No. 8—At Breckenridge, Bridge No. 3818, length 140 feet.

T. H. No. 8—Near Hall Club, bridge No. 3822, length 20 feet.

T. H. No. 10—At Delano, bridge No. 3622, widening concrete deck girder, 155 ft. long.

T. H. No. 21—Near Milaca, bridge No. 4003, length 35 ft.

T. H. No. 30—Between Belview and Sheridan, bridge Nos. 4827, 4823 and 4824, each 40 feet long.

T. H. No. 32—At Middle River, bridge No. 4837, length 30 feet. Near Greenbush, bridge No. 4811, length 30 ft., and bridge No. 4802, length 40 ft.

From the above it will also be observed that there will be 11.5 miles of gravel surfacing west of International Falls, with 23.5 miles east of that city to the Koochiching county line, where a light gravel surface starts to Ventura, with a paved road from there to Duluth. Another section to be graveled in this section includes almost four miles north of Bejou on trunk No. 20, with seven miles just west of Mahnomen on trunk No. 32.

Perry Ward Mathewson Is Selected for Carrier on Rural Route Number Three

Perry Ward Mathewson has been selected for the position of rural carrier No. 3 out of Thief River Falls, according to advices received at the local postoffice. H. Ray Hope, assistant postmaster, announced late last week, succeeding Charles Conner, who has been substitute carrier for the past several years.

Mr. Mathewson, who will assume the new duties on Monday, June 4, took the examination here on Saturday, March 10, when 42 candidates assembled for the test, 23 of whom are living from Thief River Falls and from Red Lake Falls, one of the latter being a Gold Star mother.

Word was received two weeks ago that of those taking the examination Perry Ward Mathewson, Henry H. Johnson and Walter H. Quist had been certified from Thief River Falls, and Herbert W. Finnlayson, Carl A. Lehrer and Paul J. Ilty from Red Lake Falls. They had passed the examination in the order named.

Route No. 3 out of this city is 24 and five-eighths miles in length, and serves that section lying southeast of here, east and south of the Red Lake river. The permanent appointment of Mr. Mathewson will follow a six months' probationary service, expiring next December.

A Blue Hat and a Parcel of Dreams

If our 954 stores only sold bolts of cloth and papers of pins, life wouldn't be such an interesting adventure, but the real reason we are in business is to sell brown paper parcels of Dreams—as is shown by the story of the Blue Hat.

To begin with this particular Blue Hat was plainly not suited for anyone except the untimed face of Youth, and the shabby little dark-skinned woman with the shawl over her head was undeniably middle aged—that harsh, unlovely middle age that is the heritage of Poverty and Drab Years. But sometime—somewhere—she had glimpsed such a hat and her starved imagination had straightway transformed it into an Ideal, a Symbol of all the pleasures and privileges that this New Land gave to its women with lavish hands.

So the Blue Hat was wrapped up and stowed away in the back of a muddy Ford. Suitability, after all, is only a question of taste and there are times when it is more important for a hat to match the soul of a woman than her face.

FOUR SESSIONS OF FARM CROPS SCHOOL IS PLAN

Agronomy Specialist of University Extension Will Be In Charge of Course

FIRST SESSION TO BE HELD NEXT NOVEMBER

Demonstration Plots Included in Plans for Summer Following Course

A farm crops school once a month for four months will be held in Pennington county next winter, according to County Agent Robert M. Douglas, the location of the school to be determined later in the season. It is A. Crim, agronomy specialist of the agricultural extension division of the state university, will be in charge of the meetings, the first of which will be held some time in November, with the final session either in February or March.

The course of lectures, or farm crops school, is designated to fill the needs of practical men, and will be a full knowledge of the work carried on by the Minnesota Experimental station. Information on recommended varieties of farm crops, the method of planting them on farmers, and how purity is maintained.

The minimum enrollment for the course is ordinarily ten students, but it is believed that not less than twelve that number in Pennington county will avail themselves of the opportunity and that others in the county, either as former or person interested, especially producers of pure seed grain, can privately doing outside this calling for to attend all four sessions. Mimeographed material will be handed out at each session. Exhibit material and slides will be used if necessary arrangements can be made.

The outline for the four sessions as announced by Mr. Crim is as follows:

Program of Sessions

1. Methods of testing and acquiring varieties.
   (a) The experiment station organization.
   (b) Co-operation of the Minnesota station with others and the United States Department of Agriculture.
   (c) History and performance of some of the older and outstanding varieties.
2. Recommended varieties.
   (a) What is meant by recommended varieties.
   (b) The record of performance with plot data.
   (c) Information on reaction to disease and unfavorable weather.
3. How recommended varieties are passed on to farmers.
   (a) The division of farm management, agronomy, and plant genetics and the Minnesota Crop Improvement association co-operates in the distribution of pure seed.
   (b) The plan of the Minnesota Crop Improvement association.
   (c) Rules and methods of certification.
   (d) Practices in the distribution of certified seed.
4. Corn improvement.
   (a) Early history and development of the corn belt.
   (b) Early methods of improvement.
   (c) Present methods of corn breeding.

Demonstration Plots

Tentative arrangements have also been made for putting the information thus planned to practical use by the small test demonstration method. It is quite probable that sufficient land, especially considering the advantageous points in the county will be furnished free to the county agent, who will handle it by him under direction of Mr. Crim.

These demonstration plots will be planted the different varieties of farm crops of the kinds, enabling the farmers to see just which kind of seed is best adapted to the different soils of the county. Various parts of the county have so far been neglected in being left till late this fall, or probably next spring.

"U" OFFERS COURSE FOR STUDY OF LAND VALUES

Planned for farmers, farm land appraisers, bankers, real estate dealers, tax officials, officers of farm loan association, and others interested in methods of valuation farm lands, a land valuation short course will be held at University Farm, St. Paul, June 19 and 20.

Opportunity will be presented to study methods of valuation followed by organizations that have appraised thousands of acres of farm lands, and also to consider the latest information regarding the factors affecting land values. Dean W. C. Coffey of the University Department of Agriculture, will attend greetings at the opening session at 9:15 A. M. Tuesday, June 19. The registration fee for the course is $2.

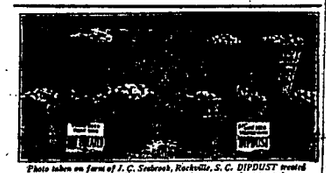

Photo taken on farm of J. C. Seabrook, Rockville, S. C. DIPDUST treated seed yielded 25 bushels more per acre than same seed not treated.

Increase Your Potato Yield 15 to 25 Bushels per Acre with This Instantaneous Dip

Treat your seed potatoes as fast as you can scoop them up. Just dip them in DIPDUST solution and out again—all ready to plant.

DIPDUST protects the seed and insures a heavy, profitable yield. It is much more effective than the old-fashioned "two-hour soak" treatment—besides there is not the slightest danger of injuring the sprouts or even cut seed.

After one trial of DIPDUST you will never again waste two hours treating seed potatoes or spend two weeks worrying about your stand. Compare this New Treatment with the older ones:

THE NEW WAY (Dipdust Organic Mercury Disinfectant)	THE OLD WAY (Formaldehyde or Corrosive Sublimate)
1. Requires less than 1 minute. One man can easily treat from 200 to 400 bushels of potatoes per day.	1. Require from 1½ to 2 hours. One man can treat only from 50 to 75 bushels per day.
2. Can be used on cut or sprouted seed without the slightest injury.	2. Can not be used on cut or sprouted seed without injury.
3. After cutting, protects the cut surfaces from seed-rotting organisms in the soil. This insures a better stand of stronger plants.	3. Before cutting, give no protection to the cut surfaces. The seed frequently decays in the ground before the young plants get started.
4. Controls surface-borne diseases, such as Rhizoctonia, scab and black-leg.	4. Although effective against Rhizoctonia and scab, do not control black-leg.
5. Improves the stand and growth of the plants, and thus increases the yield 10 to 20%.	5. Frequently decrease the stand, and therefore the yield, to a serious extent.

GUARANTEE: Plant a Dipdust treated seed in soil that is considered good enough to grow a crop of potatoes. If, when dug, the crop is not at least 10 per cent greater than the yield from untreated potatoes, return the empty container to us and we will refund purchase price.

One pound treats 15 to 20 bushels of seed potatoes.

Treat your Corn and Vegetable Seeds too

You can now also disinfect your seed corn and vegetable seeds with DIPDUST and increase your yield by preventing many of the diseases which cause poor germination, weak, spindly plants, and poor quality crop. Simply use as a dust treatment. It is easily and quickly applied and costs a few cents per acre. One pound of DIPDUST will treat 400 bushels of seed corn, or from six to eight bushels of vegetable seeds.

Affairs at Washington — by Congressman Selvig

Washington—The United States does not produce a surplus of farm products. We import the surplus. 70 per cent of the total imports for the U. S. last year were agricultural products. We grow only 21 per cent for all other classifications. We imported a billion dollars' worth more farm products than we exported last year.

Even China, where millions are starving, exported to us six million dollars. Europe sent us sixty million dollars' worth of sugar, while the tropics sent us over three hundred million dollars worth of vegetable oils, mainly for making oleomargarine, most of which come in free of duty.

Presidential Candidates Quizzed

Gov. Lowden was in Washington, this week, to appear before a Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures. His stay here was at the most continuous ovation, with hundreds of friends from all over the country crowding around him.

All the presidential candidates have been quizzed about their expenses. All were asked practically the same questions. Smith was examined first. Hoover was inclined to be reticent, but Lowden and Smith were rather curt, but perfectly composed. Lowden was at ease and genial. He shook hands all around when through. Norris appears to have gotten the most publicity out of the hearings. He cured the Nebraska and Wisconsin primaries at an expense of six dollars.

The bill to regulate sale of prison-made goods in interstate commerce passed the senate, but the house will probably not get through the Senate. It was opposed by the Board of Control in charge of Minnesota's state institutions, among others. It is claimed that it will be the means of crippling the Minnesota state binder twine factory and farm machinery plant.

How Tariff Might Aid

My opponents in the ninth district are having a lot of fun being sarcastic about high tariff. This item was sold in the state of Minnesota by the Department of Agriculture. The soil in the sandy-land district, between Thief River Falls and Duluth, produces exceptionally fine turnips, and if the heavy tariff on sugar is lifted it may result in a considerable acreage in Minnesota. The tariff has nothing directly for the Red River Valley. It ought to help the production of the potato acreage in the eastern part of the state and the state where some of the competition for our potato growers.

It may interest you that the contest case of Wefald vs. Selvig is still pending. Nothing has been filed by Mr. Wefald except the complaint, which does not have to be sworn to. The case is being kept open to permit him every possible opportunity to file some evidence in support of his wild charges. His failure to do so can only be ascribed to the fact that he has no such evidence. His charges were probably not made to be proven, but for propaganda purposes only.

Nuptials Control Coming

The McNary-Haugen bill was repassed in both Senate and House by the same vote as the original bill, and now goes to the president. He may veto it, which means we have to make the fight all over again at the next session of Congress. There is, however, a Republican majority in both branches of Congress for a surplus control plan of some kind, and it will eventually come. If the farmers' organizations continue to grow in membership and power we are soon going to take substantial justice.

Both the Republican and Democratic parties are disposed to grant to the labor unions almost anything they ask, on the basis of keeping them friendly. The party leaders have not given the same consideration to agriculture, in the past, because the farmers have always been divided and without effective organizations. That condition is now being overcome. When the farmers can organize as effectively as the labor unions they will soon be able to achieve equality.—C. G. Selvig.

3,000 STORES IN EAST WILL SELL LAND O' LAKES BUTTER

Three thousand additional stores in eastern states will market Minnesota dairy butter and eggs under a contract closed recently by John Brandt, president of the Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc., insuring the sale of approximately $50,000,000 worth of butter and eggs this next year.

New and renewed contracts will also provide for the sale of cheese and powdered buttermilk, according to Mr. Brandt, who states that the organization is now securing its butter and eggs from nearly 500 farmer controlled creameries in the northwest.

NINTH DISTRICT LEGION AUXILIARY REPORT IS ISSUED

Mrs. Barnes, President, Particularly Pleased With Showing Made Locally

The ninth district report of the American Legion Auxiliary, recently submitted by Mrs. F. C. Barnes, its president, was released for publication last week and is reproduced below. By way of introduction Mrs. Barnes says the ninth district is the home of the department's president, Mrs. J. M. Bishop of this city, and the Legion's state commander, Fred Swinkle of Fergus Falls, and contains more than one tenth of the ten thousand lakes of Minnesota.

The District Record. In 1927, we had 42 units, 30 overtype. The first increase in 1928 was the resurrection of Roosevelt with 17 members. We have added four new units, East Grand Forks, Hitterdal, Deer Creek and Parkers Prairie. Fisher will be next. We hope that we can add to the 100 per cent quarter has been blasted, as our last report showed 37 overtops and one sleeping unit, Thayer. We are proud that our Legion has also been first in the county—a unit in the vintage gain and is the first Legion district overtop. Our joy at going overtop the same day as the 10th was unbounded.

Credit is due the Ninth's units for this record. We are proud of Thief River Falls, with its gain of 9 from 85 to 117; Mentor, gained 21 from 27 to 48; Goodrich doubling with 27 in all; Badger more than doubling, 5 to 11; Fertile with 64 to 81; and Fergus Falls and Detroit Lakes. Our units are doing good welfare work, community service and money raising. Badger members held a box social and sale and realized money enough to purchase a book for the Fl. Snelling Day Nursery. This unit got 50 cook book orders.

"Rallies were held at Battle Lake, Thief River Falls, Detroit Lakes and Bagley. Plans for placing a Ninth district program personally before each unit were discussed because of uncertain road conditions and poor rail connections, but units were shown some of the competition for our next year.

He called The Correspondence District. I have urged more basis for membership and more planning of unit programs. Publishing units should have something to print until the department unit activities chairman could get her outline to them. I gave units an idea of what they might do.

I hope that the value of mailing definite plans for a program of education and service will continue to be stressed by district, department and national organizations. The Ninth values the cooperation of department officers and chairmen. We thank Mrs. Bishop and Mrs. Carlson for—their "rallying efforts. We welcome all to the Ninth's Convention at Ada June 11. We hope that plans will be perfected to make membership work more intensive and real Auxiliary work more evenly and uniform. The years tell us that we can go far if we hurry a bit, so watch the Ninth next year. I'm a great district, watch it Go and Grow!"

Begging For Rides Under Ban of Local Police Who Will Enforce State Law

Announcement is made this week by the local police department that they will enforce the laws against soliciting rides on the streets and highways. The state laws reads:

No person standing in the traveled portion of a roadway for the purpose of soliciting a ride from the driver of any vehicle other than a common carrier."

Standing in the streets or highways begging for rides, is an extremely dangerous practice, says a late state bulletin on highway safety, but it is done by many school children and some grown-ups. They are doing a good welfare work, community service and money raising. Badger members held a box social and sale and realized money enough to purchase a book for the Fl. Snelling Day Nursery. This unit got 50 cook book orders.

Only One Pennington County Entry to Date in Ten Litter Contest

C. H. Fuller of Marie has entered eleven Yoland China pigs, farrowing Mch. 18 this year, in the ten litter contest of the state agricultural extension division of the University Farm, according to County Agent Robert M. Douglas, who is in charge of entries for Pennington county. There is still time for any farmer, boy or girl in Minnesota to enter the contest.

State prize money, trophies and free trips will be awarded the producers of heaviest litters. Special prize money is offered 4-H club members who keep feed records and report them at the ten litter conclusion. Likewise a few days are left for farrowing entries in the Minnesota pork production contest which was started last year to demonstrate the best methods of breeding, feeding, and managing, and also to locate the most efficient producers of pork. The litter work in the state is now in the sixth year.

Entries in these contests have not kept pace in numbers with those of other years. That is attributed by H. G. Zavoral, who is in charge of the contests for the agricultural extension service of the university, to the prevailing low prices of pork products and the high prices of feed.

RESUME

What has the year 1928-27 brought to the students of Lincoln High? Anything worth while? First of all was a high old time—candy, hamburg and cream puff sales held early in the fall and at other times during the year. These always brought the Lincolnites with money jingling in their pockets to get their share. Not least important were the Eskimo pies sold by the senior, a star at the last brother games. The seniors know how to best get the salesy they tackled one while he was excited over the outcome of the game, and didn't quite realize where his dimes were going to. Indeed, our basketball games were exciting. For the first time in a number of years the team conquered the Bemidji team on its most as well as here. Crookston and Warren received like treatment until the tournament, when over 1000 per cent standing was taken down by being defeated in the closest game of the year, the Warren game. The enthusiastic spirit of Thief River F' alls she wed their appreciation of the team by the payment their way to the regional game at Crookston where a considerable game was played between Thief River Falls and Crookston.

Merely year it is customary to have a masquerade lance and a junior-senior banquet. This year was no exception. The masquerade was well attended by hobos, dutchmen, etc., who helped to make the evening an enjoyable one. The costumes were judged and prizes were given to the prettiest and funniest ones there.

The junior-senior banquet held at the Evening hotel also attracted many Lincolnites as the two upper classmen had evening's program was of the "Lindy" type and the Ritz ball room decorated with aeroplanes and clouds to further carry out the Lindbergh idea.

Every class has had its share of good times. The sophomore class, better known as the "puppies" class in school, had several parties and picnics, and were also given a party by the seniors as they sold the greatest number tags. The freshmen did not play so prominent a role this year but it is the usual experience of freshmen to be rather quiet until the atmosphere has become more familiar and the term "green" has left them. They did have a picnic though and a very enjoyable one at that. Each student was asked to bring a lemon (?!?!!). The freshmen seem just as sweet in spite of the lemon.

Plays always interest the students and both the junior and senior plays were well attended. It was especially interesting to the juniors as it was their first year to take the responsibility of putting on a play and a real banquet. The juniors also entered a Christmas party in honor of Miss Sizemore, their class adviser.

Last but not least, comes the senior class with their list of achievements. We first of all think of the effort put forth on their annual. This meant nights of hard work with everyone doing his part. Their play or rather plays proved very successful. The class pray "What Happened to Jones" brought many enthusiastic audiences to the auditorium. Their other play, "Whose Crazy Now?" given on senior day was only a part of the fun they offered.

With diligence—No negligence—
You surely will make "Progress!"

POPULAR SONG

Tune; "Let me Call You Sweetheart"
To Miss Minnie Leavitt.

There was once a teacher
—Not so very old—
Though by her pupils
She taught all the English
To the higher fold.
Jamming as much grammar
As their heads would hold.

II

Peering at the days gone
By, she was a Miss,
Valedictorian was she
Of her high school class;
Dearer hopes for her future
Than a girl now has,
Who is a sophomore
To the modern jazz.

III

When the bells are tolling
"Ding-a-ling-a-ling!"
Or a sledgehare thrown
At Lincoln's door,
Tongues of Lincolnites
Will instead take wing,
And with heaps of good-will
All together sing—

"Let me call you Minnie,
I've been taught by you;
Let me hear you whisper
That I've learned some, too;
Though my terrible slowness
Sometimes made you blue—
Let me call you Minnie,
I've been taught by you!"

EDITORIAL STAFF FOR COMING YEAR HAS BEEN CHOSEN

Mildred Tearum, Literary Editor This Year, Will Be Editor in Chief

Mildred Tearum, Estelle Hansen and Eunice Carlson were chosen by the four English teachers upon the retiring staff's recommendation to edit the 1929 "Progress."

Mildred Tearum, the new editor has served as literary editor during the past year in which capacity she has shown natural ease in writing and leadership qualities to fit her position in these qualities. Her associates, Estelle Hansen and Eunice Carlson, will assist her capably, having given excellent service in previous issues.

The offices of Activities editor, created last year to embrace the articles of assemblies and plays, will be filled by Harlan Spoehelm.

Lenlan Backlund, a present Freshman, will act as Literary editor, a position which will enable her to use her ability.

Donald Bright, present Associate-Athletic editor, will have charge of the sport writings this year. Donald attended the Grand Forks convention last fall, and has shown keen interest in this work since. He will be assisted by Robert Thompson in athletics but nevertheless a great fan, James Watson.

Features, or better the position of putting originality and pep into the papers, will be worked at by Robert Biedermann.

Reporters are: Evelyn Whiting, Alice Larson, and Bessie Carlson, all capable of developing into higher offices under the training of news assignments.

During the past term, the Progress staff found it necessary to have money for occasional cartoons of teachers and forecasts of Lincoln events. To provide a separate fund for this purpose, Jack Van Pelt, the present Sophomore treasurer, will act as collector.

The retiring force wish the new twelve students the best of luck in putting out a better paper than ever, one that should rank high in the coming newspaper contest.

Next Year's Registration Started Monday, May 21

Registration for next year by the three lower classes began last Monday, the freshmen being first. The sophomores registered Tuesday and the juniors Wednesday. Mr. Hand explained to the freshmen that they should plan their course the first year so that conflicts would not arise later. The state requires that a high school graduate have five credits from the following groups: mathematics, sciences, languages and history. He also stated that there is no such thing as easy subjects. One that may be easy for one person is difficult for another. There are four courses from which to choose: Classical, Scientific, Commercial and General. It is considered wise to follow courses in one particular line and not take a few subjects in each courses. A student is seldom permitted to take subjects below the class to which he belongs. In order to carry five subjects he must have an average of B, and Mr. Hand's permission.

WHO AM I?

I am one whom many love, but not all appreciate. Sometimes my worth is found when it is too late—when chance of circumstance has thrown bounds to the winds. I am found in the school room, the office, the hospital, the theater, the poor-house, the millionaire's home, and in the caverns of the United States.

Sometimes I have brown eyes and sometimes blue or greyish green. My hair may be dark, blond, or silver, but such facts are immaterial. At times I have a very forceful personality and then, by age-old methods, I make myself known to those who do not understand who I am. When I am of a quiet and subdued temperament, it is more difficult to make my presence felt.

However, most people (and animals, too) do by instinct recognize me at once; and I have made many an eye twinkle and many a heart lighter. Without me, this world would indeed be dreary. No man would enjoy life for long.

I have several imitations—poor ones that often find a ready market but never hold out long. The reason is that they lack my trademark—that of unselfishness.

If I am of the highest quality, every person who has one of me may pat himself on the back and call himself fortunate. I am—"A friend!"

Friendship is a chain of gold,
Shaped in God's all-perfect mold;
Each link a smile, a laugh, a tear,
A grip on the hand, a word of cheer,
As steadfast as the agwe roll,
Binding closer soul to soul,
No matter how far or heavy the load
Sweet is the journey on friendship's road!

TO THE SENIORS!

This to the Senior class of twenty-eight,
Who sit so early date
Will leave our old Lincoln High.
And then let the sweet-by and bye,
Look back on that day in June
Graduation, so long awaited,
For which they've studied lessons—loved and hated.

The gladsome times you've spent are thick as sand
In memory they stand;
When dealing with friend or foe,
You'll probably be glad to know
We were sorry to see you go;
And yet, Old Whose Time
Who makes the freshmen, seniors, reign sublime.

Year after year you've grown inch by inch,
'Till it's a dead-born cinch
You can't be children ever,
Like Peter Pan who never Thought play from life should sever;
But life can't be all play—
The care-free moments do precede a thoughtful day.

Thanks for the moments past, spent with thee,
Thou who now art free
From high school duties at least,
On broader tasks you'll feast
As you run your journeys—north, south, west, east;
Those for whom you've set a standard—every day
For other classes—now to them you say:

"Build thee ideals worth while, classes all
'Tis you to get your life call;
We bequeath to you our duties past;
Remember!, Previous time flies fast;
So enjoy them while they last;
And now we bid adieu
With a last fond look at every one of you"

Soph and Senior Conversation

Senior: Hey! Bimbo! Do you know anything clever?
Soph: Sure, I always do.
Senior: Now say! I'm not referring to any of those weight cracks of yours. Have something that honestly is bullable will hide your Adam's apple. Understand, peppy little one?
Soph: Ya! But why are you so anxious to have me know something clever?
Senior: Why, infant, the Prowler is coming out Friday.
Soph: No-o-o!! Hurrah!
Senior: And I want all you have in the "green" wood to write in my book.
Soph: Delighted I am shore.
Senior: Don't position it youngster. And say, by the way, don't forget to bring your money—
Soph: Oh! I see through you. It's the dough you've been bitten at all the time. The idea! Don't you suppose that I've got plenty of men?!!!
(Squtter, sputter)
Senior: Go show your thumb and when you get tired of that—
Soph: Oh! I'm disappointed yap! (If it wasn't that there's so many pictures of me in that Prowler, I'd never buy it a-tall)

WHAT HAPPENED TO JONES PRESENTED BY SENIOR CLASS

Members of Cast, Coach, and Others in Charge of Play Are Congratulated

"What Happened to Jones," the Senior class play, was presented Friday evening, May 18, to a record breaking crowd in the city auditorium.

This rollicking comedy centered about the actions of Jones, a traveling salesman who, following a scrap with the police, escaped into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blackley, by way of fly. The heavy role of Jones was well carried by Leslie Sundahl, who played his part as the clever hymn book agent with skill and ease.

Chester Dahlin, the professor of anatomy, Ebenezer Goodly, characterized the part of the old gentleman with more than amateur talent, delighting the audience with his clever jokes and forcing them to laugh in hysterical pity at his amusing plights.

The role of Mrs. Blackley, which was very well played by Margaret Bjorkman, showed how to care for one's husband. Margaret never failed to portray the dignified matron perfectly.

The Goodlyz ward, Cliley, continually displayed interest in athletics and society, and when this little miss fell in love with Jones, the salesman, Goodly Jones, how agitated the Goodlyz home. Her thoroughly unladylike pranks. This role was charmingly played by Lucille Larson.

Scenes Duplicated

The plot became quite complicated when the true Bishop of Ballarat, otherwise Gwaves Williamson, arrived and caused Jones, who posed as that Doctor of Divinity, no end of trouble. George touched the heartstrings of everyone with his confession, "I want to see my brother."

Ethel Moline, as Alvina Starlight, the lovesick old maid who was the Bishop's fiancee, caused unbounded merriment by her clever characterization of a golden-haired lady.

Ruth Bjorkman's Norma Dreamer was portrayed in a very interesting manner by Richard Heatherly and Ebenezer's daughter Marjorie, portrayed by Clayton Snyder and Hirdine Vanderlip. And I want all you have in the "green" wood to write in my book.

Ralph Kleghorn as the "I never fail" policeman, and John Barnes, as Fuller, the sanitarium superintendent, were also well fitted for their respective parts.

Coach J. W. Ogheim and his Senior class, as well as Mrs. H. C. Hand, director of costumes and makeup, Marville Cenderson, property manager, and Clifford Wheel, stage manager, are to be congratulated on the success of the production of one of the peppiest plays ever given by our high school.

London has voted to not place memorial tablets on sites of deeds of heroism and historic events.

Baccalaureate Services Will Be Held on Sunday

The Baccalaureate services for the 1928 graduating class will be held Sunday, May 29, at the auditorium. Reverend Bloem, pastor of the Augustana Lutheran church will officiate at the services.

The plans this year are similar to those given in preceding years. Several numbers will be sung by the congregation and the Trinity Lutheran choir will also sing a selection.

ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR GRADUATION PLEASING

On Friday, May 18 the graduation announcements were placed on sale and many of the more ambitious Seniors were on hand to be the first to get their announcements under way to relatives and friends. The Seniors appear highly pleased with the announcements, judging from the many expressions of admiration and pleasure at the sight of them. The complete description of the announcements was given in last week's Progress as a repetition would be hardly necessary.

HITPIN TOURNAMENT IS ON PRESENT WEEK

The girls' hitpin baseball tournament will be held this week on Tuesday and Thursday at the Community building. This game will be played on Tuesday and Thursday.

The names of the girls who are to receive numerals for their athletic ability during the past term will be announced next week.

Agricultural Growth of State Clearly Portrayed by Late 10,000 Lakes Map

Minnesota's unusual growth in agricultural and industrial lines is set forth in the new 1928 map of the "Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota recreation" which has been issued by the state highway department.

Hitherto, the map has been devoted almost entirely to recreational facilities in the state, but this year an important section of it is given over to agricultural and industrial resources. Next year, it is understood, the region will be distributed in answer to the many requests received for information, and the map will carry the story of Minnesota's agricultural growth all over the United States along with the story of its lakes.

"The last agricultural census shows that during the 10-year period ending in 1925 that Minnesota led 42 states in agricultural growth," a statement on the map says. "During that period of time Minnesota gained 32,924 farmers. Of that number, 8,783 new farmers were added during the years from 1920 to 1925. This alone would be sufficient proof of the substantial standing Minnesota has as an agricultural state."

"Twenty-five per cent of the new farms opened up in the United States in the last decade are in Minnesota."

The statement recalls that "a few years ago there was hardly a farm in Minnesota," and adds:

"When the first installment of surveyed land was opened to settlement by the state, population jumped from a few thousand to more than 2,000,000 in 15 years. By 1870, there were 46,500 farms in the state and since then this number has increased to 188,000."

ROAD MAINTENANCE DOLLAR ANALYZED BY HIGHWAY DEPT.

Patrol Work Took Large Share; Snow Fighting Was Another Large Item

How the maintenance funds of the Minnesota highway department were spent in 1927 is shown in a bulletin received this week by The Times. According to this analysis, each dollar was divided as follows:

Patrol cost	34.3
Special work	31.5
Repairs and replacements	13.8
Betterments	6.0
Superintendents and field supervision	5.4
	100.00

The 74.3 cents for patrol work was subdivided as follows: blading and dragging, 25.5; patch gravelling, 8.5; shoveling ice, 4.1; cleaning and mowing roadsides, 4.3 cents.

Snow expense was the largest item under the heading "special work," as 17.6 cents out of every dollar were spent for snow plowing and snow fence. Other items under special work were: oil treatment, such as oil, tar and calcium chloride, 8.8 cents; marking, 2 cents, new buildings and repairs, 3.7 cents, and miscellaneous work, 2.4 cents.

Of the 13.8 cents spent for repairs and replacements, 9.4 cents went for regravelling, 2.3 for reblading, 2 cents for bridge repairs and 2.6 cents for miscellaneous. The 6 cents for betterments was for new gravelling and other improvements done by the maintenance division on roads which have not yet been graded and surfaced by the construction division.

Classified by commodities, it is found that out of every dollar spent for maintenance, 21.3 cents went for labor, 11.1 cents for material and 27.6 cents for machinery. Of the 21.3 cents for labor, 13.7 cents went for patrol teams, 17.7 for special contracts such as gravelling and oiling, 6.4 cents for equipment operators, 3.7 for unclassified labor, 2 cents for skilled labor, 2.7 for superintendents and foremen, 0.6 for clerks, and 1.3 for miscellaneous.

The 11.1 cents for material was divided into 3.7 cents for culverts, lumber, etc.; 5 cents for oil, tar and calcium chloride, and 2.4 cents for gravel and rock. The 27.6 for operation of equipment was spent for gasoline charges on trucks, tractors, graders, and other equipment, and gas, oil, repairs and miscellaneous field expense.

Milk is an almost perfect food for children and very good for adults. Fruit is healthful for all. Berries are filled with vitamins, minerals and acids. Cream, sugar and eggs are among our most valuable foods.

ANNUAL MUNICIPAL LEAGUE MEET IN BRAINERD IN JUNE

City officials have received an invitation to attend the fifteenth annual convention of the League of Minnesota Municipalities to be held June 13, 14, and 15 at Brainerd, an attendance of approximately 500 municipal officials from all parts of the state is expected at this meeting. Talks on governmental subjects by experts in the field of municipal administration and open forums for discussion by the delegates will make the convention a clearing house for information on local government. The value of these meetings in furthering the better government movement in Minnesota was recognized by the Legislature when in 1923 it authorized cities and villages to pay the annual dues in the League of Minnesota Municipalities, and the annual and necessary expenses of city delegates as such governing body may be declared to be lawful meetings of any such League."

Corrugated Roller Failed to Kill Northcote Farmer Who Fell in Front of It

Oscar Youngren of Northcote went thru an experience one day that he will not soon forget, nor care to have repeated, when a disabling corrugated roller over a field he was plying from the sitting to the front thereof and between the team of horses.

Realizing that he could not get to either side of the approaching roller, and that the horses, on several occasions saw only one avenue of escape and took that course, the sleepy driver of the team fortunately was along side of him and he rolled into it, trusting to luck to be sufficiently near to escape death under the two ton roller.

As it passed over him he could feel the pressure but after it passed he was able to get up and found that other than being somewhat "pressed" he did not have any broken bones, and expects to be about his work again in a few days.

An Interesting Letter From Rev. O. J. Lundell

The Times is in receipt of the following communication from Rev. O. J. Lundell, who left this city two weeks ago with his brother for a visit to Sweden.

Editor, The Times:

As you asked me to write to The Times occasionally and I will try to do so now. So far I have traveled thru the following states, namely, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, and now am in Massachusetts.

The weather for the most part has been cold and the signs of spring here are not much ahead of those in the Red River valley. Wherever I talk to businessmen they say that business is O. K.

After you pass thru Illinois you do not see much farming land; the cities are near together. Some of them have a population of more than 500,000. How they all get their support is a mystery to me, but they all live, and most of them seem to do well.

The autos crowd you as soon as you enter a street, much as the motorcops did in the early days in the city. We scarcely live in a busy world.

The Swedish population is large in many of the eastern cities. I have preached in several churches where there is a seating capacity of more than 1,000. With a well played pipe organ and a big chorus to sing, you can but enjoy it.

In Jamestown, N. Y., there are several churches on the same street and close together. On Sunday morning the streets and avenues for several blocks were packed with cars. It was surely a great sight to behold. The word of God has yet power to draw the masses, and woe are the people who walk in the light of God's word. It is quickly seen that the streets here in the east are not as wide as farther west, and they tell me it will be even more as the farther east I go. Tack Rose-Polishes were streamed into the cities would grow in such tremendous size.

The country here in the New England states is pretty; there are valleys and mountains, but not so majestic as in the far western states.

Yours truly,
O. J. Lundell,
Worcester, Mass.,
May 7, 1928.

A Marvelous New MAYTAG Feature—
The Soft-Roller Water Remover

THE large soft rolls of the New Maytag Roller Water Remover hug every seam, fold, and bump in the clothes, removing both soap and water evenly from all parts of the garment. This results in quicker, more even drying on the line, and no yellow spots. Buttons, buckles, snaps or an ornament go through safely. Then, too, there is a safety feel, an automatic tension adjustment, a drum-load which reverses itself and an instant safety release.
The Roller Water Remover is compact, all metal and all gears are thoroughly enclosed. It swings and locks in seven different positions. Can you think of anything more complete and convenient? Do you remember that it has been a sensation?

ESSAYS ON PIONEER DAYS

Down in Renville county an essay contest on the pioneer life of that territory is being conducted and according to the Olivia Times many interesting stories of local interest are being put into written form and thus made available for preservation. The idea is a good one and might be considered by some local organization for this territory. We still have with us many of the original settlers in this country and there is a wealth of material centering around the old logging industry and the homesteading period which should be put into writing. Those who can give us the first hand information on these things will not be with us every many years more.

In speaking of the contest in Renville county the Times says:

The three judges of the Renville County Pioneer's essay contest have been at work the past three weeks in reading, comparing and marking the papers and tomorrow they will meet in Olivia to compare notes and to designate the prize winners. About fifty schools of the country are competing for these prizes and the station on "Pioneer Life," now in the hands of the judges, are said to be of high rank, and together they constitute a valuable collection of historical data and human interest incidents and anecdotes. Speaking of the excellences of the essays, one of the judges said to the Times editor yesterday: "I have found the reading of these essays a labor of love. They are not alone interesting, but inspiring as well. The contest will surely serve to stimulate a greater interest in pioneer history in our county and the officers of the Pioneers Association are to be commended for the step taken in arranging for the contest."

"USELESS GOOD CITIZENS"

The Park Rapids Enterprise points the finger of scorn at a class of citizens which it describes as being "good" but "useless". The Enterprise says:

There is a certain type of man in every community who poses as a good citizen. He breaks no laws; lives morally; pays his honest debts and is never tangled up with the law in any manner. But he lives by himself exclusively. When the call is issued for volunteers to put across a community movement and give a boost, he never answers. When calamity has befallen people in certain localities and charity flies to their rescue, he is never one of their number. When money is needed for a public enterprise his name is never on the list. When he sees some neighbor stuck in the mud he detours to avoid him. In fact, if he stood on the shore and saw the ship of state sinking he would never offer to throw out a line. And if all mankind was fashioned from this kind of clay there would happen? There would be no churches, no hospitals for the sick, no institutions for the unfortunate, no progress.

There is no question but that every community has a few too many of this variety of citizens, but it isn't well to be hasty in placing this charge against any particular individual. In this matter of being good citizens there are few people so clean that they are justified in throwing stones. The proper thing for each individual to do along this line is to establish a definite goal toward which to strive; create an imaginary ideal toward which to aspire—and then quit worrying about how good or how bad other citizens are, but just keep right on trying to get a little nearer to being the kind of a fellow you, yourself, think you ought to be.

MORTGAGING THE FUTURE

Tergiversous Tim, weekly contributor to the Northfield News, presents the following interesting views on bonds in particular and the bonding idea in general:

Speaking of bonds reminds me that there is still a very feeble attempt being made by some of the "interested" friends of the proposed twenty million dollar bond issue to bombard the people into believing that they should vote some more bonds on themselves at the next election. Up to date I am reliable informed that those who are raising the preliminary funds to finance the proposed raised issues and the cost of raising the same was $7,500. The great trouble with the whole scheme of life has become vote bonds for the next generation to pay instead of creating a sinking fund to start to lay the foundation for necessary improvements. Surely the most successful businesses are not conducted in that way, as why make it a point to do the public business all in that way. One shining light in the matter says that we have got to keep the men at work. A full stomach for one class—and let the ten confiscation eventually stagger business and paralize agriculture and industry. It will not do any harm in the long run to go a bit slower and a pay-as-you-go policy will set better on the minds and stomachs of the taxpayers for a long time to come.

PEAT LAND AND CELERY

One of the problems that is being given considerable attention by experiment stations thruout the country, and which is especially interesting to Northern Minnesota, is the attempt to find a practical use for peat lands. The most valuable experiments along this line perhaps are made by farmers who work such lands under actual farming conditions and who must be guided in their efforts by costs and income. The following item taken from the St. Cloud Journal Press, tells of the experience of one Todd County man, and the possibilities in such lands when properly worked.

Minnesota has been shipping its celery from Michigan and California.

There is a lot of peat land in this state, and here is another opportunity for the owners to supply Minnesota and the Northwest at good prices. Peat land is also excellent for vegetables, under intelligent treatment.

Some years ago the late C. G. Hartley of Duluth produced much celery from peat land north of that city, which was even superior in crisp quality to that of Michigan, and which brought him a good profit.

Peat land is owned by John Hirschey of Stapleton and he had the good judgment to put it under the management of Mr. Posthuman, an expert from Hollandsburg, Ill., where Hollandsburg families have converted from the marsh land into one of the most productive vegetable sections to be found in the state.

Five acres were planted to celery on this Stapleton land, and the first market about 70,000 bunches this fall, two or three carloads.

This tract is being visited by many farmers, who own peat land, and may be the beginning of a big celery industry in this section. The quality is said to be fine, and there is a home demand.

This is another way to diversify for those who own land of this kind.

PAYING FOR THE DRAINAGE ORGY
(Minneapolis Journal)

Undoubtedly one of the worst laws ever passed by a Minnesota Legislature was the old drainage statute. Under its benign workings are land-owner could, and often did, get a drainage ditch dug that was worse than unnecessary, and then stick the whole neighborhood for the cost. If the ditch was within the limits of the County, he went to the County Commissioners. If it traversed more than one County, he went to the District Court.

A later Legislature, after the damage had been pretty widespread, changed the law so as to require support of a project by a majority of those affected. This has proved only a partial cure for a bad situation. It halted the wild furore for drainage lands that wouldn't pay for draining, but it did nothing to straighten out the financial tangles of previous landlords, nor to relieve taxpayers of burdens that didn't properly belong to them at all. Many a farmer lost his holdings because of inability to pay drainage taxes that had no relation whatever to his farm.

Three Counties in Northern Minnesota, Beltrami, Lake of the Woods and Koochiching, are now approaching bankruptcy, because of the follies committed by grace of the State drainage law. They cannot pay the interest on several million dollars' worth of drainage bonds. The original assessments are mostly delinquent. With a large percentage of the lands in these Counties either public land, or reverting to taxes because of delinquency, the burden is far too large to be shouldered by the few owning taxpayers who are trying to hold on.

What to do? Apparently only two courses are possible—to default the bonds, or to get help from the State. The first would hurt Minnesota's credit to some extent. The second would require taxpayers all over the State to contribute to payment for the follies of the drainage orgy in the North country.

State officials cannot see how they can give any help, nor indeed why they should. But the question will doubtless be a live one in the coming Legislature. The State is in a measure responsible, since its lawmaking bodies made the drainage blunders possible. But the blunders, after all, were committed by the people of those counties—by their County Commissioners and their District Judges.

What about the holders of these bonds? Well they bought, or should have bought, with their eyes open. They should have looked to their security. If a man lends money on a mortgage based on worthless security, he loses his investment. These bondholders thought their investment safe, because the Counties guaranteed the bonds. But the Counties are on the verge of bankruptcy and cannot pay even the interest. The old rule, let the buyer beware, seems to apply.

But it seems likely that one of the bitterest contentions the Legislature will be over this drainage bond default question.

"The trouble with a woman who can add up a long column of figures correctly is that she can never get her hair to look right."

Edw. H. Hilson, one of the car repairers at the Soo line shops here, accidentally had two of his fingers on the right hand cut off between the first and second joints, when his hand came in contact with a band saw he was operating.

A Sure Thing

The raw material from which the products of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are made is an uncertain quantity.

Science is helping the search. The tension balance, seismograph and magnetometer may aid in locating the underground promise of being oil bearing—but that is all. No one knows exactly where oil will be found or how much will be recovered.

Working with an uncertain source of supply has not prevented the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) from building its business on a certainty.

From a raw material of uncertain location and quantity this Company has produced products of unfailing dependability, supplying them through the years with an unswerving regularity wherever and whenever needed. It has built its entire business with certainty—solid principles of integrity.

Year after year this Company has proved a satisfactory investment for the men who own it. Year after year this Company has paid to its stockholders reasonable returns on their investments. Year after year this Company has supplied products and services satisfactory to the motorists of the Middle West.

The men securing work in this organization finds open to him every opportunity to advance as warranted by his effort and ability.

The widow finds in its stock a safe investment insuring fair returns.

The motorist traveling the highway finds at its Service Stations dependable fuel and oil and expert attention.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has served the public for so many years with such definite certainty that this service is taken for granted.

At thousands of points in all parts of the ten states, the products and the services of the Company are always ready—and always the same.

The man who buys Red Crown gasoline in Kansas knows that he will get exactly the same fuel when he goes to North Dakota. Polarine or Iso-Vis means the same thing—dependable, scientific lubrication—in ten states every day in the year.

Courtesy and thoughtfulness are found behind the sign of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) as surely on a remote country road as in a great city.

Throughout all its territory, every day, in all its relations with the public, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) extends for a dependability that never varies. The people of the Middle West have learned to expect much of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), and experience has fully justified their confidence. Its high reputation is a long record of faithful service.

Years of Service in Model T Fords

Expenditure of few dollars may enable you to get thousands of miles from your old car

THE Model T Ford is still a great car. It led the motor industry for twenty years and it is used today by more people than any other automobile. More than eight million Model T Fords are in active service in city, town and country, and many of them can be driven for two, three and five years and even longer at very small up-keep expense.

The cost of Model T parts and of necessary labor is unusually low because of established Ford policies.

New fenders, for instance, cost from $3.50 to $5 each, with a labor charge of $1 to $2.50. Tuning up the motor and replacing commutator case, brush and vibrator points costs only $1, with a small charge for material. Brake shoes can be installed and emergency brakes equalized for a labor charge of only $1.25. A labor charge of $4 to $5 will cover the overhauling of the front axle, rebushing springs and spring perches, and straightening, aligning and adjusting wheels.

The labor charge for overhauling the average rear axle runs from $5.75 to $7. Grinding valves and cleaning carbon can be done for $3 to $4.

A set of four new pistons costs only $7. For a labor charge of $20 to $25 you can have your motor and transmission completely overhauled. Parts are extra.

All of these prices are approximate, of course, because the cost of materials needed will depend on the condition of each car. They show, however, the low cost of putting the Model T Ford in shape for thousands of miles of additional service.

See the nearest Ford dealer, therefore, and have him estimate on the cost of re-conditioning your Model T Ford. He will tell you, in advance, exactly how much the complete job will cost.

LOOKING AHEAD

A young boy had been given the task of carrying five white horses a day for two and one half dollars a week. One day, tired of his task, he chuck, he sat down and wrote a few figures. He found that five horses a day for one year were 1,825 horses. He quit.

A freshman may think as he strides with his "amo, amas, amat," the first days of school, "720 days such days before I earn my sixteen credits."

A musician may think "Hours and hours of practice before I accomplish this."

Let not thoughts like these wander into the minds of our new staff. Let us not think of the thirty-six hours and wish them done. Let us always put our efforts "in the next issue" instead of "the next one."

Life is not lived in "chunks and chunks." Each second, minute, and hour is a small drop in the bucket of our life. Present accomplishments are pleasant. Had the young boy thought of the 120 dollars which were the 1,825 horses, he would probably not have given up so soon.

Our reward may not be in dollars but work well done always rewards itself so let us begin the "well done" task right now!

VACATION DAYS

Summer days lie stretching out before us;
Shall we watch them giddily sliding by?
Or endeavor to understand new secrets?
Shall we question; who? where? when? how? why?
Why not seek where we may serve us,
Help in make each penny worth a dime?
Didst not hear the homely time-worn proverb
That to waste the hours is stealing time?
When the working day is finally ended,
Everyone is yearning for a rest!
But vacation days can give us knowledge.

—Policy of work and play is best!
Students, members of the High School are prone to think that their working day is nine months long while most adults have a day labor which never ends—except for occasional periods of rest now and then. True, the school season continues but nine months each year. How are the remaining three months consumed? Sometimes they do the remaining, leaving the victims with keen regret.

Seldom is stressed the need for scholars to make better use of their summer leisure time. After continuous weeks of mental labor, it is little wonder that they seek recreation; but recreation can be found in many forms. It is not always lifeless that closes a social vacation.

Perhaps the first requisite for a really profitable summer is to have a purpose or goal—and then to live up to it.

Students of Lincoln, is it not the man with the organized plan that has the winning card? Perhaps your ambition is to build up a strong body and a rested mind for next winter's scholastic duties. That is a worthy cause if persisted in! Do you intend to travel? This be acutely alert to everything you see and hear; seek to remember people, places, experiences; for these expand your knowledge of life is it your purpose to find a job and enlarge your pocket book? Well and good. If you seek perfection in your undertaking, and let not money be but a close for your work, worthy end.

To all a happy, but also profitable vacation!

FINAL ASSEMBLY WILL BE HELD AT 2 O'CLOCK FRIDAY

Honor Roll for Last Period and For Entire Year Will Be Announced; Other Doings

On June 1, the student body and faculty will meet for their last assembly, which will begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Before the program commences, however, the credit slips and report cards will be handed out to the students.

The greater part of the afternoon will be spent in awarding medals and numerals to the worthy members of our teams and classes. All boys of the varsity basketball or football teams will be given the new style letter L, which symbolizes our school, —Lincoln.

The boys' and girls' interclass teams in volleyball and basketball will receive their numerals earned this past term. The girls' letters are black felt letters, which will be given to a large number of girls.

Honor Roll Is He Announced

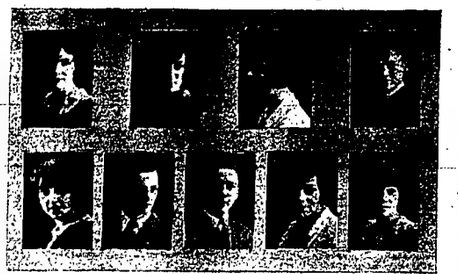
Another important part in the program will be the awarding of the Freshman and Senior citizenship medals. The freshman boy or girl who has shown the best sportsman ship, activity, and ability this year, will be awarded a medal by the Rotary Club. The senior boy and girl, who has displayed the best example of an American idealistic student will also receive an award of citizenship also. The honor roll for this whole year and the last six weeks' period will be announced. Those having achieved extra good marks will be given special merit.

Toward the latter part of the afternoon the Senior banner will be presented to the next years seniors by Chester Myrom, president of the present senior class, and Miss Elaine Evenson, president of the

JUNIOR HIGH PRINCIPALS UNDER INVESTIGATION

To determine the standing, experience, and interest of principals of junior high schools in the United States, as well as the duties and activities for which they are responsible, a study will be made under the joint auspices of the United States Bureau of Education and the National Committee on Research in Secondary Education. The survey is being directed by Dr. Leonard V. Foster of the University of Washington, Seattle. It will seek information from all junior high schools in which grades 7 to 9 are administered as a separate unit. Studies have already been made of the status of the high-school principal, but this is believed to be the first extensive survey of the preparation and activities of principals of junior high schools.

This Time Last Year



It seems that the weather man has a grudge against the seniors because last year seniors had to march in the rain also. The juniors lowered the Senior flag at half-mast on Senior Day, and the next day had their own flag.

The students were quite excited over a new guard on the school, which proved to be a ground hog. It was brought to Miss Ellen with its tail cut off, but it received first aid by the hands of its new mistress.

The last year Dwellers were ready for distribution May 26, a few days earlier than this year.

Mr Thane and Miss Thompson were the last teachers interviewed. They both had decided not to return. Mr Thane and fourteen of his worthy cohorts and football lettermen were planning a trip to the Red Lake Nations for the weekend.

Military Training Fully Described by Army Captain

A most gratifying and unusual address was delivered to the high school students when Captain Horan of the United States Army spoke to them at an 8:30 o'clock morning assembly, Thursday of last week. The purpose of the talk was to interest the boys of the school in the "Fort Snelling training camp for boys. As a result, forty Thief River Falls boys a registered for the Citizen Military Camp which is open this summer throughout the month of August.

The camp, which is located in St. Paul, has certain definite aims for the boys, some of which are instruction in citizenship and physical training. Captain Horan outlined the daily schedule which each boy follows, giving both comical and instructive incidents of the camp life. Every morning, after the beds were made, the boys assembled for their daily dozen (although dozen would hardly be the word for it.) The eleven hundred boys, all in uniform, impatient to achieve a very fine sight as they simultaneously went through their exercises.

At 6 A. M. they were taught how to shoot; then came lunch-time. Meals came around four times a day, so no one ever went hungry. After the 10:15 repast, each took what was called "bunk fatigue", a short period of rest. The afternoon consisted in a thirty-minute class in citizenship, participating in a large number of athletics from which the boys could have a choice and could play for championship, and in the evening, a movie or other entertainment. Twice a week a dance was held. Bedtime was eleven o'clock.

Captain Horan stated that the boys returned from the camp in such splendid physical condition that their parents were proud of them. Each boy pays a free uniform and reduced railroad rates.

Everything is Ready for Commencement Exercises

Commencement exercises will be held in the auditorium on Friday, June 1, beginning at eight o'clock.

Supt. Dye will act as chairman for the evening. The main address will be delivered by Rev. H. A. Vernon, pastor of the Juniors Memorial Baptist church of Minneapolis, and a man who is considered one of the outstanding orators in the northwest.

The Senior girls will be robed in simple white dresses and each will carry an American Beauty rose, while the boys will be dressed in dark suits.

The 87 graduating Seniors are to be presented by Mr. Hand, and the Teacher Training students by Miss Stapleton. At the close of the exercises, E. E. Benne, president of the school board, will present the diplomas, which have blue leather covers and a tinting of gold.

The commencement exercises this year promise to be very entertaining. Preparations having been made throughout the greater part of this month. The orchestra, under the supervision of Maude L. Johnson, will play some interesting selections, and both the Boys' and Girls' Glee clubs are being coached for this event.

Theatre Patrons Enjoy Two Skits by Seniors

A rare treat was in store for theatre-goers last Thursday and Friday nights when the comedy skit, "Who's Crazy Now?" was presented by a group of Seniors. It was given between the first and second shows; and later in the evening of Thursday, at the Elks' Hall. All the characters played their parts to perfection. "Green as Grass," featuring Bud Larson and Earl Bowker, was also enacted at the Elks' Hall on Thursday evening.

The proceeds from these performances will be used to buy a trophy case

1928 Seniors Leave Very Enjoyable and Successful Memento in The Prowler

The Seniors have almost completed their high school course, and have left a very enjoyable and successful memento in The Prowler. It is proved on every page that an extreme effort has been put forth to make it better than any one before. The total cost of this book was $1,050. Through the various sales held by the Seniors, the class play, and the presentation of "Who's Crazy Now?" and "Green as Grass," the class has been able to pay for the completion of the Prowler. It contains eight extra pages, and has more full-page pictures than any Prowler published before.

Four hundred and ten Prowlers were ordered. They were sold Monday during an hour o'clock to the teachers and students, and have been delivered and filled this past week. A new method was followed in selling the Prowlers to the students. Each student was presented with a slip of paper on which was a serial number. The Prowlers were for sale in the sewing room, and each student received his slip from Miss Corn, checked by the number. This avoided the rush and jam of past years.

12 GRADUATES ENROLL IN TEACHERS' TRAINING DEPT.

Many of the seniors are undecided as to what they will do next year. The majority of those who will continue going to school have definite plans or have already enrolled.

The following have registered in the Teachers Training department of the Washington building:, Agnes Angell, Hermia Saastad, Lillette Quist, Marguerite Johnson, Lillian Erickson, Bidline Van Pelt, Florence Knadle, Kathleen Wick, Ruth Sanborn, and Pearl Johnson. Edna Nelson of Twin Valley and Olga Soyle of Greenbush will also enter this department.

EXAMINATIONS HAVE BEEN IN FULL SWAY FOR SEVERAL DAYS

Majority of Lincoln Students Have Already Registered for Coming Year

The close of the year always finds the students and teachers very busy; the most important of all are the state board examinations. A student who has received 4 A's and 2 B's is exempt from these exams.

Each test requires two hours, some from 8:00 to 10:00, others from 10:15 to 12:15, and some from 2:00 to 4:00. The students must be in the building only when taking a test, but if they so wish, they may study in the classrooms on the first floor. They are, under no circumstances, to congregate in the hall during the rests. These rules were given by Mr. Hand, and following is a brief summary of the rules sent by the state:

The tests are to be written with black ink on smooth paper to be supplied by the school; the students are forbidden to use text books, note books, notes, or any help whatsoever; they are not to speak with any person other than the instructor in charge; they are not to ask any questions concerning the test, but are to depend upon their good judgment in understanding the questions; no student shall take more than two hours for writing.

Next in importance is registering. The majority of the high school students have done this, and those who have not are urged to do so at once. The eighth grade pupils of Crystal are also registered for their first year in Lincoln high school.

In the English, History, General Science, and Biology classes, the students have notebooks in the text which will be sent to the fair. These will be displayed in the halls of the various class rooms this past week.

English Theme Book to Be Exhibited at County Fair

The Junior English Theme book, the literary venture of the Class of '29, is rapidly nearing completion. The typists in the Typing I classes have been working vigilantly for several weeks now and with the strenuous efforts of Miss Leavitt, instructor, and Robert Biedermann, art Editor who has been busy with his artistic ability, the Theme book is predicted to be one of the best of its kind.

Plans are being made to send it to the National Education exposition to be held in Saint Paul this summer and will be judged and criticized by teachers from all over the country. The book will, it is thought, be completed in time to be sent to the binders immediately after school closes, thus eliminating working during the summer on it, as has been the case with other Theme books.

Considerable interest has been shown by the Juniors in trying to make this the best Theme book ever published in this high school and a great surprise is guaranteed when the book is presented at the County Fair next summer. Also at the close of school next fall, when the other students of Lincoln High school will have an opportunity to read its masterful, convincing themes and see its other hidden beauties.

GOOD MONEY IN TURKEY RAISING SUBSTANTIATED

C. E. Horien of Strathcona Kept Accurate Record of Expenses and Receipts

SOLD 188 TURKEYS IN LATE FALL FOR $706.58

Average Net Profit Per Hour Given As 43.5 Cents for 4 Hours per Day

Turkey raising can be a profitable business, even as a side line, if properly carried on and an accurate accounting thereof made each year, according to C. E. Horien of Strathcona, who is secretary of the Thief River Poultry association. In substantiation of this statement Mr. Horien submits his report for the 1927 season.

A year ago Mr. Horien started raising turkeys, having eleven hens and one tom as a nucleus of his enterprise. These he valued at $70. He hatched 202 poults, only two of these dying last year due to sickness, although seven were killed by accident.

His Net Profit Was $171.86

Raising the turkeys by the semi-confinement method he possibly fed more than those who let their turkeys shift for most of the feed, but careful check on the feed consumed by the turkeys from March 4 to Nov. 15 is given as $230. An additional expense was that of hiring a turkey-proof fence, which cost $26.72 and this item could readily be saved by a regular turkey raiser.

Last fall he sold his 188 turkeys for $706.58; retaining 12 hens and one tom for this spring, valued at $70, making total receipts $776. Deducting the three items of expense mentioned, totaling $604.70, leaves net proceeds of $171.86 for his experience.

Net Profit per Hour 43.5 Cents

The average price received for the 188 turkeys was $3.757, with an average net income of $2.292 Mr. Horien states. The average feed cost per turkey is placed at $1.074 while the average net wages for the nine months is given as $48.90 per month.

The turkey experiment of Mr. Horien was not a full time proposition, but if the average net profit per hour, figuring four hours per day, is 43.5 cents it apparently might be made to pay a handsome profit. This year Mr. Horien is increasing the size of his flock, at present having 300 poults.

COUNCIL GRANTED BUILDING PERMITS VALUED AT $1,850

Dance and Soft Drink Permits Granted; Firemen May Attend State Meeting

Six building permits were before the city council at the adjourned meeting Tuesday night, last week's meeting having been adjourned for one week as the aldermen were all out of the city. The total estimated valuations of the permits, all of which were granted if they comply with the regulations of the fire ordinances, is $1,850.

The Christian Science church permit was the largest, calling for an estimated expenditure of approximately $1,000 for the remodeling of the church at the southeast corner of First and Lallrese; next in cost was that of the Thief River Dress Club for a fireproof building on vacant property belonging to J. M. Pislop on Knight Avenue between Second and Third, the cost of which was given as $300. Mrs. Barbara Iverson plans to remodel her residence at a cost of $175, while the other three permits are for garages. H. Randall and Carl Hillard will erect garages at a cost of $150 each, while A. G. Dillard's garage will probably cost $100.

Dance and Soft Drink Permits

Dance permits were granted to the Sons of Norway for dances in their town building on June 8, 15, 22 and 29; to Oliver Grondahl for a dance in the same building on May 30; and to the Rhythm orchestra for dances in the Ulen hall on June 1 and 8. A soft drink license was ordered issued to the Dew Cafe and to A. E. Zellmer.

The request of the city fire department for funds to attend the state firemen's convention at Fergus Falls in June was granted, but the request for 100 feet of hose for the chemical tank was held up till the next meeting.

Park Policeman Named

The Park board notified the council of the appointment of Jos. Dostal as caretaker for the summer, and Mayor Lee asked approval of Mr. Hoe Dostal's appointment as special policeman for the same period at the salary received last year, both requests being duly approved.

Tom Lennon, representing the Austin-Western Road Machinery Co., addressed the council at length regarding the application of oil on the streets to lay the dust, which this spring has been excessive. The council took no action, believing that the matter needed careful investigation before any action is reached.

A request for a street light at the corner of Tait and Merrian was referred to the superintendent of water and light and lighting committee of the council, as was also a request for sewer and water mains on Markley avenue north. Adjournment was then taken following the allowance of the bills presented to that date.

Five Doctors of City Attend Annual Meeting of Red River Physicians

Five physicians of this city attended the annual spring meeting of the Crookston East Friday of the Red River Valley Medical association; there also being a large number of prominent doctors present from this section of the state, several of them on the program.

The paper read by Dr. Arthur Kahala of Crookston was considered the outstanding one and was selected to be printed in the Minnesota State Medical Association Journal.

The following from this city attended the meeting included Dr. R. C. Durand, Dr. Jacob Bostrumm, Dr. J. T. Bowers, Dr. O. F. Melby and Dr. A. W. Swedenburg.

Police on Watchout for Persons Entering Yards and Stealing Shrubbery

Chief of Police A. W. Crown is on the warpath for the persons who for the past two weeks have been making it a practice to enter private yards to help themselves, without the knowledge or permission of the owners, to bunches of shrubbery that are in bloom.

Several residents have complained to the police department that their flowers would be strewn in the morning with remnants of the flowers, while the bushes in some instances were nearly pulled.

Arrests will follow if the practice is continued and anyone is detected in the act, according to Mr. Crown.

FREEZING TEMPERATURE REPORTED 2 MORNINGS

No heat records were broken this past week, according to Weather Observer Leroy Rapaport, but the thermometer dropped to one degree below freezing point on Monday and Tuesday mornings. Frost was reported also on Sunday morning, quite a heavy frost, in fact, but the only flax being the only crop that felt the touches of Jack Frost, but not to any great extent, it is believed. The highest temperature was 80 above on Thursday of last week.

Road patrols No. 2 and No. 3 will be inaugurated tomorrow, Friday, the new tractors and trailers having recently ordered having arrived on Monday, having been delayed a week in transit.

THURONSON AT DISTRICT MEETING OF BANKERS

T. H. Thronson of the First National Bank attended the 19th district annual meeting of Minnesota bankers at Little Falls last week. This district met with that of the sixth at Little Falls this year, while next year the meeting will be held at Detroit Lakes in this district.

Officers chosen for the Ninth District were: President, A. C. Schwartzrock, Perham; vice president, Walter Oby, Detroit Lakes; secretary-treasurer, C. M. Comstock, Moorhead. Executive committee, E. B. Hanson, Fertile; C. A. Veblen, Hallock.

Funny how a simple thing like a new suit can make a man's spirits soar—or sore! Our suits, however, are the kind that keep you happy long after Commencement is a thing of the past. Buying for 954 stores, we don't have to ask high prices for Quality and Style.

One thing more—don't wait too long! A bit later on there will be "finals" and all the last minute details.. A small deposit now will help us keep that secret until the fun begins.

NOXIOUS WEED DESTRUCTION IS EMPHASIZED

Representatives of State and Federal Agricultural Departments Hold Meeting

WEED INSPECTORS HERE ARE ALERT TO SITUATION

Farmers Now Realize Weed Control as Necessary as Fight Against T. B.

All but three of the 21 townships in Pennington county were represented at the meeting in the court house Tuesday afternoon of weed inspectors, according to Samuel Hammerback, field assistant from the State Department of Agriculture, who was in charge of the meeting. Mr. Hammerback stated to a representative of The Times that he was well pleased with the representation this year, and with the interest taken by those in attendance, which revealed a marked improvement over previous years in this county. He is convinced of a more effective weed control campaign this year than in the past.

Accompanying Mr. Hammerback was C. L. Ledoux, representative of the United States Department of Agriculture, who also addressed the inspectors at the meeting. County Agent Robert M. Douglas was also present at the request of the representatives of the two departments of agriculture, who stated that the county agents all over the country have been of material assistance to the authorities in the control and eradication of the weed nuisance.

Weeds Are Very Expensive

Mr. Hammerback in his remarks to the inspectors stated that weeds are becoming rather popular, but not for a favorable way. The attention being given them compares very well with the time and thought the farmers give to hog cholera and tuberculin tests of cattle.

"Weeds are expensive boarders in our fields. They cost the average farmer more than the entire amount of the tax levied upon his land. They increase the cost of producing, they decrease yields, they injure the quality of the crops, both in the field and in the market, they interfere with travel on roads and highways, they increase the fire hazard and other poisoning of farm crops and livestock. The Canada thistle alone causes the loss of 25c per acre on the amount of hundreds of dollars in southern Minnesota and many of the adjoining states. In Wisconsin, we have read, high grade cattle farmers are of that state forty millions of dollars annually. Dairymen throughout the entire country suffer from the cause of the tansy ragweed, the bitter by French (Black) weed and Wild Garlic, and because of Leafy Spurge, Sow Thistle, Bindweed, and other weeds curtailing the pastures.

Law Enforcement Obligatory

"The land occupant and owners are charged with the duty of destroying weeds on their lands. The city and village councils are charged with destroying weeds on roads, streets, alleys, and public grounds within the corporate limits and when notified by the Commissioner, they must appoint a municipal weed inspector to look after the private property, [illegible] roads, streets, etc. Railroads are charged with the duty of mowing the right of way, and the town chairman is charged with the duty of seeing that the respective party destroys same. Threshing machines must be cleaned and all rigs cleaned off after one job is done and before starting on the next.

"Any failing to comply with the law or neglecting to do the duty imposed upon them by the law or interfering with the process of the law [illegible]

Several More Changes In Vacations Planned During Next 30 Days, Reports Say

Changes in locations by several of the retail establishments of the city are not long at a time before to be followed by another change, during the next few weeks, it is announced today.

The Benson barber shop and Benson beauty parlors will vacate the present location in the First National bank building for larger quarters in the Christie structure, occupying the room used not long ago by the Ernest Rich grocery. The R. Salverson studio will also move into the same room, leaving the present location vacant thereby, Mr. Salverson for several years having occupied quarters on the second floor over the Pickard millinery.

Mrs. Flaglwed has leased the quarters that will be vacated by Mr Benson shortly after his removal, probably about the close of June, and the place vacated by her will then be occupied by George Langen for his soft drink parlors and lunch rooms.

TOWN OF HICKORY SEEKING BIDS ON MILE OF ROADWORK

Road When Completed Will Afford Better Approach to Neptune Bridge

Plans and specifications for the improvement of the highway approaches to the bridge at Neptune have been prepared and are on file at the office of the county auditor, Oscar H. Umland, the call for bids on the same to be received by the auditor by the first Monday in July, at which time they are to be opened on Monday, June 18, and the town board is hopeful that the work may be done without any delay as it is almost impassable at this time to make any use of the bridge built there three years ago.

The work to be done is called for in the past year has been above the average in the matter of appropriations to raise the present road to a point higher than the water will have to be encountered from the ditch on either side of the old road. It is estimated that this can be readily done and the roadway raised from 18 inches to two feet.

There are about 7,000 feet of the road between sections 2 and 3 and between 10 and 11 that will have to be improved to make the road passable, according to the plans and specifications.

The first ideal of success in this world is Jesus Christ, he told the class. Thief River Girl Becomes Bride of Glenwood Man

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Wednesday morning at the home of the bride's parents, when Miss Ruth Sorlien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Sorlien, became the bride of P. H. Christenson of Glenwood. The bride and groom entered to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by Marie Johnson. They were attended by Evelyn Christenson of Glenwood, sister of the groom, and Arthur Sorlien, brother of the bride. The marriage service was read by Rev. Aner Bloom in the presence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Sorlien, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Christenson, parents of the groom, Tore Sorlien of Duluth, Gerda Sorlien of Chicago, Jim Felstrom, Luverne and Miss Marie Johnson of Bijou.

The bride was attired in a gown of white satin fashioned in basque effect, with a veil caught here, and there with a bouquet of pink and white roses and sweet peas. The bride's maid also carried a cluster of sweet peas. After the taking of the vows, Miss Johnson sang "I Love You Truly."

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to the guests. The room was decorated in pink and white, with the table appointments being carried out in the same color scheme with a beautifully decorated wedding cake gracing the center.

The bride has a host of friends in the city having graduated from Lincoln High in 1921. She is also a graduate of the Northern State Normal Teachers college in 1925. For the past two years she has been employed as a teacher in the public schools at Bijou. The groom has been cashier of the Farmers State Bank of Bijou for the last six years.

The young couple left this morning on a wedding trip to Yellowstone Park, for a stay of a month. On their return they will make their home at Bijou.

ON DAIRYING AND THINGS

The fiftieth annual Guernsey sale is being held here today and is an event of outstanding importance. These sales held regularly have been a big factor in building up better dairy herds in the community. It is an encouraging thing, when you visit around in this territory, to find so many of the farmers building up fine herds by the use of better sires. It is an encouraging thing, too, to find how many of the farmers are weeding out the unprofitable cows by keeping a record of their production and testing for fat.

Several farmers have told us this spring that they wished a cow testing association could be started in their communities. We don't know what particular advantages are offered by associations of this kind, but we know that many of the dairymen are getting the information without an association. Individual production can be estimated from day to day and the local creamery will test samples for fat content free of charge. One farmer told us that getting rid of the boarder cows was about as sad as saying good-bye to his wife's relatives.

Dairying looks like a fairly safe bet for a good many years to come. In spite of all the propaganda for more dairy cows that has been broadcast in recent years there are actually a million less cows in the country than there were in 1917, according to the figures of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. According to these same figures there is one more person per cow in the country today than there was in 1911. It would seem, therefore, that the demand for dairy products is going to keep quite a ways ahead of the supply for some time. There is no immediate danger of overproduction.

TESTS OF INTELLIGENCE?

The first impression immigrants to this country get of us is probably from our welcome to them at the port of entry, and if some of the things we have read about this welcoming are true it is not to be wondered at that these newcomers sometimes find it difficult to understand us. For instance our method of determining their intelligence might give them serious cause to wonder about ours. Here are a few of the questions that are asked them:

1. What happens to a goat after it is seven years old?

2. What kind of umbrella is the King of England carrying when it rains?

3. What do you call a child who has eaten its mother and father?

The correct answers are as follows: the goat becomes eight years old; the king carries a wet umbrella and the child is called an orphan.

We know very little about intelligence tests and can only express the hope that the psychologists who devised such a list of questions would be able to draw intelligent conclusions from the answers they received. If we were assigned the task of determining the intelligence of immigrants by such questions we would decide that all those who still wanted to make their fortunes in this country after going through a bunch of foolishness of this kind must be durned fools. If they had any intelligence they would want to go back where they came from.

THE BALLOTS ARE SHORT

Sample ballots for the coming primary are being published in this issue and are distinguished by their brevity. There probably will not be a great deal of interest in the election. On the Farmer-Labor ballot there are only two contests, Henrik Shipstead being opposed by William Watkins for the Senatorship, and L. A. Fritsche being opposed by Ernest Lundeen for the Governorship. Shipstead's opposition doesn't amount to anything, and Fritsche, with the endorsement of the Farmer Labor Association, should be able to walk away from Lundeen.

There is a little more excitement on the Republican ballot, chiefs in the contests for the Senatorship and for Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner, Nelson and Rockne are making a spirited campaign for the Senatorship, and they, by the way, are about the only candidates in the state who are making a real campaign. At the present time Nelson is given a slight edge by most of the dopesters but the outcome is by no means certain. Nine candidates are seeking the Republican nomination for Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner and in a field as large as this, Christian J. Lauritsen, the present incumbent, should be able to pile up a safe margin. While none of the candidates have the advantage of a large personal following, Lauritsen has the advantage of having been appointed by the present administration and will inherit much of the strength of the present administration. In the contest for Attorney General G. A. Youngquist enjoys the advantage two, and shouldn't have any trouble in winning from John C. Larson, his only opponent. The Governor himself is opposed by George T. Simpson but this opposition will not amount to anything. Simpson is trying to bring together those Republicans who have been out of step with the administration, and undoubtedly he will pick up a few followers here and there from among the disgruntled. But Ted Christianson is stronger with the rank and file of the voters today than he was two years ago and he can't be stopped in 1928. There are many who disagree with him on one thing or another but there are none who question his honesty.

There are three candidates for the nomination for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, the only contest on the "without party designation" ballot. They are Clifford L. Hilton, Edward Lee and William Vanderburgh. Two of these will be selected to face each other in the November finals, and these two will probably be Hilton and Vanderburgh, whose names have become familiar to the voters in previous campaigns.

These are the only decisions the voters will be called upon to make in the primary election Monday, June 18. The county and other state officers will be settled in the general election next fall. The primary is important nevertheless, and is deserving of the serious attention of the voters. There is a danger, in a case of this kind, that very few votes will be cast and the actual wishes of the majority defeated because of the lack of interest of that majority. So plan to vote. Study the ballots published in this issue and know, before you enter the polls, who you are going to vote for.

THE NEW FRONTIER

Calling attention to the fact that in the past history of our country there have been several frontiers or imaginary lines that marked a division in the geography of the nation, a manufacturers' trade journal states that "the new frontier today is a great line of industrial advance, moving steadily from the northeast to the south and west, finally to drop into the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific. The advance will not stop until industry and population shall have spread uniformly from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

This new frontier has already advanced far into the west. The Industrial East now includes such states as Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Alabama and the Carolinas. If the present tendency continues, as there is every reason to believe it will, the time is not far distant when Minnesota will be classified as an industrial state. The opening of the St. Lawrence waterway will hasten this development. Duluth, as a seaport, will become a great city. Northern Minnesota will be thickly settled.

The first quarter of this twentieth century has seen many changes in Northern Minnesota. Development during the next twenty-five years will be more rapid.

MANY OF US THEN ARE TRAITORS

Frank Murphy, who has been making an effort in the last few years to secure farm relief legislation, and Claude MacKenzie, Lowden's campaign manager in this state and recently elected national committeeman from this state, have brought down upon themselves oodles of wrath from some sources lately because they still insist on opposing the presidential aspirations of Herbie Hoover. MacKenzie has been called a traitor to the Republican party of the state. Maybe he is but we fail to see it. It is our impression that MacKenzie would be untrue to the party that made him national committeeman if he relax for one instant in his effort to defeat Hoover for the nomination. Minnesota Republicans are not for Hoover. In the state convention, which reflected the opinions of the rest of us back here in the state, the Republican party went on record by an overwhelming majority against Hoover, and we are still against Hoover and we are going to keep right on being against Hoover as long as there is a ghost of a chance of nominating a candidate who can appreciate the fact that the problems of the Northwest are just as important to the people of the Northwest as the problems of Andy Mellon are to Andy Mellon. If opposing Herbie Hoover is treachery to the Republican party of the state of Minnesota then the party is certain by traitors.

PROTECTING OUR GAME AND FISH

The fishing season is now open and once again we have become a nation of fishermen. On any Monday morning now you can hear reports of successful trips, successful meaning that many fish have been caught. Thruout all seasons of the year except the fishing season we hear much oratory on the problem of keeping our lakes stocked with fish. When the season is open it must be that the orators are too busy getting their share of what fish are left to have time to raise their voices in protest against those who are spoiling fishing for the next generation. There is a lot of truth in what Editor Rossman of the Grand Rapids Herald Review says in the following article:

The problem before all those interested in saving game and fish is that of control of human lust.

The Wolf-ethics may gather and discuss crows, wolves, vermin, ducks and pollution.

But the thing most important in all of their considerations centers in themselves, the man with the gun and the fishing rod.

Game laws and wild life will be saved.

Under natural conditions game will increase or hold its own. If side meat rise, states can raise no revenue, but the fish will spawn and grow. The young may rear and the vermin of the woods continue their fight, but game birds will increase. The wolves may howl, but the deer will grow in numbers.

The traits of such statements is obvious to any resident of the game country.

Under natural conditions there was an increase or constant supply of wild life.

But wild life cannot cope with its two biggest enemy. Ducks will not increase when every lake-shore's pot contains shotgun. Deer will diminish when on every stumpside a rifle. Fish will disappear when fishermen go to the lakes in the thousands and tens of thousands.

Wild life can hold its own with its natural enemies. It can even increase as civilization extends But it cannot contend with hooked lines, high powered rifles and death dealing shotguns.

Control ourselves, control the human being in his desires to catch and kill, and you will protect and build back wild life.

Talk of the other elements is largely bunk.

THE AUTO TAX IS OFF

The government tax on automobiles was taken off the first of the month, and judging by the rejoicing that is heard one would imagine a great burden had been lifted from the backs of the tax paying public. We tried to get enthusiastic about this too, but we couldn't figure out any cause for enthusiasm. It is true that the tax on automobiles is removed, but this doesn't mean that the public will not have to pay this tax just the same. The money will have to be collected in the future as it has been in the past. The public will have to pay. It's just a question of shifting the load—taking it off the automobile and putting it on some other commodity. And why not leave this slight tax on the automobile where it was. It certainly wasn't slowing up the automobile business, and the individual who can afford to buy an automobile can afford to pay that small tax.

We join in extending them greetings on this occasion and express the hope that the Eagle may long continue in its flight under their able management.

Affairs at Washington by Congressman Selvig

Washington—With an apparent shortage of home hundred thousand men in the world's winter wheat area, as compared with last year, and with the condition of the crop far below that of last year, everything points to a somewhat higher price for wheat this year than prevailed a year ago. In the United States the winter wheat is in very poor condition in the states east of the Mississippi and only fair west of the river. Only the most favorable of conditions from now on can raise it up to last year's total.

The senate is closing the session with its customary "filibuster." Each Senator has the privilege of speaking one hour each day, and he likes to speak long enough each time to delay the proceedings sufficiently so that no quorum can be had to vote until the session expires. The senate has been in session all night, and the snores of the Senators prevailing fully as much as the voice of the marathon talkers laboriously droning along on matters immaterial to the subject. It is a matter of amusement to the public. The bonus bill is the object of the present filibuster.

President's Vote Power

George Washington, during his eight years as President, used the veto power in dealing with the enactments of little moment. Thomas Jefferson used it but twice, and Abraham Lincoln vetoed two unimportant bills during his term.

It was the evident intention of the framers of the Constitution to give the veto power as a check upon the check upon hasty and unconsidered legislation, but to be used only in extreme cases through measures without merit. The veto was held over a period of two years.

Now in the phase of the McNary-Haugen bill veto most discussed in the public prints, President Coolidge said he is willing to approve a bill for relief of the farmers framed in accordance with economic principles looked in his annual message. Unfortunately for this measure, he proposes to usurp the functions of the legislative branch of the government in writing the laws, and of the courts in determining their constitutionality.

Aerial Kinghorn Weds

Elizabeth Keating expects to leave Saturday for Duluth where she will make her home with her father and brother, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Keating. Helen is a graduate of the local high school and has been employed at the Kiewel Products company for some time. She has a host of friends about the city who regret her leaving. Frances Shanahan is succeeding Elizabeth at the Kiewel company office.

How Coolidge Views Agriculture

The President's idea of legislation in behalf of agriculture is pointed out in the following from his veto message:

"I have believed at all times that the sound basis for further federal government action in behalf of agriculture would be to encourage its appropriate organization to assist in building up marketing agencies and facilities in the control of the farmers themselves. I want to see them get together, under their own management, the marketing of their products under such conditions as will make them bring a greater stability of prices and less waste in marketing, and entirely within unobjectionable economic laws. Such a program, supplemented by assistance in the control of farm products, is the best method of effecting a permanent cure of existing agricultural ills."

Surplus Control up to Conventions

The most important result of the fight for the McNary-Haugen bill, so far achieved, is the uniting of the forces of agriculture from both parties and a greater influence for the farmers' organizations that they have had in Congress during the present generation. Both of the coming national conventions will present definite plans for agricultural legislation, and both candidates for president can be expected to take definite positions on the subject. The result will be that, no matter which party is successful, there will be considerable favorable action in behalf of agriculture in the next few years. The leaders of both parties will realize that failure to give heed to the demands of farmers' organizations may have a powerful political aftermath of the mid-west and south.

Our Red River Valley farmers have made great progress, in the last four or five years, in shifting from the production of surplus commodities, where they have to compete on the world market, to products fairly well protected under our tariff laws and selling well above the world market level. Whatever may happen in the next few years it is about as certain as anything can be that a continuation of this drift toward the lines of farming that are now profitable is the best and safest policy.

Shipments of Autos by Boat Detroit to Duluth Effect Material Saving

Local auto dealers state that many of the cars last year were shipped from Detroit to Duluth by boat and that nearly all of the autos destined for the northern part of the state will come that way, also primarily to be shipped by boat than by train.

Estimates by district auto dealers are that the saving in freight rates for the coming season at not less than 10,000 cars shipped to the head of the lakes for distribution to Wisconsin, Minnesota and North and South Dakota. Many of the dealers go to Detroit and drive the cars from there home.

Automobile manufacturers have been loading their cars from Detroit to Duluth to be safe and sure, as well as convenient. Most cars are merely run on the deck of road freighters. They are covered with tarpaulins and fastened securely so that they can withstand all kinds of weather. In this way, freight is obtained that was wasted—before last year 8,000 automobiles valued at $6,280,000 entered the Northwest through the Duluth and Superior ship canal. Most of these automobiles are the rank of third in the list of register, ranking next to soft and hard coal.

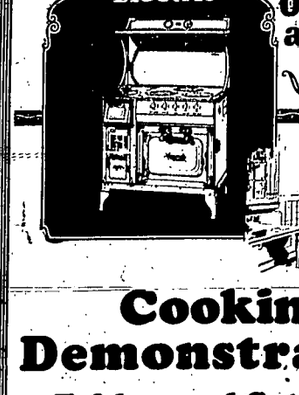
17 Killed in 4 Months at Railroad Crossings

Education of the individual to observance of the old reminder, "Stop, Look and Listen," is the most certain insurance against continual loss of human life, says a statement prepared by the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission and issued by C. J. Lauritsen, commissioner, who is making a special study of causes for an annual toll of more than 240 persons killed and injured at railroad crossings in this state.



"Teach yourself, and those dependent upon you or responsible to you, to take a 'Stop' sign at its word," Commissioner Lauritsen said. "We all realize that in these days of fast transportation the motorist is tempted to think he can beat any train at a given intersection. But 11 of them in Minnesota have failed to win the race thus far in 1928. Of these 11, there were 5 killings and 20 injured in Minnesota fatalities in four months is at the rate of 60 in a year, while the total killed in 1927 was 77, in 1926 it was 79 and in 1925 it was 81. It is clear that we must not only press every effort low and marking crossings, but we must also teach in the public schools that the train is big, the simple fact that the train is big, heavy and travels too fast, to be ignored."

FARM BUREAU IS PLANNING PICNIC POSSIBLY IN JULY

36 Similar Picnics In State Announced For June by State Headquarters

It is contemplated that plans will be arranged within the next two weeks for a Northern County Farm Bureau picnic, probably in July, similar to similar outings held through the state each summer, and which have, it is claimed, resulted in much good being accomplished, the farmers and their wives and children exchanging ideas and becoming better acquainted. In all probability the Pennington county picnic will be staged in conjunction with an outing of some other organization this year.

It is estimated that 175,000 people—Minnesota farmers, their wives and children—will picnic during the month of June at 36 annual county picnics being staged at present, according to information received by County Agent Robert M. Boglin. Figures tabulated at the St. Paul offices of the state organization indicate that the June 1928 picnic season will break all previous records for attendance of farm bureau members and friends.

Farm picnic pastimes this year are being described by some than five hundred county committeemen and committee women, who are among the busiest people to be found in their home counties these days.

Picnic dinners, band concerts, varied sports programs, big team pitch demonstrations, baseball games, races, together with speaking by agricultural leaders from Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, South Dakota, Minnesota and other Midwestern states, feature the varied county programs being received at state headquarters.

The June schedule of county Farm Bureau picnics in Minnesota follows:

June 5, Tuesday, Waseca county, at St. James.

June 6, Wednesday, Nicollet county, at Jansen Grove.

June 7, Thursday, Brown County, at Sleepy Eye Park.

June 8, Friday, Faribault county, at Blue Earth.

June 11, Monday, Wilkin county, at Breckenridge.

June 12, Tuesday, Beltrami, at Bemidji; Winona county, at Stockton; Sherburne county, at Big Lake; Rock county, at Lamyer; and Redwood county, at Redwood Falls, Stevens Park.

June 13, Wednesday, Fillmore county, at Mound Meadow; Watonwan county, at Vendalia; Lyon county, at Marshall and Pipestone county, at Pipestone.

June 14, Thursday, Hubbard county, at Park Rapids; Olmsted county, at Preston; Wadena county, at Verndale; Lyon county, at Marshall and Pipestone county, at Pipestone.

June 15, Friday, Hubbard county, at Mountain Lake; West Otter Tail county, at Long Lake; Crow Wing county, at Brainerd; Renville county, at Camp Township.

June 18, Monday, East Otter Tail county, at Battle Lake; Faribault county, at 97 Lake and Freeborn county, at Albion; Lac qui Parle county, and Lincoln county, at Lake Benton.

June 19, Tuesday, Traverse county, at Wheaton.

June 20, Wednesday, Dakota county, at Lakeville; and Mower county, at Austin.

June 21, Thursday, Steele county, at Owatonna; and Lac qui Parle county at Dawson.

June 22, Tuesday, Nobles county, at Adrian; and Stevens county, at Albert.

1,500 New Directories Being Distributed to Telephone Subscribers

Distribution of 1,500 new telephone directories to subscribers in Thief River Falls will begin Tuesday, according to Geo. A. Hanson, manager of the N. W. Bell Telephone Co. The task of getting the directories in the hands of the telephone users will take about three days, Mr. Russell says.

The new directory, being a complete revision of the book published in 1927, will be printed by the Times.

As the new books are received by the phone company they will be distributed at the rate of 500 books a day, it is requested that the old books be destroyed. This request is made to avoid duplication of numbers, Mr. Russell says. "We do not feel that they will be very much needed, as a rule, but we do not want to run the risk of having two books in use at the same time," he explained.

3 Farmers From Sanders In Court This Afternoon; Speeder Fined Yesterday

Pete Lindstad and Peter Brandon were brought into municipal court Tuesday afternoon on a warrant charging that they were charged with assault and battery on Peter Blair neighbor, all residents of Sanders township. The case was continued till this afternoon.

Wednesday morning Leroy Fayerne was arrested on a charge of speeding on Main avenue east. He was given a sentence of $15 and costs of $3.50 or 15 days in jail, the accused stating he would go to jail.

Inasmuch as this was the second time the defendant had been before Judge N. W. Tarrant on the same charge, the first time having been in June 1927, County Attorney H. O. Melby asked the court to impose a heavier fine than was done at the first trial. Chief of Police A. W. Hanson stated he had recently warned Fayerne to stop his speeding, while the county attorney stated he had warned him regarding the loss of motor vehicle privileges if he did not cease to obey the speeding of autos is going to be stopped, and the court has promised to put teeth in the warning.

PublicForum

Editor Times,
Thief River Falls.

The Washington Post, the organ of the administration, has an editorial for May 24 that is very significant, entitled "The Veto and Its Sequel," from which I quote:

"Coolidge has killed the McNary-Haugen bill. Congress does not dare to pass the bill over his veto. Many legislators who would have voted for it vote against this bill are very glad that some one else had courage to kill it."

"No one can read the message without realizing that the two houses of Congress could be brought to such a stage of ignorance and cowardice as to pass the bill. It is a commentary upon modern conditions when a writer alone stands between the people's treasury and organized rapacity aided and abetted by the Congress of the United States."

The editorial then goes on to state how the politicians are fanning the flames of discontent in the farm states and how Hoover is showing weakness with the people of the West, as disclosed in the Indiana primaries, which are strongly "dry" opposed to the Farm bill as is Mr. Coolidge. The danger to the Republican party in the coming campaign is admitted, it says:

"Are the Republicans to nominate a man who sponsors the McNary-Haugen bill, which arouses the intelligence and opposition of business men over the country? Or are they to nominate a man who may arouse the opposition of Republican states?"

But the Administration organ sees a ray of hope. Those who guide the destinies of the Democratic party have always been equal to the occasion. It closes with the following paragraph which I hope every reader of this paper will remember:

"It is a fortunate thing for the Republican party to invite defeat. The history of 1912 was enough to last most Republicans a lifetime. They will not split their party in patience and ingenuity can find a way out. Their custom in such an emergency as this has been to compromise by choosing a dark horse and adopting a platform that could be read intelligently either forward or backward. They aim to be seen whether the party has lost its reckoning as whether, in spite of its efforts, the country will make a change, on general principles, but the average man who looks to the Government to protect him against exploitation can but feel that there is already in the White House as good a President as either party can wish."

This is plain speaking, it is brutal frankness. No finer statement has ever been made about the policy of the Republican party, stated in the words of their curious, in such a manner as this has been to compromise by choosing a dark horse and adopting a platform that can be read intelligently either forward or backward." That is what has always been done, that will be done this year. Will the voters who vote the Republican ticket vote for candidates this year, who will not even set that sentiment as a plank on the Farm question, that will satisfy both the farm and the non-farm? Will they not feel that they will vote their own candidate, that will not have a platform but can be read in the new black. If so did democracy succeed to power in a fit of pique, rather seeking a solution, as a farmer may use the old cultivator and hoe to dig potatoes with, and get a wrong result.

Permanent Place for Rayon Among Fabrics Due to Low Cost Now

Use of rayon, the name commonly accepted for what was known as "artificial silk", has extended to practically all lines of fabrics and for many household furnishings such as curtains and draperies. Rayon is made from either wood pulp or cotton by chemical treatment which reduces the raw material to a sticky fluid. This fluid in turn is drawn out into a fibre by a machine that might be called a "mechanical silk worm."

Rayon may be distinguished from silk or cotton by the burning test, says Marion Weller of the home economics division of the University of Minnesota. Rayon burns as cotton burns, with a flash, and the odor of burning paper, leaving a gray ash residue. Wool and silk burn slowly, the flame easily going out, the residue a black hard globule, and the odor like that of burning hair.

Rayon is so much cheaper than silk that it is often taken for granted it need not be handled with as much care," says Miss Weller. "But the high manufacturing cost is established, rayon fabrics should be handled with the same care given to silk. There was a time when rayon would go to pieces if one drop of water fell on it, but recent improvements in its manufacture is in its washability." As a result, one of the principal uses of rayon at the present time is in underwear and underwear, both of which require frequent laundering.

Rayon has found a permanent place in the fabric field and the consumer should learn to recognize its characteristics and uses.

Test Headlights Now, Is Advice to Drivers

Nearly a hundred garages within the state have been designated as official auto lamp adjusting stations by the Minnesota highway department, under a section of the new law passed by the last legislature, it was announced by officials of the state road department.

All garages of the state now have three stations, although there are many counties not yet represented. Among those recently licensed is the Nelson-Yngve Motor Co., Thief River Falls.

Commissioner Babcock emphasizes that while it is not compulsory to have your lights tested at an official station, it is a good safeguard to do so. Only standard lights, by giving better illumination on the road ahead, make driving safer and more pleasant. Furthermore it is a requirement by law that every car "driven on the highways must have its lights properly adjusted. Many accidents are caused by improperly adjusted lights, and motorists should have their lights tested and adjustments, but only by authorized stations can the service be considered as a defense against charges.

Many poultry keepers regard oats as an important part of the ration for laying hens, providing a satisfactory way of feeding the grain can be found.

"License Applied for" Signs on Autos Have No Standing in Law

Reports that a number of new cars are being driven without license plates, have caused C. M. Babcock, commissioner of highways, to call attention to the fact that the only legal substitute for license plates is a temporary permit, Chapter 89 laws of 1927. Not only is it illegal to drive without plates or a permit, but "License applied for" and similar signs have no standing in law.

The permits are issued by persons in various parts of the state designated by the department of state, and they also chief of police is designated to issue these permits. The person issuing the permit must receive the application for license and forward it to the Bureau of Statistics, and the permit is good only until the license plates are received, in no case more than 10 days. The permit must be displayed on the windshield.

Numerous abuses of the dealers' license certificate have also been reported, some dealers permitting customers to use the dealers' plates indefinitely and other permit relatives and friends to use cars visiting with bearing the dealer's plates for a month or more. The law permits the use of dealer plates only when a machine is being demonstrated in good faith to a prospective customer, or when it is being moved from the factory or manufacturer or storage and the dealer's place of business, or from one place of business to another. Penalty for violation of the law is a misdemeanor and upon conviction a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100, or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than 90 days, or both such fine and imprisonment.

A writer in one of our trade magazines wants to know if women are as smart as men. We have an opinion on that subject, but we are afraid to express it.

Floor coverings? We have "carpet" to suit your mind you want. We never carried such an assortment in a line as we have now, and never as beautiful patterns. Yes ladies who love beautiful floor coverings will enjoy looking at these rugs and linoleums.

Small boys coming back from garden where he was sent to find a weed, "I couldn't find a weed, Mother, but here's a stone you can throw at me."

Did you ever stop to think that when you are carrying luggage, you're also wanting to look your best. If you're going away on a business trip or a visit, your appearance is important. That's the reason it's so important to have good looking luggage. Come in and see our line of luggage.

We're convinced from the modern way that quite a number of girls' ladies have allowed to walk too soon.

Take along a Kamphook outfit on your next trip and have the fun of cooking your own meals. A remarkable little outfit. Takes but little room in your car. Come in and see the Kamphook outfit.

If there's a better washer than the Maytag we've never heard of it.

We have heard more optimistic comments this spring than we have heard for many a moon. I am going to make some good money this year," said a farmer friend of ours yesterday. He is enthusiastic over his prospects. So are many others that we have talked to recently.

It is our personal opinion that a pair to buy in the home town—whether it be an automobile or a pair of shoe strings.

Reduction in Airmail Rates Effective Aug. 1

Reduced rates for airmail, cutting the cost from ten cents a half ounce to five cents an ounce will go into effect August 1, according to an announcement made last week by Col. Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics in charge of aviation.

The reduction will mean that the airmail letter can be sent at less than the rate for a special delivery message, and that a communication weighing two ounces can be forwarded for ten cents, whereas it now costs 40 cents.

This will bring an increased volume of airmail, it is believed by H. Ray Pepe, assistant postmaster here, although the local post office has no material change at this time.

"72" the greatest fact in motor cars today

From low price to high, all engineering today takes its cue from Chrysler—yet what are the facts?

Run the gamut of cars, from low to high, which seek to emulate Chrysler—and still the illustrious Chrysler "72" runs easily away from them all with all the honors of flashing, efficient performance!

However much they seek to act like Chrysler "72" —to ride and drive and accelerate and glide like Chrysler "72"—the illustrious "72" continues to leave them all in the rear in brilliant behavior.

There is no escaping this plain fact—that as motor car manufacturing exists today, anyone who pays as much as, or up to a thousand dollars more than the price of Chrysler "72," for another car unmistakably gets less. That is the one great important fact in motor car buying today.

School Closes

The Graduating exercises Thursday evening in the high school auditorium was the final program for the school year.

The stage was appropriately decorated with the Senior class colors of grey and old rose.

The opening number was an instrumental solo "By The Waters of Minnetonka," by Ruth McDonald; Invocation, Dr. Karl H. Fussler; Albert Poppenhagen gave the Salutatory in a very pleasing manner. Miss Lila Reiersgord sang a solo which was greatly enjoyed.

The address of the evening, which was given by Dr. Fussler of the North Dakota University, certainly was a rare treat for all present. His topic "Picking a spot to spare" was covered very thoroughly and he kept his audience interested all thru his talk.

The Girls Glee Club sang two numbers, "Laugh" and "Friendship," Valetine Prestegaard then gave the Valedictory.

Prof. Mathew Halvagson gave a short talk when he presented the class and Stuart McLeod, president of the school board; responded with a few remarks before he awarded the diplomas. "America the Beautiful" was sung by the audience and Dr. Fussler then pronounced the Benediction.

The graduates who received diplomas were Celsius Prestegaard, Ruth McDonald, Albert Poppenhagen, Olaf Schie, Daniel Vaughan and Herbert Anderson.

High School Picnic

Another Heavy Pelt

Since our last writing about heavy wool pelts we have been informed that a year old ewe on the Anderson and Paulson farm sheared a pelt weighing 14 pounds. Considerable of the shearing this year was done by Hall Brothers from Viking who are operating a double motor clipper. Hods have just returned from California where they clipped some 6,000 sheep this spring.

Arnold Hanson from Bronson is staying here this week visiting among further school friends.

ECLIPSE OF MOON WAS VISIBLE FOR INSTANT

An eclipse of the moon occurred Sunday morning but it is believed few residents of the city observed the phenomena, which was scheduled to start shortly after four o'clock, lasting for about half an hour, but as the sun rose just as the moon set, the period of visibility here was very short. Those who went outside to see the eclipse saw instead a heavy coating of frost, the thermometer having fallen to 37 above that morning.

$35,000 Fund Sought in Minnesota for Aiding Ten Thousand Cripples

DR. H. W. FROEHLICH IS COUNTY CHAIRMAN

Educational Training Will Be Given Those Who Need Assistance, Is Plan

A campaign for dollar subscriptions to raise $35,000 throughout the state has been started by the Minnesota Association for Crippled Children, a Pennington county campaign committee assisting in the work locally, and composed of Dr. H. W. Froehlich, chairman, H. A. Pratt, Dr. O. F. Melby, Miss Gladys Blair, Geo. M. Gunderson and Peter Wold.

Assisting the county committee in making the drive for funds will be the various churches, hospitals, medical organizations and other civic bodies. The need of the crippled child will be explained by members. A campaign button and pamphlet describing the purpose of the state association will be given with each dollar subscription.

Donations to Date

Dollar contributions have already been received from a few representative citizens, the first donors being as follows: T. E. Berge, E. M. Berntson, Chris. Storholm, Chas. Lieberman, A. R. Matson, P. J. Anderson, Thos. Holm, Fred Kopp, Carsten Christenson, Christ Kogen, Dr. C. C. Haney, F. F. Haynes and L. G. Larson.

10,000 Cripples in State

Following the campaign an effort is to be made by the State Association to locate the 10,000 cripples estimated by the National Association for Crippled Children to exist in Minnesota. The Minnesota Association for Crippled Children is conducting the drive. With its $35,000 fund, the program can be made statewide and continued through the year. Hennepin and St. Louis counties alone are the only counties availing themselves of the state aid providing $250 annually for the education of crippled children discharged from hospitals but unable to attend regular schools because of incomplete physical rehabilitation. The Michael Dowling School in Minneapolis is an example of a school operating under this law. Each day more than 100 children from all parts of Hennepin county are brought to this school in busses that they may enjoy the same educational advantages as physically normal children.

Provide Educational Training

In order to give other crippled children the same opportunity for educational training as a school of this type, the children must first be located and cured, for it is only after hospitalization or suitable treatment that these schools are operated. With this purpose in view the Minnesota Association for Crippled Children is soliciting dollar subscriptions to raise $35,000.

When the crippled children have been located, the Minnesota Association for Crippled Children through the county units will establish diagnostic clinics under the leading orthopedists throughout the state.

State Wide Survey Planned

The state program planned after a year and a half of careful study is first to make a state-wide survey to locate and ascertain the condition of every cripple in the state. Hennepin county committees and assistance in securing funds and providing treatment for every cripple, and to help in securing laws and providing for this the law in Minnesota.

Since the days have been the epidemics of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) in this state, each affecting from 700 to 900 children, no other state has experienced such an epidemic.

Red Lake Falls Farmer Explores Indian Mound at Junction of Rivers

Wm. J. Phillon, living on the point at the junction of the Clearwater river with that of the Red Lake river near Red Lake Falls, recently determined to satisfy his curiosity regarding two mounds on his farm, which for a long time he felt might be Indian mounds.

Accordingly he visited the spot and dug into one of the mounds and after removing several rocks that had all appearances of having been carefully placed in their position found several bones, indicating an Indian grave.

It has long been known that an old Indian trail led over the particular piece of ground, which in later years was also used by the early white settlers. The second mound was not disturbed, as it may be that other Indian burials were made in that vicinity.

is guilty of a misdemeanor and subjected to prosecution.

"This weed problem is surely no joke, we should all give it our support and help the inspectors in every way possible."

Danger Lurks in Barberry

Mr. Lefebure spoke on the common barberry and its relation to black stem rust of grains and grasses. In this talk he outlined what has already been done in the eradication of the common barberry. This campaign is carried on by the United States Department of Agriculture, starting in 1918. Over 800,000 bushes have been found and destroyed in Minnesota alone, he stated.

The common barberry is condemned because it harbors the black stem rust of grain and grasses. In this state it is classed as a noxious weed and as such comes under the jurisdiction of the local weed inspectors. The rust of the common barberry, he stated, have been scattered by birds and other agencies, which accounts for bushes being found in many out-of-the-way places.

Everybody should learn to know the common barberry, and should assist in its destruction, Mr. Lefebure stated. The bush has no place in grain growing regions, but it may be found in yards, and should eradicate this evil. "Every farmer, every child, everyone should help in the agricultural development of the state and help destroy it, was the parting words of the speaker.

Cronkite on Man Talks

E. R. Clark of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston was also present and spoke, dealing more particularly on the fact that farmers should make it a point to plant only pure seed. He recommended a four-year crop rotation plan as one of the best measures to eradicate the weeds that now infest the country.

Beltrami and Lake of Woods Refunding Bond Situation Is Improving

Negotiations were concluded with John Nuveen & Co. of Chicago to purchase Beltrami county's and Lake of the Woods county's refunding bonds in an effort to tide over the embarassing situation the two counties find themselves in.

The rate of interest on Beltrami county bonds is to be five per cent and the rate of interest on the Lake of the Woods county bonds five and one half per cent. The Nuveen company agrees to hold the new issue in its own assets and not to dispose of them to the public until after the 1929 session of the legislature. The Nuveen & Company also agrees to obtain options on at least 75 per cent of the outstanding debt for delivery June 1, 1929, prior to January 1, 1930. It is understood that the Nuveen indebtedness will be joined by legislation at the next session.

Women Will Have Chance to Join Home Poultry Project Here Next Month

Poultry raisers of Thief River Falls, Pennington county, and surrounding country will meet in the Commercial club rooms here on Wednesday, June 13, to listen to a talk by Miss Cora Cook, poultry extension specialist of the University of Minnesota, who will endeavor to organize the chicken fanciers into a Home Poultry project.

This is one of the features that will be pushed by the County Extension service, co-operating with the university, and working thru the county agent, Robert M. Douglas. Primarily the course is of particular interest to the women on the farms, but any one in the community caring for the flocks.

The poultry project will start shortly after the state fair, the first week in September, and will continue thru the winter months.

Three other counties in this section of the state are also organized for this project so that Miss Cook can visit them the same week.

As a nucleus for the membership the poultry committee of the Industrial club is now endeavoring to secure the farmer members. The committee has met several of them interviewed by the county agent willingly consented to join in the work. A limited number of membership will be sought in order to have a sufficient number enrolled when Miss Cook arrives.

Dividend Checks Totaling Several Thousand Dollars Unclaimed by Depositors

Several thousand dollars in dividend checks are being held in the office of the state banking department at St. Paul, belonging to depositors of the old Pennington State bank of Thief River Falls, according to W. M. Nyhus, receiver for the bank. The checks represent the first dividend declared to depositors and belonging to those who so far have failed to file their claims for their accounts.

There are approximately one hundred of these depositors who are entitled to their dividend checks, one of them having more than $1,000 coming to him in the ten per cent dividend. Mr. Mersel stated to a representative of The Times today that the party in question had even been notified of the check, but as yet he has failed to file his claim therefor.

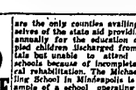
If You Cannot Afford A Vacation This Year

When home ties can't be untied, and your vacation must be spent at home, why not put a bit of the color and glow of a vacation folder into your own rooms. Just putting up gay cretonne drapes is helpful; and don't be afraid to scatter cushions around the house and porch. They cost so little when you make them, and the bright chintz chums with the summer mood.



Bedrooms in summer must be cool and inviting, and we are anxious to show you our washable spreads with colored stripes. If you are clever with your needle you may enjoy making a whole set from some inexpensive material, such as gingham or unbleached muslin, with a bit of bright embroidery to lend individuality.

A little bit of your vacation money spent on the home pays big dividends in summer contentment — and if you shop with us that "little" can be very small indeed.

PENNINGTON FIRST TO MOTORIZE ITS ROAD MAINTENANCE

Three Tractors and 12-Foot Graders Placed In Service Late Last Week

Pennington county is the first county in the state to completely motorize its road maintenance department, according to Bert F. Umland, highway engineer, this having been accomplished last week upon the arrival of the two additional tractors and graders.

The county is divided for the present into three patrols, two of them being in the eastern part of the county and the third in the western section. The county now has only three maintenance men whereas previously there were seventeen in the employ of the highway engineer. It is expected that the saving thus brought about, together with less equipment to care for and repair will pay for the three outfits within two years.

Men in Charge

Iver Solheim has been placed in charge of District No. 1, and the outfit in Nine Mile is located 13 miles east of Thief River Falls on the Fisher road. Fred Fiske, Pennington county's representative of the state highway department, is in charge of District No. 2, and the outfit is stationed on the Thief River Falls-Red Lake road. Christ Cruse, Jr., will care for the third district, his tractor and grader having been assigned a place right miles west of St. Hilaire.

These road patrol outfits consist of a 10-20 McCormick-Deering industrial type tractor, to which is attached a rubber tired road grader, with 12 foot blade, and equipped with a cab to protect the men in wet or cold weather. The cabs are so arranged that in winter when the snow must be removed that instead of pulling the snow plow it will be pushed ahead, thereby clearing the way for the tractor. The cabs may also be used the year round, affording additional savings over the old method of hiring tractors to open the roads.

Farm Bureau Paying For What It Gets Is Declaration of Reed

"County funds voted to aid agricultural extension work in the various Minnesota counties are not appropriations made to the Farm Bureau," declared J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, in an interview at St. Paul last week.

"There is a misconception in the public mind on the point that needs to be cleared up," said Mr. Reed in this connection. "Funds voted by county commissioners each year for agricultural extension work in the various counties go to the extension division working under the direction of the United States Department of Agriculture and the State College of Agriculture at St. Paul in the Twin Cities. This county-appropriated money is expended in the interest of every farmer in the county for the advancement of agricultural betterment whether he is a member or not a member of the Farm Bureau.

"This appropriation in part is to maintain a county agent or home demonstration agent, who is a public officers in the county, whose business it is to serve all interests in a public way.

"In addition 12 bearing their share of the costs to apply these appropriations, Farm Bureau members in every county are paying $5 per year membership fees, $8.50 of which, in Minnesota, is expended for vaudeville or salaries of these extension workers in the counties. The remainder of the annual dues goes to maintaining county, state and national Farm Bureau organizations. No public funds are expended for the Farm Bureau. Farm Bureau members are paying for what they are getting."

Tax Receipt Buyer Takes Own Risk Says High Court

In a court decision of the state supreme court involving the sale of invalid tax certificates of Marshall county to the E. H. Wallace company of Minneapolis the court held that the purchaser of a tax receipt takes the risk of the validity of the receipt.

Tax certificates were sold by Marshall county yearly up to 1926, and the Wallace company held certificates totaling $7,452.50. Some of these certificates involving tax titles during the year 1921 became invalid and the company sued to get the money paid for the receipts.

It is estimated that the ruling will save the county approximately $40,000. County Attorney W. O. Brattgaas represented the county before the supreme court.

The farmers who are making these improvements are, of course, quite optimistic of the future of this country, and have confidence in their own ability to make farming pay in this community. The fact that they are solid settlers who have experienced most of the hardships that all pioneer farmers in this community have experienced, and know, from experience, what difficulties to look forward to in the future, gives assurance that this section of the Northwest is getting back on its feet again. Indications that this community is getting its second wind and is to be the new one-crop and real one to will hold its own with other communities in this territory but is swinging into a healthy stride that will place it up near the head of the column of growing communities. After the long siege of depression we have passed through during which it hasn't been popular to even smile pleasantly, it is mighty encouraging to hear optimistic sentiments muttered in town and well among farmers who are too busy building for the future to grieve about the misfortunes of the past.

You've isn't a great deal of variety to the stories that these farmers tell. They talk and think in terms of live stock—butterfat, beef, sheep, wool, turkeys, poultry—and grain, as a result, crop failures are few and far between. Feed is the chief concern now. If there is plenty of feed then the crop is satisfactory. Alfalfa is becoming more important every year and the acreage is being increased appreciably. More fodder corn is being planted this year and more pasture land on less and less.

Three of the farmers mentioned above have taken an important step in the development of their live stock business during the past year. Swenson, Williams and Kaushagen have started dairy herds. They are now crossing these Holsteins with beef type bulls, both Knutson and Williams using pure bred Angus sires. They intend to continue improving their herds by breeding their beef cows to Holstein sires but the rank and file of the calves will be of the beef type and will be raised to sell as baby beef. Holstein type calves make a little value on the market but the beef type they are raising now will command a good price. The Angus cross is coming along in good shape and the calves are pretty fine looking calves and built on the general plan of a beef animal.

Knutson has lived on his farm since it was a homestead, and has a fine herd of cattle and sheep with him. They farm two quarters in all and at the present time have about fifty head of cattle. They are milking seven cows but plan to increase this number a little and by the time he gets everything squared away Mr. Knutson hopes to be able to market a crop of from 25 to 30 head of baby beef each year. They now have sixty acres of alfalfa and are putting in another twelve acres this summer. They are also putting in a good seed patch of corn to fill the new silo.

Williams, who owns a mile north of Knutsons, is making an outstanding success of dairying, too. He has sixty head of cattle in all and the fifty head addition he is building to his barn will be filled to capacity as soon as it is completed. He is milking twenty cows and has a standy bunch of Holstein heifers comsen of seven purebred and the rest high grades. They are

FERTILE EGGS ARE CAUSE OF LOSS TO POULTRY RAISERS

Strictly Fresh Eggs Properly Stored Now Preferred to Eggs Laid In Fall

Poultry raisers of this territory suffer heavy losses each summer due to fertile eggs, according to A. M. Pilkey, poultryman at the Northwest School and Experiment Station at Crookston. It is estimated that two eggs in every dozen are graded at the time of candling, according to Mr. Pilkey, a fertile egg will start incubation in 24 hours if kept at a temperature of 70 degrees, and hence not unfit for table use. Fertile eggs apparently spoil a quickly as milk during warm weather.

At the close of the hatching season, every male bird should be sold or separated from the rest of the flock. Experiments show that hens will actually lay more eggs after separation from males and females are allowed to run together.

The selling price of eggs can be materially enhanced by practicing the following easy suggestions, says Mr. Pilkey:

1. Kill, sell or separate all mature male birds by June 1.

2. Confine or sell all young cockerels after July 1.

3. Keep nests clean, and provide one nest, for every six hens.

4. Gather eggs twice daily during hot weather.

5. Keep eggs in a cool, dry, well ventilated place.

6. Market eggs at least twice a week.

Time to Put Down Eggs

Eggs are abundant now. That means that the "strictly fresh" kind are in position about the middle of June, and that prices are within reach of all. It further means that the time for the market will soften the reasonable opportunity and make the most of it.

The jaded marketer might well enter, and ask, "What new thing under the sun can we do with eggs?"

There are now things to be sure, and there are improved methods of producing old things. For example, eggs do not have to be boiled in the usual hard. If hard-boiled eggs have seemed tough, try boiling them in water at not more than 180 degrees.

Spring Eggs Retain Flavor

Marketers are also reminded of the possibilities of storing eggs, now that they are reasonable in price. With regard to storage, it is true that a good egg stored now in a glass jar will be more tasty than a poor but fresh egg bought in the fall.

Contrary to popular opinion the condition of an egg taken from storage depends not on its initial condition than upon the period of its storage. Eggs that are stored should be stored in air-tight jars. The latter should be thoroughly scalded before packing. The eggs should be absolutely clean and in first-class condition.

Don't starve the teeth

Children don't eat food to build sound teeth and good bones, but parents should give them food that is rich in calcium and other bone-making, tissue building elements prepared in tempting, digestible form. Give each of them two Shredded Wheat biscuits, warmed in the oven and served with whole milk. The crisp, flavory shreds of thoroughly baked whole wheat encourage proper chewing, and the bran insures daily evacuation, a function so necessary to the health of growing children. Twelve large, full-size biscuits in every package—Ready-cooked and ready-to-serve.

MAY SALES SET NEW HIGH MARK

With May reaching a new high peak—Whippet and Willys-Knight sales continue to mount, month after month, week after week, day after day.

The five months just completed were by far the greatest in all Willys-Overland history. In spite of the fact that April had produced the greatest sales on record, May established a new mark with an increase of 14% above the previous record-breaking month.

The perfected Whippet Four, at greatly reduced prices, is a tremendous national success. The new Whippet Six —the world's lowest price six-cylinder motor car—is paralleling the Whippet Four in popular acceptance.

The recently announced low price of the Willys-Knight Standard Six has resulted in greatly increased demand for this splendid car. Sales of the Special Six and the Great Six continue in unabated volume.

Come in and see the Willys-Knight and the Whippet Four and Six lines. And for early delivery it will pay you to place your order now.

Dairy Inspections

Six cows were tested by Dairy Inspector Dr. L. M. Hayden this week for tuberculosis and all found free of the disease. The herd consisted of cows in twelve herds were physically examined and found to meet all requirements. All of the herds examining milk for city consumption were found to be producing milk in sanitary barns as to ventilation, and the milk was found to have been cooled to 50 degrees or below within an hour after milking. The city inspector being accompanied by Inspector Hayden of the State Board of Health. All places visited were found in good condition. The report of the inspectors follows:

Was on illegal samples of milk collected by 10 inspectors during the month of May. Of the 20 samples collected only one cream sample out of 20 was found to be below the legal requirement in the sediment test of the 50 samples of milk 45 were found to be clean, and were good and hygienic condition.

All of the eleven large milk dealers supplying milk to customers through the city were supplying milk that with a butterfat content in excess of the legal requirement of 3.25 per cent. The tests reveal a better showing of butterfat for all dealers in this city for the months just—not only higher, but also more uniform. The test for May was 3.69 with the highest, 3.92 percent.

Pipestone Relic of Old Indian Days Found on Farm in Excel

C. A. Swanson, living five miles north and two miles west of Thief River Falls in the town of Excel, Marshall county, brought to the office of The Times on Monday a specimen of Indian art that is all appearances may have been used in some way by the Indians as a part of the point of an arrow. The stone was unearthed by Mr. Swanson while plowing up a field of sod on his farm, having been bored about eight inches below the surface of the ground.

To a casual observer the stone is a piece of sandstone, about three inches, nearly six inches in length, and three quarters of an inch in width at the broadest point, one third of the distance from the rear end, where the point is flat on one side, by which it possibly was attached to the end of an arrow. The other is rounded and quite smooth.

Situated as it is on one of the highest ridges in this section, it is quite probable that the farm was once the beaten path in ancient days of the Redskins when they traveled back and forth, and that the arrow may have been the instrument in causing the death of an Indian of another tribe, or perhaps that of palefare when White Man first penetrated this section.

The fact that a like country north of here as far as the Canadian line was once a great swamp or morass, as also the Red River valley, is a matter of State Highway Department records, while a "corduroy" road in this section is probably fashioned from a stone laid down in the swamp. Stone quarries many, many years ago were located in the hard zone of stone which underlies the arrow head was used by some roaming band.

Early settlers recall visits of the Chippewa bands from southern Minnesota to the Pipestone quarries in the Red Lakes, the Indians from the southern section ringing with their chants and dances. One specimen of articles carved from the pipestone, including the bowls and mouthpieces of the Red Lake Indians.

EGG PREMIUM CHECKS HAVE BEEN ISSUED

Nearly $1,000 Distributed to Poultry Raisers of Northwestern Minnesota

$8.39 WAS AMOUNT OF LARGEST CHECK HERE

Premium Ranged From One to Three Cents a Dozen on Land O' Lakes Eggs

The first of the premium checks on quality eggs sold to the Farmers' Co-operative Poultry association by members and outsiders during the month of April have been received and distributed to those entering the extra price above what they were paid on delivery.

The largest of these checks were issued by the Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc., thruout Minnesota, and South Dakota and Wisconsin also, but about ten percent of them were to poultry raisers in northwestern Minnesota, according to R. O. Norby, manager of the Farmers' Co-operative Poultry association. The total premium money earned for the local association was $515.09.

Largest Local Premium

The largest check from premium checks passing thru the local office was that for John Phillips of Gentilly township, which was for $8.39. The second largest was to H. Clemmer, Thief River Falls, for $7.81, and the third largest was to H. Clemmer, Thief River Falls, for $7.81, and the third largest was to H. Clemmer, Thief River Falls, for $7.81, and the third largest was to Andrew Nesseth of Gentilly for $6.79.

With the business done in May double that of April Mr. Norby feels quite elated with the progress being made and with the returns being paid to members of the organization. The first ten days of June saw a greater volume of eggs handled at the local plant than during May, a large force still being employed at the plant.

How Eggs are Checked

The May issue of the Land O' Lakes News contains the excellent start made by the association in the matter of handling eggs, a part of which follows:

"All eggs taken in at the creamery (Continued from Page 1)

are candled, graded and sorted for size and quality by the grader at Thief River Falls. The grade is then entered on the monthly egg premium settlement sheet, on which is the exact number of eggs delivered by each patron and how they are graded.

An Advance Made

"When eggs are taken in at the creamery an advance is made, which is the final payment for eggs delivered through this settlement. The advance is made on the premium paid upon what the farmer has received in the form of an advance for the eggs he delivered. A statement will be noted that the premium paid for eggs is cents above the price paid on the Land O' Lakes grades for eggs.

"Very often eggs are found that have bloody yolk, blood rings, or are just plain 'rots.' The eggs are not fit for use and, of course, whatever has been paid for them in the way of an advance must be deducted from the premium check.

Best Only Land O' Lakes

"Land O' Lakes eggs are all eggs—eggs that are twenty-two ounces to the dozen or over, clean, well-shaped, strictly fresh and well laid.

"Any eggs that are small and under twenty-two ounces to the dozen, soiled, dirty, old, checked and stale go into the No. 2 grade.

"Any cracked eggs. Get rid of the rooster now. Fertile eggs do not keep if it is necessary to market infertile eggs from now on.

Gets Statement Monthly

"Producers are all known to us by number. For instance, Producer No. 532, who is a patron of the Jackson Co-operative Creamery, will receive about the 25th of the month an envelope containing his statement which is the grader's report and his premium on the Land O' Lakes grade delivered to us during the month of March amounting to $5.78.

"The farmer who keeps their eggs clean and in a cool place and delivers them often should receive a good sized premium each month for Land O' Lakes Eggs. The same care should be given your eggs as you do the cream that goes into the manufacture of Land O' Lakes butter.

Getting More for Your Eggs

"You are getting more for your eggs than ever before because Land O' Lakes has made it possible for you to handle eggs on a truly cooperative basis. You get all there is it and Land O' Lakes expects good eggs from you."

Whole wheat in wholesome form . . .

The whole wheat—all of it, and nothing else, is in Shredded Wheat. None of the healthful qualities, not even the bran is lost. And better still, the grain is steam-cooked, shredded, formed into large loaves and baked all the way through. This is not just to bring out the flavor. It insures easy digestion and enables grand-children as well as grand fathers to secure the full benefit of nature's most im-portant food.

Home Poultry Project Organized by Women of County Wednesday

A Pennington County Home Poul-try project was successfully organ-ized Wednesday in the office of Coun-ty Agent Robert M. Douglas thru the efforts of Miss Cora Cooke, poultry specialist of the extension division of the Minnesota College of Agriculture. The meeting was attended by nearly 20 women of the community, six of whom were selected as town chair-men in their respective localities.

The project will start after the state fair and continue thru most of the winter; Miss Cooke making a series of monthly visits to the city, as well as to Ada and Crookston. Norman and Polk counties also hav-ing taken on the same line of work for their women.

The town chairmen named at the Wednesday meeting are as follows: Mrs. Axel Engelstad from Huckleberry, Mrs. Waldie Christensen and Mrs. S. Sorenson of North, Mrs. Fred Dols of Marsden, Mrs. C. T. Moline of Pen-ington Center, Mrs. Will Vaughan of High-lands and Mrs. Ernest Wynne of Wylie-dotte. Two From Thief River on "Ag" School Committees Boosting Annual Reunion

Paul Engelstad of the class of 1916 and Theresa Aakre of the class of 1924 compose the Pennington county committee in attendance for the annual reunion at the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston on June 29, which it is hoped to make the best one ever held.

An attractive program has been ar-ranged to begin during the forenoon with readings and sports. Following the picnic dinner there will be a short speaking program and business session in the auditorium, at which time it is hoped that Congressman C. G. Selvig may be present. The rest of the afternoon will be devoted to ball games and other sports. One of the features of the sports program will be the ball game between the alumni and the undergraduates with the class of 1928 playing with the later students. A ball game for girls will also be scheduled. Two orches-tras have been engaged for the big festival dance in the evening, with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Torgerson and son, Orrin, of Fosston, furnishing one old time music.

The refreshment committee sug-gests that all should bring their pic-nic baskets as supper, with light lunches may be secured at the stands.

A short business session closed the forenoon program, follow-ed by a "Get Acquainted" luncheon. In the afternoon Col. Paul Doty of St. Paul, chairman of the state board of registration, discussed the registra-tion of engineers, architects and sur-veyors in Minnesota. This was fol-lowed by a report on the State Safety Council by the secretary organizer, thru efforts of the League.

Many Applications for Snelling Training Camp

The recent visit of Capt. John P. Horan of the U. S. army, to this city and other points in Minnesota and the Dakotas in the interest of military training such as has not been seen since the early days of the World war, is calling to mind the fact that Minnesota recently claimed the title Citizens Military Training Camps capitals, who stated yesterday that advices from St. Paul are to the ef-fect that 900 applications had been received there already for the 1,200 places open in Minnesota.

The information was made public last Saturday by Colonel F. M. Nor-ton, executive officer of the 88th divi-sion.

Because of the number of appli-cants, priority will come July 1st. All those whose applications are not in by that time, according to Colonel Nor-ton, will be considered after other applicants.

Colonel Norton said that applica-tions outnumber those on hand at the same time last year by more than four to one.

THE AMERICAN FLAG
(Joseph Rodman Drake)

When Freedom from her mountain height
Unfurled her standard to the air,
She tore the azure robe of night,
And set the stars of glory there.
She mingled with its gorgeous dyes
The milky baldric of the skies,
And striped its pure, celestial white
With streakings of the morning light.

Flag of the free heart's hope and home,
By angel hands to valor given;
Thy stars have lit the welkin dome,
And all thy hues were born in heaven.
Forever flont that standard sheet,
Where'er breathes the foe but falls before us,
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us.

The cow is a sacred animal in India, and right here in Minnesota she is looked upon with a great deal of reverence too. There may be a little more of romance connected with grain farming than in growing a crop of butterfat but there is also a great deal more of uncertainty. In dry weather, when day after day we look in vain for the shower that is needed for the grain, and in wet weather, when day after day it rains and there is danger that the grain will be drowned out—at such times it is comforting to know that within twenty-five miles of Thief River Falls there are fourteen creameries and in the neighborhood of each company are hundreds of milk cows working twenty-four hours of each day in order that the people of this community can pay cash for the Times. Yes we can afford to say a lot of nice things about the cows of this territory.

THE SCHOOLS ARE CLOSED

Vacation time is here and the schools are taking their annual three-month rest. To this city an investment of several hundred thousand dollars is having a holiday. In this city a thousand children, more or less, are loafing about the streets. In this city a half a hundred teachers are wondering what became of the salary they received last winter and are trying to figure out ways and means to live until the pay checks start circulation again next October.

We have inquired from schoolmen as to the reason for this three months vacation and it seems that the only excuse for it is that the summer vacation has always existed and therefore should continue to exist. It is an institution as old as the memory of man. Like Santa Claus and Easter eggs, it has become a tradition and to question its necessity or usefullness is about as popular as oleomargarine at a creamery picnic.

There may have been some need for a five day school week and three months of summer vacation a few years ago before the woodshed became a garage and electrical appliances did the housework, but in this day and age with the word "chores" obsolete, it would seem that six days of school a week and a ten or eleven month school year would be advisable. A different condition in the rural communities probably justifies the present schedule, but in a city of this size where vacation time means only loafing for the large majority of students the present schedule is a shameful waste. The universities have already changed to a six day week and a twelve month year. Why not take the next step now and adopt this arrangement in our high schools.

KEEP ONE FOOT ON THE GROUND

Once in a while we meet a person who is convinced that our government is a failure because it is proven that some of our public officials are corrupt. We get plumb disgusted with the administration of public affairs occasionally too, and there are times when it requires a lot of restraint to keep from getting well enough and joining the soup box circus. Up to the present time, however, we have always been able to recover our balance after exhibiting a couple of chapters. The thing that generally sobers us up on such occasions is the thought that government is not the only thing in this world that is mismanaged by us mortals.

In Thief River Falls there are hundreds of people who will testify that our churches are run wrong; there are hundreds of people who will swear that our schools are mismanaged; hundreds who will say that the city administration is lame; that the county government is terrible; that the county fair is all wet; that our methods of handling charity are positively sinful, and our crime prevention system is itself a very black crime. There are hundreds of people in Thief River Falls who will testify to such statements, and most of the testimony would be quite truthful.

It doesn't require any great or unusual powers of discernment to pick several serious flaws in the administration of each institution we try to do collectively from the management of the live department down to the creamery and commercial club. In all of these things there are glaring faults. In all of these things, however, there is also much good to offset the bad, and the picture isn't complete unless you see both the good and the bad in their proper relation to the general scheme of things.

The surprising thing about our government and our schools and our churches and fairs and other co-operative enterprises of this kind is not that occasionally a public official or a preacher or a teacher proves to be unfaithful. The surprising thing, when you consider the shortcomings of all the rest of us, is that there is so little corruption among those whom we place in charge of our public business. We can all point out dozens of nitwits and scoundrels who have succeeded in getting head and shoulders into the public trough, but if we want to be fair about it we can also remember many dozens of mistakes of this kind that didn't happen.

To a large extent the imperfections of those things we try to do collectively are merely an enlargement of our individual imperfections. When we become perfect individually we will have a right to expect perfection in our collective effort, and probably will not be disappointed.

This doesn't mean that we should quit hammering away at those things that are wrong. The hammering should be continued, by all means, and increased if possible. But let's not lose sight of the things that are right in our eagerness to kick about what's wrong. Let's keep one leg under us.

COMBATTING CRIME

In its report on the problem of combatting crime, the subcommittee of the National Crime Commission makes the following important observation: "There is now a tendency to insist upon harsher punishment as a cure-all for crime, whereas of far more importance, it will be found, is the building up of police and court management capable of catching and convicting a far larger percentage of the individuals who commit crime."

We wish the state sheriff's organization, which goes on record at each annual meeting in favor of capital punishment, and the Minneapolis Journal, which at regular intervals demands the return of the hang man and the whipping post, would consider carefully this report of the committee and the figures on which it is based.

The following statistical comparisons with foreign countries which show that crime suppression must come through increased arrest and conviction of criminals, are quoted from the Manufacturer:

Arrests for robbery in England, Wales and Canada average for all indictable offense, 84 per cent. In America, Cleveland and Baltimore top the list with 40 and 47 per cent respectively, while Buffalo has the low record of but three per cent. St. Louis makes arrests in 11 per cent of the cases and Kansas City in 23 per cent. In the ratio of convictions to known crimes (robbery), the British figures are impressive. They run to 40 per cent, by comparison with but four per cent for St. Louis, and 14 per cent for Baltimore. The ratio of convictions to the number of arrests made is perhaps the most significant of all. In British figures are 70 per cent and Canadian 72 per cent; Baltimore shows 29 per cent and St. Louis 37 per cent.

These figures tell a striking story. They show, first, that efficient police are indispensable to catch the criminal; second, there must be an elimination of loop-hopes in legal procedure which now facilitate and in some instances actually promote the escape of the malefactor. It has reached a point in many of our courts where the luckless law-breaker who is occasionally caught and convicted virtually attributes his misfortune to an act of God, as he would in case of a disastrous storm, ship wreck or earthquake.

In concluding a comment on the remedy for crime, the Oregonian of Portland says that we must have "first, a fair prospect of apprehension; second, reasonable certainty that the mechanism of the law will not be employed to destroy the defenses of the law-abiding citizen—these are vital to the machinery of government. We think they are now necessary than long sentences erratically bestowed in sporadic instances. But so long as criminals may thumb their defiant noses, first at the police and then at the courts, so long as it seems as if crime could catch them, or keep them if caught, we surmise there is not much use discussing the 'higher' academic aspects of penalogy."

KEEP THE STORE LIGHTS BURNING

Now that summer is here again there is a big increase in the night automobile traffic through town. A few of the merchants take advantage of the opportunities to advertise to those evening shoppers by keeping the lights in their display windows burning several hours after dark. This lighting, however, should be more general. Not only because it is good advertising for the individual should it be done, but also because it gives the city as a whole a progressive appearance. The window lights should be kept burning at least until ten-thirty o'clock.

Next Sunday is Fathers' day. The middle of the month was very thoughtfully selected for this occasion. Last month's bills have been forgotten by this time and he hasn't started to worry yet about those that are coming.

THE LOAFER SHOULD BE TAXED
(William Feather)

Theoretically, the perfect tax would be a tax on loafers.

The proper man to tax would be the loafer, not the worker; idle land, not used land; inactive capital, not active capital; the man of enterprise, not enterprise.

Such a tax would not be practical, but it would be a good tax.

Our present taxes are based on the opposite theory. We tax thrift, action, capital, enterprise.

We levy taxes in proportion to ability to pay, which means that the harder a man works the more he has to pay. The more thrifty he becomes, the more we soak him; the more efficient he grows, the more we shake him down.

If I earn my money and buy a house I am taxed; if I waste my money in extravagant living, I am not taxed.

None of our taxes is designed to encourage production by the simple process of discouraging idleness, shiftlessness, inefficiency.

The devil himself could not do a cruder job of hobbling the human race.

TAX FACTS
(Mentevideo News)

A critic of Governor Christianson is giving out some figures on state matters that are misleading because incomplete and inaccurate. In a nutshell it is true that state levies for the revenue funds, the principal fund subject to the levy and used administrative determination was $6,825,349.31 in 1926 and $6,415,211.44 in 1927, a decrease of $410,093. Total state taxes for all funds were $10,040,000 in 1926 and $9,200,767.50 in 1927, a reduction of about $125,000.

It is important to note that state needs have been met in an adequate way, expansion has been checked, and increases in the tax burden prevented. If a chart were prepared to show the direction of the line of state levies and taxes over a period of years it would show the line moving steward, year after year, until its upward progress was checked by the present administration.

Some figures have been given out on the state levy for 1928 and 1927, presenting to show an increase. Such figures are incorrect. Following is the summary of state levies:

	1927	1927
State revenue	3.50 mills	3.30 mills
Soldiers' bonus	.20	.20
Road and Bridge	1.00	1.00
University buildings	.20	.22

Editor Thief River Falls Times:

The primary campaign for Sheriff, Register of Deeds and Dr. L. A. Fritsche, Farmer-Labor candidates for U. S. Senator in his hand. Answer respectfully, entirely developing in the state. These are the only offices for which there are workers and Senator Shipstead and Dr. Fritsche are the "dedicated candidates."

While the opposition candidates are on the ticket are making a strenuous campaign, they will make little impression on the loyal supporters of the present government. Senator Shipstead and Dr. Fritsche are representative of the tried and true supporters at the present government each have been chosen by the members of the movement to head their tickets.

We appeal to the organized farmers and workers of Minnesota to support the candidates endorsed by the Farmer-Labor Association, laying particular stress upon the candidacy of Shipstead and Fritsche the endorsed candidates who have contests, and urge that everything possible be done to bring about defeat of Watkins and Landeen, the unendorsed candidates who are defying the organized farmers and workers of the state.

Farmer-Labor candidates endorsed by the Farmer-Labor Association are as follows: U. S. Senator, Henrik Shipstead; Governor, Dr. Fritsche; Lieutenant Governor, Thomas Hodgson; Secretary of State, Mrs. Rusie Ringdorf; Treasurer, P. J. Swanson; Attorney General, C. F. Guerard; Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner, J. L. Peterson.

The Farmer-Labor party, composed of farmers and city workers, will find it difficult to leave their employment, especially at this time, to put in a position to carry on both primary and election campaigns. For that reason it is particularly to the advantage of the party to have primary contests for it depletes the strength of the party that should be conserved for the general election.

Primary election comes next Monday, June 18, and every voter, both men and women, should go to the polls on that day. Even though there is no contest for your favorite the Labor party yet it is important that every vote be recorded in its effect upon the oncoming general election campaign. Be sure to vote on Monday. Vote to support your organization. Every one vote.

BUCK-DEER SEEN SUNDAY ON RIDGE WEST OF TOWN

A fine buck deer was observed Sunday afternoon by the Wm. Parbst and Henry Heard families while on a picnic on the Sand ridge about seven miles west of town. The deer emerged from the woods and crossed an open space, again entering the woods on the other side.

This is the first deer seen in this vicinity for some time, either last fall a farmer struck a deer a short distance north of town on Highway No. 32, the animal apparently being blinded by the bright headlights of the car.

A Remarkable Story of the Minnesota Permanent School and Trust Fund—Written for the Minneapolis Editorial Association

By JOHN STOKE FARRIS...

How It Was Saved

Minnesota prides itself on having the finest, fairest, most flourishing public endowment in the United States. Our state trust funds include the permanent school fund with $45,000,000 in the vault and twice as much in sight, besides the university and swamp land and other funds—in all $70,000,000 in the vaults and three times as much in sight; $200,000,000 or more eventually from known assets.

It is the finest, fairest and most flourishing public endowment in the United States and the largest except one—that is Texas. Texas is not only bigger than Minnesota, but it entered the Union as a sovereign state, bringing its public domain with it. Where as Minnesota and the other states were endowed by congress with lands from the public domain.

No other state has a fund that can compare with Minnesota's. The original states had none except the distribution of the treasury surplus which they promptly spent, and in Connecticut about a million dollars from the sale of its western reserve. Other states sold their lands wholesale for thirty cents an acre or some such nearby and spent the money. Others let each county dispose of its lands and never saw the money.

Minnesota saved its fund and kept it intact. And every time you get your pay check, Miss Kitty, say a little courtesy to the memory of Henry Sibley and Alexander Ramsey. For part of your check comes from the fund they saved for you.

When the school district trustees figure what they can do and what they have to do with, there is one item they can count on.

There is four or five dollars per pupil—last year $4.20—the income of the state trust funds. There are other grants given by the legislature on condition—for teaching the girls to sew and teaching the boys to plant, for training teachers, for running a school bus, for being good schools and for doing various things that the legislature thinks best, but the fund for literacy is the children's.

In a district with 30 pupils, that is very, $125 a year. In the county seat, with 600 children, it runs to $2,500. And every penny of it is due to the foresight and courage of Ramsey and Sibley and their successors and of the auditors who have had charge of the state lands, through all the years from Governor Christianson and Auditor Chase. They fought for the trust funds, they defended them from depredation and waste, they nourished and sustained them. By vigilance, courage and fidelity, and often enough with a pretty stiff fight, the children's heritage has been preserved.

Minnesota became a state in 1857 and the land grant for the school fund came with it. The very first session of the legislature, an act was passed to dispose of the school lands. Sibley vetoed it. Remember that, Miss Kitty, when you get your check. If Sibley had signed that bill, that four or five dollars per pupil of the funds that run your school wouldn't be there today.

Ramsey followed in the governor's chair. And Ramsey in 1860 sent the legislature a message which stands out as one of the great state papers in the history of Minnesota. Read it, sometime, Miss Kitty. The policy Ramsey laid down is the foundation of the Minnesota trust funds—$60,000,000 in the vault and $100,000,000 in sight.

As a result of the Ramsey message the land department was established, with the auditor ex-officio, and that is how the auditor came to be custodian of state lands. From that time on, the history of the state trust funds is largely the record of the watchfulness and staunchness of McIlrath and Whitcomb and Iverson and Dunn and the rest who are too little remembered.

So the school fund was saved when other states were wasting theirs for thirty cents an acre or less, saved and kept intact when Minnesota was desperately hard up.

The treasury was empty in 1861 and $68,000 in orders outstanding. A perfectly good draft for $100 couldn't be cashed for more than $75. The state had to pay 8 per cent for money borrowed to pay interest on what it owed. It was not till 1864 that the auditor could report, "for the first time the treasury has sufficient funds to meet all legal obligations on presentation."

It was in those desperate times that the school fund was set up and kept intact. Already in 1863 the school fund had accumulated $81,000 which Auditor McIlrath describes as "a munificence of this legacy to our common schools." That income would come eventually to $7 apiece, he said, and so "each scholar in the state will be heir to sufficient funds to gain a complete common school education." Not quite; the fund exceeds the estimate, but the idea as to what constitutes a complete education has changed in sixty years.

But how we got it and how we kept it intact. And every time you get your pay check, Miss Kitty, say a little courtesy to the memory of Henry Sibley and Alexander Ramsey.

"Yes, Mary."

"Oh, it's no bother at all. I don't have to run downstairs any more when the telephone rings at night. I had them install—

Attorney General Rules on Licenses for Trailers

Whether a trailer is exempt from the motor vehicle tax depends on the purpose it is used for, according to a recent opinion by J. M. Markham, deputy attorney general. The opinion was given in the legislature to C. M. Babcock, commissioner of highways.

The statute exempt "small trailers of less than 2,000 pounds capacity used only with pleasure vehicles on occasional trips." Mr. Babcock asked whether this exemption would apply to trailers attached to passenger cars and used to transport farm products to market and supplies on the return trip, or for transporting tools and supplies used by artisans, such as carpenters, plumbers, etc.

"I think this all depends upon the frequency of use," the opinion holds. "The exemption was intended to apply to trailers used casually and occasionally—perhaps to haul a camp outfit or a fishing boat. I see no reason to doubt that a farmer might use such a trailer occasionally to haul some farm produce to town and bring back a quantity of groceries or other supplies. If, however, the trailer is in use not occasionally but habitually, it should be registered and should display number plates in accordance with the requirements of the statute."

The statute is specific in that it applies the exemption only to trailers attached to pleasure cars. Any trailer used with a truck must be licensed, regardless of size or frequency of use.

GENTRILLY FARMERS PLEAD GUILTY IN DISTRICT COURT

Joseph Gentrilly and his wife, Josephine, two victims of Sheriff Hanson's Polk county raid of Gentilly moonshiners last week, pleaded guilty before Judge William Watts in district court at Crookston last week and also pleaded guilty to the charges preferred.

Sentence was deferred by the judge pending the outcome of other alleged Gentilly liquor law violators.

Enforcement of Headlight Law Is Urged by Babcock

A plea for the cooperation of police, sheriffs, automobiles clubs and public spirited citizens in enforcing the law against glaring headlights, is made by C. M. Babcock, commissioner of highways, in a statement which The Times has been asked to publish.

"The glaring headlight is one of the most fruitful sources of accidents," says Mr. Babcock. "Formerly it was difficult to handle this problem, but with definite standards for driving headlights, the glaring headlight evil can be eliminated if proper officers in the out the state will take steps to enforce the law and if automobile clubs and law-abiding citizens will give the police their backing.

"The State Highway department has gone as far as it can under the law, by establishing headlight testing stations all over the state. This department has no power to enforce the law, as that is left entirely to the local peace officers. If they will compel all cars driven by them to have their lights adjusted, it will make night driving much safer for everybody. But if there is not a sufficient public demand to justify the new testing stations will be of little value.

"Enforcement of the law involves no hardship on anyone. It does not necessitate expense on the part of anyone except in case of persistent offenders. Car owners who have faulty lights may be ordered to go to the nearest official light adjusting station, have their lights tested and have it and the signed certificate. This takes only a little time and costs only a small.

"Where there is no official adjusting station, the lights may be adjusted whenever any garage is proper, by reference to the work of any qualified lamp adjuster employed."

The farm mortgage debt of the United States is estimated at eight billion dollars. It has increased four fold in the last 35 years.

If every mortgage was covered with a life insurance policy, this debt would be practically wiped out in a generation. (This was suggested by Senator Capper, Editor of Capper's Weekly).

MORE ABOUT MILK

Excerpt from an address delivered before the U. S. Live-stock Sanitary Association by Dr. D. A. Lochhead, Mayo Clinic, Rochester.

Pasteurization is a great factor of safety—but only a factor. The milk must be good milk to protect us in the events of accidents in operation or to the pasteurizing machinery, because pasteurization is, after all, merely a mechanical device, not a moral obligation.

"Milk should not be used from a tuberculous cow unless it is to be pasteurized or not. No sensible person would expose a tuberculous nurse maid. No sensible parent would willingly permit his children to play with other children who are known to be ill with such a communicable disease as tuberculosis. The best method of eradicating tuberculous from a herd is by the tuberculin test. The tuberculin test is nearer perfect than the Wassermann test for syphilis, the Widal test for typhoid, the throat swab for diphtheria or the sputum test for tuberculosis.

"We quote also from an address by Dr. William Henry Donnelly at an Eastern States Tuberculosis Conference at Atlantic City as follows: 'Pasteurization is a valuable thing; but pasteurization is sometimes a cloak behind which other dangers are hidden. Milk is one of the most important foodstuffs for the pregnant woman, the nursing mother, the growing child, then it ought to be the best we can get under the circumstances existing in our community. We should not wait for somebody with a pasteurizing plant or somebody with a gas stove to heat the milk to make it safe. I say if you have milk good at the source, you can do anything you want with it. You can put it, boil it, can it or use it, pasteurize it; take it raw, cold or hot. But based upon my own experience and the experiences of many others, you can not take dirty milk and make it good for those three classes of people mentioned, no matter what you do with it. We want clean milk at the source whether it is pasteurized or not. I believe milk will soon not be allowed to be pasteurized for children from anything but accredited herds. I want to know the milk that my children drink is from tuberculin tested cattle and then I can do with it what I will. Cut down the bacterial content of the milk at the source, pasteurize it if it is necessary in the individual case, but let us have clean milk, let us have the proper amount and let us have it clean where it should be—where it comes out of the cow."

Remember milk consumers, that the milk sold by us is from tuberculin tested accredited herds of long standing. It takes years to get on the accredited list after you start testing for tuberculin.—To be continued.

PENNY POST CARD RESTORED IN JULY BY LAST CONGRESS

Postal Revenues May Be Cut $16,000,000 by Revisions Signed by Coolidge

A bill providing for reduction in postal rates estimated at more than sixteen million dollars annually was passed by Congress in the closing days of the session and signed by President Coolidge on May 29. The new rates will go into effect on July 1, according to H. Hay Pape, assistant postmaster.

The bill restores one-cent postcards, provides for acceptance of business reply cards and letters in business reply envelopes without payment of postage, and for the collection of 1 cent additional an ounce on first-class matter when mailed with deficient postage.

Second-class rates on advertising sections of publications, and the postage on magazines and newspapers, when sent by others than the publisher or news agents, are reduced. A minimum charge per piece is fixed on second-class matter when there is more than 32 pieces to the pound.

Postage rates on fourth-class matter are reduced and the bill provides for bulk pound rates on third class matter, a special rate on library books and combined special handling and special delivery at reduced rates.

A recapitulation of net increases and decreases in revenue from the various sources, submitted by Congress in connection with the bill follows:

Post cards, reduction in rate from 2 cents to 1 cent each $1,200,000 decrease.

Business reply cards and envelopes, collect on delivery $4,000,000 increase.

Deficient postage, penalty for, $75,000 increase.

Second-class matter, between 1920 and 1921 rates $6,600,000 decrease.

Minimum charge per piece on second-class matter, increase.

Second-class matter, transient rates reduced $100,000 decrease.

Third-class matter, bulk pound rates $10,000,000 decrease.

Fourth-class matter, reduction in rates to distant zones $2,200,00 decrease.

Special delivery combined with special handling $800,000 increase.

Special handling exclusively $66,000 decrease.

Total net increase, $4,375,000; total net decrease, $21,000.

New rates for air mail will go into effect August 1, and are expected to result in 100 to 200 per cent increase in air mail business. The postage charge after August 1 for air mail will be 5 cents for the first ounce and 10 cents for each additional ounce. The present rate is 10 cents for one-half ounce. A new 5 cent air mail postage stamp will be issued by the Post Office department. Patrons of the service will need no special stamped envelopes for air mail, the new 5 cent stamp being sufficient notice of the service desired.

Only Approved Auto Lamps May Be Sold

The Minnesota Highway department is now in position to make the tests and give the approval which is required for all motor vehicle lighting devices before they can be sold in the state, Commissioner C. M. Babcock announces.

A section of the highway traffic act makes it unlawful for any person to sell at retail, or offer for sale, either separately or as part of the equipment of a motor vehicle, any electric head lamp or lens auxiliary driving lamp, rear lamp or signal lamp, unless it is of a type which has been approved by the commissioner.

The University of Minnesota is cooperating with the highway department in making this law effective. Laboratory tests are being conducted for sale in the state, has been established and equipped in the mechanical division of the college of engineering. Commissioner Babcock feels that there is now no reason why automobile lighting devices should be sold without the approval required by law.

The law requiring the approval of the highway department, applies also to lamps which are sold as part of the regular equipment of new automobiles, lamps, lenses and reflectors which are sold for replacement purposes, and any spotlights, signal lights, or auxiliary driving lamps intended to be sold for use as additional equipment on motor vehicles.

Selling or offering any lamps for sale which have not been approved is misdemeanor.

MINNESOTA MOTOR DEATHS DECREASE DURING PAST YEAR

Percentage Lower Than in Other States, But More Safety Work Is Urged

There were 362 deaths in Minnesota in 1927 due to automobile accidents, according to a summary of vital statistics just recently given out by the State Board of Health. This is more than in any previous year and more than ten per cent greater than in 1926, the highest number in any previous year was 361, in 1924. The number dropped to 359 in 1925 and 328 in 1926.

These figures do not include deaths in grade crossings accidents, of which there were 24 in 1925, 29 in 1926 and 27 in 1927.

Minnesota's Record Excellent

It is only when we "compare the deaths to the number of cars that we get some slight hope. There were 72 deaths for every 100,000 cars registered in Minnesota in 1924, 63 in 1925, 52 in 1926 and 55 in 1927. This is considerably better than the average for the nation, as there were 97 fatalities for every 100,000 cars, registered in the United States in 1927, 93 in 1926 and 100 in 1925 and in 1924.

"Even though we did not have as many motor fatalities as some other states, in proportion to the number of cars, the situation nevertheless calls for the earnest attention of public officials, parents, teachers and all interested citizens," says C. M. Babcock, commissioner of highways.

Causes of Accidents

"An analysis of accidents made by the American Road Builders association shows that motorists were principally to blame in 44 per cent of the accidents studied and in one third of these cases the accident was due to instantaneous. Forty three per cent of the deaths were due principally to the pedestrian, and one third of these were caused by children playing in the streets or crossing in violation to traffic laws, while more than a fourth were due to adult jay-walking. Only thirteen per cent of all accidents were ascribed to physical conditions, such as fog, snow, rain, skidding, road defects, or defects in the machine.

"If we are to have a reduction in the number of accidents there must be consistent and not sporadic enforcement of traffic laws. But to effect a real decrease in accidents, every driver and every pedestrian must be constantly on the alert. Newspapers, parents and teachers can do no more useful service than conducting continuous safety campaigns, calling attention to the need of obeying traffic regulations but to the imperative necessity of being cautious at all times, both when driving and when walking."

Roseau Dam Construction Parley Has Been Called

An agreement has been reached between the governments of the United States and Canada for a meeting in Winnipeg July 9 where representatives of the two countries will decide upon exact matters which are to be placed before the International Joint Commission in the controversy over the flooding of lands in Minnesota due to the construction of a dam on the Roseau river on the Canadian side of the line.

This river flows from Minnesota into Canada and Minnesota farmers in the vicinity of Ritzon recently appealed to Washington for relief. Representative C. R. Selvig of the Ninth Minnesota district and others have been urging action. Tuesday it was announced by Secretary of State F. B. Kellogg that a retraction of the dam has been suspended by Canada pending outcome of the controversy.

Those who attend the meeting July 9 will represent the interior department at Washington and the dominion department of public works.

Farm Bureau Figures Show Sharp Decrease in Farm Hand Wages

Figures gathered from all counties in Minnesota during the first week in June by E. J. Jones of St. Paul, executive secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, show a sharp decrease in wages for all classes of farm labor over the same period in 1927 and 1926.

"Weak demand and a strong supply of farm labor tells the story in a nutshell," said Mr. Jones in commenting on this situation.

A number of counties report an over-supply of married men looking for jobs, with wages for these ranging from $50 to $75 per month.

The average wage for general farm work by the day the year is $2.91, compared with $2.19 last year and $2.26 in 1926.

Average wage for general work by the month is $47.90 a year ago and an average of $42.17 two years ago at this time.

The average monthly wage for general work, on an eight-months' basis, is $47.50 per month, compared with $48.00 a year ago and $50.17 two years ago.

ABLE—EXPERIENCED—SOUND

Best Cuts of Pork for Summer Given

There exists a rather widespread idea that pork is essentially a cold weather meat. This doubtless is due to the fact that because pork carries more fat than other meats, it is a greater heat-producing food; but there are cuts of pork which are not excessively fat and which are just as well adapted to use in the summer as at any other time. Chops, fresh ham, and tenderloin are all cuts which are largely lean meat, and are just as attractive on a hot day as any other hearty dish.

Hot weather does make the appetite less keen and it does make less heat-producing foods necessary, but protein is needed to build and repair tissue during the warm months just as it is during the cool season, since meat is one of the very best sources of protein. Plan a variety of foods and be included in the diet during the summer as well as during the winter, the protein of meat is in a highly available form; therefore, if meat is the principal protein, it will not be necessary to consume so much food in order to get the required amount of protein.

The housewife's big problem in summer is to plan meals which will be dainty enough to tempt jaded appetites and at the same time adequate to meet body requirements, and in planning such meals, she need not hesitate to include both fresh and cured pork.

The Human Problem in Industry

"Most of us have to spend the major part of our waking hours at work. Besides, our work places bounds around our use of leisure. We cannot go very far toward making life satisfying unless, within limits, we can make work satisfying. The human problem in industry is to put satisfaction into work."

This quotation is from an article by Willard E. Hotchkiss, Chairman, California Economic Research Committee, in Nation's Business.

The success with which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has worked out the "human problem" in petroleum refining is due to the fact that this Company has always considered it the most important problem in industry.

Big business is made up of men and machines. The machines receive expert mechanical care. In the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) the human part of the business receives the best of human care.

The employees of the Company work together under conditions that make them enjoy their work, that make their lives useful and full of meaning.

Each of them has the opportunity of doing the job to which his energy and ability entitle him—of utilizing his special advantages—of earning a fair reward for his work.

Each employe has the assurance of his Company's interest in his welfare. He is substantially encouraged if he wishes to invest his savings in stock, to become part owner of the Company. He is certain of sympathetic and practical help in time of trouble.

The many measures devised for the benefit of employes are in no sense philanthropic.

Employes of this Company, by their loyal work earn the friendship shown them. They are all of their working hours, their energy and ambition to the Company. They work together as a team united in one great purpose—to serve the people of the United States.

The success of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is due largely to its employes and the support in which they work. Probably you can give proof of this statement.

Why do you stop at Standard Oil Service Stations? Because you know the products you buy there are always dependable—made by men who work with sincerity and faithfulness, assisted only with the best they can do. Because its success lives in the attention of men skilled to please you—who take pride in their skill and pleasure in every opportunity of being helpful.

This Company succeeds in serving the people of the Middle West to the extent that it deserves. It recognizes the human problem in industry and solves it. Because its success lives in satisfying—for more than 30,000 men and women who know the satisfaction that comes from earning all the privileges they enjoy.

Our Little Corner

No. 25 JUNE 14, 1928 Vol. 2

We believe you'll agree with us when we say that we've got some mighty pretty dining room suites here at the store. And they'll look even more beautiful in your home.

Mary had a little lamb
But she was very queery
She laid quite well
when eggs were cheap
And quit when they were dear.

Look where you will, there's what you like, you can't buy at any price, more service, wear or dependable values than you'll get in a Nineteen Hog. That's our honest opinion.

Judge: "Did you ever appear as a witness in any other suit?"
Witness: "Yes, sir."
Judge: "What suit was it?"
Witness: "My latest marriage."

Summer time is gasoline stove time. Come in and see the advantages of our American flat stoves before the hot months arrive.

"Your medicine has helped me wonderfully," wrote a grateful woman. "A month ago I could not spank the baby, but now I can thrash my husband. Heaven bless you!"

We've certainly received a lot of compliments for those desks of ours. And there are mighty few parts as well as many useful pieces of furniture. Come in and see them.

We believe the easiest thing to grow in the garden is tired.

An Iowan man was trying to sell a farm. The animal was beautiful, but man-broken. "Has not be a beautiful coal?" exclaimed the owner. "Yes," replied the buyer, "but I don't like his pants."

It has been our observation that the fellow who insists on waiting until times get back to "where they ought to be" usually waits in vain.

Just a trifle over a million dollar sale, that's all the room a Maytag washer takes. It's the most compact machine we ever saw.

A million dollar sale, and we get it for nothing.

IMPROVEMENTS AUTHORIZED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Five Tables of Modern Construction Purchased for Home Economics Department

PROVISIONS MADE FOR LOCKER INSTALLATIONS

Two Teachers Resign; Two New Ones Hired; Reports of Librarian and Nurse

Authorization of needed repairs to the various school buildings of the city, together with the awarding of a contract for five new tables in the home economics department, and the disposal of various minor matters occupied the attention of the board members at the monthly meeting Monday evening.

Seven bids were received by the clerk, Mrs. L. G. Larsen. Two of the bidders had representatives present and they were given an opportunity to explain their merchandise.

Fargo Concern Given Order

The Northern School Supply Co., of Fargo was given the contract for the five tables at $91 each with $10 extra for a special composition top instead of wood. These tables will be of modern design, with smooth tops of a composite nature, capable of withstanding extreme changes in temperature and in humidity, both of which are factors that must be reckoned with in this area. Tables of this kind were recently installed by the state in the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston, and conform to all requirements of the state department of education.

Additional Lockers Authorized

Another installation that will be appreciated by the boy students when they return to school next fall will be that of approximately 150 new locker-room lockers. The cost of these lockers will be about $3.50 each, according to Superintendent Berg.

Wardrobe locker facilities for the senior girls is also to be provided, there being in the locker food at present the sum of $84 raised by the physical training classes this spring thru the demonstration by the members under the direction of Miss Gerber, instructor. The school board Monday night appropriated an additional sum of $25 to make a sufficient amount to purchase enough lockers for the senior girls, one locker for each two girls. If a similar exhibition is staged again this next year possibly enough money may be raised, the board believes, to take care of the junior girls, and in two more years all the high school girls will be cared for in this manner.

Two Additional Showers

Another improvement effecting the physical education classes will be the installation of two additional showers.

Other improvements to the various buildings are of minor nature and will be cared for by the maintenance committee during the summer vacation. A front entrance to the Central school will be constructed, the board members being inclined to the belief that considerable heat may be conserved thereby, the reduction in the fuel bill soon paying for the cost of the entrance.

Changes in Teaching Staff

The resignation of Miss Gleason and Miss Herbert were read tothe board and the same duly accepted, the directors authorizing the superintendent to hire instructors for next year with Lilah Hjerpe of Mcintosh as a second grade teacher, and with Emma Hemmer of Perham for the seventh grade, and teaching of geography.

Miscellaneous Business

The report of the librarian, Miss Leavitt, for the fifth and sixth weeks' period, was received and filed. It showed that during those periods 1,864 books had been borrowed and that the average attendance in the library had been estimated at 102. The total number withdrawn during the year by students was 3,615, of which 1,910 were non-fiction.

Bids for next year's supply of coal and wood were authorized to be called for. The estimate of Mr. Dye is that 250 tons of coal and 90 cords of wood will be needed for next winter. These bids will be opened at the July meeting of the board on Monday, July 9, all bidders being asked to be in the city the next until the various kinds of coal and wood will produce.

The final six weeks' report of the school nurse, Gladys Blair, was duly approved, showing that during that time 780 scholars had been inspected in the various classrooms of the public schools, and that only 36 pupils had been excluded temporarily from the schools for symptoms of pinkeye, impetigo contagiosa and common illnesses. Her report indicated a general loss of weight among the scholars, due, she stated, probably to the number that were effected with influenza, and the warm spring weather clothing.

$60,000 BUSHELS SPUDS ARE SHIPPED FROM HAWLEY

Potato shipments from Hawley during the last six months totalled more than half a million bushels, according to records just made public. With 1,000 cars due to be loaded during the last week in May, the shipments for the six months' period totalled 849 cars.

WORTH WHILE IMPROVEMENTS BY FAIR BOARD

New Entrance and Roadway at Fourth Street Permit Better Handling of Patrons

DILAPIDATED SHEDS ON SOUTH SIDE ALL REMOVED

Tug of War and Airplanes Are Features; Directors Have Added This Year

Those attending the circus at the fair grounds on Sunday were agreeably surprised at the improvements made as to entering the grounds, the new entrance having been completed and the roadway having recently been graded along the south fence to a point beyond the grand stand, permitting of better handling of the many autos.

Other improvements of the grounds include the removal of the several old, unsightly frame buildings that for several years have extended along the south side of the grounds. The old white fence along the south line, several feet south of the present fence, has also made a big improvement in the appearance of the grounds.

City Water to Fair Grounds

The painting of the various buildings, another big improvement will be started in a few days so that they will be more presentable. The extension of the city water to the grounds is another improvement that the fair association has effected this spring, and needless to say, will be greatly appreciated by exhibitors and others during the fair.

The directors have awarded the printing of the premium list to The Times and this will be issued some time during the present month. The heads of the various departments have already made their lists and bringing it down to date. Several important changes were recommended, which will be explained as soon as the list is ready for distribution.

Tug of War a Feature

One of the features of the fair this year will be the rope pulling contest, or tug of war, this feature being in charge of a committee composed of Roy Lund, Ed. Wyland, W. E. Dahl, Ed. Quist and Secretary Robert J. Lund. The committee would like to hear from various communities in this section that wish to enter a team, so that preparations may be made for eliminations. Suitable prizes will be offered for the pull and it is hoped that this feature will be a strong one.

Airplane New Feature

Arrangements have been made already for a commercial airplane to be in the Thief River Falls district for the fair this year, affording persons from other towns as well as local people a chance to take a short hop over the city. The plane will use the Y. C. Flying field.

Heavy Fines Imposed on Two Farmers for Assaulting Their Neighbor

When the case against Ole Linstad and Peter Brandrud, farmers in the town of Sanders, on three grounds in justice court last Thursday, their attorney, Paul A. Lundgren, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of assault and battery on their neighbor, Peter Appel.

Judge N. W. Tarrant fined Linstad $75 and Brandrud $50.

On Wednesday when the case was first called the defendants had stated that they had paid the justice of the peace of Sanders, the three grounds the case was continued, permitting County Attorney H. O. Berve to investigate the statement. Accordingly he went to the home of Henry Bjur, the justice, and learned that on Sunday the two defendants had been at his home where they first learned he was at the Wylie church celebration. They then went there and asking for a receipt, stating that they had "beat up" the plaintiff, and were pleading guilty to a charge to that effect. The plaintiff was not present and no trial was had of the defendants, so when the defendants learned that he had really not been in court, their attorney's advice was heeded, and the pleas not guilty was changed to guilty in court here.

It was brought out in the hearing that another neighbor, Gordon Olson, had left his horses at the Linstad farm a few days ago during a storm, and in some manner the horses strayed onto the farm of Appel, who returned the horses in his turn, inasmuch as they were damaging his alfalfa field.

On Sunday morning—the two defendants went to Appel's farm and threatened the latter, it was further stated.

Appel, who is 70 years of age, was represented by Carl Froseth, as well as during the hearing in justice court.

Poultry Enthusiasts Here May Visit Dairy-Poultry Train at Ardoch June 19

Considerable interest locally has been aroused over press reports of the success of the Dairy-Poultry Train, reaching every nook and corner of North Dakota, and several poultry raisers in Pennington and Marshall counties are planning to drive over to Ardoch when the train visits that place on June 19. This special exhibit train will be there for three hours, from seven till ten that evening.

The train is sponsored by the North Dakota Agricultural College, the Poultry Research Society of America, and the Northern Pacific, the Great Northern, and the Soo railroads. These roads are bearing the entire operating expense of the train. The car tells the story in pictures, models, and drawings how one North Dakota farmer has succeeded with cows. Two cars are devoted to live poultry, both good and bad for comparison, feeding devices, and exhibits showing how to combat diseases. In fact, all phases of the poultry industry receive consideration. One car is given over entirely to turkeys which is of especial interest because North Dakota is one of our leading turkey producing states. The train also carries a section of a model poultry house and brooder.

The aim throughout was to offer practical idea that the farmer could take home with him and apply them to his own farm with what he has on hand. Besides the exhibits of poultry business, the point stressed over and over is that of producing better but not necessarily with an increase in production.

Not All Wool Ready for Pool Tomorrow; Bidding May Be Strong

The wool pool of the Pennington County Sheep Breeders' association will be open on Saturday, June 16, Secretary Robert M. Douglas and by B. O. Eidsness, manager of the Farmers' Co-operative Poultry association, where bids is also being received for the pool.

Inasmuch as not all of the co-shearing has been completed this week, the present time it is quite likely that a number of clips will not be ready until 20, or the wool still to be sheared may be sold at the pool sale, and delivered later. This will be determined at the sale tomorrow.

ONLY 2 WERE GRADUATED AT FIRST COMMENCEMENT

Commencement exercises in the city schools of Thief River Falls have become a routine matter, nearly a quarter of a century having elapsed since the first class was graduated here. To be more exact it was in 1904 that the first class, consisting of two members, were given their diplomas. In that class were Emma Hanby, now Mrs. Gaston Wark, and Melvin Evenson.

This year two schools in this vicinity graduated their first classes, namely, Gonvick and Karlstad, each having four students who had finished their high school careers. Dean Paul A. Rasmussen of Concordia college at Moorhead delivered the commencement address at Gonvick, while Wm. L. Peterson of Lancaster spoke at Karlstad.

Johnsons and Nelsons Are Predominating Names In New Telephone Directory

There are more Johnsons and Nelsons in Thief River Falls than anyone else, and they leave the proverbial Smiths and Jones far behind. According to the new telephone directory there are twenty Nelsons and twenty Johnsons listed, with the Hansens and the Olsons tied for perhaps third place with 14 each. Andersons and Ericksons tied for third place with 13 each.

There are eleven Petersen, 7 Swansons, 7 Andersons and only five Carlsons.

The Jones and the Smiths, which are the most common names in this country, are not very popular in Thief River Falls, there being only three Smiths and no Jones at all on the new telephone directory.

Is Will Rogers An Asset To A Penney Town?

They lay on our desk, nearly 1,000 reports from Penney towns listing in a casual fashion the farms and factories that make up the wealth of a community.

Smilingly we read the report on Claremore, Oklahoma, for tucked away among bank deposits and radium water wells we found: "Will Rogers' home town." Quite a humans touch from an investigator whose heart is as coldly impersonal as an adding machine.

And yet, hasn't Claremore done something of which it can be genuinely proud? Bank deposits, pay roll figures are but temporary assets that ebb and flow with the passing of the years. But to produce men like Will Rogers, in this vital, headlong century—men who have done their work, not with swaggering egotism, but with persistence, enthusiasm and a saving bit of sparkle—that is indeed an achievement.

The J. C. Penney Company is proud to work in Will's home town—proud to be a part of a community whose remembrance he will always carry in his heart, wrapped in quiet beauty.

FIRE DESTROYS FROSETH STOCK, SHOES, HARNESS

Fire Spread Rapidly Through Basement, But Firemen Held It In Check

SMOKE ALSO DAMAGED STOCK OF OEN MERC.

Building Will Be Repaired at Once and New Stocks Are Being Ordered Today

Fire, starting between six and seven o'clock last Friday evening, destroyed the entire stock of shoes, boots, rubbers and hosiery of Perry Froseth and almost completely destroyed the stock of harnesses and harness supplies, the entire building, together with the machinery used in their manufacture by Carl Froseth, as well as burning the front portion of the floor of the building. The plate glass front was also destroyed, this being fused by the heat that accumulated within the structure.

Fire Kept Within Building

The blaze was not what is generally called a spectacular fire, but the dense smoke pouring out of the front and rear was sufficient evidence to those watching the firemen that the blaze within the one story and basement structure must be a very damaging one. It was not until nearly nine o'clock that the firemen were enabled to relax from their strenuous fighting, they having held the flames within the Froseth building, within at times the Kiesault establishment on the south was apparently in danger. Part of the contents thereof were removed, but later replaced. Smoke, however, penetrated the 10-inch wall of the Oen building on the north, causing considerable damage to the stock therein.

Losses and Insurance

The Froseth building was erected about eight years ago at a cost of nearly $20,000, being built at the peak of war-time prices. The insurable value at the time of the fire is given at $16,000 on which $12,000 insurance was carried. The building was somewhat damaged, but it is believed that the damage to the structure will not exceed the insurance.

The stock of shoes, etc., carried by Perry Froseth was valued at $13,000 with $7,500 insurance was carried. The entire stock of harness and supplies, together with the machinery, was a total loss, consisting of about $5,000 worth of goods on which $2,500 insurance was carried.

The loss of the Oen Merc. Co. is estimated at $5,000 with $2,500 insurance.

Will Rebuild at Once

Insurance adjusters have been on the job this week and this morning Perry Froseth started in new but temporarily-leased quarters in the building at the corner of Second and LaBree, recently occupied by Mr. Curtis. He will place therein the stock of shoes, etc., that may have any salvage value and he will put on a sale that will open in a few days. A short time, announcement of which is made elsewhere in this issue of The Times.

Contractors are today submitting bids to Carl Froseth for the rebuilding of the structure as far as early as a date as possible and local concerns may again be housed therein during the summer, ready for the fall trade.

More Rain Fell First 20 Days of June This Year Than Heretofore

Seven and fourteen hundredths inches of rain fell in Thief River Falls during the first twenty days of June, according to Weather Observer L. M. Rayson, the heaviest rainfall during that same period since Mr. Rayson started keeping the records which was in 1912. The nearest approach to the present record was that of 1925 when it rained every day from June 1 to 20 inclusive except June 19 and 18. During that month in 1925 there were 21 days with .01 of an inch or more of rain, .01 being the month being 8.27 inches. This year there have been on hand 13 days of .5 and 10.

During the past two weeks the lowest maximum temperature was 60 above on June 7, with the thermometer reading 78 above for the highest record on June 11 and 15. The coldest morning in the two weeks was that of June 9 and 14 when the thermometer showed 50 above zero. The official records for the two weeks giving temperature and precipitation are as follows:

POULTRY WILL BE HANDLED SOON BY L. O. L. CREAMERY

President Brandt Announces Arrangements Therefor Will Be Completed Shortly

President John Brandt of the Land O' Lakes Creameries last Saturday announced that arrangements were being completed for the handling by the Land O' Lakes organization of poultry in addition to eggs, details of which will be made public in the near future. The plan, it was stated, will differ slightly from that used in the purchase of eggs, but will undoubtedly, Mr. Brandt stated, be perfectly satisfactory to poultry breeders.

Elmer McLeod of Goodridge acted as chairman of the first meeting and picnic of the Farmers' Co-operative Creamery of that village on the Tourist park, but which was adjourned about noon Saturday after noon to the city auditorium on account of local weather conditions.

County Agent J. W. Taylor of Roseau also spoke, emphasizing the fact that co-operative breeders of northwestern Minnesota had benefitted by the co-operative plan in getting for the price of eggs over what would have been the case if the Land O' Lakes organization had not taken over the marketing of eggs. Its conclusion the benefits of the co-operation of the state-wide organization

Cook asparagus the shortest possible time. If it is very young and tender, 10 minutes may be long enough. More mature stalks may take up 25 minutes. Trim the ends of the stalks before cooking, and tie up in large scales which may conceal grit, but do not scrape. Walk carefully. Have the water boiling and lightly salted. Asparagus may be cooked whole or cut up into inch lengths.

Carnegie Endowment Has Supplied Local Library With Several New Books

An exhibit of International Mind Alcove Books is being shown this week in the display window of the First National Bank. It may be of interest to the reader to learn just why these books come as gifts from the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Nicolas Murray Butler, who is the director of the Division of Intercourse and Education, makes this statement: "To aid librarians in the work of selection so far as may concern the field of international relations, the Carnegie Endowment has established in certain public libraries that have chosen to become International Mind Alcoves. The books placed in the Alcoves are chosen from the most recent publications in many languages, and represent the geography of foreign nations in the same proportion. Why Mold and Dry Air

The effect of the air on the body depends on how much the percentage of moisture in it comes to being the greatest the air can hold. Air can hold much more moisture when hot than it can when cold, and the "raw" cold air of winter is dry air, and where some of its moisture will condense. Heat the same air to 70 degrees and it feels dry.

Why It Is Called Paraffin

Paraffin is so called from its having little affinity with anything else, the Latin words meaning this being "parum" little, and "affinis" related to the distilling of petroleum, and it was first obtained in 1830. It makes excellent candles.

Why Bump Fallows Knock

When a person bumps his head the soft tissues covering the bone are elastic and are stretched like rubber. While at the time of the bump there is a dent, the tissues straighten out again, but some of them on the side of the bump are injured and some have been killed. Nature's way to cure the place where the injury occurred is to fill it with blood. The little white cells of the blood take up and carry away the dead tissues and fill the place with blood, which causes the swelling.

Why Spoon Saves Glass

Why a spoon placed in a glass prevents boiling water when poured into it from breaking the glass is because it conducts heat sooner that does the water around it so the water then the cold water at the same time. It therefore rises and sets up a circulation in the glass, so that the water boils in the upper levels and not directly on the bottom.

Larson Furniture Co. to Open Branch Sales Office in Alexandria

In order to make the first few strawberries go a long way, cream together a third of a cup of butter, three-fourths of a cup of powdered sugar, and one-eighth teaspoon of salt. When thoroughly mixed, add the stiffly beaten white of an egg and one cup of fresh crushed strawberries. The acidity of the berries causes the sauce to separate somewhat, but this can be overcome by warming it slightly over hot water and stirring until smooth. Serve at once on cake, pie, or cottage pudding or chill to make thicker.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

MEETING A PIG

IF IS bad luck to meet a pig while on a journey; and if, on going visiting, you meet a pig on the way it is a mistake if you will not be welcome when you arrive at your destination, says our superstitions—or rather a variation of the same superstition—found to be rather common in Canada and New England and perhaps existing in other localities. Also some fishermen object to meeting a pig when about to embark for fishing grounds, and some old-fashioned sailors object to the first encounter, if they meet one just before sailing.

This idea that it is bad luck to encounter a pig at the beginning of any enterprise is a mild form of a similar superstition found among the northern nations of Europe, especially among the Scottish fishermen, amounting in intense horror of even the animal's name prevails.

That the hog was connected with moon worship we know and one writer says in regard to the superstition under consideration, "all animals connected in folklore with the moon are disabled, a relic of the antipathy of sun worshippers to moon worshippers." This antipathy can only have existed, however, among the Northern nations. The most civilized peoples of antiquity, we know, worshipped both the sun and the moon and there is no reason for believing that the Egyptians had any connecting a union instead of an antipathy between them. But among the Northern nations worship was predominant; the traces of moon worship comparatively few. The dwellers on the misty capes of Scotland and Norway had not the same reason to worship the "source of moisture" as the Egyptians had and moon-worship therefore, may have been considered highly heterodox. As the superstition in question is a Northern one, perhaps the explanation cited is correct.

PHAESANTS ARE HATCHING OUT SATISFACTORILY

Izak Walton League Members Satisfied With Results; Crow Hunt Winners

Excellent success attended the hatching of the pheasant eggs received by the local chapter of the Izak Walton league, judging by statements made at the meeting of the members of the organization held last evening in the Commercial club rooms. Two hundred and fifty eggs were received and distributed to various parties in this section of the state, the membership of the local chapter extending west to Argyle and east to Urgyle, and north to Middle River.

The first hatchings were reported this week, Hans Anton announcing that he had 19 baby pheasants out of 30 eggs that he set; Fred Isserhoot reported nine out of ten eggs; and Alex Welch 12 out of the 15 he set under a hen. However, they all announced that some of the young birds had already died, but it is believed that the percentage will be small.

The members present last night voiced their desire of continuing the work again next spring in the future, having several hundred birds in this section by the fall of 1929.

Crow Hunt Winners

A report on the recent crow hunt, starting May 29, was made at the meeting. Sig Myrom being declared winner in the relative number of points being announced as 411. Earl Ellinger—crow scalps, second place, Reuben Dahl, third place, Leonard Hanson fourth, and Sig Salveson fifth. Each of the losers gave to the president of the chapter to secure a total of 1,000 points, which were to be presented to the winners.

Reflooding of Thief Lake

Discussion of the advisability of reflooding Thief Lake to make it a breeding place for ducks resulted in the president being authorized to appoint a committee of three to study the problem, and report back at a future meeting. It being the opinion of all present that there will be very little if any opposition to the movement, if the property owners give their consent, then steps will probably be taken to secure federal assistance in the closing of the dam at the outlet of the lake, a small dam being all that will be required to flood the lake to its former level.

The committees selected for this purpose are as follows: Sig Myrom, Arthur Sommers, Elmer Morud, Lawrence Anderson and Alexander Brown; girls' sports, Miss Tilly Seelback, Miss Anna Diedrich, Miss Kathryn Cheney, and Miss Evelyn Truhn.

Freight Rates on Spuds Will Be Reduced July 8

Potato raisers in this section will welcome the announcement that a reduction in freight rates on spuds has been ordered, this information having been announced at Washington last week. The commerce commission, but not as yet received by either R. A. Pratt, the local agent of the Soo line, or W. E. Baker, agent here for the Northern road.

"Effective July 8," the announcement states, "drastic reductions will be made in freight rates on potatoes from all points in eastern North Dakota and northern Minnesota to points in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri and Louisiana, according to briefs filed by the railroads with the interstate commerce commission May 22.

"This will result in the saving of thousands of dollars in freight charges on this year's potato crop for producers and shippers in the Red River Valley and adjacent territory, it is stated.

"As a sample of reductions, it might be stated that the rate on potatoes from Moorhead to San Antonio, Texas, will be reduced $82.50 per car and the rate to other points will be reduced proportionately."

Too often the mistake is made of building a small poultry house with a low roof, inviting dampness in the form of the chickens. Labor is an important factor in the management of poultry and the arrangement of houses for convenience adds greatly to the chances of success. A house should be built so that the attendant can stand up and do the work comfortably, and if from 3 to 5 square feet of floor per fowl is allowed, this will give enough air space for the flock.

FASHION VERSUS COMMON SENSE

Discard the sunbonnet and get a little more sunshine, says a bulletin distributed by the Minnesota State Medical Association. Freckles on the face, neck and arms, and a little bronze in the skin are the best health insurance, it continues, than all of the lily white bleachers or creams.

Undoubtedly the medics are sincere in this propaganda, but we fear their plea will fall on deaf ears. They offer no incentive. True, they promise better health, but what is health—bah and many more bahs. Not that health is not a desirable quantity but it isn't worth the tremendous price the medics suggest. It is worth much but not as much as style. Style must come first. Bronze skins and freckles are not fashionable. If the medics wish to popularize health among the mirror maniacs they will first have to make it fashionable.

A doctor who specializes in the treatment of tuberculosis told us the other day that while there is a notable decrease in the amount of this disease throughout the country as a whole, there has been a marked increase in the disease in recent years among the flapper type of girls. He stated that this increase was attributed largely to the fact that girls do not wear sufficient clothes during the winter months. About the only difference in the summer and winter apparel of the fashionable girl is the overcoat, he said, and this is about like a man wearing nothing but BVD's all summer and in the winter adding a coat and vest. In the opinion of this many different kinds of a fool, none of which will bear repeating in these dignified columns.

Yes, and there was another kind of a fool that he referred to, and this variety was the type who wear too many clothes all the year round. This is the type who "don't take much stock in this hyer fresh air stuff" and who keep the windows nailed down and the underwear sewed on the year round. As a class this group is rapidly diminishing however, he said.

The doctor was strong for temperance and he seemed to figure that moderation is important not only in eating and drinking but also in dressing. He said he looked on husbands with the same contempt that he felt for the whiskey addict, maintaining that both were the victims of a senseless folly.

OUR STOCKING STILL EMPTY

The Republican national convention has now gone down into history. The convention happened, and when the expected happens there is little cause for excitement. The Northwest wanted certain definite things of that convention and had hung its fondest stocking on the Republican Christmas tree. We wrote many letters to Santa Claus too, telling him what we wanted, but evidently dear Sandy didn't think that what we wanted would be good for us so our stocking didn't get filled. Many of our better people are now busily explaining that dear Sandy knows best what we need and are apologizing for ever having ventured to suggest that we really wanted anything. And so it came to pass that "Tertle Dover was nominated. Sandy willed it so.

We are not any worse off than we were before. Four years ago the Republican convention went on record in favor of farm relief and we didn't get it. With the convention now on record against it there may be some hope for us. At any rate as soon as he had the nomination on ice Mr. Hoover made a speech in favor of increasing the tariff on farm products. One thing is certain and that is that if this man Hoover is as half as good a man as his friends say he is then the next four year period with him at the helm is going to force all of us to pay heavy income taxes.

As yet we don't know what the Democrats will do at their convention, but there is little reason to believe that they are concealing it. Moses worthy of the Southwest's following. It is too early to do any definite guessing as yet, however. There must be a silver lining somewhere to this national political cloud.

RADICCK PRO AND CON

Occasionally we hear complaints from people in this neighborhood that urban communities are being favored by the state highway department. One of the favorite points is that the faultfinders in this end of the state is that too much of the road money is being spent in southern Minnesota. When therefore we find occasional complaints in the newspapers of southern Minnesota that the Department is spending too much money in northern Minnesota we naturally conclude that such criticism on the part of either the southerners or the northerners must be without foundation. The following discussion of a southern Minnesota editor is interesting chiefly because it is so obviously unfair.

T. Rosenau of the Grand Rapids Herald Review in a most fantastic discussion of the department and its work in which he calls attention among other things to the large number of contractors who have gone broke on state jobs expresses the opinion that Charles Babcock has demonstrated both ability and character as Highway Commissioner to the entire confidence of the people of this state. Mr. Rosenau maintains with good reason that:

> [illegible] of whether we believe in a good [illegible] road from or not one must admit the fact that the honesty and efficiency of the Minnesota State Highway department.
> [illegible] and those [illegible] who are number at Commissioner Babcock's heels do not [illegible] They seek to make some form of political capital. What their purposes may be we cannot tell.
> It is a distinct credit to the government and to the State of Minnesota that in the time of millions of dollars of contracts which have been awarded by the Minnesota State Highway department, that there is not a reasonably entertainment claim or hint of wrongdoing on the part of Mr. Babcock and his higher officials.

Whether road should be built this way or that way, financed by this method or that method is a comparatively small issue compared to the existence of a fundamentally efficient and honorable highway department.

THE RIVER TAKES ITS TOLL

The river took its annual toll last week, the victim this year being a nine year old boy. Such tragedies year in and year out prove that the river is not a safe place to swim and emphasize the need for careful supervision. The park board will provide such supervision as soon as weather conditions make swimming desirable and until such supervision is provided this pastime should be discouraged as much as possible.

Every mail brings copies of speeches made by congressmen and senators during the past session, and for the balance of the year the shower of such matter, printed and distributed at government expense, will continue. During the last session of Congress nearly fifty million copies of speeches and documents were mailed out from the capitol to the wastebaskets of the country, and a goodly portion of these were copies of counterfeit speeches or speeches that were never made. Speakers who may have enjoyed the privileges of the floor for only a few minutes often secure leave to extend their remarks in the record, and according to one correspondent, "although it is supposed to be no longer permissable to dot one of these phantom addresses with 'applause' and 'laughter' everybody's doing it."

Announcement is made in this issue of a series of articles to be written by W. F. Schilling of Northfield covering his journey through various European countries this summer, which will be published in the Times during July and August. Mr. Schilling is known to a large number of readers as "Tergiversus Tim," a regular contributor to the Northfield News. In this character he has been quoted several times by us. From what we have seen of "Tergiversus Tim" we look forward with much happy anticipation to the observations of "A Minnesota Dairy Farmer Abroad."

According to a story in one of the city papers Zona Gale, who is 53 years old, was married the other day to William Breese, who is 63 years old, and if we are to believe the statements of friends of this couple the newlyweds were childhood sweethearts. It is a beautiful story of devotion. William, at the age of fifteen, when adversity overtook his siblings to his sweetheart Zona who was then eight—yes, the story is a beautiful thing.

Two Minnesota newspapers, the Bemidji Sentinel and the Northfield News, have received national distinction, the Sentinel having been awarded the President's cup of the National Editorial Association as the best weekly paper in the United States and the News winning first place for front page makeup. We congratulate brothers Mitchell of the Sentinel and Roe of the News on their splendid achievement.

It may be that we are lacking in vision but somehow we just can't figure out why they keep trying to fly over the north and south poles. Past explorations have revealed the fact that the region of the poles is merely an endless mass of snow and ice. Just why do they keep on poking around up there?

At any rate we know now what a New Englander means when he doesn't choose to run.

> The world loves unselfish and self-sacrificing people as long as they keep quiet about it.

It can't last forever.

In order to get it established as a matter of record we call attention again to the fact that last Sunday was "Father's Day."

HAPPINESS

(Minneapolis Journal)

Happiness is a power that it is not to be caught by traps or any other pursuit. It is to be found oftenest reveled upon the shoulder of him who has never sought it. To attempt to encompass it is to lose it forever. Though we travel to the ends of the earth seeking it, we shall not find it, unless we have it with us at the start, as Emerson says of beauty.

High endeavor, noble purpose, self-effacement, the mastery of living one's life to find it—these never offer the reward of happiness, yet these are the native hands of happiness. Don't let life cheat you by offering the sorriest just as good pleasure for the genuine, crying out, dyed-in-the-wool artificial happiness.

THE AGE OF WONDERS

(Christian Science Monitor)

Aviation and wireless are vying with each other for first place in this age of wonders. No sooner is a signal development recorded in the one than a thrilling advance is reported in the other, and although one is complementary to the other, a friendly rivalry is carrying both forward with amazing rapidity along the path of human endeavor.

Flying, for the moment, is in the ascendant. The fact of the epochal flight of the Graf Zeppelin from Europe to America is barely appreciated before there breaks suddenly upon the public notice the news of the success of the Wilkins polar venture, with valuable meteorological observations and data on arctic waste. It is within the memory of the present generation when the news of a successful arctic trip would have taken months to emerge from the silent space of the north. A graphic account of an exploration the day after it happened would have been considered impossible. Now such an achievement is taken for granted.

Wireless has come to be the connecting link between the explorer and the rest of the world. The airplane is his vehicle of transportation, wireless his means of contact with his fellow men. Who shall say that, more than the fringe of the possibilities of wireless has been touched? Papers more and more depend on it for their news. The day is not far distant, perhaps, when whole pages will be transmitted by wireless and the distinctive features of great papers published simultaneously and in identical form in all the capitols of the world.

Genius is apparently expending its best energies in the mechanical field. In no age has it shown such stupendous results. Liberty is promoting communication and encouragement in research have given a spur to progress. No longer is the individual exposed to the tortures of the Spanish Inquisition because he invents a strange mechanical figure. No longer are the Stephensons forced to provide a parliamentary committee that the speed of locomotives shall not exceed ten miles an hour in order to secure permission to build a railroad.

Every assistance is given to the inventor, to the research worker, to the man of vision, and the rousing refrain of Shelly seems to have come home to men with redoubled vigor:

> Rise like lions after slumber
> In unconquerable number.
> Shake your chains to earth, like dew,
> Which in sleep have fallen on you.

Editor Times:

I intend to a news item appearing in the Thief River Falls Times and other country newspapers relative to an order issued by the Interstate Commerce commission on locomotive cab ventilation.

The article referred to in the Times says railroad men in Thief River Falls are rejoicing. This, I think, is exaggerated though no doubt we should be thankful for some relief, altho we did not get what almost every engineer believes we should have. That is what are known as vestibule cabs. Engineers probably have been asking for this protection against the weather for years, and at one time laws were passed in one or more states compelling railroads to thus equip their locomotives, but for some reason this law never became effective.

Locomotives equipped with vestibule cabs have been in operation in Canada for at least 15 years and have proved satisfactory. In the opinion of most engineers a vestibule cab is so far superior to cab curtains as to almost automobile is to an open car with curtains.

The reason I am writing this is because it seemed to me the news item referred to would lead people who were not informed on the subject to believe that the engineers were getting just what they needed and therefore should be satisfied. The Soo Line officials when they have been quoted about equipping engines with curtains have said they were the same effective, and locally we have had no cause for complaint on that account. However they have not the authority to apply vestibule cabs.

"Shall I buy a combine?" is the question discussed in a recent bulletin of that title issued for free distribution by the U. S. Department of agriculture as Farmers' Bulletin 1548-F. The combine, or combined harvester-thresher, is of particular interest to the farmer who harvests 100 acres or more annually. The bulletin discusses the advantages and disadvantages of the combine and describes its success for various crops.

MOTOR TOURISTS SHOULD BE SHOWN MANY COURTESIES

But Abuse of Auto Tax Exemption Should Be Reported, Says Babcock

Minnesota is again seeing the annual summer influx of automobiles from other states, and this year the stream of summer tourists has got an earlier start than a year ago. It is a regular thing to count cars from sight or ten states coming through Thief River Falls in a single day, and in the course of a month almost every state in the union will be represented among the visitors.

Among the cars carrying foreign tags, however, there are some that should carry Minnesota licenses, according to information collected by the Minnesota license department. These come in several different classes:

Minnesota residents who visited in other states, bought licenses there and neglected to get Minnesota licenses when they came back.

Minnesota residents who have purchased used cars from other states, and have failed to register them in Minnesota.

People who have moved into Minnesota and taken up permanent residence, but who have not yet registered their cars here.

Visitors who have remained longer than the time allowed by law without paying license tax. Visitors may have their cars here for ninety days without paying tax, provided they get a touring permit within ten days after arrival.

Checking Abuses

"The only way to check abuses of the visitor's privileges is through the cooperation of the public," says Commissioner C. M. Babcock. "We want to extend every possible courtesy to bona fide visitors, but we have found the auto license inspectors do not tag cars with foreign plates unless they have definite information that the law is being violated.

"It would neither be economical nor practical to stop and question the drivers of every car. Information. But fairness demands that none but bona fide visitors be permitted to drive with foreign tags, and if citizens will report to the state department or to the local police, any cases where they have definite information that the law is being violated, it will soon stop the abuse of this privilege.

"Car owners who will give such information will be rendering a service favor, for any increase in license receipts will go into new construction and at the same time more state highway improvements can be made in Pennington county."

Approval by President Coolidge of the bill authorizing an appropriation of $75,000,000 federal aid for highway for each of the fiscal years of 1929 and 1931, assures continuance of the federal aid which Minnesota has been receiving for several years past. Minnesota will probably receive approximately the same amounts as in the present biennium, the allotment for 1928 being $2,112,598. Total allotments made to Minnesota from 1917 to 1928 were $21,704,377.

Making the appropriations two years in advance allows the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads and the state highway department time to outline their construction programs in full. Notice has been given ready so that work can proceed as rapidly as funds are available.

DAIRY FARM OUTLOOK CONTINUES FAVORABLE

The immediate prospects for the dairy business are satisfactory, according to a statement by George A. Salles in Farm Management Service Notes issued by the farm management section of the Minnesota-Agricultural Economics department.

Mr. Salles says that such a conclusion is warranted because the consumption of dairy products has been increasing slightly faster than population, because the number of cows and heifers being kept for milk has been declining slightly and increased only slightly, because the production of butter for the months prior to March 1 was inclined to be apparently been only a little greater than that of the preceding period of last year.

BIG DOINGS PLANNED AT FAIR AT FERTILE JULY 2-4

Fertile is planning on staging a big time at the Polk County Agricultural fair to be held there July 2, 3 and 4, according to Secretary Nelson.

Several band concerts, baseball games between some of the best teams in the valley, horse races and a dance every evening are some of the features of the program.

CONTINUE COUNTY AGENT IN KOOCHICHING COUNTY

A mass meeting of farmers of Koochiching county was held last week at International Falls to protest the action of the county attorney in attempting to contest the action of the county board in appropriating $2,500 from the general revenue fund for the county agent work. Following a talk by F. E. Balmer, state commissioner of agriculture, and several farmers the county attorney consulted with the commissioners and it was agreed to dismiss the action.

A Minnesota Dairy Farmer Abroad

The Times will offer its readers a special series of feature articles during July and August that will prove both entertaining and instructive. These articles will be written by W. F. Schilling, prominent dairy farmer and Holstein breeder of Northfield, Minnesota.

Mr. Schilling has for years been active in farmers' marketing associations and has addressed meetings of farmers in nearly every state. He is president of the Twin City Milk Producers association, an organization of over 7,000 dairymen in the Minneapolis-St. Paul territory, and is a director of the Land O Lakes Creameries, Inc., which markets the output of over 400 cooperative creameries.

Mr. Schilling left New York on the Leviathan, June 16, to attend the Eighth International Dairy Congress which convenes in London this week. His activities will extend to the British Isles. He is going as a representative of the United States department, having received an appointment from the President the Grant Department. This appointment is in recognition of his work for several years with the cooperative creameries of Minnesota and with the dairy farmers of other states and with the co-operative milk producers association of Minneapolis. Governor Christianson also gave him a special commission to represent the State of Minnesota.

The Congress convenes at London on the 20th day of June and continues until the 12th of July. At the Congress there will be representatives of all the older countries and the scientific principles of dairying and all phases of the dairy industry will be presented by experts and men prominent in the dairy world. Interpreters will be present to translate the various addresses into English, French and German, and the results of the proceedings will also be printed in these three languages. Aside from the regular sessions of the Dairy Congress there will be special trips to creameries, laboratories, milk plants, farms and herds.

The plan of Mr. Schilling's letters will contain is indicated by the following synopsis of his plans:

* * * *

For many years I have wanted to visit the Atlantic to visit the countries from which those folks came and see how conditions are there at the present time. I am deeply interested in the agricultural interests of this country and after visiting all sections of the United States I want to see what things in agriculture look like over across the big pond. Travellers from Europe that I have met and talked with from Europe that in a general way have been interesting to some newspaper readers, but I have seen few such accounts that were of especial interest to our farmers.

* * * *

For the past seven years the farming game in this country has been in a turbulent state, due largely to causes brought about by the world war. Farming was not alone in this fix but because of the unsettled condition of agriculture as against highly organized industry the recovery of agriculture was relatively slow.

* * * *

There are many theories as to just what the future has in store for this great industry that nearly a third of our inhabitants are engaged in for a livelihood and all are dependent upon to a greater or less extent. We hear of "parity" and of the tariff and of the foreign competition that is becoming more serious every year as the older countries are getting back to normal. I want to go over there and view at first hand the conditions that are involved in the making of this competition for us and see to what extent it will be dangerous to us. I do not care to see but a very few of the large buildings in Europe's capitals. I am intensely interested in what is going on in the country where they have to actually farm for a living.

Only recently a statement was extensively quoted in this country that some Danish Dane was not in the World War was because of the remarkable enterprise of that country and that the country was enveloped in socialism. Yet I find that the Danish farmers have in the country from which they have to actually farm for a living.

I want to visit the farms and see the feeding and milking and find out why the girls in Holland milk in the cows and those in America prefer milk-shakes.

* * * *

Then there is the Department Laverne, France, where the foundation stock of all our Percheron horses came from, and Little Belgium, the home of the beautiful horse of that name. I want to see the system of talk with the farmers and know how they do things.

* * * *

Then before I take the boat back to God's Country I want to drop in at Paris and carry greetings from the boys of the A. E. F. to the modernest sellers of Gay France and tell them why their swivelties never came back as they agreed to.

* * * *

It is my intention to see the countries that I visit thru the eyes of a farmer and to spend most of my time in the villages so that I may be in touch with those who are directly identified with the soil. My observations and impressions will be described in a series of letters that will appear in this paper. I trust you will find them both interesting and instructive.

Greenbush, Middle River To Get Three New Bridges

Included in a list of highway construction projects recently issued by the State Highway department are three bridges on trunk highway number 32, one at Middle River and two at Greenbush. The largest project, involving $118,000, is on T. H. No. 11, on the boundary near International Falls.

A Semi-Weekly Story of the Romance, Development, Values and Types Found in the Vast Territory Tributary to the Thief River Falls Region

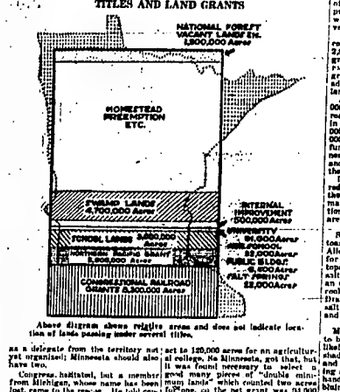
Uncle Sam's Gift

Our Minnesota trust funds, $60,800,000 in the vaults and $280,000,000 in sight, came, with one exception which need not be explained now, from grants made by the United States to the state of Minnesota.

As new states were admitted, beginning with Ohio in 1803, the government had given grants of land for institutions of learning, seminaries, colleges and free schools. By the time Minnesota was asking to be made a territory in 1849, a grant of section 16 in each township was settled practice. But Minnesota got two sections, 16 and 36.

It seems Oregon was coming in at the same time and it was so far away that congress doubled the grant. Enough for Sibley, who was present at the same session of congress, to get a township for his home town, Mendota, at the junction of the Minnesota and Mississippi rivers. Sibley was a delegate from the territory not yet organized; Minnesota should also have two.



Congress hesitated, but a member from Michigan, whose name has been lost, came to the rescue. He told congress, as recorded by Auditor Braden in 1850:

"The country to be organized into a territory was a wild, inhospitable, hyperborean region, only suitable for hunters and trappers and the government should foster, encourage and aid in every way."

So Minnesota drew two sections in each town, reserved in the organic act for the territory and confirmed in the grant to the state with indemnity for missing parcels—one-eighteenth of the whole, approximately 2,000,000 acres. In the words of Ramsey:

"An imperium in imperio equal in its aggregate extent to Holland or Belgium, while it exceeds the combined area of Massachusetts and Connecticut."

In addition to the school lands, the state was entitled under the Morrill act to 120,000 acres for an agricultural college. So Minnesota, got that, but it was found necessary to select a good many pieces of "double minimum lands" which counted two acres for one. So the net grant was 94,000 acres.

Above diagram shows mighty areas and does not indicate location of lands passing under several titles.

TITLES AND LAND GRANTS

Congress, hesitated, but a member from Michigan, whose name has been lost, came to the rescue. He told congress, as recorded by Auditor Braden in 1850:

TANKER PUZZLED

An American staying at a Seattle shooting lodge was awakened early in the morning by an enquiring noise under the bedroom window.

"Steven Mims," he said to the man who answered to the morning roll call.

"Then it should be playing the bagpipes, or—" came the reply. Aloud he said:

"Here," muttered the American, "I thought it was some one torturing a tabby-cat."—Tit-Bits.

Save the Pieces

"What a pretty name your maid has!" remarked the visitor.

"Oh, that isn't her real name," was the reply; "we call her Daisy because she's always breaking!"—Cayuga Herald.

SIGHT FOR SORE EYES

"Professor, can you see how short that terrible woman is wearing her skirts?"

"No, dogwood, these glasses need readjusting."

Mary's Modern Lamb

Mary had a little lamb,
It drank some gasoline,
Now it's mutton that it was
And since has not been.

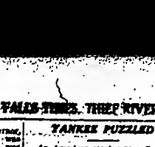
All Set

"Of course, young man," said the girl's father, "you know that my daughter has always had a good home."

"Yes, sir," beamed the suitor confidently, "I believe that it will prove entirely satisfactory."—American Legion Monthly.

But He Will

"I hear you've got a job in a bank, I suppose that soon because you know the banker?"



"Well, it was probably because the banker didn't know me."—Karikaturen, Oslo.

Turned the Tide

Bix—The tide has turned and is going out.

Dix—I don't blame it. Do you blame that homely girl going into the water?—Boston Transcript.

UNMANNED

Mrs. Jones—"I hear Miss Penne is a wreck from losing the man she expected to marry." Mrs. Smith—"It's completely unmanned her, my dear."

Indestructible

There was a little joke.
For centuries it grew.
Now, when it's cracked or broke,
It's just as good as new.

It Showed

Sarah—Do you know that I have the soul of an artist?

Frank—I know you painted the minute I looked at your face.

BRIEF HUMOR

Resolution

"I've decided to marry again."

"I thought you said you never made the same mistake twice?"

How She Stage!

Instructor—Now, don't you think her voice is improved?

Father—Yes, but it's not cured.

Give Her Time

"Wife, haven't you finished the Sunday paper yet?"

"It's only Wednesday."

Latin Measure

"Joe, I lifted a 200-pound dumbbell yesterday."

"Extra? What was her name?"

Musical Scents

Mosleigh Tenebre—Who can tell me the national air of Italy?

Bright Boy—Garlic.

Has Its Own Way

"Is that girl letting her hair grow?"

"No, she's just not stopping it."

The Difference

Jerry—I hope you are going to spend your vacation with friends.

Tom—No, with relatives.

Sex Not Considered When Pets Are Named

We have no longer with us Hiver. Twenty-two. Even Dickie, the canary, has passed into the Beyond. Cents, birds, horses and monkeys are named after the family's favorite character in a comic strip, or on the screen, without regard to sex or characterization. A business girl who goes through a weekly round of pictures and confections, which delight ecstasies, is immortalized in one family by having a ragamuffin in a police dog's name and fierce disposition may not fit in with his name.

In families where the children have reached the flip age the pets are called Gloria, Douglas, Tom Mix and Mary Pickford. A cat which recently presented its proud child-owner with seven kittens has in all of its wise lives answered to the name of Harold Lloyd.—New York Herald-Tribune.

Flood Areas of Kittson and Roseau Counties Are Inspected by Engineers

State Drainage Engineer W. V. Willard, R. C. Hoover, hydrographer with the U. S. Geological survey of the department of the Interior, and his assistant, Mr. Davenport, spent several days with relatives at Greenbush, Adams, and Edmore, N. Dak. They motored to Devils Lake and then to the state park near there. They were accompanied to Grafton by Miss Myrtle Hanson, who spent the week with her sister, Mrs. John Olson.

Seventy-one per cent of the pupils in the New Haven public schools are children of foreign-born parents who are natives of 43 different countries. Of the whole number of pupils 62.8 per cent are Italian, 18.4 per cent Russian, and 8.3 per cent Polish.

Keep Your Children

—cleaner, healthier and do it more easily

YOU know how hard it is to keep grimy little hands and faces clean and the amount of work it takes to keep them in a supply of clean clothes. You need pure, soft water, an unlimited supply from every faucet in your home, if you have children. With the tiniest bit of soap it cuts dirt and grease like magic and leaves your skin soft and healthy, and just about doubles the life of clothing, for you need never use harsh soaps or rub them strenuously. Doctors, too, say that the cleansing power of soft water and your own is the greatest protection against germs and contagious diseases when used regularly every day. Protect your family by installing a

TWIN CITY Water Softener

It is trouble-proof, runs practically nothing to operate, and to install and brings benefits into your home that you never dreamed of. Every modern should know more about them. Let us tell you the story of soft water. We will even demonstrate on that you can see for yourself how much time and trouble it will save and how much it will mean in comfort and convenience. WOOL NOW HELD IN STORAGE FOR PRICE ADVANCE

Pennington Co. Sheep Breeders Not Satisfied With Bid Offered Saturday

COMMITTEE OF FIVE IS SEEKING HIGHER PRICES

Over One Hundred Sheep Men From This Community Attended Meeting

Negotiations are still pending as to the disposition of the Pennington county wool brought to this city the past month to be sold in a pool if satisfactory prices can be obtained. Only one bid was at all satisfactory was submitted to the more than one hundred sheep breeders of this community gathered in the Commercial club rooms, that being forty-three and one half cents per pound. However, those present felt that they should have at least 45 cents.

After considering the matter for some time a committee composed of Rasmus Oen, Antonj Jensen, Christ Larson, E. J. McKercher and T. M. Thoreson was named to take charge of the wool in the Oen warehouse, and to sell it to the first responsible bidder that would pay 45 cents per pound or better. The committee was also authorized to leave the wool in storage for two weeks or longer if necessary and to insure the same.

No Bids Received

The committee was in the city yesterday, two bids having been submitted since they being a little under what the sheep breeders and the committee with to realize, and the matter has been held up again temporarily.

The estimate of the amount of wool on hand here last Saturday was placed at nearly 20,000 pounds, with half again as much still to be clipped and brought in.

Nearby Wool Is Sold

In Roseau county the wool pool totaled 84,000 pounds and filled three cars. The advance payment there was 40 cents per pound, bringing more than $21,000 to Roseau county sheep raisers.

Last Saturday a wool buyer in Red Lake county shipped to eastern points one carload of wool, weighing 22,000 pounds, the price paid for the clip ranging from 40 to 43 cents per pound, netting the sheep breeders approximately $9,000.

PROMINENT MAN OF NORDEN TOWNSHIP IS BURIED FRIDAY

D. W. Ayers, Formerly of Iowa, Was Noted for His Civic Inclinations

Brief mention was made in these columns last week of the death of D. W. Ayers, a resident of Norden township, the following additional information having since been reported:

Duke Whitesir Ayers was born in Nevada, Iowa, Mar. 9, 1877. Last November he suffered a severe attack of bronchial pneumonia from which he only partially recovered. The first of May he contracted the influenza, complications arising which resulted in his death at his home in Norden Township, June 12, 1928, leaving at the time of his death 51 years, 3 months, and 3 days old.

He grew to manhood in Story county, Iowa, and was united in marriage to Ada Trotter, also of Nevada, Iowa, April 10, 1901. To this union five children were born all of whom survive. Left to mourn his departure are his wife, three daughters, Eva, Hattie and Lois, two sons, Eldred and Duke, jr.; one sister, Mrs. J. A. Taylor of Nevada, and five brothers, Samuel A., and E. B. Ayers of Nevada, Iowa; Chas. T. Ayers of Story county, Iowa, and James L. of Park Rapids.

He was a kind and loving husband and father and made the interests and welfare of his family always his first consideration. A man of sterling character, honest and upright in all his dealings. He won and retained the confidence and respect of a large circle of friends who will long remember him for his unfailing good nature and for his belief in the brotherhood of man.

He moved from Story county, Iowa, to Freeborn county, Minnesota, where he lived seven years, leaving Freeborn county to come to Pennington county in the spring of 1917 where he settled on a farm in Norden township and by hard work and honest endeavor established a home and farm there.

He has at various times held township offices, the duties of which he discharged faithfully. He took a deep interest in the education of his children, in community affairs, and in all movements for the betterment of humanity. He was a member of the M. B. A. lodge of Freeborn, Minn., a fraternal order.

Funeral services were held from the Presbyterian church in Thief River Falls at 2 P. M. Friday, Rev. Hadley Hanson of Fergus Falls and Neil Frazier officiating. Interment was made in Norden cemetery.

Besides his wife and children, relatives in attendance were his sister, Mrs. J. A. Taylor of St. James; three brothers of Nevada, Iowa, Ivan, Samuel, and E. B. Ayers, and wife; also a cousin, James, of Nevada. W. H. Taylor, his father-in-law; Mr. and Mrs. M. E. McColley and daughter, Zella; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Taylor, and son, Melvin, all of Nevada, Iowa; Mrs. S. Taylor of Albert Lea; An aunt Mrs. G. H. Reimer and two sons, Ralph and Max of Hartland; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McColley and three children, Glenn, Irene, and Clayton of Staples.

Paramount Hits Again With "Old Ironsides"

As a motion picture spectacle "Old Ironsides," which comes to the Lyceum theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday this week, will remain supreme for a long time.

The intrepid chivalry of the brave New England Yankees who abandoned their homes and families to answer the call to arms against the pirates of Tripoli in 1804 is recorded in a masterly fashion in the photoplay. The production, which was directed by James Cruze, is based upon an original story by Laurence Stallings and was suggested and adapted for the screen by Harry Carr and Walter Woods.

It is "a great picture" and offers to the public more than that is new in screen technique. Pictorially it stands as one of the most beautiful photoplays ever flashed upon the screen. For natural comedy and sincere humanness it is unsurpassed. Sensation crowds sensation.

The picture is one we recommend unqualified to every person on earth no matter what their taste in the theatre or in the movies. There is never a dull moment. Following such brilliant direction as James Cruze supplied in "The Covered Wagon," we heartily nominate him as without question one of the greatest directors of all time. And the human note—the heart interest—the love theme stand out in "Old Ironsides" just as they did in "The Covered Wagon."

N. W. Bell Telephone Co. Installs New Poles

Further re-arrangements of the local Telephone plant are being made by the Northwestern Bell Telephone company to re-operate with the city's light department in providing pole room for the new alternating current circuits, according to George A. Russell, manager of the telephone company.

A crew of construction men have been at work for three weeks replacing all the poles in the alley between Main and Labree with new poles—larger and taller—also re-arranging the cable and other equipment so that the light department can occupy the top part of the pole line.

It is expected that the work will be completed in about two weeks. New poles have also recently been placed by the city in the alley between Davis and Dewey avenues, the new poles already carrying the lines of both public service companies.

Educational Cost Per Pupil Doubled in Past 15 Years, Federal Bureau Announces

That the price of educating a public school pupil has more than doubled in the past 15 years, is shown by figures compiled by the federal bureau of education. In 1913 the cost was $38.91 while the present figure is $102.50, it was announced last Friday.

Expenditures for public school buildings have also doubled since 1920, with the peak being reached in 1925 when $435,000,000 was spent for new buildings. In 1926, however, the annual expenditure for public school buildings decreased $22,000,000 indicating, the bureau said, that construction had overtaken the shortage caused by the World war.

The bureau attributed the increase in school expenditures to the decreased purchasing power of the dollar and the general improved school facilities.

The extra expense for a double floor in the broader house is a good investment. A warm and dry floor can be made by including a sub and top floor with a layer of tar paper between them.

ANNUAL POSTAGE BILL WILL AVERAGE $128 PER CAPITA

Although the average postage payment per piece for mail amounts to little more than 2 cents, the per capita expenditure for postage in the United States amounts to $8.09 annually, the Third Assistant Postmaster General R. S. Regar, stated in discussing the postal service as a billion-dollar business."

Since the first fiscal year of its operation, which began in 1864, the postal money order system has expanded that last numbered nearly 200,000,000, their value amounting to $1,700,000,000,

A STATEMENT

RELATING TO THE FUTURE OF THE CHRYSLER CORPORATION and DODGE BROTHERS, INC.

The widespread public interest in recent events affecting the Chrysler Corporation and Dodge Brothers, Inc., deserves an authentic and official statement and an assurance regarding the future of these two corporations.

Subject to the approval of stockholders, Dodge Brothers, Inc., will be acquired by the Chrysler Corporation, the plan of amalgamation having been recommended by their respective boards of directors.

Each of these great institutions will retain its identity, and will continue, as heretofore, to produce and market its own product in accordance with the high and progressive standards from which motor car buyers the world over have previously benefited.

Each will benefit from the consummation of a plan which unites such tremendous resources in material, manufacturing facilities, financial power and manufacturing genius.

Dodge Brothers will continue to be Dodge Brothers, and Chrysler will be Chrysler. Their products will be separate and distinct and will be continued in production without interruption. Their sales organizations will be unaltered except as they shall mutually share in the advantages of the consolidation.

Both public and dealers may look forward to the greater benefits which the consolidation of such tremendous resources will produce, and the men identified with these businesses may be assured of a stable and definite future, inspired by the progressiveness which has been responsible for the uniting of two great companies.

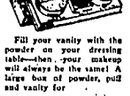
What $1.00 a Week Means To You In Days of Labor

Let us suppose that by paying cash at our Store, carrying your purchases home and taking advantage of the Low Prices our buying power affords, that you have saved $1.00 a week. Is this saving worth while?

If your income is $1,200 a year, a saving of $52.00 means nearly 16 working days of your time. In other words, by taking advantage of the opportunities for thrifty buying given you in a J. C. Penney Company Store, you have saved more than two weeks' pay envelopes. When you recall how hard you worked to earn that money, and how often you have allowed it to be frittered away by thoughtless buying, you will appreciate what $1.00 a week means to you in actual days of labor.



Why work for the "butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker"? Shopping in a J. C. Penney Company Store helps save some of that pay envelope for yourself.

SATESDALS LAGET DRAWS 1500 FOR MEET AT FOSSTON

Rain, Sad Needs Fail to Dampen Enthusiasm at Norwegian Reunion Last Week

Satesdals-Laget, a national organization whose membership is composed of Norwegians from Satesdalen, Norway, held its annual convention at Fosston, June 16 and 17. The meeting, which started at the evening session on Saturday, is estimated to have been attended by 1,500 by R. Bjercaree of Fosston, president of the local organization. The meeting was held all day Tuesday, according to records kept by Mrs. Mardt Dahl, Mrs. Odell Nessel and Miss Carrie Aakhus, all of city organizations, were in charge of the entertainment.

The convention was formally opened Saturday evening with addresses of welcome by John Wig and Dennis Fosston, mayor of Fosston. Responses were rendered by Rev. Lee, Arne Grundeseen, Thomas Valley and Mrs. Vaagen of Crookston, musical numbers were provided by the Fosston orchestra, Mr. Vollen, Mr. Djernaraa and Mr. Aasland.

Friday evening the convention was entertained by a banquet, or "smorgasbord," with Norwegian national dishes.

No Election This Year

Djernaraa Djernaraa has been president of the Satesdals Laget organization since its organization, 19 years ago. The present term was held this year, as officers are held office for two years.

Several resolutions were adopted at the business session, a protest against changing the name of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America; urging support of the building program for the Trondjem Synod's folks' and the Norwegian Methodist church of Minneapolis; authorizing the officers to organize a tour to Norway in 1930, to help celebrate the nine hundredth anniversary of the introduction of Christianity into Norway.

Millions Tourists Will Visit State This Year

Within the coming month Minnesota will be host to thousands of tourists who are now on the highways of the Mississippi valley. Many of these tourists will tour the state and spend their summer vacations here as a result of the Two Thousand Lakes Association.

During the month of June it is estimated that 50,000 tourists from all parts of the United States attended the annual convention of the American Legion auxiliary, the Rotary International convention was held in the National Editorial association and the American Dental association will meet there August 20 to 24.

That the National conventions being held in Minneapolis will result in a large increase in the tourist trade is the opinion of J. H. Mitchell, chairman of the tourist and publicity committee of the Minneapolis Civic & Commerce association. Mr. Mitchell says that so far this season tourist registrations at the Gateway Information bureau operated by the Minneapolis Civic & Commerce association are 52 per cent greater than they were a year ago. Mr. Mitchell also predicts that more than a million persons will visit Minneapolis and the Twin Cities this year. He bases his prediction as a result of a careful survey made by the Minneapolis Civic & Commerce association, the results of which showed that 750,000 tourists went through the Twin Cities in 1927.

Taking advantage of the possibilities afforded by the large number of conventions being held in Minneapolis this year the Twin Cities Automobile association has put forth special efforts to induce the delegates to make their headquarters while in the city. It is believed that many will visit the lakes and Sunday parks of the state, and that all of Minnesota will benefit.

Ruling On Trailers Made More Specific

A farmer who uses a trailer once a week should register it under the motor vehicle license law, S. E. Mathews, deputy attorney general holds.

In a ruling, Mr. Mathews said he held that only trailers used "commercially" or those used habitually should be licensed. Later, on reply to specific questions he said it was probable that the primary purpose of the exemption was to encourage farmers to enable a man going on a fishing or hunting expedition to attach a trailer carrying his boat or perhaps a camp outfit. I saw no reason why this should not be extended to apply to one of these small trailers when kept by a farmer, maybe to haul fruit home to the railway station, perhaps to haul a tub of butter to town and bring back to a neighbor, household supplies, and so I extended the ruling also to small trailers," he said. "If such use is casual, occasional, and irregular, the trailer may be used without registration and without the payment of the small tax which otherwise is imposed."

Where the farmer uses the trailer to haul milk cream to the creamery once a week, the opinion says that "this is not occasional; it is regular service, and a trailer used for that purpose should be registered."

The tax on trailers up to one ton capacity is $2.

Livestock Problems To Be Discussed Tomorrow at Meeting in Crookston

Red River Valley livestock producers will make their headquarters at the Northwest Experiment Station, Crookston, on Friday, June 22. The session is the fifth Annual Livestock Feeders' Day when national authorities will discuss problems dealing with dairy, beef cattle, sheep and swine production, livestock diseases and marketing. According to O. M. Kiser, animal husbandman, the program begins at 9:30 A. M. with an address of welcome by Superintendent A. A. Dowell. This will be followed by a discussion "Increasing the Farm Income Through Sheep Production" by H. Peters, chief of the Animal Husbandry department, University Farm. L. E. Reed's dairy extension specialist, will discuss "Feeds for the Dairy Cow." Next comes the inspection of the steer feed lots and flocks under the direction of O. M. Kiser and D. H. LeVad of the Northwest Station.

Following the noon feed dinner, Dean W. C. Coffey will discuss important agricultural problems. The next item on the program will be the inspection of 32 baby beeves that have been on feed since last November. These calves were bred in the Red River valley and finished on local feeds.

Dr. C. H. Pfeh will then discuss "Contagious Abortion and How to Prevent It." This subject is of special interest to stockmen of the northwest. This will be followed by "New Developments in Livestock Marketing" by J. S. Montgomery. O. M. Kiser will conclude the program with a review of swine feeding trials at this station.

A special program has been arranged for the women with Miss Fanny Lippitt, Miss Retta Reed, Professor T. M. McCall and Dr. W. Filley of the Northwest School, and Miss Clara Baldwin, director of libraries of the Minnesota State Department of education, in charge.

All are invited to bring their picnic lunch and spend a pleasant and profitable day at the local station, Friday, June 22.

STANDARD OIL STATION AT HALLOCK IS ROBBED

The service station of the Standard Oil Co. at Hallock was robbed last week, but the attendant was ready to close up the place about ten o'clock at night, nearly $200 was secured by the bandit, who threatened the attendant with a gun.

New Rules Issued for Citizenship Hearings by Examiner in Charge

The practice of petitioners for citizenship of having substitute witnesses appear at the naturalization hearings in the district court has been found to be tolerated, on the forthcoming hearings to be held in the court house on Wednesday, July 25, according to a notice of Judge W. Reese Johnson, of Duluth, federal naturalization examiner, who will conduct the examinations at that time, it was announced here. This will be the first visit to Thief River Falls of Mr. Dean, who succeeded Mr. Doe, the former naturalization officer, who recently died. His statement issued from the Duluth a week ago and since then at other northern Minnesota towns follows:

"When an alien files a petition for citizenship it is signed by two witnesses. The law requires that these witnesses be produced in court and the witnesses who signed the petition must appear. At recent hearings the petitioners appeared with substitute witnesses, stating that the original ones were working. Such an excuse is not a sufficient one. If one or both of the original witnesses cannot, quite or moved away, substitutes may be allowed, but the witnesses must be given notice of this by the clerk at least several days before the hearing, so he can investigate the substitutes.

"Substitute witnesses, if accepted, will be required to sign an affidavit at the hearing which will be made a part of the record of the court. If the substitute hereafter with substitute witnesses and have not given the examiner notice of same, the petitions will be continued till the following hearing so the examiner can investigate the substitutes."

JULY TERM OF COURT HAS 22 WOMEN JURORS

Only Eight Men Drawn, Revising Situation in February Session

SUMMER SESSION TO OPEN ON JULY 10

First Time Women Have Been Drawn For Jury Service In This County

On the list of petit jurors for the July term of the district court, drawn last Saturday by Sheriff Ole Hile, Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund and Justice of the Peace Walter Quist, are the names of 22 women and 8 men. The February term of court was dismissed by Judge Cosgrove after a jury had been drawn for jury service, a situation which recurred clearly impossible at the coming session. The court opens July 10, and the jurors are to report July 17.

The following is the list of jurors: Mrs. Louis Cerney, Mrs. M. T. Sletvold, Mrs. E. W. Boreen, Mrs. Matt Barnes, Mrs. Ole Gudmundson, Mrs. Frank Hoops and Mrs. W. H. Polley of Thief River Falls; Mrs. Adolf Bilden, St. Hilaire; Mrs. Ben Sorenson and Mrs. Waldie Christenson, Nereby; Mrs. Ed. Hensdal, Highlanding; Mrs. Ole Odegaard and Mrs. Amelia Dahl, River Falls; Mrs. C. E. McCracken, Mrs. Soren Knutson and Mrs. E. Swanson, Numedal; Mrs. Frank Lundeen, Deer Park; Mrs. Frik Anderson, Black River; Mrs. Ed. Hanson, Beckenbury; Mrs. Carl Christianson, Goodridge; Mrs. Emil Larsen, Brzyz and Miss Annie Peterson, Wyandette.

John C. Larsen, Mayfield; P. J. Hardisty, Smiley; Charles Reiter, Black River; George Vraa and Iver Austad, Reiber; Lewis Ostby, Nereby; Emil Zaitz, Folk Centre; and Peter Appel, Sanger.

This is the first time that women have ever been drawn for jury service in this county.

Swedish services were held in the morning, with Rev. O. G. Nelson of St. Hilaire officiating. There were no morning services in the Augustana Swedish Lutheran church, Erskine, St. Hilaire Swedish churches, their congregations all co-operating in the picnic, which was the annual midsummer day celebration of the American Sons and Daughters of Sweden.

Prof. G. A. Lundquist, professor of Rural Sociology at the University of Minnesota, gave the main address of the afternoon, on "The Influence of the Scandinavian People in World History." He reviewed the history of the settlements in Normandy, England, Greenland, and the discovery of America under Eric the Red. The Scandinavians in this country have always been strong champions of individual liberties, he said, and he admonished the younger generation not to transfer all personal and state rights and responsibilities to the national government.

Under the direction of Dr. P. L. Vladyanin, the Braga Chorus sang a number of Swedish songs, including "Tillbaka, Du Fria," by Wennerberg; "Vart Land," Viking Army" and "Flit Du Arne."

In the basketball game, the "Snailtiger" lost to the "Vastergotar," 8 to 15. A tug of war between Pennington and Marshall county was won by the former. After the awarding prizes of the afternoon came when a girls' team outpulled a team of boys. The American Sons and Daughters of Sweden are raising a fund of $1,000,000 in recognition of the Swedish-American 300 Anniversary. A considerable portion of this is to be used for a national Swedish-American museum, to be known as the John Ericsson Memorial building. Dr. P. L. Morton was a Delaware Swede who cast the deciding vote for the Declaration of Independence.

Prof. Lundquist of University Addresses Nearly 1200 at Annual Picnic

Coffee was served at noon to those who had brought their dinner and stayed all day.

FLOODED ROADS IN BLACK RIVER SPURS NEW DITCH PROJECT

Will Cooperate With Polk Centre Township In Draining Chippel Corners

The county commissioners last week voted to construct six miles of drainage ditch and road in the southwestern part of the county, beginning at Chappel Corners, in Black River township, running directly west and then south to the large ditch dug a year ago that empties into Black River. During the early period last week the road at Chappel Corner was under water, necessitating the temporary abandonment of the construction of Ditch and road No. 9, known as the Wylie road.

Two months ago the county board was asked by a number of Polk Centre township to dig this ditch, claiming that the residents of Black River township would be as much benefited as themselves, and offering to pay $300 toward the cost. The Black River residents held a special meeting, and agreed to contribute an equal sum.

The work will be done in connection with the present construction of the Wylie road, a mile north of the proposed, it will not be necessary to build a bridge across the Wylie road, the rest of which would be the same as the county's share of the new ditch.

Raw Milk Is Nourishing

We quote further from the pamphlet issued by Dr. W. E. Stone, Secretary Treasurer of The Raw Milk Producers Association of America, Kansas City, Mo. as follows:

"It has been proven in a number of tests that pasteurization is not an absolute safeguard to the infection of calves with tubercle bacilli. It is safer to consume milk from cows that have been T. B. tested once a year, than to use milk produced by untested cows and then pasteurized to kill the bacteria.

"Heat does not entirely destroy the toxic conditions of poor milk, and it does destroy some of the desirable qualities of good milk.

"Raw milk should be and usually is delivered within twenty-four hours after production.

Nearly all cities are well supplied with local dairymen, selling Grade A Raw Milk, consequently the consumers are fortunate enough to get it delivered within twelve hours after production. Does this mean anything to the consumer?

Practically all Grade A Milk produced by local dairymen is sold raw; while pasteurized milk is produced from "B" and by whom?

In his book, "Clean Milk," Dr. Kenelm Winslow of Harvard University, said, "It is generally accepted that babies will not thrive so well on pasteurized milk for long periods, as on clean uncheated milk, and occasionally develop malnutrition, anemia, rickets and scurvy."

Dr. McCollum, of John Hopkins University, Baltimore, said, "Since Baltimore had passed an ordinance that all milk sold in the city must be pasteurized, the cases of rickets among children had increased 100 per cent. The statistics in Baltimore had apparently become serious, and a campaign was started to encourage the use of Cod Liver Oil, orange juice, green vegetables, etc., so that the children might have all the vitamins which are necessary to insure normal growth.

Official Paper of the City of Thief River Falls and Pennington County.

Next Wednesday is the Fourth of July and marks the hundred and fifty-second birthday of Uncle Sam. Our nation is very young and yet there are few countries in the world whose government has been established longer than ours. There have been many changes in the governments of the world since that memorable July Fourth of 1776. "All men are created free and equal" may not state a fact but it expresses an ideal, and this ideal has been the beacon light to practically all political progress made during the past century and a half. The signing of the Declaration of Independence by the American colonies has proven itself to be of sufficient importance to the entire world to merit world wide celebration of the anniversary of the event.

WE NEED AN AIRPORT

A small group of our citizens are making an effort to arouse sufficient interest in aviation among the people of this community to make possible the establishment of an airport here. In spite of the fact, however, that aviation is quite generally recognized as a necessity in the modern scheme of things and a division of transportation that is destined to become more important from year to year, it is difficult to realize that it actually will be a part of this community in a very few years. It is not strange that it is somewhat difficult to convince local people that it would be wise for this community to prepare for aviation by securing suitable ground for a landing field at once.

Nevertheless a field should be secured at once, and the men who are working toward this end should be encouraged in their effort. Other small cities thruout the state are giving this matter serious attention and those cities which give big new form of transportation the greatest encouragement certainly will receive the greatest benefits. The following comment by the News-Messenger of Marshall tells of what has been accomplished along this line in that enterprising community and points the direction for other enterprising communities to follow.

In the purchase of a site for an airport here Marshall is taking a leading place among the small cities in respect to aviation. There is no longer any question about the future of air traffic, and it is fortunate that Marshall should obtain now a good landing field, which will insure this city's receiving a share of the travel that is bound to come. To those cities which prepare first will come the greatest benefits and the most air traffic, and it is gratifying to know that Marshall is among the first ones to acquire a good airport.

The site chosen for the airfield is an ideal one. The ground is perfectly level and a portion of it is already suitable for a good runway. Telephone and power lines and a highway parallel to the field making communication with and transportation in the city easy and rapid, and offering an excellent opportunity for night lighting. A flying school will add to the activity at the field and create still greater interest in the project. In fact, Marshall can easily develop as fine an airport as could be desired.

There are probably some persons who are as yet skeptical as to the advisability of a field, but we are positive that before five years have passed, they and every other resident of Marshall will be thankful that a few believed enough in the future of aviation to take the initiative at this time and obtain a field that will draw part of the traffic to Marshall.

An aluminum salesman was arrested in Clay county a couple of weeks ago for having collected money on orders which he did not send in to his company. The warrant was sworn out by one citizen of that county who had invested twenty-seven dollars with the stranger. It is a peculiar thing how many people there are in this world who really believe their own neighbors are all evil but will throw their pure open to every nimble tongued peddler who calls on them.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH OUR COURTS?

The jury system, one of many devices which society has created in an attempt to define the innocence or guilt of those suspected of violating its rules of conduct, has come in for a good deal of criticism in recent years and there is reason to believe that some revision in the present procedure is in order. The jury system replaced the arbitrary rule of magistrates, trial by combat and trial by ordeal, and undoubtedly was a long stride forward from the crude and cruel devices of medievalism. It is felt by many however that the institution is in need of an overhauling and that it should be adjusted to present conditions. The recent verdict of the jury in the notorious Sinclair case has brought forth a storm of protest from the press, most of the fault being found with the present method of jury picking which practically bars from jury service any person who has any knowledge or opinion of the case. The Minneapolis Journal covers this phase of the subject in the following comment:

> There may have been a time when it was possible to find a citizen who was without knowledge or opinion concerning a given case, but who, nevertheless was possessed of average intelligence. If so, it was a long while ago, when no telegraph, nor mails, nor newspapers existed, and many otherwise intelligent men could not have read newspapers or magazines if they had existed.
> Today, when any case of any importance whatever is to be tried, intelligent men within the jurisdiction of the trial court have read of the crime or the dispute, have learned something of the evidence that exists, have discussed the pros and cons among themselves, and each of them has usually formed some opinion that in no way amounts to a prejudice.
> It may have been possible once to bar off the jury all citizens who had discussed the case, without necessarily getting the jury box with sapheads. It is not possible now, and has not been possible in a long time. And yet it is still the custom to place a premium on utter ignorance of the case at hand, when Americans are examined for jury service.

That weakness of the jury system are not confined to cases of national prominence but are also evident in local trial courts is the opinion of the Montevideo News which publishes the rather startling statement made by Judge Qvale of that district at the close of a recent court session there that, "In more than thirty years on the district bench I have never seen such flagrant case of perjury as in this term of court in Chippewa County." In commenting on the judge's statement the News says:

> The situation is deeply disturbing because it strikes at the fundamentals of local government. In cases of national size, such as the bonalar case, a jury returns a verdict of not guilty to the astonishment of the entire country. In local cases of law violation juries often return verdicts that are hard to explain on the basis of evidence submitted. It is a universal scandal when the Sinclairs try to tamper with juries. It is a problem of serious concern for citizens of a local community when attempts are made to tamper with members of a jury in district court, as was reported here last week.
> It is undoubtedly true that the general public has very little confidence in the ability of an average jury to properly decide technical questions of fact such as are involved in most court cases of the present time. Lest the public as a whole become guilty of contempt of court, the lawyers of the country should attempt to make the courts less contemptible. We have little hope in getting relief at the hands of the lawyers however. As far as their own profession is concerned lawyers are the most in-grown class in the world. They look with horror upon anyone who dares suggest a departure from ancient usages. They worship at the shrine of past precedent and to suggest that there might possibly be something wrong with present procedure is to hurl a cabbage at their most sacred temple.

The BANANAS Are Here

The ripe yellow delicious fruit you see in the store windows has traveled all the way from the jungles of South America—on the backs of mules, over primitive railroads, in the holds of great steamers to the port of New Orleans, then by fast rail direct to Thief River Falls—all in a couple of weeks time.

Bananas are an all food fruit, but they must be* RIPE

The banana is always cut green from the tree, even when it is to be consumed locally in the tropics. If allowed to ripen on the tree, it entirely loses its flavor and becomes insipid; also, the skin bursts and insects attack the ripening pulp.

Note—Bananas contain all classes of food materials required for the human body—food of exceptional value. Prof. Samuel C. Prescott, Professor of Industrial Microbiology, Mass. Institute of Technology.

Rev. Lundell Sends Greetings To Times Readers From Sweden

Rev. O. J. Lundell, pastor of the Swedish Mission church of this city, sends the following communication from Sweden:

At New York, the great metropolis, I had the great pleasure of meeting Rev. Hallman. He held his farewell concert at Bethany church, where Rev. J. B. Thoren, one of my classmates from the Seminary, is pastor. The church, although large, was packed. Prof. Hallman has not been singing the Gospel story. For more than fifty years, but he has the pleasure to have always a full house. Although he has been singing in some of the largest churches both in the United States and in Sweden. His voice is clear and strong as it is, aided by a treat to hear him. Prof. and Mrs. Hallman were on their way to Sweden also and as they sailed on the "Stockholm" we had the privilege to hear him sing at every service on the boat, and we had two services on Sundays and with one exception every evening. In New York I tried the underground railway. If you want to go from one end of town to the other end in a short time they are the thing to go on. But it is no pleasure riding. It's a foul air and it gives you a queer feeling to know that great structures are above you and millions of people are making over your head. I had never before been in New York, but I had to wait a long time for connections as everyone seems to take pleasure in helping a stranger.

We sailed at noon the 12th from New York. It seemed as if half of New York was down to see the ship off. From Warberg to Malmo we passed through a beautiful country, the southern part of Halland is a hilly country, but appears to be a fertile soil. The higher hills are covered with timber. On the lower hills and in the valleys are beautiful farm homes. The farm houses are surrounded with different kinds of fruit trees and shade trees, and large and beautiful flower beds. At Halmstad the train stopped 30 minutes for lunch. But I sacrificed my lunch to have a chat with Mr. and Mrs. Nels Anderson, relatives of Mrs. Lundell, who had come in from the country to meet me as the train passed through. I had not time to stay over and visit with them, but had to continue my journey. Coming down from the highland called "Hallands Aasen" the train passed through Hasnäs district, a prairie almost like the Red River Valley. Here are said to be Sweden's biggest grain farms. I was told that the farmers there are very rich and have piles of money in the banks. If that was the case, they surely love their money very much, because many of the farm houses there looked as if they had been built when Caesar reigned in Rome. The streets in some of the towns, as in Malmo and Ystad, are pitifully narrow. In Malmo, in one of the streets I had to press up against the wall of a building as the street car would not strike me when it passed by. But then those streets were built probably in the ninth or tenth centuries. In Ystad I saw some buildings which had been built in the eleventh century. The people living in those days never dreamed of street cars or autos. If they had known that, they surely would have made the streets they made underneath wider. Some have made the streets wider. Some of the modern houses are more up to date, but the churches are all very old-fashioned. He is a mail carrier. He took me to the old fort which had stood there for many hundred years, and in years past has played such an important part in protecting that part of Sweden from invading enemies.

From Warberg to Malmo we passed through a beautiful country, the southern part of Halland is a hilly country, but appears to be a fertile soil. The higher hills are covered with timber. On the lower hills and in the valleys are beautiful farm

Promoting Human Welfare

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana), like many another American business institution, organized primarily for profit, is an agency for human welfare.

Here in America we have found a fundamental and enduring way of adding to human happiness. Enlightened business has been the instrument by which better conditions for working and living have been created.

Science in cooperation with business has made its enormous contribution to human comfort and pleasure. Never in the history of the world has the average man known such a standard of living as he enjoys today in America.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is one of the business institutions that has helped to bring this about.

Efficient methods, scientific research, economical production on a vast scale, the rigid elimination of waste enable the company to produce from crude oil the utmost in useful commodities of service to man.

Increasing costs of production have been so effectively met by increased efficiency of operation, that prices of petroleum products have maintained a lower level than any other commodity in general use.

Standard Oil Company (Indiana) products may be secured at frequent intervals at reasonable prices anywhere within ten Middle Western states.

In this business of rendering the public useful service, of making its dependable products available to everyone everywhere in the Middle West, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) gives employment to 30,000 people.

The welfare of its employes is a chief concern of this Company. Numerous measures instituted for their benefit assure them of the Company's interest and cooperation at all times—of encouragement in prosperity—of help in time of need.

They work together effectively with unity of purpose and a common loyalty. Each individual realizes his opportunities are largely only as his ability, ambition and effort. He always is conscious that he is a part of an organization in which human relationships are valued.

The work of this Company represents a tremendous investment of human effort—a direct investment on the part of 30,000 employes—an indirect investment of effort on the part of 50,000 shareholders who for the most part have personally carried and saved the money paid for stock. These shareholders come from all walks of life and not one owns more than 2% of the total.

In the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) this human effort—aided by science and mechanical power—has been made to yield maximum returns in the satisfying of man's wants.

In order to be granted this aid it is necessary in the first place to file a petition for it, then the Judge sends a written notice to the Commissioner of the district wherein the petitioner lives and one notice to the county attorney, at least one week before date set for hearing, the county attorney board is also advised. A certificate of investigation is filed with the petition and if the county commissioners and the county attorney recommend an allowance the Probate Judge may make an order granting aid as recommended.

Respectfully,
Lars Backe,
Probate Judge.

Dear Sir:

At different times older ladies have called at my office and ask for their mothers pension. I explain to such callers, as well as I can, that there is no such law in the State of Minnesota authorizing the Probate Judge to grant Mothers Pensions, and after being explained, most of the callers accept the explanation and even thank me for the information, but some do not, and leave with a feeling, I presume, that they are not fairly treated.

There is on the Statute Books of this State a law that provides for county aid to dependent or neglected children under 16 years of age, Chap. 297, Laws of 1927—Chap. 255, Laws of 1925. Under the provisions of these statutes the county through its Juvenile Court, in our county the Probate Court may grant aid to dependent children under the age of 16 years and provide such children to remain with their mother if her home and environments is a proper place for a child to be brought up in.

The so-called mothers' pension is to be granted mothers having no means in order to enable her to keep her children in her own home and for the benefit of her children.

MODERN HIGHWAYS SAFEGUARD HEALTH OF STATE TOURISTS

Welfare of Travelers Requires Protection From Epidemics As Well As Accidents

One important advancement which has gone forward quietly and almost unnoticed in recent years is highway sanitation. Observant motorists from this city who take trips either close to home or far away, will notice a great difference this year from conditions a few years ago.

Commissioner C. M. Babcock has always had highway safety in mind. Definite action out from his department from time to time about the number of grade crossings eliminated, roads straightened and widened, sharp turns removed and other hazards eliminated. But others along the highway are not confined to commissioners and quarts. In the early days of tourist camps and automobile parties, typhoid and other contagious diseases were often reported and many a vacation for trips away from home. State department of health prompt action relative to this danger as much as possible.

Modern highways are built with wide, clear ditches and ditches and culverts to drain surface water. Highway patrolmen keep the ditches open so there will be no stagnant water, cut the weeds at regular intervals, and keep the roadsides clear and free from rubbish.

Dumping rubbish along the roadsides is prohibited by law. The maintenance organization is on the watch for unwilling violations of the law and bringing offenders to justice.

Public water supplies in Minnesota are inspected by the State Board of Health and when found safe, signs stating this fact are erected on the highways entering the city or village. Such signs may be seen on the roads entering Thief River Falls and many other towns. Where towns are far apart, springs or other safe sources of drinking water are marked by signs in the highway department's standard colors. In state parks elaborate water pure water may be obtained.

Many municipalities, including Thief River Falls, now maintain public rest rooms. Gasoline filling stations and many other commercial concerns now maintain rest rooms, drinking fountains and other conveniences for the welfare and comfort of travelers.

Tourist camps generally are cleaner and safer than those of five or six years ago. They are now subject to inspection by the State Board of Health, but even without this supervision most of the municipalities take pride in seeing that their camps are clean. Keeping the camps clean not only safeguards travelers but it protects the people of the town from outbreaks of disease which might be caused by germ-carrying travelers.

To gather the roads and the roadsides are much cleaner and safer for travelers than a decade ago. The big danger left is the careless driver, and over him neither the highway department nor any other state agency has any control.

Government In Need Of Surveying Assistants

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced that the Geological Survey is in need of engineering field aides and has applications for the positions will be received until August 31.

Applicants are to perform simple routine technical work incident to topographic and geodetic field surveys. At least one year's field experience in surveying, or one year of an engineering course in surveying or technical college is required.

Salaries range from $900 to $1,260 a year. Higher salaried positions are filled through promotion in addition to the salary an allowance is made for travel and subsistence expenses.

The Commission also has announced that the United States Civil Service Commission is in need of men to serve as members of rodmen and chainmen. Applications for these positions also will be received until August 31.

The entrance salary for rodmen and chainmen is $1,200 a year. It is expected that the work of the Interstate Commerce Commission for the next three months in one year. Later, some of the appointees may be transferred to other work in the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Full information may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or from the secretary of the United States civil service board of examiners at the local post office, Gunder Legvold.

Agriculture Department Advises Production of High Grade Alfalfa

A much larger quantity of high grade alfalfa could be profitably marketed in the United States if producers would study market demands and then make judicious selection and leading practices conform to the market requirements, according to Edward C. Parker, hay marketing specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Great numbers of dairymen who do not now utilize much alfalfa but depend largely on mill feeds for protein, he says, would become heavy users of alfalfa if supplies of high grade alfalfa were available at all times. Many farmers are intermittent sellers of low-grade, surplus hay but comparatively few specialize in the production of high-grade, market alfalfa.

Purity, a high percentage of leaves, clinging foliage, green color, and pliability are the essential characteristics of high-grade alfalfa. The experts of Federal hay inspectors is that the most common causes of low-grade alfalfa are weakness with thin stands, foreign material in the hay, partly decayed rakings, weather damage, dampness at time of curing, overripening, baling undercured hay, and baling during very hot, dry, or very windy weather.

In most instances, Mr. Parker says, alfalfa intended for market should be cut in the early to one-fourth to one-tenth bloom, or when new growth starts from the crowns immediately after bloom. There will be little, if any, increase in tonnage gained by allowing the crop to stand longer. As the stage of maturity the leaves usually constitute a smaller proportion of the plants, and the stems have become objectionably hard and woody.

Grades of U. S. No. 1 Alfalfa can be attained in practically all alfalfa districts of the United States when the crops are cut at this stage of maturity, providing the hay is properly cured and baled and not subjected to much damage from the elements.

Essential points in preserving leafiness and color and preventing overdrying are (1) to facilitate rapid evaporation of a large part of the moisture in the newly mown hay by exposing it to the sun and wind in the swath where the rate of evaporation is faster than in the windrow, bunch or cock; (2) to perform the operations of raking and windrowing when the hay is tough and the leaves are not easily shattered.

The side delivery rake, Mr. Parker says, is specially adapted to making windrows of wilted and tough alfalfa that will nearly cure uniformly

Ocean Holds Account of Columbus' Voyage

—When Christopher Columbus returned to Spain from the New world, he stopped on February 14, 1493, at Santa Maria, one of the Islands of the Azores, probably to take water. Four days before this he had encountered a severe storm and was convinced that he, his men and his vessels must perish. Columbus realized in his heart that he was going back to Spain with news of a discovery second in importance to no other, and when it seemed that his ship would sink at any minute, he set to work to make a record of his mighty undertaking, hoping that by some will of the fates it would not be lost to posterity. So he carefully prepared as complete an account of his voyage as was possible, fix wrote the details of his journey on a stout piece of parchment, wrapped it in a piece of waterproof cloth, then placed it in an iron-bound barrel and threw it into the ocean. But the fates were kinder to Columbus than to this account, for the barrel drifted ashore, W. Rosenbach, in the Saturday Evening Post.

Leave It to the Wife

"I dunno why women want to bob," complained Mr. Jones.

"What's wrong now?"

"Why, they're cutting something wrong. Either I'm home too late or I'm home too early. Maybe I got dandruff on the collar of my coat or my eyes red. It's this, that and the other. My wife is always finding some flaw."

"Forget it, Jones," said his friend. "Just leave it to your wife."

"I'll leave it to her that way!"

"I fear so. Even if you were an angel, your wife would still find a feather missing from one and them."—Yonkers Statesman.

Odd Census Taking

Nopaltepec, chief of the Chichimec an tribe of Indians in the district of the valley of Mexico, devised a simple plan for taking the census of his subjects. Under his system no census-taker trod upon the newly washed floor inside the humble housewife, leaving footprints in sticky clay. Nor was a census-taker found in the private affairs of the people. Instead, each subject placed a small stone for each member of his household. He then collected the stones and hauled them to an open field, where they were counted and placed in heaps. Twelve of these heaps have been discovered by scientists and a count of the stones indicates the Chichimecan tribe contained 2,700 members.

General Motors Research laboratories, Oakland engineering staff, General Motors Proving Ground. All working toward one end. Little wonder that All-American design is advanced design.
For example . . . it embodies the G-M-R cylinder head . . . it offers a whispering brute of an engine . . . 81 lbs. crankshaft . . . AC fuel pump. Features combined in no other six of similar price.
When you buy an All-American Six you buy the product of three great engineering agencies devoted to progressive design. And you profit time and time again—in satisfaction . . . in consistent high value in justifiable owner pride.

Dollar Bills Marked Down from $2.75 to $1.50
A New York Store ran an excellent advertisement the other day with the caption:
Very Handsome Dollar Bills Were $2.75 Each Now Only $1.50 and the first paragraph stated that if money were sold in stores no sensible person would buy a dollar bill for $1.50 simply because the storekeeper had once priced it $2.75.
This is exactly what we have tried to tell you about our No Sale Policy. We could, of course, mark our merchandise twice as high and later on mark it down to a normal price, but we don't do business that way. That would be selling you a Dollar Bill for $1.50, wouldn't it?

N. W. SCHOOL IS HOST TO VALLEY LIVESTOCK MEN

Nearly 300 Farmers Attended Fifth Annual Feeders' Day At Crookston

SHEEP RAISING URGED AS PROFITABLE VENTURE

Red River Valley His Right Feeds For Successful Dairying, Says Speaker

The fifth Annual Livestock Feeders' Day at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, June 23, was attended by nearly 300 farmers and livestock feeders. Addresses were made by Dean W.C. Coffey, Dr. C. F. Huch, chief of the Veterinary division, W. H. Peters, chief of Animal Husbandry division, H. R. Searles, dairy extension specialist, Dr. Henry Parm, St. Paul, J. R. Montgomery, general manager of Central Cooperative Commission association, and C. M. Kiser, County Agent specialist, Northwest School. A roast beef dinner was served in the dining hall by the domestic science department.

Speaking of the sheep industry W. H. Peters said that sheep have always proved unprofitable in the United States and that they are among the most profitable types of livestock. Sheep in Minnesota have doubled since 1920, he said. Mr. Peters and Mr. Peters recommended starting with grade ewes or buying additional ewes of more knowledge is secured regarding the business. Ewes may be purchased by having the lambs arrive in March or April, Mr. Peters and Mr. Peters, and then marketing them after 6½ to 7 months. This will bring them set the market at a time when the ewe lamb arrive. For those who understand the business Mr. Peters said there was a good opportunity to feed wild lambs. Many sheep are fed in large numbers on the larger grain growing farms. This is a highly specialized business and should not be undertaken by any except those who have made a success on a smaller scale.

Dean W. C. Coffey stated that with 20 percent increase in farming land to prevent in commerce the production of farm products is an important industry in this country. There is an abundance of food due to large areas of county lands. Proper use of these lands of production. The work of the University of Minnesota and the Experiment Stations such as the Northwest School were mentioned as important factors in maintaining this abundant food supply. It is our aim, said Dean Coffey, to be very conservative and aim to recommend nothing that can not be safely followed. We will demonstrate something that is new and better to you so soon you will not hesitate to adopt it. See it is only through adopting better methods in animal production that the American people can look forward to an undiminished supply of beef, mutton, pork, butter, eggs and other animal products, said Dean Coffey.

The three essentials to successful dairying were said by Mr. Searles to be a real understanding of the business, cows with dairy ability and good daily management with plenty of the right kind of feeds. The Red River Valley has the right kind of feeds, said Mr. Searles. That this is true is shown by the points presented by Mr. Searles in speaking of rations for dairy cattle. These he said should be:

1. A good legume hay such as alfalfa, clover or sweet clover.
2. A succulent feed such as silage or roots.
3. A suitable grain ration such as oats and barley.
4. A little high protein feed for the high producing cow.
5. Grain fed at about 7 pounds to each pound of butterfat produced.
6. A good pasture, with grain for the cow producing over a pound of butterfat per day.

Mr. Searles also showed the profits possible from a good cow and also from sweet clover pasture.

In discussing infectious abortion Dr. C.-P. Fitch said there is no cure and that the disease is one of the most serious affecting cattle. Dr. Fitch spoke on matter of prevention and said that blood tests had been developed to such a stage where it may be determined whether this disease is actually in the herd. Herd tests are under way to test herds and place them on accredited lists and the Livestock Sanitary Board of Minnesota has made considerable progress.

A summary of the feeding experiments conducted the past 224 days with 32 Hereford steers showed:

1. In this baby beef feeding trial ground barley proved to be more efficient than ground oats alone or a mixture of oats and barley.
2. Barley produced a more desirable, market finish than oats.
3. Profits were reduced by the addition of oats to a ration of ground barley, linseed cotton, alfalfa hay, corn silage.
4. Steer calves made greater gains than heifers.
5. The feed grains and roughages consumed by steers in Northwestern Minnesota can be successfully and profitably converted into steers than to fattening baby beef calves.

Profits were made possible by the addition of oats to a ration of ground barley, linseed cotton, alfalfa hay, corn silage.

Steer calves made greater gains than heifers.

The feed grains and roughages consumed by steers in Northwestern Minnesota can be successfully and profitably converted into steers than to fattening baby beef calves.

Feeding contests were conducted during the year and the winners were as follows: Prizes, Ralph Dahl, Stella Myrom, Melvin Grefstadt, Olive Hadmen, Edna Lee, Stella Anders, Oliver Jaranson, Hoy and Doris Moe.

Pike For Highway Workers' Safety Made By Babcock

A series of accidents to men who work on the roads has led C. M. Babcock, commissioner of highways, to appeal to all motorists to be careful in operating or passing road machinery or men working.

The appeal has the welfare of both the workers and the public in mind, for with the heavier modern road building machinery now being used on many of the highways, the occurrence of fatal accidents is more likely to occur if these machines are not handled with the utmost care.

Mr. Babcock's appeal is timely, which seemed to be one of the most serious and fatal accidents that has occurred on the highways for many years, when a truck driver on the Lake Superior trail in Lake county lost control of his machine and it plunged over the embankment, killing two men and injuring three others. The truck driver was also killed.

"The operators of road machinery are risking their lives every minute they are working on the road.

"There is one safe rule which will prevent not only collisions with road workers, but 99 per cent of all other accidents, and that is to "Keep your car under control at all times so you can stop in the clear space ahead."

J. C. Penney Maintains Training Courses For Many Of Its Employees

A complete course in business training is maintained by the J. C. Penney Co., for all employees, in addition to the training given in store management and salesmanship by the individual store managers, according to a statement by H. F. Nelson manager of the local J. C. Penney Co. store.

The business training course is conducted by correspondence and while it has been in operation for a comparatively short time, the number of employees who have enrolled is given as 8,700, this representing a large percentage of the Company's employees, and 1,500 of these enrollees have already graduated.

In the local J. C. Penney Co. store there are 10 employees now taking this course, says Mr. Nelson, and any associate is registered as a graduate.

Commenting on the purpose of the business training course, Mr. Nelson stated, "The broad attitude of the J. C. Penney Co. in regard to the training of employees is well expressed in the words of the founder, Mr. J. C. Penney, 'I believe in education. It is a constructive force which makes for trained ability, improved judgement, accuracy and therefore, increases the individual's capacity for practical cooperation.'"

Farm Investment Company Organized At Dawson To Encourage Smaller Farms

With the express purpose of encouraging development of small farms, a farm investment and development company, said has been organized at Dawson, Minnesota. In outlining the need for such units, E. H. Gislason of Marshall stated that all the good land of the country is now taken up, and further development must come thru division of large farms and more intensive cultivation.

The organization will consist of a selling department and a finance department. For the purpose of selling land, the Northwestern Realty Association, with 850 real estate dealers scattered over seven of the Northwest states as members, has been organized. The finance company will be a county unit, and will be financed entirely by local funds, and under local control. These funds are to be used only in buy and develop small farms, to be sold by the selling branch of the association.

"The essential for success in worthy citizenship—character, industry, intelligence and health—are expressed in your 4-H club emblem," said the Hon. J. J. Tigert, U. S. Rabies Outbreak On Chisago County Farms Causing Some Alarm

An outbreak of rabies in the vicinity of Taylor Falls and Lindstrom in Chisago county has been reported to Executive Secretary J. S. James of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, at St. Paul, by Dr. Charles E. Cotton, secretary of the State Livestock Sanitary Board.

Cows bitten by dogs in this territory have shown positive findings of rabies on laboratory test, Dr. Cotton stated in a report to Mr. Jones.

As a result, all county Farm Bureau organizations are being warned by Mr. Jones regarding this outbreak of rabies within the state.

Dr. Cotton has held conferences with health officers in Taylor Falls, Lindstrom, Center City, Chisago City, and other points in Chisago county and quarantine regulations have been placed in effect on the Charles Fyle, Swen Erickson and Peter Larson farms, where cattle, dogs and cats have been exposed to an attack by a rabid dog. Charles Friedlund and his wife, who were exposed directly to the mad dog, are taking the Pasteur treatment.

All possible precautions are being taken to prevent spread of rabies to adjoining counties.

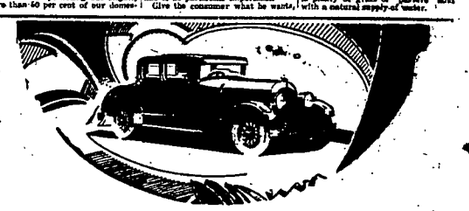
Ways To Increase Mutton-Wool Income Outlined By Expert

National husbandry faculty men and students at University Farm were told by I. F. Walker in a recent address that there is plenty of room in the United States for expansion of sheep growing. Mr. Walker, who is secretary and manager of the Ohio Wool Growers association, had returned a few months before from a trip around the world taken for the United States Department of Agriculture to study sheep raising and wool and mutton marketing in South Africa, Australia, and New Zealand.

"No surplus stocks appear in any part of the world to come into competition with wool produced here," he said. "We are producing but slightly more than 50 per cent of our domestic mill requirements and have the best market in the world for wool. One way to increase production and income would be to put up the mutton carcass in the part of packages the market demands. Too many lambs are causing loss the American market. The consumer objects to them—and buys chicken.

Mr. Walker said that the centralized marketing system has proved its worth in New Zealand and Australia, and is worth copying in the United States. In antipodean countries the wool is allocated in the markets and for different months. This orderly marketing makes for higher prices. He counseled American farmers to—

Raise willing sheep, good in carcass and good in wool.



Give the flock the attention it deserves and not consider it a side line of no particular importance.

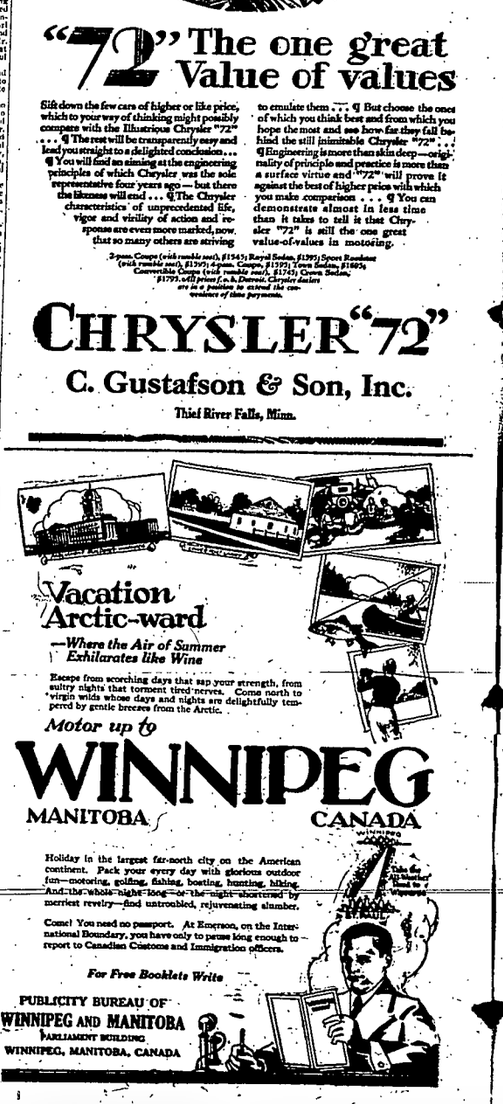
Give the consumer what he wants, not what producers think he should have.

Give more thought and care to the preparation of wools for market. Shepherds of the Antipodes divide their fleeces into different types or grades and get the highest prices; they have a Government-run sale of all wool at a fair rate.

For the purpose of stimulating local interest in sheep breeding, the Pennington County Sheep Breeders association was organized. Two important functions performed by this association is to import pure-bred bucks, and to handle the sale of the wool pool.

Geese are the closest grazers. Here are well-cared-for flocks resting during a good pasture as long as the grass remains green. These can be raised very economically where there is plenty of grass or pasture land with a natural supply of water.

"72" The one great Value of values



Sift down the few cars of higher or like price, which to your way of thinking might possibly compare with the illustrious Chrysler "72" . . . ¶ The rest will be transparently easy and lead you straight to a delighted conclusion . . . ¶ You will find an sinning at the engineering principles of which Chrysler was the sole representative four years ago — but there the likeness will end . . . ¶ The Chrysler characteristics of unprecedented life, vigor and virility of action and response are even more marked, now, that so many others are striving to emulate them . . . ¶ But choose the one of which you think best and from which you hope the most and see how far they fall behind the still inimitable Chrysler "72" . . . ¶ Engineering is more than skilled design—originality of principle and practice is more than a surface virtue and "72" will prove it against the best of higher price with which you make comparison . . . ¶ You can demonstrate almost less time than it takes to tell it that Chrysler "72" is still the one great value-of-values in motoring.

A Remarkable Story of the Minnesota Permanent School and Trust Fund—How it Was Started—How it Has Developed.
Written for the Minnesota Editorial Association
By JOHN STONE PARDEE

Eternal Vigilance

Our children's heritage in the Minnesota state school fund has now accumulated $45,000,000 plus half the value of the swamp land fund which now amounts to $10,000,000—and at present rates of interest will grow by $2,000,000 every decade. Of that enormous sum always keep in mind that somebody tried to take it away with it, but always somebody fought for the state's holding it. At the very beginning, back in the days settlers were pouring in, seeking first preemption claims before the land was surveyed, guessing sometimes half a mile or so away from the true location.

So in 1864 Auditor McIlrath was driving the legislature to memorialize congress for repeal of the law which allowed squatter's rights to be established against the state, asking also for contingent funds to defend the state's title against fraudulent preemption claims.

Then the Indian reservations—in nearly every case when the reserves left Minnesota, Mr. Acton tells us, a fight to fight for its sections 16 and 36, acre or better. However, Whitcomb

* From State Auditor's Report.

We first instance was the sale of the Winnebago lands in 1857, down in Blue Earth county. That deal was particularly annoying because "these lands are in the heart of a thickly settled country and are vastly more valuable than any that could be selected in the pine and mineral areas of the Arrowhead region.

It was not until 1875 that the state's claim for indemnity was allowed and by that time there was no vacant land in southern Minnesota. The state had to take what it could find in the unsettled regions. And that is how it happened that more than 500,000 acres of indemnity lands were selected in the pine and mineral areas of the Arrowhead region.

Some of the grand prizes were gained by the state in those indemnity selections in the '90's. And in the same process one 120,000 prize slipped through the state's fingers.

As for the fight to save the timber from depredations, there was a running contest all through Bob Dunn's term, spurring the state with a whip-lash, using language that shrivels the paper on which it was written and collecting thousands of dollars in trespass.

That is how the state got its school fund, by eternal vigilance, high politics and some of the finest of figurative language.

At the outset the state tried to rent its lands—the settlers complained that the rents were exorbitant and the legislature admitted they were. Then the law should be changed to charge only on cleared land. The first actual receipts were for grass and crab-grass.

The first sale was put on in 1865 and came to $216,231—mostly occupied lands sold to settlers who had already made improvements. And ever year since then there has been a sale of school lands running in 1902 to more than $1,000,000. That was the year of the cleanup in the Red River Valley and the opening of the

In 1877, the grasshopper year, paid his respects to statisticians and others—but the grasshopper was not to believe it would ever come to more than $10,000,000 because, there is not more than 1,500,000 acres of school land within what is recognized as the habitable part of the state.

But in 1924, we hear Bierman predicting a $20,000,000 school fund, forever, as mineral values became more apparent, and steel entered at $40,000,000.

Twenty years later it is necessary to double the appraisal; perhaps multiply it by three.

Co-operative marketing of grain has been carried on more successfully in Canada than in the United States. Canada operations are conducted on a large scale with centralized selling agencies, whereas in the United States the local elevator is the unit. Co-operative marketing of grain is considered in this country from the viewpoint of the local community, but in Canada the viewpoint is that of the grain industry as a whole.
